There are a number of people who make a practice of keeping their checking account down to a normal amount, since they realize no interest for the same. They don't take into consideration that a man whose balance don't exceed $200, on an average annually is a burden to their banker.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Acherson being curious as to the amount of damage sustained at Lemont and State College during Sunday's thunder storm, drove up in their new car Sunday evening to enlighten themselves. They report the loss as distressingly heavy; some houses were blown over and whole orchards were demolished. Many trees were uprooted; the loss will total thousands of dollars.

The location of our new school house is what is agitating the average citizen, a number of whom think the Thomas Jodon woods' would be the most desirable location, being midway between Pleasant Gap and Harrisonville; while another bunch think the new structure should be erected at the old site adjacent to the state road. What is agitating the minds of the school board is to have the new structure completed in time for the school opening.

What a wonderful fascination there is for the average politician to want office. His Excellency, Gov. Pinchot, it is alleged is quite ambitious to become a U. S. Senator; while the terminus end of the executive mansion, it is said, would not decline the nomination for Congress. Wouldn't it be phenomenal if both would succeed in their ambition. However, that is an unknown quantity.

A petition to our road supervisors was circulated the past week praying for the illumination of our streets at night; a very few of our property owners declined to sign. It requires the majority of the owners to sign, after which the road overseers will be obliged to install the lights. The objectors are standing in their own light. When our state road was completed property at the Gap advanced at least twenty-five per cent. The light proposition will cause another advance. The light proposition is assured, as over half have signed up.

Everybody is willing to admit that Mrs. Cal. Grove, teacher of the infant class in our public schools, is master of her profession. The community has the greatest respect for her, and the children adore and love her for her unprecedented qualifications as a teacher. I might add that her popularity and fame are due to her intellectual vigor, her scholastic attainments, her originality of thought, her profound sympathy with children, and her unflinching courage in maintaining her views. These desirable qualifications are responsible for her unbounded success as a teacher of the young.

I went to our postoffice a few days ago, smoking one of my favorite Havana cigars, or possibly it happened to be a Tobey. One of those fellows who usually wear short dresses or petticoats, one of the feminine gender. The party in question was evidently very much annoyed when inhaling the fumes of my delicious cigar. She looked me square in the eye and said: "Why do you smoke?" I replied, "because I want to." I thought this was as satisfactory an answer as could be given to this oft-repeated question. She then said, "why do you ever begin to smoke?" I told her it would be more interesting to trace the habit to its origin, but unfortunately there are no reliable records from which to gather the desired information. Finally she wanted to know if I would ever quit the habit? That was a puzzler to me; I said that is an uncertainty. No fellow can find out. However, the very strong probabilities are that man will smoke as long as tobacco grows on the face of the earth, or until something better has been discovered. Possibly moonshine might in time subjugate or annihilate the vile habit.

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this puzzle will spell words both vertically and horizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below the puzzle. Thus No. 1 under the column headed "horizontal" defines a word which will fill the white spaces up to the first black square to the right, and a number under "vertical" defines a word which will fill the white squares to the next black one below. No letters go in the black spaces. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.
