Twenty-six cars, trucks and wagons were lined up at the curb market, last Saturday morning, and the produce offered for sale was in excess of the demand. Corn was king among the produce offered, and it was of excellent quality and several different varieties.

The warrant for his arrest was sworn out by Miss Virginia Rebb, his co-worker in the beauty parlor.

The Associated Gas and Electric Co., a New York corporation, has taken over the property and franchise of the Penn Public Service Corporation. The latter organization controlled the electric service to Erie, Meadville, Warren, Clarion, DuBois, Clearfield, Philipsburg, Indiana, Johnstown, Somerset and on down into Maryland.

Don't worry your brain about a place to spend a pleasant evening; go to the Scenic and you will have two hours of good solid entertainment mixed with enough comedy to make an enjoyable program. It's the only place in Bellefonte where you can see the best motion pictures made. Regular patrons are the only ones who see them all, hence it pays to be a regular.

The big pipe organ to be installed in the Scenic was shipped from Los Angeles, Cal., on Monday. It will come by boat through the Panama canal to New York city, thence by rail to Bellefonte. It will take twenty-one days to make the trip by boat from Los Angeles to New York, so it will probably be the middle of September when the organ reaches Bellefonte. Just how long it will take to install it is not known but its melodious tones ought to be in evidence early in October.

Representatives of no less than 55 different colleges and universities were numbered among the 102 students enrolled in the Institute of French Education at the Pennsylvania State College this summer, according to an announcement that has just been made by Professor H. P. W. de Visme, director of the Institute. The latter has just submitted his report to Dean Will Grant Chambers, director of the summer session, upon the conclusion of the second annual meeting of the Institute.

There is a big pair of nippers out at the Rockview penitentiary that comes near being a hoodo for that institution. They are used by the workmen on the big cell block to cut the tie wires on the concrete forms but three times now they have been used by prisoners to cut their way to liberty through the barred wire stockade. Of course any other pair would be just as much of a weapon in the hands of prisoners seeking a means of escape, but it has just happened that in three instances the identical pair of nippers were used.

A compensation case heard before referee Jacob Snyder, in Altoona on Monday, was that of Miss Grace Heath, who is asking compensation to the amount of $1,500 for the loss of the first joint of the index finger on her left hand as the result of what she claims was an injury sustained while at work as a waitress in the Colonial restaurant, Bellefonte, on May 28th, 1925. According to the claimant she hit her finger against a table while scrubbing the floor, the finger became sore and had to be amputated at the first joint. Mrs. John F. Marks was in Altoona on Monday as a witness at the hearing and her remembrance of the girl and her sore finger does not coincide with the story of Miss Heath. The referee reserved his decision.

NEW JERSEY MEN
COME TO GRIEF.
One Now in Centre County Jail on Serious Charge.

Last Friday morning two men in a sports Peerless roadster made their appearance at the Rockview penitentiary and one of the men, who was promptly recognized by assistant deputy warden Clarence C. Rhoads as Thomas DeFloromo, a paroled prisoner, demanded to see three Italian prisoners. One of the latter is serving time for having been implicated in a big bank robbery in the Smoky city. Being a prisoner on parole duty Rhoads informed DeFloromo that he was not entitled to see any one. The latter not only became persistent but almost abusive and as a last resort appealed to deputy warden W. J. McFarland. That official sustained his assistant's refusal to permit a prisoner on parole to see other inmates and finally ordered DeFloromo and his companion, D. W. Welsh, off the prison grounds.

The men left and came to Bellefonte registering at the Brockerhoff house. They went to their room and remained there most of the day. In the meantime deputy warden McFarland, becoming suspicious of the mission of the two men, came to Bellefonte and got into communication with chief of police Dukeman and Corp. Willard, of the state police. When the men came down from dinner on Friday evening the officers asked to see their license to the car they were driving. At the time neither one was able to produce a license and they were promptly placed under arrest and taken to jail.

On being searched at the jail, however, a legally executed driver's license was found on the men, and they explained that they had borrowed the car from a friend in Patterson, N. J., to make the trip. They might have gotten off on that explanation but when the officers searched the car they found a half-pint of liquor, dice, cards and other equipment of a professional gambler, so that the men were held.

They were permitted to communicate with a Patterson attorney, Michael W. Stein, who, accompanied by Joseph Goloti, of Pittston, arrived in Bellefonte on Monday morning and at once got busy to get the two other men out of jail. In the meantime Rockview penitentiary authorities had lodged a detainer against DeFloromo for breaking his parole.

At a hearing before justice of the peace S. Kline Woodring, on Monday afternoon, the men posted $1000 cash bail for the appearance of Welsh and DeFloromo at the September term of court to answer to the charge of the illegal transportation of liquor which resulted in Welsh's discharge from jail, but DeFloromo will have to await the action of the parole board of the western penitentiary as to his release or return to prison. In the meantime the $2,500 Peerless car is being held by Centre county officials and its final disposition will depend on the court's order following the usual condemnation proceedings.

But the exact reason for Floromo's visit to Rockview to see three Italian prisoners has not been divulged. DeFloromo was originally sent to the eastern penitentiary from Philadelphia, was transferred to Rockview and released on parole March 24th, 1924. Since that time he has been located in Patterson, N. J., and has been regular in his reports to the parole board. He was supposed to be making $150 a month but it is alleged that his bank book shows deposits of $4,300 in the past four months. In their brief but tempestuous stay in Bellefonte all the men seemed flush with money, but a large part of it remained here.

