

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

—Miles W. Mock, of Altoona, has been appointed a special fish warden for Blair, Centre and Huntingdon counties.

—Harry Hoover, of Axe Mann, was cranking his Ford car Tuesday evening, when it "kicked," breaking his right arm at the wrist.

—The auxiliary of the Brooks-Doll Post, American Legion, will meet at the home on Sunday morning, May 24, to go in a body to worship at the Methodist church.

—Mrs. Crawford's Sunday school class of the Lutheran church will hold a candy and nut sale, in Harter's music store, Saturday, May 23rd, afternoon and evening.

—Sheriff E. R. Taylor has asked that a detachment of state police be sent to Osceola Mills to preserve order among the striking miners, and his request will probably be granted.

—There were nineteen babies and young children brought to the well baby clinic in Milesburg, Monday afternoon. Miss Edith Campbell, State Health Department nurse, will hold a baby clinic in Centre Hall Monday afternoon, May 25th.

—The Charles G. Warner Co. has acquired a controlling interest in the American Lime & Stone company by the purchase of all the common stock and the greater portion of the preferred held by the A. G. Morris estate. The deal was consummated in Tyrone last Friday.

—Every member of the class graduated at the Gettysburg theological seminary, this week, have pulpits awaiting them. One Centre couintian is among the number, Rev. John H. Wagner, of Boalsburg, a son of Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Wagner. He will go to the St. James Lutheran church, Brooklyn, N. Y.

—A great game of ball is booked for Hughes field tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, when the strong Potomac school nine from Keyser, W. Va., will cross bats with the fast Bellefonte Academy team. Those who saw the Academy play the Bellefonte team on Thursday will surely want to see them again today.

—Among the names of ten men placed upon the retired list of State employees by the retirement board, on Monday, was that of Fred B. Healy, of Bellefonte, former deputy warden at the Rockview penitentiary. His retirement was marked as "non-voluntary," and will carry with it a monthly check equivalent to a certain per cent of his salary while on active duty at the penitentiary.

—The Bellefonte Academy minstrel group gave their initial performance last night but the "Watchman" went to press too early to give a story on the performance. Any one who failed to see them last night will have another opportunity this evening. Immediately after tonight's performance the big minstrel dance will be held in Bush Arcade hall. Good music and good order are the slogans.

—Fred Corl, who is farming the D. M. Kline farm, at Axe Mann, met with an unfortunate accident Monday. He was shoeing one of his horses when a little son of his helper ran up to the animal. The father of the child, fearing that he might be trampled, grabbed for his boy, startling the horse so much that it jumped, knocking Mr. Corl over and tramping him so badly that his ankle was broken.

—While the scenic is a pleasant place to spend an hour or two each evening the time is not lost, because every picture shown has something of educational value connected with it. Thus the evenings are not only a pleasure but a source of good entertainment. This accounts for the large patronage the scenic enjoys every evening in the week, as it's only the every nighters who see all the good ones.

—If you want to stop cabbage worms from destroying your young cabbage plants soak the ground, to the depth of an inch, around each plant, with a solution of corrosive sublimate (bichloride of mercury) and water made in the proportion of one ounce of corrosive sublimate to eight gallons of water. Do it first within a week after the plants are set, again ten days later and a third application after another ten days.

—The Bellefonte school board, at its regular June meeting, will have a number of vacancies to fill in the corps of teachers. Four or five of the old teachers are not applicants for reelection and with two new positions created the board is looking for a number of good teachers to fill the vacancies. Although the present school term is not yet over present indications point to an unusually large freshman class next term.

—The Brooks-Doll post of the American Legion will hold a special meeting this (Friday) evening to perfect arrangements for Memorial day services, of which they will have charge. The post will attend services at the Methodist church on Sunday morning and in the afternoon details will hold services at Shiloh and Meyers' cemeteries. All business places in Bellefonte will be closed on Saturday, May 30th, and the Memorial day exercises will likely be held at the usual hour in the afternoon. The speaker for the day has not yet been selected.

