PLEASANT GAP.

Frank Barnes is re-painting his cozy home.

M. P. Musser is a visitor with his son Abner, at Pitscain.

Mrs. Miles Bilger has been favored with a visit by Mrs. May, of California.

Progress in moral and intellectual excellence is our duty, our honor, and our interest.

Henry Noll continues to explore the heavens above, about three times a week, in his airplane.

Miss Emeline Noll, of Philadelphia, made a brief visit with her parents the latter part of last week.

Mrs. Henry Young and two children are visiting with her sister, Mrs. Pownell, at the State capital.

Earl Rimmey has about completed his new garage. It is a fine structure, almost equal to a dwelling house.

Mrs. Clark Herman, of State College was a welcome visitor at the Mrs. John Herman home, a few days ago.

Daniel Shuey, accompanied by Reeder Jodon and family, were Sunday visitors of Roland Shuey, of Renovo.

Charles Spicher, wife and daughter Vera, of Anderson, Ind., were visitors at the Michael Spicher home during the week.

Exertion is connected with success and renown; and precious few there are at the present time who over-exert themselves.

I had my little janitor hoe our corn and late potatoes. Teddy says the darned grass seems to have the best of the corn and potatoes.

It's a bouncing big boy who came to the home of the C. A. Johnson family, on Monday morning. Mother and newcomer both well and jubilant.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Noll and Samuel Jr., accompanied by Mrs. Gheen and her two sons and daughter, motored to Sunbury on Sunday morning.

Abner Noll has a crew of painters at work re-painting his comfortable residence. He first made some important improvements, which makes his place very attractive.

Miss Margaret Keller visited friends in Williamsport last Sunday. She graduated recently at Williamsport, and says it is a great pleasure to meet her many friends occasionally.

The Lutheran Sunday school will hold its annual picnic in Noll's grove, Saturday, July 25th. Eats of all seasonable varieties. Friends are to attend and enjoy a rare occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roush, of Altoona, are as happy as can be, since one more has been added to the family. It's a young son. Mr. Roush will be better known here as Miss Anna Rimmey.

We come into the world feeble in body and mind, but with the seeds of improvement in both; and these seeds grow according to the cultivation they receive through exercise; without exercise of body and mind there can be no happiness and no health.

Mr. and Mrs. William Shuey moved into their new home on Monday last. Mrs. Shuey was quite ill for some time but recovered sufficiently to return to her new home. She resided with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Gettig, during her illness.

Mrs. Harry Keller was favored with a kitchen shower last Friday evening, by the members of her Sunday school class. Mrs. Keller will be remembered as Miss Mary Sampsell. All were delighted with the pleasant evening entertainment. Mrs. Keller was the happy recipient of some very appropriate and useful presents.

Many countless thousands submit to the foul thralldom of the fiend intemperance. Bound in his chains, many of the mightiest of the sons of men have fallen; many on whom the heart has rested with idolizing fondness, and whom we have loved, with all their failings, and to whom we have clung to the last, have wandered from the sure and upright path of sober moderation.

Contractor Harry Bilger, with a crew of men, has up to this time completed eighteen fifty foot front concrete pavements. Among the enterprising citizens are 'Squire J. D. Herman, Mr. Crumlish, Mr. John Herman, Earl Rimmey, William Kerstetter, (2) George Showers, T. E. Jodon, David Rimmey, Charles Rimmey, William Klingler, Herbert Showers, Chas. Schreffler, Elmer Swartz, M. E. Parsnage, Boyd Spicher, and C. K. Stitzer. Quite a number more to follow. Contractor Bilger is fully equipped and his work is unquestionably up-to-date.

We were very highly favored Sunday last at our home, when a jolly bunch of Tyrone visitors gave us a brief call. The tourists consisted of Robert Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Lucas and son, and Miss Jennie Miller and friend. We sincerely hope that their absence will be of short duration. When we say hope, we mean it, inasmuch as there is not a word in our language which has more numerous or more pleasant associations than hope. However, hope is often delusive, yet in the greatest misery, the least flickering ray of sunshine pouring into the caverns of the heart, revives the drooping soul and excites action, as when some precious gem under the sunbeam flashes its radiance and springs into multiplied existence. Hope is a secret instinct to draw our minds to future happiness. Come again, please.

