NATIONAL GUARD SOLDIER KILLED IN MOTOR ACCIDENT.

Member of Boal Troop Meets Death on Way to Lewistown Celebration.

George Stewart Callahan, a member of Troop A, 52nd machine gun squadron, formerly the Boal troop, of Boalsburg, was thrown from a machine gun truck near Reedsville, on Friday, July 3rd, while enroute to Lewistown for the big military parade on Saturday, and injured so badly that he died within an hour, at the Lewistown hospital.

Some eight or nine men were on the truck on its trip over the Seven mountains. Going down the hill near Reedsville the drive shaft broke and the rear end dropping to the ground threw the rear end of the truck into the air. Callahan was thrown from his seat onto the hard paved road, sustaining a serious fracture of the skull. First class private John A. Stoner was the driver of the truck, and he stuck to the wheel, succeeding in swerving the heavy machine from the roadway into a nearby barnyard where it came to a standstill. Notwithstanding the fact that most of the guardsmen were more or less injured they hastened to the aid of private Callahan. Help was quickly summoned from Lewistown and Major Kohler and son Frank responded. Callahan was rushed to the Lewistown hospital and an operation performed at once, but the fracture was too serious and he died in less than an hour.

The other injured men were Sergt. George W. Traxler, of Milroy, fractured ankle and numerous bruises and abrasions.

Sergt. George W. Taylor, of Boalsburg, bruised leg.

Private first class Clarence T. Maen, of Milroy, bruised hip.

Private Glenn Tressler, of Linden Hall, knee bruised.

Private first class Stirl A. Stover, of Boalsburg, bruised hip.

Private John L. McCool, of Milroy, sprained back.

All the men were taken to the hospital to have their injuries looked after, but all were able to return to their homes but Sergt. Traxler. The troop must have had a hoodoo over it on that day. During its four month's service on the Mexican border in 1916 it did not have a single casualty, but on July 3rd the casualty list numbered nine, one proving a fatality.

Private Callahan, who was serving his first year of enlistment, was a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Callahan, of Boalsburg, and was born near Centre Hall on January 15th, 1905, hence was 20 years, 5 months and 18 days old. He is survived by his parents and these brothers and sisters: Norman, Elwood, William, James, Margaret and Robert, all at home.

The remains were brought from Lewistown to the troop barracks, at Boalsburg, where they lay in state until Sunday afternoon when funeral services were held. Rev. W. J. Wagner made a very impressive talk. The troop attended in a body and was augmented by the presence of Major H. Laird Curtin, Capt. Russell T. George, and a number of members of Troop B, of Bellefonte. The remains were conveyed to Centre Hall and laid to rest in the cemetery at that place.

Unionville Youth Another Truck Accident Victim.

Charles Musser, seventeen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Musser, of Unionville, and mail carrier between the station and postoffice, died at the Centre County hospital, at 6:30 o'clock last Friday morning, of injuries received in a motor truck accident at the Unionville station on Thursday morning. The young man, whose father is station agent at Unionville, was leaning against the station platform watching the Miller Construction company employees transfer crushed stone from a railroad car to a truck which had been backed up on one of the tracks.

The driver of the truck was Carl Flick and when he saw a fast freight west approaching he was unable to get the motor started. He jumped to save himself and the locomotive, striking the truck, threw it around against the station platform. Young Musser either failed to realize his danger or was unable to get out of the way, as he was caught and crushed between the heavy truck and the platform. He was brought to Bellefonte on the 9:40 train and taken to the hospital but nothing could be done to save his life.

He was born and raised in Unionville and in addition to his parents is survived by the following brothers and sisters: Virginia, Paul, Catherine and a baby brother. Funeral services were held at the home at two o'clock on Sunday afternoon by Rev. M. C. Piper, burial being made in the upper Unionville cemetery.

Union Open Air Services.

Comfortable seats are being provided on the lawn. The authorities have been requested to restrict traffic on east High street, north and south of the lawn, thus doing away with the main objection to open air service.

The public is cordially invited; stranger and visitor who enjoy good gospel singing; sane, thoughtful preaching and a spirit of common fellowship will find this lawn a good place to spend an hour of the Sabbath day.

Officers of Children's Aid Society for Coming Year.

At the regular monthly meeting, June 26, of the Centre County Children's Aid society the following officers for the coming year were elected: President, Mrs. Stuart Brouse; first vice president, Mrs. Reed O. Steely; second vice president, Miss Margaret Cook; third vice president, Mrs. Gardner State College; treasurer, Miss Winifred Gates. Miss Daise L. Keichline, who has been secretary the past two years, resigned but, since it has been impossible to find any one competent and willing to accept this quite onerous position for which no salary is paid, consented to continue in office until autumn when she expects to go away for an indefinite stay.