ONLY PETTY CASES TRIED IN COURT THIS WEEK.

Grand Jury Ignores Assault and Battery Cases Against State Policemen.

The regular May session of court opened on Monday morning with Judge Arthur C. Dale presiding. Less than half a dozen petitions were presented for the court's approval.

The list of grand jurors was called and out of twenty-four summoned nineteen reported for duty. Howard Holzworth, of Unionville, was appointed foreman and after being sworn and given the usual instructions by the court they retired to the room on the first floor of the court house, arranged for their convenience to consider the bills of indictment presented for their consideration.

The list of constables in the county was called by prothonotary Roy Wilkinson without bringing forth a single report.

The list of traverse jurors was called, thirteen of whom had already been excused by the court and one failed to report. Four others were excused making a total of eighteen.

John Haldeman, of Pleasant Gap, was brought into court by sheriff E. R. Taylor and entered a plea of guilty to illegal possession of intoxicating liquor. He was sentenced to pay a fine of one dollar and costs and undergo imprisonment in the county jail for not less than six months nor more than one year.

Monday afternoon Harry M. Hoy, of Spring Mills, entered a plea of guilty to illegal possession and W. D. Zerby Esq., made a plea for leniency in his behalf on the grounds that the whiskey in his possession had been purchased for his own use, as he was seriously afflicted with asthma, and that he had not sold any nor offered any for sale. And further, that information had been made against him as a result of his being a witness for the Commonwealth in another liquor case tried at the February term of court. The court suspended sentence for a period of three years upon the payment of costs but stipulated that Mr. Hoy must report to 'Squire Jamison every thirty days.

The first case taken up for trial was that of the Commonwealth vs. Edw. Fye and Foster Quick, charged with assault and battery, aggravated assault and battery, assault and battery with intent to kill and assault and battery with intent to maim. Mrs. Thomas Fannon was the prosecutor in the case, although the assault was committed upon her step-father, Cyrus Schnarrs. The case was from Moshannon and the assault was committed on the evening of September 2nd, 1924. The Schnarrs, the Fyes and the Quicks are neighbors in the little village of Moshannon but had evidently not been living in peace and harmony. On the evening in question Fye and Quick caught Schnarrs on his way to the postoffice and beat him up to that extent that he was unconscious for three days. Their excuse for so doing was that he had hit one of the Fye children with a stone.

The case took up all of Monday afternoon's session and a portion of Tuesday morning. John G. Love represented the Commonwealth in lieu of district attorney Ivan Walker, whose time was occupied with the grand jury, while W. Groh Runkle handled the case for the defendants. Judge Dale delivered his charge to the jury on Tuesday morning, occupying but fifteen minutes of time. The jury returned a verdict of guilty on the first, second and fourth counts, and not guilty on the third count. Counsel for defense promptly served notice that an application for a new trial would be filed.

At the termination of the above case H. C. Williams plead guilty to the charge of larceny preferred by the Potter-Hoy Hardware company, and in a statement to the court admitted, having taken one knife and four or five flashlights. He stated that he had given one or two of the flashlights to Millard Cowher and Joseph McSuley to sell, but maintained that neither of the men knew they were stolen property. The court suspended sentence on Mr. Williams for a period of three years on condition that he pay the costs within one month and make restitution to the Potter-Hoy company to the value of the goods stolen amounting him however, that if he became intoxicated at any time during the period of the suspension of the sentence he would have him brought up for sentence.

The next case taken up was that of the Commonwealth vs. Harry Woomer, charged by his divorced wife, Ruth Barnes, with rape and assault and battery. The case was from Phillipsburg where the couple lived at the time the wife was granted a divorce on May 2, 1924. She resumed her maiden name and with her two children established a little home at Gordon Heights, near Phillipsburg. It was while living there on November 22nd, 1924, that her divorced husband visited her and that is the date on which the alleged assault was made. N. B. Spangler tried the case for the Commonwealth and Gettig and Bower represented the defendant. After due deliberation the jury returned a verdict of guilty on both counts, as indicted, and counsel for defendant gave notice that a motion would be filed for a new trial.

