NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

The oats crop has about all been housed and farmers have started in on their fall ploughing.

A marriage license was granted at Cumberland, Md., on Monday, to Edward Duncan Coble, of Lemont, and Helen Eleanor Neening, of Harrisburg.

Rev. Howard Glisan England, of South Mountain, will officiate at the 8 and 11 o'clock services in St. John's Episcopal church, Bellefonte, on Sunday morning.

The literary society of Linden Hall will hold a festival on Saturday, August 22nd, for the purpose of raising funds for a piano. Everybody is cordially invited.

The F. W. West Co. makes some remarkable offerings in furniture in an advertisement published on the fifth page of today's paper. Don't fail to look it over.

The State conducted tuberculin test of dairy herds in Centre county is progressing. Thus far the tests have shown an infection of only about five per cent. of the cattle under observation.

County Commissioner James W. Swabb, of Linden Hall, has purchased the E. T. Burnside property on Main street, Milesburg, with the thought of making it his permanent home in the near future.

Harry Smith, chief clerk at the Pennsylvania freight depot in Bellefonte, who has been off duty eleven weeks on account of illness, returned to work last Saturday, feeling better than he has in some years.

There are 79,388 acres of forest lands in Centre county that are owned and conserved by the State. Clinton, Lycoming, Cameron and Potter are the four counties in which the State owns more land than in Centre.

For the inauguration of "Freshman Week" at the Pennsylvania State College, a special booklet has just been published by the college and sent to all who have been granted admission to the next Freshman class. Members of the class are to report at the college on the morning of September 9th.

According to the survey just completed by the State Department of Agriculture there are 2263 farms in Centre county, with 5737 male and 5,104 female occupants. Of these 1498 are owners and 782 tenants. In 1924 there were 27,159 acres in wheat, 1,044 acres in rye and 19,473 acres in oats.

Just as Allen Burwell drove onto the barn floor with a big load of hay, at his home in Haines township, on Tuesday afternoon, the barn floor collapsed, and horses, wagon, hay and driver dropped through to the horse stable. The horses did considerable kicking but they were finally rescued uninjured while Mr. Burwell also escaped injury.

Governor Pinchot is scheduled to make a tour of the State this fall for the purpose of inspecting State institutions and holding conferences with the various State officers in each county. He will start on his trip next Tuesday and his conference in Bellefonte will likely be confined to Judge Dale, as he is the only Pinchot appointed official in town.

After twenty-five years of service as manager of the Atlantic Refining company plant in Bellefonte, L. H. Wion will retire on September first. Mr. Wion is probably the only man in Centre county who has filled but two jobs in forty-six years. Prior to becoming manager of the Atlantic Refining company he was boss farmer on the Beaver farm east of town, where he was located twenty-one years.

Frank M. Derstine, fourteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Derstine, of Juniata, and grandson of Mrs. William Derstine, of Bellefonte, fell from a shade tree on the street near his home, on Monday afternoon and broke his right arm below the elbow and dislocated both wrists, as well as sustaining lacerations of the head and various bruises. While the injuries are not of a critical nature they are serious enough to keep him housed up most of the time during the remainder of his vacation.

Mrs. Guy Coll was reported by the "Watchman" last week as having petitioned the court to have the allowance of $10.00 a month now being paid her by Mr. Coll, for the support of their child, increased to $40.00 per month. We were in error in stating that Mrs. Coll had petitioned for that amount. Her attorney stated that such a sum would be satisfactory, but Mrs. Coll had fixed no figure. All she wanted was enough to provide properly for her child and feels that $10 is too little for such a purpose.

"Rash" Williams was called before the court, on Saturday morning, on account of having broken the parole granted him on May 17th. At that time he entered a plea to the charge of larceny and the court suspended sentence on condition that he would refrain from strong drink, reimburse the Potter-Hoy Hardware company for articles stolen and pay the costs in the case. Since that time he has broken faith on several occasions and last Friday was again placed under arrest. On the plea of giving him one more chance the court extended the parole but warned him that the next time he was brought before him he would be given the limit.

ESCAPING PRISONERS

COSTLY BUSINESS FOR CENTRE COUNTY.