In the enthusiasm of taking care of the fresh air children from New York, do not lose sight of the continuous work of the Children's Aid society and although you may not care to attend the meetings become a contributing member by paying $1.00 annual dues.

New Eagleville Minister an Ex-Service Man.

Harry D. Wheaton preached his first sermon as pastor of the Christian church at Eagleville, on Sunday, July 5th. He is a native of West Virginia and it was while serving as a wireless operator on transport vessels during the war that he heard the call to the ministry.

"If I did not answer God's call and become a minister, I could never look up to Him again," were the words he employed to convey to the young wife at home his determination to become a minister. Not having even the advantage of a completed high school course he was compelled to take up this work in addition to the course which is essential to the study of the ministry, working in mills and other places to procure funds which were needed to pay for his tuition. Harry "made the rifle," and stood before W. H. Fields and the elders and deacons of the First Christian church to receive his ordination as a good soldier of Jesus Christ, devoting a life to a warfare against evil.

The committee, of which Rev. Reed O. Steely is chairman, has worked zealously to assure a happy, healthy time to these proteges of the Tribune's Fresh Air Fund and, no doubt, there will be benefit and pleasure for all concerned.

There are always some of these children who need clothing and contributions will be welcomed by Miss Daise L. Keichline, 209 east Bishop street, and Mrs. W. Harrison Walker, east Linn street.

Five Prisoners Escaped from Rockview on Night of July 5th.

Taking advantage of the regular Sunday night movie show in the big dormitory five prisoners escaped from the Rockview penitentiary about 8:30 o'clock on Sunday evening, July 5th. The men were members of the last batch of one hundred inmates transferred to Rockview from the eastern penitentiary at Philadelphia.

They were George Mitchell, of Philadelphia county, serving from two and a half years to five for attempted robbery. His maximum sentence would expire in January, 1929.

Earl Green, of Montgomery county, doing five to ten years for burglary, larceny and receiving stolen goods. He was sentenced in November, 1924.

Leonard Burkhead, of Philadelphia county, serving from one and a half to three years for larceny. He was sentenced in January, 1925.

James Lee, of Philadelphia county, sentenced in January, 1925, for two and a half to five years for operating an automobile without the consent of the owner and larceny.

John Chapman, of Dauphin county, serving a sentence of one and a half to three years for felonious entry, larceny and receiving stolen goods. He was sent up in April, 1924.

The men were missed before nine o'clock and one of the prisoners admitted seeing them outside the stockade about 8:30 o'clock. Investigation showed that they had climbed over the barbed wire enclosure near the office buildings. Guards led by deputy warden W. J. McFarland, promptly took up the chase, being considerably handicapped by the fact that the records and photos of the prisoners had not yet been received from the Pittsburgh office.

The first definite trace of the fugitives was had on Tuesday when it was learned that early that morning five men, answering to the description of the escaped prisoners, had stolen a Ford car from the garage of J. W. Philips, at Boalsburg, and had gone to Potters Mills and across the Seven mountains. The next day the car was found abandoned over in the vicinity of Mifflin, but the men had all disappeared.

Information furnished state police by a woman led to the re-capture last Thursday afternoon, of George Mitchell and John Chapman at Summerdale, near Harrisburg. Leonard Burkhead was also sighted by the officers but made his escape. Penitentiary authorities were notified of the capture and went after the two men, bringing them to Bellefonte on Friday morning. A special session of court was held, the escaped prisoners given the customary penitentiary sentence and the same afternoon they were taken out to Pittsburgh by sheriff Taylor and two deputies. They were also held in $1,000 bail on the charge of stealing the Philips automobile.

Leonard Burkhead, the third of the five prisoners to escape, was captured near Harrisburg on Friday. At a session of court, on Monday morning, he pleaded guilty to breaking and escaping and also to breaking and entering and the larceny of an automobile. He was given a duplicate of his original sentence, one and a half to three years, for breaking and escaping, and an additional one to two years for breaking and entering, sentence being suspended on the larceny count in the indictment.

Chemical Lime Co. Put Off Another Big Blast.

Shortly after midnight on Monday night of last week, there was a rumbling noise and then an explosion that shook most of the houses in Bellefonte, and those people unfortunate enough to be awake and feel and hear it had visions of an earthquake, but such was not the case. It was merely another of the big blasts put off in the quarry of the Chemical Lime and Stone company. One carload of dynamite and three thousand feet of TNT were used and it is estimated that over one hundred thousand tons of rock and earth, mostly rock, however, were dislodged. Three huge steam shovels began work the next day scooping up the rock and sending it by ten ton cars to feed the hungry maw of the ponderous crusher which grinds out a whole train load of cars every day to keep the state road cars in Bald Eagle valley on the move.