Another assault and battery case was that preferred by Mrs. John Franek, of Clarence, against her husband, and it also resulted in a verdict of guilty as indicted. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $25, costs of prosecution and give bond in the sum of $500 to keep the peace for a period of two years.

The grand jury on Tuesday afternoon put the quietus on the only cases on the calendar which had been anticipated by the general public with considerable interest by ignoring the bills in the assault and battery charges preferred by J. Cleveland Packer against three state policemen, Sergt. J. V. Buckley, W. J. Lyster and J. J. Downing. The jury also ignored the bill in the case brought by the policeman against Packer for resisting an officer but returned a true bill against him for possession of intoxicating liquor.

It will be recalled that on the afternoon of March 14th, the three state officers above named visited the Packer home in Boggs township on a search for liquor but failed to find Packer at home. They were all in civilian clothes and laid in wait along the road until Packer's return. They stopped his car, ordered him out and on frisking his clothing found a pint bottle partially filled with liquor. The officers claimed that Packer resisted them and the latter maintained that on refusing to tell where he got the liquor one of the officers, W. J. Lyster, struck him two or three times, one of the blows closing his left eye and injuring it so badly he was unable to see out of it for four days. He was then brought to the Centre county jail and, according to his contention, was refused the right to secure bail until the following evening.

Subsequently Mr. Packer brought suit against officer Lyster for assault and battery and aggravated assault and battery and at the hearing justice of the peace John M. Keichline held the officer for trial at court. Sergt. Buckley then had Packer re-arrested on the charge of resisting an officer and, upon the advice of the justice, Packer preferred another charge of assault against the three officers. The fact that the officers were in civilian clothes and had failed to display a search warrant when they stopped Packer on the public highway, and also the undisputed fact that one of the officers did strike Packer a terrific blow on the eye, were reasons why there was so much interest in seeing the issue tried out in court, but the action of the grand jury in ignoring the cases leaves the question of the rights of law officers still unsettled. The costs in the case against W. J. Lyster were placed upon the county and those in the cases against Sergt. Buckley and J. J. Downing were placed upon John M. Keichline, who stood as the prosecutor.

Yesterday morning Mr. Packer entered a plea of guilty to illegal possession and was sentenced to pay a fine of one dollar, costs of prosecution and two to four months' imprisonment in the county jail.

The grand jury completed their work and were discharged at five o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. In their report they stated that they had passed upon twenty bills of indictment, returning fifteen true bills and ignoring five. They visited and inspected the county buildings and found them in fair condition but recommended that the floors in the jail be repaired and a rear entrance be made to the prison as an emergency exit in case of fire. The outside woodwork of the jail should be painted and window sash repaired. The porch at the south entrance also needs repairing. They further recommended a general cleaning of the court house and a thorough examination of the heating plant. In this connection they expressed the belief that a direct steam heating system would be more economical and sanitary. The coal chute was found to be in a worn out condition and should be replaced by a new one.

Among the civil list cases settled during the week were three brought by W. L. Hicks, in his own right, and W. L. Hicks, executor of John W. Thomas, against the Pennsylvania railroad for damages incurred in forest fires in Rush township, claimed to have been the result of sparks from passing locomotives. While the amount of damages agreed upon was not stipulated it is understood to have been up in the thousands of dollars.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. William R. Quick, charged with possession and offering for sale intoxicating liquors, was taken up late Tuesday afternoon. Quick was arrested in April, on the stairway of the Bush Arcade, by two state policemen who charged that he was in the act of selling a small bottle of liquor to John I. Thompson when they made the arrest. On being searched two full quart bottles were also found upon his person. Quick was defended by W. D. Zerby while district attorney Ivan Walker tried the case for the Commonwealth. The jury returned a verdict of guilty as indicted and the court promptly sentenced Quick to serve from six to twelve months in the county jail. This is the same Quick who upwards of two years ago figured in a rather sensational domestic drama, while living at Snow Shoe, and got considerable notoriety therefrom.