Constant Tap on Centre's Till Runs Up Big Sum, Not Half of Which Has Been Repaid.

The State of Pennsylvania has a standing reward of fifty dollars for the recapture, or any information which will lead to the recapture of every prisoner who escapes from a penal institution within the bounds of the Commonwealth, and the money is promptly paid when the claim is legitimate.

But every prisoner who escapes from the Rockview penitentiary means a tap on the Centre county till to the tune of over one hundred dollars and the till has been tapped so often that it is now out of time to the extent of $2854.78. In other words that is the net amount due Centre county from other counties in the State for court costs and transportation of their escaped prisoners to the western penitentiary in Pittsburgh.

When the Rockview penitentiary was located in Centre county no thought was given to escaping prisoners, but after several had escaped and been recaptured it developed that under the law they had to be accorded a hearing before the court of the county in which the prison was located, and inasmuch as there was no law providing otherwise Centre county had to bear the court costs and their transportation back to Pittsburgh. The unjustness of this was plainly evident and the Legislature of 1913 passed an act providing that all such costs should be paid by the county from which an escaping prisoner had originally been sent. But unfortunately the Legislature failed to incorporate any provision compelling such reimbursement.

The result was that some counties paid the bills when certified to them by the proper officials of Centre county while others flatly refused to pay a cent. In the meantime Centre county's claims were growing higher and higher and finally the Legislature of 1925 passed a bill amending the act of 1913 by inserting a provision that suit can be instituted against counties to compel the payment of such claims.

As stated at the beginning of this article the average cost to Centre county of escaped prisoners is a little in excess of one hundred dollars. The smallest expense noted for one prisoner was $57.90, and the highest $223.98. Seventeen counties in the State are represented in the list of escaped prisoners, six of which have paid their bills in full, as follows: Lycoming, $57.94; Westmoreland, $223.87; Cumberland, $100.26; Philadelphia, $293.82 (which does not include the two prisoners who escaped last week, for which no bill has yet been rendered); Perry, $57.90, and Washington, $111.36. Four counties have paid a portion of their bills, namely: Cambria, $467.30 on a bill of $929.64; Erie, $85.10 on a bill of $222.21; Clearfield, $14.00 on a bill of $227.22, and Allegheny, $223.98 on a bill of $652.91.

The seven counties which have not paid a cent and the bills against them are McKean, $286.50; Mercer, $247.24; Lawrence, $525.74; Carbon, $93.51; Jefferson, $112.61; Monroe, $122.36, and Mifflin, $219.72.

All told Centre county has paid out $4590.31 and been reimbursed to the extent of $1735.53, leaving a balance of $2854.78 on the wrong side of the ledger.

New Lights Installed on Bellefonte Streets.

The ornamental street lighting equipment which recently has been installed on High and Allegheny streets, Bellefonte, to replace the old flame burning arcs, is of the most modern design. The lantern type tops which have been installed represent the latest type of ornamental street lighting equipment, as is evident by the fact that the council at Chicago, Illinois, recently installed 300 of these particular units along Sheridan Road. Recent installations at State College and Ridgway show that these units are well adapted for the smaller communities.

With the use of the bi-lux refractor and the lantern type heads which have been installed, 500 candle power of light has been saved. The light from the old flame burning arcs was equivalent to 1500 candle power light while in the new heads there are 1000 candle power incandescent lamps.

The Keystone Power Corporation has installed as a matter of safety, special disconnecting type pot heads in the bottom of the post. With this type of pot head the post is automatically disconnected without interruption to the rest of the lighting system in case of an accident. An example would be—in case the post is knocked from the foundation this disconnecting type of pot head immediately disconnects the lead wires from the base of the post to the head which makes the post absolutely free from any electrical connections.

In addition to making the changes of the ornamental system, the Keystone Power Corporation is revamping the entire overhead lighting system.

At a session of court on Wednesday testimony for the plaintiff was taken in the equity case of Watson vs. Kelly, of Snow Shoe township. Testimony for the defendant will be taken later. Argument was held yesterday in the case of Cullan vs. Rowland, an action in trespass.

Three More Prisoners Break Away from Rockview.

