

ONLY PETTY CASES TRIED IN COURT THIS WEEK.

liquor law violations and assault and battery and another of the latter kind was that against William Hockenberry, of Nigh Bank. The prosecutor was J. L. Devine, an installment collector. In this case the jury returned a verdict of guilty and placed one-third of the costs on the prosecutor and two-thirds on the defendant.

The village of Yarnell furnished something different in the person of seventeen year old Helen Walker, who charged Lawrence Shawley with being the father of her five week's old child. N. B. Spangler assisted district attorney Walker in the prosecution of the case and S. D. Gettig conducted the defense. Unfortunately for the cause of the young girl the defense produced a letter written by her to the accused's mother in which she declared that Lawrence was not the author of her trouble. The defense also presented a witness who testified that she had seen the girl in a compromising situation with another man. It took the jury almost four hours to decide the issue, but they finally returned a verdict of not guilty but pay all the costs.

At Wednesday evening's session of court the case of illegal possession against Frank Scabiccio, was heard. Frank keeps a little store down at Sunnyside and when his place was raided by state police about a month ago they found a quart of moonshine, 50 gallons of wine and 30 gallons of raisin mash. The wine was not confiscated but samples were taken for analysis, which showed a fraction over four per cent. of alcohol. Frank testified that he bought the moonshine from "a man in the road" and made the wine for the exclusive use of himself and family. The jury returned a verdict of guilty and Scabiccio was sentenced to pay a fine of $250, costs of prosecution and imprisonment in the county jail for not less than three months nor more than six.

Two cases against the Bellefonte Lodge of Moose were scheduled for trial yesterday but the state policeman who made the raid several months ago was detained in Bedford on a murder trial and could not get here until today, and the cases may be called up before the close of the court.

The case on trial when the "Watchman" went to press was that of the Commonwealth vs. Salah A. Amed, attempted rape and assault and battery. Prosecutor, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Heaton.

A civil case to be heard this week is that of the Bird Iron and Coal Co. vs. David Chambers, an action in trespass. The case promises to be interesting and closely contested.

Hudson Sedan Runs Amuck.

A Hudson sedan cut some wild capers in front of the Scenic in this place Wednesday evening and before it was gotten under control had treated a new Rollin coach rather rough and knocked the back wheel off of R. C. Blaney's Buick.

The Hudson belonged to Edward Green, of Howard. It was parked head-out in front of the Electric Supply Co. Mrs. Green and another lady undertook to pilot it into the street, but it must have been in gear when she stepped on the starter and gave it gas for, quick as a flash, it shot into the street too rapidly for her to turn into the traffic before she had collided with the Rollin parked on the opposite side and then, veering west, knocked the rear wheel off the Blaney car and headed for the Centre county bank corner. Her car was going fully twenty-five miles an hour down the hill, apparently out of control, and witnesses were horrified at the likelihood of a smash-up against the bank building. The driver recovered enough to stop it, however, just as it ran up onto the pavement of the bank property.

The Rollin car was thrown clear around against the curb. It had the left rear fender crumpled up and the rear board damaged. It belonged to the Rollin Motor Car Co., of Mt. Union, and had just been brought here for delivery.

Mrs. Green's Hudson was only slightly damaged.

Jumped to Save Their Lives.

Driving a Dodge coupe, Cord Bell, of Clearfield, with Al. Rowe, connected with the American Lime and Stone Co., in this place, ran onto the High street crossing of the P. R. R. just as Lehigh was running into the station, Wednesday at 1:30, and escaped certain injury, possibly death, by jumping just as the pilot of the engine smashed into the side of the coupe.

The men had approached the crossing very cautiously, the signal man was there and the approaching train in sight. Just why they attempted to cross is inexplicable, unless they thought they could follow another car that got over just ahead of them. As we have said the coupe was running very slow. That probably accounts for its engine stalling right on the track. With the train almost on them the men had presence of mind to jump and cleared the rails just as their car was struck.

The right side of the body was caved in, both front wheels torn off, a lamp broken and the right front fender and run-board crumpled up like pulp.

Mrs. Mame Geissinger has been confined to bed the past week, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Yeager, on Spring street, with a bad attack of the shingles.

Complimentary Dinner to Champion Relay Team.

E. L. Hollibaugh, of this place, a High school athletic enthusiast, is arranging for a complimentary dinner to the State's champion interscholastic relay team of the Bellefonte High school. It will be a chicken and waffle feast to be served at the Nittany Tea room at Nittany, Thursday evening, June 4, and covers will be laid for forty.

The team will be the personal guests of Mr. Hollibaugh.
Members of the Ku Klux Klan from Bellefonte and other portions of Centre county attended divine services at the United Brethren church, in Bellefonte, on Sunday evening. By actual county there were 130 men in hoods and robes and 70 women wearing red capes in attendance. While this was the first time the Ku Kluxers have ever attended church in a body in Bellefonte, they held various meetings here and now attract little more interest than any other organization.

Dewey Kunes, of Blanchard, was arrested by sheriff Taylor this week on the charge of starting a forest fire on timber lands near Holt's saw mill, in Union township, early this spring. The information was furnished by H. L. Harbeson, a forester of Milroy. Kunes will be given a hearing before Squire S. Kline Woodring, of Bellefonte, today.

Mrs. Thaddeus Cross, of Spring township, so far as our records show, is the champion rhubarb grower. A stalk raised in her garden has attracted quite a lot of attention while hanging in the "Watchman" office window because of its unusual length. It measures 50 1/2 inches.

Mrs. H. K. Hoy quietly celebrated her 90th birthday anniversary at the home of her son, Sinie Hoy, on Wednesday of this week. Notwithstanding her four score and ten years she still enjoys remarkably good health and manifests unusual interest in everything.

Farmers' Field Day Lists Helpful Hints.

Farmers interested in marketing their vegetables, fruit, and eggs beside the road will find a model roadside market at The Pennsylvania State College, on farmers' field day, Thursday, June 18th, according to T. I. Mairs, in charge of arrangements for this red letter day. The horticultural and marketing specialists are co-operating in making this model market one which will give all the pointers needed in establishing one on a farm.

A grain grading, docking and cleaning demonstration is another interesting feature which always attracts attention of the farmers who desire to put their grain on the market in the best possible condition to secure the highest prices. Potato grading demonstrations have also been planned for the field day again this year.

Splicing ropes may be a lost art with many in these modern times but all who wish may restore it as far as they themselves are concerned. W. R. White, of the department of correspondence studies at the college, will show how this useful piece of work is done and also how the simple, practical rope knots are tied.

Besides these many useful demonstrations there will be plots of strain tests of red clover and sources of alfalfa seed from which the latest knowledge of good seed may be obtained readily.

Approve Sparks Memorial Plan.

Trustees of The Pennsylvania State College at a meeting last week accepted gifts of the students and faculty amounting to $5,000 for the Edwin Erle Sparks memorial library in American history, established in honor of the former president of the College. Approval of the project was voiced by the trustees in resolutions which they adopted.

It is planned to set aside $3,000 of the fund as a foundation endowment and to increase this to $10,000 through additional contributions from alumni and friends of the late Dr. Sparks. For the purchase of American history books to start the library collection this year, $2,000 of the total subscribed has been set aside. Students and faculty members have joined in a permanent organization to be known as "The Edwin Erle Sparks Memorial Association," and the library memorial will be conducted by its officers.