The first case taken up on Wednesday morning was that against William Burns, of Julian, charged with manufacturing and possessing intoxicating liquor. He stood trial and the jury returned a verdict as indicted. He was sentenced to pay a fine of one dollar, costs of prosecution and serve from nine to eighteen months imprisonment in the county jail.

Most of the business before of the court this week was composed of

The Mack-Murray Show Rough Housed by State Studies.

The Mack-Murray show had scarcely emerged from winter quarters in Milesburg when it ran into bad luck.

The show plays one-night stands in villages and week runs in larger places. There are nine people in the company and they have a repertoire of plays, with some specialty interpolations, which they present under canvas, and several of them are very meritoriously acted.

It was billed for State College for the week of May 18th to 23rd. Monday night was the opening—also the closing, for after a number of people had bought tickets and the show was about ready to start a crowd of college boys appeared on the lot. While one of them occupied the attention of the door keeper with changing a rather large bill that he had proffered for admission the entire gang surged into the tent and trouble began. Then some one pulled enough stakes to let the tent collapse and the finale of the Mack-Murray debut at State College was enacted before even the prologue had been gotten over.

Nothing was hurt but the tent. It was torn some and it is reported that the damages will be paid for out of the student "damage fund." The Mack-Murray Co., like the Arab, folded the canvas and departed Wednesday for Warriorsmark. Pine Grove Mills was thought of, it is said, as a good stand, but Pine Grove is only five miles from State College and the Mack-Murray Co. thought that not far enough.

Young Musicians Give Pleasing Recital.

Thirty of the pupils of Mrs. Louis Schad gave an invitation recital in the Episcopal parish house, last Friday evening, that thoroughly delighted the large audience that had gathered to hear them.

The program was devoted entirely to instrumental numbers, violin and piano, and included several very difficult compositions that were rendered with a sincerity that was most complimentary to Mrs. Schad—even though a pupil of such an artist as she might naturally be expected to show superior interpretation and technique.

The performers represented all ages, from those just beginning to those who have been under instruction for some time. All played so well that parents and friends must certainly have been greatly encouraged and proud.

The violins were Gilbert Cole, Orvis Harvey, Pearl Garbrick, Eleanor Barnhart, Mary Robb, Grace Cohen, Lester Neiman, Sara Garbrick, Evan Blanchard, Graham Hughes, Jacob Boffor, Eugene White, Betty Casbeer, William Markley, Nevin Jodon, Clarence Owens, Frederick Kurtz, Charles Jodon, Samuel Noll, Lela and Isabel Jodon.

The piano numbers were by Jean McGarvey, Anna Wetzler, Emily Wilkinson and Elizabeth Baney.

The Falk Recital.

Jules Falk, violinist, with Clarence Fuhrman accompanist, were heard here in concert, last Thursday evening. It was the artist's first appearance in Bellefonte and he fairly delighted a large and critical audience.

Falk's selection of a program was fortunate, for in the fourteen numbers there was enough variation to please all the peculiar whims of the music lover as well as composition that in proper interpretation called for all the technique of a master. In the first and last groups the artist rose to the greatest heights in execution and expression, though his rendition of the Paderewski-Kreisler "Meruet," in the third, was exquisite. The Kreisler "Rondino," on a theme by Beethoven, was to our ear the most charming number of the program.

The audience was quick to discern the capable work of Mr. Fuhrman at the piano. His support was so perfect that a pianist of more than ordinary ability was recognized and in response to a request Mr. Fuhrman played a number. It more than proved the judgment of the audience and contributed much to an unusually delightful concert.