The auto is an indispensable commodity. Its uses and abuses are in evidence. In some instances I fear that our thrifty farmers at times neglect important business interests in order not to be deprived of a vast amount of pleasure, sight-seeing and going to town to see what they can see. On the other hand off-times the hearts of the aged and children are cheered to the extreme limit by being taken to church, or visiting friends who are near and dear to them. An important factor is in swelling the attendance of the Sabbath school services, because of the advent of the automobile. Those who really have the welfare of their fellow-beings at heart can find innumerable opportunities of doing a vast amount of good towards the community at large. Of course, there are many evils connected with the use of the automobile. They are, unfortunately, in evidence in bank hold-ups, moonshining and kindred other despicable evils. I will give some attention to these evils later.

One of the leading events of the season here, was the birthday surprise party of Miss Grace Confer, which occurred on July 15th, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Confer. The event was in honor of the young lady's 17th birthday. All present spent a very enjoyable evening at games and music, after which delightful refreshments were served. The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Hoy and family, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Baird and family, Joshua Eckenroth, Paul, Fred and Martha Eckenroth; Ruth and Jay Rachau, Helen Hoy, Adeline Sampsel, Charles Houser, Paul Young, Paul McKelvey, Larry Justice. Also the following members of her class in High school: Luther Brooks, Frederick Zettle, Morris Larimer, Harold Mulbarger, Helen Gfrerer, Marie Woomer, Christine Weaver, Pearl Irvin, Helen Schreffler, Nellie Baney, Kathryn Sampsel, Helen Markle, Mildred Hoy, Audrey Keller, Grace Yarnell, Eleanor Yarnell, Jeannette Allison, Marian Markle and Louise Eckenroth.

Happiness is the chief object for which man labors, and yet how seldom does he pause in the pursuit to consider wherein it exists, and how he may best obtain it. The drunkard and the glutton, and the degraded libertine look for happiness in these sensual indulgences, and while gratifying them, quail beneath the open gaze of virtue, and acknowledge often, when too late, that those pleasures are of short duration. Behold the ambitious man who tramples on the blood of thousands, through every rule of justice, to gain a world! What streams of blood have been shed to gratify his insatiate ambition! How many thousands and millions have fallen beneath the mighty sword of the warrior, and are left lying in dreamless sleep upon the field of battle, merely to gain for himself the wreath of fame, and to entomb him in a splendid sepulchre, though unconscious of its beauty and grandeur! The beggar finds a grave as well as the great man. They are both destined to be food for loathsome worms; and the plow-boy, as he passes by their graves, will whistle the requiem to the repose of their greatness. While the living conqueror turns miserably from his conquest, because he finds not that for which he toiled. How many look for happiness in wealth; and when it is obtained, the golden vision of their hopes passes like a sunbeam. Gray hairs and the winter of old age steal quickly upon them and they look with tearful eyes and sorrowing heart, because they feel that death will soon break the chain which binds them to life.

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this puzzle will spell words both vertically and horizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below the puzzle. Thus No. 1 under the column headed "horizontal" defines a word which will fill the white spaces up to the first black square to the right, and a number under "vertical" defines a word which will fill the white squares to the next black one below. No letters go in the black spaces. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.

Almost Evered the Series. Mrs. Smith wanted to go to the movies. Mr. Smith said he had put in a hard day at the office and was tired and would rather sit at home and smoke. Knowing the Smiths, anyone could have predicted that they would go to the movies!

"Let's sit down near the front," said Mrs. Smith.

"But I don't like to sit near the front," Mr. Smith protested. "When I do that the pictures hurt my eyes."

"Nonsense!" scoffed Mrs. Smith. "I like to be down close so I can watch the musicians."

Soon the two were seated within comfortable seeing distance of the orchestra.

"Oh, don't you just love to hear the rumble of the kettledrums?" Mrs. Smith gushed.

And then the worm turned, albeit ever so slightly.

"Yes," Mr. Smith replied. "Keep quiet!" - Kansas City Star.