Eastern Pennsylvania law breakers evidently do not appreciate the advantages of a prison life at Rockview, as they are continually taking advantage of every opportunity to escape and the three who left the penitentiary on Tuesday went away in style, as they stole the head gardener's Oakland coupe and used it to put distance between themselves and the penitentiary.

The men were Robert McWilliams, of Philadelphia, 18 years of age, serving six to eight years for robbery; John Sharp, Philadelphia, aged 22 years, serving five to ten years. Henry Snyder, Luzerne county, aged 19 years, serving five to ten years.

The three men had planned their escape to a nicety. Sharp and Snyder were employed on the big cell block, which is inside the wire stockade. McWilliams was employed at the stone quarries, which is outside the stockade but on Tuesday morning he made a good excuse and was kept inside the stockade at light work.

Some time between ten and eleven o'clock on Tuesday morning Sharp and Snyder went to an outside toilet built close to the barbed wire stockade. There they met McWilliams and under cover of the toilet building cut a hole in the barbed wire and crawled through. Right outside stood the Oakland coupe of B. Allen Rockwell, head gardener. Before being sent to the penitentiary Sharp was employed as a chauffeur and his vocation came in handy at this time. The three men piled into the car and quickly left the prison grounds, going west toward Lemont.

Their escape was not discovered until an hour later and when an investigation showed they had stolen the gardener's car penitentiary officers endeavored to head them off by telephone. But nobody at Lemont, State College, Pine Grove Mills, nor points west of that had recognized a car of the description given. The car bore license tags No. 454,291, and it was hoped that through the tags the escaped prisoners might be identified.

Penitentiary authorities, however, have succeeded in getting trace of a car which they feel certain was the stolen coupe containing the escaped prisoners. It went by way of Lemont and the Branch road to Pennsylvania Furnace, crossed the Barrens into Halfmoon valley and then, instead of turning to the left went to the right and came down Buffalo Run valley to Bellefonte, passing through here about four o'clock in the afternoon, just about the time word of the escape was telephoned here from the penitentiary.

The men did not stop here but went down to Milesburg and turned east, down Bald Eagle valley. The trail was lost at Mt. Eagle. By the time word of the escape reached there the men had gone, but several people, according to reports, recall having seen a car bearing license tags 454,291 pass through the village.

Big Sunday School Rally at Camp Kenesatake.

Arrangements have been made to have a big rally of the Sunday schools of Centre county at camp Kenesatake, at Spruce Creek, on Sunday afternoon, August 9th. A cordial invitation is extended by the Centre county association to all the schools to be largely represented. It will be a fine opportunity for everybody to see the camp and realize the work that is being done there. As one of the three counties vitally interested in the camp Centre county people should be familiar with its workings and largely responsible for its future. There is no greater service than this in our christian work.

It is hoped that visitors will go early. There will be a brief program. Basket lunches should be taken along and it should be made a pleasant and profitable occasion. Don't forget the date, Sunday, August 9th, in the afternoon.

To reach the camp go by way of Seven Stars, to left through Franklinville to white bridge, then turn to right.

The Lutz Properties to be Sold at Public Sale.

At 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, August 15th, the properties of Mrs. J. Richard Lutz, on east Howard street, will be put up at public sale.

Mrs. Lutz has had many offers for them privately, but feels that she doesn't want to give preference to any one in particular so will sell them publicly, giving all the same chance to buy.

There are three fifty and one twenty-five foot front lots. One with a fine home erected thereon. They will be sold separately or altogether, according as bidders may desire to have them put up.

A Close Call.

Harold and Charles Frantz, seven and six year old sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Frantz, of Hannah Furnace, went out to play on the bridge which spans Bald Eagle creek, one day last week. Harold fell from the bridge into ten feet of water and Charles screamed. Ten year old LeRoy Beck was sitting on the store porch not far away and heard Charles' cries for help. He ran to the creek, realized the plight of the struggling Harold, hastily secured a pole and pulled him to shore. Harold was already unconscious but he was quickly resuscitated and is none the worse for his adventure.

FIVE BOROUGH DADS HOLD BRIEF SESSION.

Borough Duplicate Shows a Small Increase in Taxes for 1925.