Important Meeting of Woman's Club.

It is important that every member of the Woman's club be present at the regular meeting Monday evening, May 25th, at 7:30 o'clock, in the High school building. It will be election night. President, corresponding secretary, treasurer, civic chairman, auditor and member at large to be elected. This should be of interest to every member of the club and every member should be present.

Grove Family Reunion.

The seventeenth annual reunion of the Grove family of central Pennsylvania will be held Saturday, June 20th, at Grange park, Centre Hall, at 10 a. m.

This reunion is growing in magnitude every year and all the Groves and the friends of the family are cordially invited.

The Senior class of the Bellefonte High school treated itself to a picnic on Tuesday. The entire class motored to Penns cave and had a delicious picnic supper supplied by the girls. The only mishap they had was when a baseball bat slipped out of one of the player's hands and struck instructor Ellis Keller on the head, so hard as to put him out of the game and everything else for a little while.

NEWS PURELY PERSONAL.

—Judge and Mrs. Arthur C. Dale are entertaining Mrs. Dale's father, Thomas O'Neal, of Johnstown, at their home on east Linn street.

—Mrs. Austin O. Furst and her daughter, Mrs. John Curtin are east for a visit with the William S. and John Furst families at Overbrook.

—Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Bullock had as house guests last week Mrs. Bullock's aunt and nephew, Mrs. George B. Simler, of Phillipsburg, and John Simler, of Pittsburgh.

—Mrs. Harry Turner, who is now visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Frank Handley, in Buffalo, left Bellefonte Saturday intending to spend a week or ten days in New York State.

—Mrs. Hannah Osman, of State College, and her son Shannon, were guests of Miss Bernice Knoche on a drive to Bellefonte Friday afternoon, the party having come down to spend several hours in the shops.

—Mrs. E. B. Callaway, who will land today from her cruise around the world, will spend the first weeks before sailing again on a trip to Norway and Sweden, with relatives in Philadelphia, Atlantic City and here in Bellefonte.

—Mrs. George M. Glenn, of Buffalo Run valley, and her son, George M. Jr., are anticipating a drive to Ohio to attend the commencement exercises of the Ohio Wesleyan College, Mrs. Glenn's daughter Esther being a member of the class of 1925.

—The Rev. and Mrs. E. E. McKelvey will drive over from Hazleton for the High school commencement exercises, their daughter Francis being a member of the class of 1925. While in Bellefonte they will be guests at the J. K. Barnhart home on Linn street.

—Mr. and Mrs. Errett J. Merriman and Mrs. Merriman's mother, Mrs. Anna Brown, left Monday on a drive to Indiana, for a two week's visit at their former home at Columbia City. The Merrimans are now living with Mrs. J. E. Ward, Mrs. Brown having been a guest of her daughter at Mrs. Ward's.

—Mr. and Mrs. George Musser and small son arrived here from New York State on Sunday, to take charge of the Musser farm south of town, for a few days, or during the time of his brother Malcolm's wedding and wedding trip. Mr. and Mrs. Musser will return to their home in New York State Sunday.

—Mr. and Mrs. G. Oscar Gray, with Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs, of Williamsport, as motor guests, are arranging to leave on the fourth of June on a two week's driving trip to Minneapolis, where the men will attend the National Credit association convention to be held there. Mr. Jacobs is secretary of the Centre county association.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. Harrison Walker and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Mensch, and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Seig were guests Saturday night and Sunday of Dr. and Mrs. George W. Klump, of Williamsport, at "The Pines," their summer camp in the mountains above Salfadasburg, Lycoming county, the occasion being the celebration of the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of Dr. and Mrs. Klump.

—Mrs. Martin A. Dreiblebis, of State College, and her two sons, Bruce and Carl, were among those from over the county in Bellefonte Wednesday, for the examination held here for a motor driver's license, the younger of the boys being an applicant. Mrs. Dreiblebis has joined the paint-up campaign being waged all over the country at present, being in the midst of having her house painted, the work of which is in the hands of A. J. Tate.

