The happy gathering will long be remembered by all present. And none enjoyed the happy event more than did Mrs. Shuey herself.

The Jodon old-time reunion, held on August 6th, at Uneeda park, Woodward Narrows, was very creditably patronized. Over one hundred were present on the happy occasion. Dr. Mary Jodon, of Lincoln, Nebraska, was apparently the centre of attraction. This was her first appearance in Centre county since she was a child.

Mr. Bortorf, of State College, and son-in-law, Harold Kerstetter, went to their hunting camp in the mountains, back of Colyer, a few days ago, on an inspection trip. Since fishing is a thing of the past they are evidently looking forward to the time when the legal hunting season opens when, as sportsmen, their ambitions will be gratified.

Every circumstance contributes to early rising advisable to those who are in pursuit of health, or those who desire the enjoyment of it. The husbandman is up at his labor, the forest leaves sparkle with drops of crystal dew, the flowers raise their heads toward the sun, the birds pour forth their anthems of gladness and the wide force of nature itself seems as if awakened and refreshed by the nightly slumber. The preservation of health is a duty incumbent on all of us. Without good health, misery is our lot and we are liable to become a burden on all mankind. On the other hand, when we enjoy good health, our presence is beneficial to all who come in contact with us.

She Said So, Anyway

The young man who was endeavoring to win the favor of Hughie's pretty sister met the boy on the street one morning and greeted him with much cordiality.

"Do you think your sister was pleased to know I had called the other day?" he was at last forced to ask, bluntly, after several efforts to gauge Hughie's conversation in that direction.

"Sure!" said Hughie, with gratifying promptness. "I know she was. I heard her say so."

"When she came home mother said: 'Mr. Jones called while you were out,' and she said: 'He did? Well, I am glad of that!'"

Rose Bushes That May Be Classed as Freaks

As a rule rose bushes are not classed with yews and oaks among the long-lived and ancient, but a rose tree on the wall of Hildesheim cathedral, Prussia, can be traced back with certainty to the Eleventh century. Its main trunk has a thickness of 20 inches, and the branches spread over the wall to a height of 25 feet.

The castle of Chillon, on Lake Geneva, in which the famous "Prisoner" of Byron's poem was interned, has a very large rose tree of unknown age, and in the Marine gardens at Toulon there is one that spreads across a space of 80 feet by 15 feet, and which has been known to bear 50,000 blooms at the same time!

The biggest rose tree in Europe is in the Wehrle gardens in Friesburg, Germany. Its stock is a wild rose on which a "tea rose" was grafted 40 years ago. Today the bush is 120 feet high.

Bark "Wrapping Paper"

The Chopt Tibetans retain their individuality partly because they inhabit inaccessible mountains. At their capital, Choni, on the Tao river, lives the hereditary Chinese ruler of 48 tribes of this people. He can levy taxes, quell rebellions and administer punishment, but the Chinese say of him, "He has the pig's head, but cannot find the door of the temple." They imply that he is willing to give bribes to keep his position, but too many officials expect them, and he cannot tell which deserve the largest. A recent study of the province includes extensive botanical and zoological observations. One tree, known locally as the "red birch," is a boon to traders. It has a shining, brown, papery bark, which peels off in large, thin sheets, which are used by Tibetans and Chinese for wrapping butter and other food articles.

Ostrich Father

"At this season on my South African ostrich farm," said an ostrich farmer, "you will see some male birds strutting proudly about with three or four broods in addition to their own, while other males mope wretchedly without any broods at all."

"The male ostrich, you see, is a very fond parent. He swaggers away from the nest in the morning to give his young ones an airing, and when he spies another male occupied in the same way he puts up a fight and, if he wins, he collars the beaten bird's brood."

"To see one of these proud males in the spring of the year swelling round with goodness knows how many little ones is a sight to bring tears to a true father's eyes."—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

Mills for Milk

There is a tradition of a boy from London who was disappointed with the country, where he went for a holiday, because he saw them "pump milk from a dirty old cow."

The boy's idea of artificial milk is within realization, for after manufactured butter we are to have artificial milk. It is already consumed extensively in China and a mill is to be set up in France.

The Chinese drop a powder into water, stir it and it becomes milk. The powder is a soja bean crushed. The French mill is to treat the bean so as to enable the milk powder to be sold in packets. It is said that cheese is obtained by the same process.—London Globe.

Also, 2 reel comedy, "Getting Trimmed."