Just five borough councilmen were present at the regular meeting on Monday evening, the first that has been held since June 15th. A notice was received from the bureau of fire protection at Harrisburg stating that a permit had been granted the Bottorff Bros., for the installation of a gasoline pump at their place of business on Bishop street, subject, of course, to the rules and regulations of the borough. The matter was referred to the Street committee and borough manager.

Secretary W. T. Kelly submitted correspondence he had had with Harrisburg officials relative to the improvements at the water works, and which it was finally decided could be made without a permit.

The secretary also presented the executed contract with the Keystone Power corporation for street lighting. The Street committee reported repairs on various streets and the collection of $30.00 for sewer permits and $3.00 for old tar barrels.

The Water committee presented the borough manager's report showing total collections since last meeting of council of $183.46. Mr. Cunningham, for the committee, reported that the stone work for the new building at the big spring is about completed and from now on the work should progress quite rapidly. That the new electric pump had been placed on its foundation and would probably be connected up within a week or ten days.

The Finance committee requested the renewal of notes aggregating over thirty thousand dollars, which was authorized.

Secretary Kelly reported that the borough duplicate for 1925 had been completed. The valuation of taxable property this year shows a slight increase over last year, being $2,013,306.00, while in 1924 it was $1,948,727.00. The borough tax for 1925 is $20,133.06; street, $20,133.06, and interest, $10,074.52, or a total of $50,340.64. The total tax for 1924 was $48,728.47.

Under the head of new business Mr. Cunningham brought up the fact that there is not a single public place in Bellefonte where thirsty travelers can get a drink of water, and suggested that two drinking fountains be installed in the Diamond, one at each corner of the court house pavement. The borough has one such fountain on hand and if another one like it is purchased the entire installation can be made at a cost of approximately $150. A motion was passed authorizing the installation of the fountains as suggested.

Mr. Cunningham, who presided in the chair in the absence of president Walker, called council's attention to the fact that automobilists on Sunday evening sadly marred the beauty of the union services being held in the park between the court house and the jail by continually running up and down High street on both sides of the park, notwithstanding requests that they refrain from doing so during the hour the services are being held. To abate the nuisance in the future he instructed the borough manager to have some one rope off both streets at six o'clock Sunday evening and keep them closed tight until the service is over.

Mr. Bradley called attention to the broken and worn out condition of the concrete pavement on north Water street, and a motion was passed authorizing the Street committee to have the same repaired.

Bills totaling almost $9,000 were approved for payment after which council adjourned.

Mail Pilot Chandler Catapulted Into Susquehanna River.

Airmail pilot Harry Chandler, flying east on Wednesday night, was catapulted into the Susquehanna river at Rupert, Columbia county, about five miles from Bloomsburg, but luckily escaped with a broken nose and a few cuts and bruises. The cargo of mail he carried was all recovered, though some of it was pretty badly soaked with water, and his plane will probably be recovered from the river today.

Chandler was piloting the east-bound ship due in Bellefonte at 2:30 in the afternoon but which was over four hours late owing to weather conditions west. He left Bellefonte shortly before seven o'clock, in fact it was just seven when he crossed Nittany mountain at Hecla gap. When he reached the Susquehanna river the fog and low-hanging clouds obscured the blazed trail of signal lights and he sat down in an oats field near Rupert. About eleven o'clock weather conditions improved to that extent that he decided to continue his flight, but in taking off from the oats field his plane hit the tops of some trees bordering the field and tipped him into the river. Persons who saw the accident helped the pilot out and sent him to the Bloomsburg hospital, but his injuries are only superficial and he expected to leave that institution last night. Word of the accident was telephoned the Bellefonte field and Forest Tanner went to Rupert by automobile, arriving there at four o'clock yesterday morning. He had charge of recovering the mail from the river and also made arrangements with a contractor to take the plane out.

Fourteen cars, trucks and horse-drawn vehicles were lined up at the curb market last Saturday.

NEWS PURELY PERSONAL.