—Mrs. Samuel Sheffer and her sister, Mrs. McClellan will go out to Freeport next week to spend Memorial day at their girlhood home, as has been their custom for a number of years. Upon their return to Bellefonte they will begin their preparations for occupying the first floor flat on the south side of the Roan apartment house. It will be recalled that Mrs. Sheffer and Mrs. McClellan lost all their furniture in the recent fire at the William Chambers home.

—Bruce Barnhart, a Bellefonte boy who is making good in foreign fields, has been in town during the week visiting his relatives here, with headquarters with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Musser, of Howard street. Bruce is a member of the firm of Richey and Barnhart, realtors of Pittsburgh and Miami, Florida. He has been spending most of his time in Florida lately as his firm purchased the million dollar home and 120 acre farm of the Bingley estate in Miami, and is now breaking it up into lots.

—Chaplain T. W. Young, so well and popularly known by nearly every one in Bellefonte, was an arrival from Pittsburgh, his new home, last Thursday. Looking every bit as fit as if he had stayed here instead of taking up his abode in the begimmed atmosphere of the Smoky city the Chaplain had to indulge in a few facetious remarks and one of them was to the effect that he had come in to announce his candidacy for judge. At that he wouldn't make a bad one were it not that he has had all of his experience in the pulpit and none at the 'bar. He preached for the Lutheran congregation, morning and evening, on Sunday.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. Milo Campbell were in town Wednesday evening at an hour that aroused our curiosity far enough to inquire the cause of their being twenty miles away from the fine Campbell home in Ferguson township and strolling up High street as leisurely as if they didn't care where they were. Behind all the nonchalance was a very good reason. Mr. Campbell is a juror at court this week. Mrs. Campbell happened to motor down with him Wednesday morning and then the court announced that there would be a night session and none of the jurors, whether on the panel or not, would be excused until it was concluded.

—Earle C. Musser, superintendent of the Keystone Power corporation, with T. H. Harter as a guest; P. A. Miller, superintendent of the corporation's State College office; Gene Retsnyder, of State College; I. R. Baumgardner, Charles Kellerman and wife, John M. Hess, Sauvi Myers, Fred Johnson, L. J. Elder, Richard Herman, Charles Ray, Donald Miller, Donald W. Stover, Paul Miller, Carl Gray and Miss Winifred M. Gates, all employees of the Keystone Power corporation, and Mrs. Harriet Ray Smith and Miss Ruth Poorman, as guests, left Bellefonte shortly after the noon hour yesterday in five motor cars for Ridgway to attend the annual meeting of the Keystone Power club held at that place last night. They were accompanied on the trip by H. A. Showalter, of the Ridgway office force, who had been in Bellefonte on a business trip. The party planned to return this morning.

—Miss Carrie Rankin has been visiting in Bellefonte, after an absence of several years.

—The Hon. John T. McCormick, of State College, was a Bellefonte visitor on Wednesday.

—Mrs. Jacob Smith is home from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Miller, in Philadelphia.

—Mrs. John Ardell is making her annual visit with her daughter, Mrs. H. H. Curtin, at Curtin.

—Mrs. Kelsey I. Harvey, of New Hope, Pa., is here visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith.

—Miss Irene Gross was a motor guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Kelley on a drive to Philadelphia, last week.

—Mrs. Vincent Stevens returned Monday from a week's visit at Mr. Stevens' former home at McConnellsburg.

—Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Shallockross have as a house guest, Mr. Shallockross' sister, Miss Jeannette Shallockross, of Wilmington, Del.

—Mrs. E. Wallace Gephart, of Bronxville, N. Y., was here for an over Sunday visit with his mother, Mrs. J. W. Gephart, of Linn street.

—Miss Ethel Walters, a school-mate of Miss Helen Smith at the Williamsport business college, was in Bellefonte for a week-end visit at the Luther Smith home, north of town.

—Mrs. Bernard Holland, who has been visiting with her mother, Mrs. Edward Young, on Phoenix avenue, for a month, will return to her home at Port Allegheny, next week.

—John W. Harper, of Schenectady, N. Y., was in Bellefonte for an over night and day visit with his mother, Mrs. Jared Harper, stopping off while on a business trip from Philadelphia to Fort Wayne, Ind.

—I. O. Meyer, of the Coburn Dairy Products Co., was among the men of the county whose business interests called them to Bellefonte this week. Mr. Meyer drove over Tuesday, spending several hours here.

—Hugh Gross, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gross, of Bellefonte, has been a patient in the Orthopedic hospital in Philadelphia, where his father took him three weeks ago, to be under observation for rheumatism.

—Mrs. J. A. Dunkle and her granddaughter, Huberta Bernhard, arrived here from Pittsburgh this week and are guests of Mrs. Dunkle's brother, James R. Hughes at the Academy. The child, who has done much professional dancing, was brought in to appear in the Academy minstrel.

—Dr. and Mrs. J. Finley Bell and their niece, Miss Caroline Kessinger, drove here from Englewood Saturday, remaining with Mr. Bell's sisters, Mrs. Chambers and Mrs. Troup, and with relatives of Mrs. Bell until Tuesday. Miss Kessinger is from State College, and a nurse in training at the Englewood hospital.

—Mr. and Mrs. William T. O'Brien and their children, who arrived here this week from West Virginia, will visit during their stay in Centre county, with Mrs. O'Brien's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Gamble, and with Mr. O'Brien's mother, in Snow Shoe. Mr. O'Brien is with the Estelita Coal Co., at Phillip.

—Robert F. Hunter and J. T. Storch drove over to Clearfield, on Tuesday, to see W. J. Emerick, who has been a patient in the Clearfield hospital for over three weeks. His condition is such that a specialist from Philadelphia was called in consultation yesterday in the hope of more definitely locating the source of his trouble.

—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ruhl and Merle Wetzel left yesterday morning on a drive to Montreal, Canada, to spend a week looking over the prospects of locating there permanently. Their plans are for returning to Bellefonte Thursday of next week to continue their arrangements for leaving. Merle's plans are also for remaining in Canada should a promising opportunity present itself.

—Mrs. F. L. Richards went over to Lebanon Tuesday, to act as hostess at the May meeting of the Lebanon chapter of the D. A. R., of which she is a member, and to spend several days with friends. Mrs. Richards only recently came to Bellefonte, having moved here from Lebanon shortly after Mr. Richards was sent to Bellefonte to take over the management of the Bell telephone here, after the death of the late Mr. Helhecker.

—Word has reached Bellefonte that Harry P. Bush, of Medford, Oregon, has again sailed for South America, where he was for a number of years, a pioneer in mining development in Chile. Mr. Bush owned considerable land there at that time, but later disposed of some of his business interests when returning to the States to take charge of Mrs. Bush's ranch in Oregon. His trips to South America usually cover a period of a year or more.

—Bellefonte evidently has been tabooed by the circus combines. Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey, John Robinson, Sparks and the Gentry Bros. have all been through this section of the State showing in most of the towns but so far there is no indication of any of them coming to Bellefonte. But one of the big attractions of the circus has been cut out, and that is the free street parade. By mutual agreement all circus managements have agreed to discontinue the parade on the grounds that it is too wearing on the stock and the performers, though they do have them occasionally as was the case with the Robinson show in Lock Haven on Tuesday.

—Mrs. George Miller will hold her annual sale of cut flowers and potted plants for Memorial day, at the W. H. Miller hardware store, next week, beginning May 27th. Although there will be 1,000 pots of plants, it would be advisable to send your order as soon as possible, that you may have the choice of this big display. 21-1t