Miss Blanche Hagan will leave this week on a two week's vacation, expecting to spend the time with friends at Shamokin and with relatives in and about Spring Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. John Markle with their daughter, Mrs. Trout, her husband and two daughters, all of Gardner, Pa., stopped in Bellefonte Monday afternoon to spend several hours with the Thomas Benner and Harry Smith families. The party was on the drive home from Pine Grove Mills, where they had been for the Osman reunion, Sunday, Mr. Markle being Mrs. Osman's only brother.

Recently we had a brief call from Sam Goswami, former insurance man of this place. He is located in Reading now and doing fine. Sam is on a business trip into the central part of the State and, of course, couldn't be anywhere within miles of Pine Grove Mills without heading that way for a little visit with his mother, and because he had to get from there to Lock Haven there was the chance of stopping in Bellefonte for a little while.

Mrs. E. H. Richard has as house guests Mr. Richard's nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hill, of Philadelphia, and their niece, Mildred Pearce. Mrs. Richard and Miss Emma Montgomery have just returned from a motor trip to White Haven, where they had been for a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. Winn, both patients at the sanitarium there. Mrs. Winn who is a niece of Mrs. Richard, is better known here as Miss Margaret Aull.

C. B. Williams, purchasing agent for the Central Railroad of New Jersey, who spent the month of July in Bellefonte for the benefit of his health, left here last Thursday to motor to his home in Westfield, N. J. He was accompanied on the trip by his sister, Miss Helene Williams. During Mr. Williams' sojourn in Bellefonte his wife and son Frederick took a trip to California, going out the southern route and returning by way of the Yellowstone park.

Mr. and Mrs. James Deghan and their daughter Katherine, of Bethlehem, and Al. Lochrie, of Philadelphia, stopped here, Monday, with the Martin Cooney family, for an overnight stay in Bellefonte, while on a drive through Central Pennsylvania. Mrs. Deghan and Mr. Lochrie both being natives of Centre county, and the latter not having been here for a number of years, their time was fully occupied looking up old friends and noting the changes about Bellefonte. Leaving here Tuesday, they went on to Tyrone.

Mr. and Mrs. James Caldwell were at a house guest Mrs. Sydney Fletcher, of Pittsburgh.

Miss Katherine Allison has been entertaining Miss Anne Dashiels, a former instructor in the schools of Bellefonte, but now of Salisbury, Md.

Mr. Smith has been located at Johnstown for some years. He travels from that point for Armour and Co., Chicago meat packers.

Maudeline and Franklin Stevens came over from McConnellsburg the middle of July for a visit here with their two brothers, Dr. R. L. and Vincent Stevens. Monday, Miss Maudeline went on to Pittsburgh, expecting to be there with friends for a while, then return to Bellefonte to join her brother, to continue the visit here before going home.

Dr. Lee B. and Byron Woodcock drove here from Scranton, Sunday, going on here to Hollidaysburg to look after some coal interests in that locality. Upon their return to Bellefonte they were joined by Dr. Woodcock's mother, Mrs. John A. Woodcock, who accompanied them on a drive to McConnellsburg, and her former home at Chambersburg.

Relatives and friends of the late James Foreman who were in Bellefonte for his funeral yesterday included his brother Charles, of Lewistown; his two daughters, Mrs. Annie Perry, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Julia Randolph, of New York city; Mrs. Wade, of Youngstown, Ohio; Mr. Pendleton, of Huntingdon, and Wellington Jordan, of Phillipsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Kaufman, with their two youngest children, Freda and Joseph, left Tuesday morning on a drive to New York to see their son Max, who has been in business there for some time. He being their former home and having many relatives in that city, Mrs. Kaufman and the children spent the time visiting, while Mr. Kaufman devoted the time to business.

Francis E. Thomas was in Bellefonte for several days last week, stopping here on his return north from a ten day's visit with friends at Asheville, N. C. Francis left again Sunday to be a guest at the summer home of John W. Davis, former candidate for President, at Locust Valley, L. I., for a week or more, expecting then to return to Cheshire, Conn., to prepare for resuming his winter's work.

Miss Rachel Stutsman, a member of the faculty of the Merrill Palmer school in Detroit, is spending her vacation at Rockview with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Stutsman. Miss Stutsman is now summarizing the results of her several years research on mental tests of the pre-school age child for her doctorate thesis to be published from the psychology department of the University of Chicago of which she is a graduate.