Sheriff Goes After Auto Tires and Captures Still in Operation.

On Monday morning L. E. Tice, of Howard, operating a motor bus line between Bellefonte and Lock Haven, by way of the Bald Eagle valley, came to Bellefonte and made information against Fred Butler, a seventeen year old youth, son of Thomas Butler, who lives on a farm not far from Jacksonville, charging him with the theft of two tires from his big bus. A search warrant was sworn out and later in the day sheriff E. R. Taylor and Corporal Willard, of the state police, accompanied by deputy warden W. J. McFarland, of Rockview, went to Howard and failing to get any trace of the stolen tires at that place proceeded to the Thomas Butler home, near Jacksonville.

There they made a thorough search and while they didn't find the tires they uncovered a moonshine still in full blast in an outhouse on the farm. The still had a capacity of twenty gallons and quite a quantity of moonshine was also found. The still and moonshine were confiscated, the mash destroyed and Thomas Butler was arrested on the charge of operating the still while the son Fred was arrested on the charge of larceny of the two auto tires. The young man informed the officers that he had taken the tires for his car but they wouldn't fit, so had hidden one along the railroad and the other in the rear of Tice's garage. The one along the railroad was recovered but some other individual had made way with the one hidden behind the garage.

Father and son were brought to the Centre county jail but were later released on bail, the father's bond being placed at $1,000 and the son's at $500.

The Huntingdon fair will be held on September 1, 2, 3, and 4. Its promoters promise a more interesting exposition this year than ever.

Over One Thousand Candidates' Petitions Filed.

While all the candidates' petitions filed at the office of the county commissioners have not yet been arranged in their separate districts and correctly counted the number is considerably in excess of one thousand.

In Bellefonte Hard P. Harris is the only candidate for burgess, petitions having been filed for both the Republican and Democratic nomination.

In fact the only contest of any consequence in the borough will be for the office of tax collector, which is accounted for by the fact that it is the only official job that pays real money. Three men are after the Republican nomination, Herbert Auman, the present collector; Orian Kline and Harry B. Johnson, while the Democrats will be represented by Charles Fromm, Harry N. Meyer and Charles Schaeffer.

Mrs. M. E. Brouse and Mrs. Caroline Gilmour are the only candidates for school director, while John M. Keichline is a candidate to succeed himself as justice of the peace in the South ward.

For borough councilmen the candidates are W. J. Emerick and W. Frederick Reynolds, in the North ward; Thomas Hazel, in the South ward; J. M. Cunningham, W. H. Brouse and John P. Eckel, in the West ward. As there are six to elect every one of the candidates is sure of a seat at the council table. C. L. Gates is a candidate to succeed himself as borough auditor.

Shredded Wheat Distributors Charged with Stealing Truck.

During most of last week two young men, William Callan and Daniel Carlin, were making the rounds of Centre county in a Dodge truck distributing sample packages of shredded wheat biscuit and other cereal products. They were in the employ of D. H. Sellman, of Lock Haven, owner of the truck. The truck was kept at Beezer's garage and on Sunday the young men took the truck and disappeared. Failing to return on Monday Mr. Sellman went before justice of the peace J. M. Keichline and swore out a warrant for their arrest, charging them with the larceny of the truck. The truck bears license tags R-56,189, and officers are now on the hunt for Callan and Carlin.

The two men, still driving the truck, were caught at East Orange, N. Y., on Wednesday and will be brought back to Bellefonte to answer to the charge of stealing the truck.

Valuable Deposit of Magnesia Limestone Found in Spruce Creek Valley.

What is believed to be the most valuable deposit of dolomite, or magnesia limestone, in the entire State has been uncovered on the farm of W. J. McCartney, a Pennsylvania railroad engineer, in the western end of Spruce Creek valley. The mineral is used in the manufacture of steel, in making asbestos covering, chemical lime, medicine and magnesia cement. Several carloads of the stone have been tested at the Bethlehem plant of the Bethlehem Steel company and found to be of an unusually good quality. It is estimated that the deposit will yield from six to seven million tons.

By way of the Pittsburgh newspapers comes the following:

The marriage is announced of Miss Nancy Belle Faxon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Thompson Faxon, of Bellefonte, to Douglas Fraser Audsley, of College Park, Ga., which was solemnized August 8 in the chapel of St. Paul's Episcopal church, Chattanooga. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Audsley will make their home in College Park.

Five prisoners were sent back from Rockview to the Pittsburgh institution yesterday. Two of them were believed to be planning an escape while the other three didn't like prison regulations at Rockview. Assistant deputy warden Clarence C. Rhoads had the bunch in charge.

WAS JOHN GILL MURDERED?
Found Lying Along Railroad Track with Bad Wound on Head.

John Gill, a well known blacksmith of Huston township, died at 8:15 o'clock last Friday morning, as the result of a crushed skull. He was found early in the morning lying along the railroad track about ninety feet from his home with his skull crushed on the top of his head. He was carried home and regained consciousness sufficient to ask for a drink of water and a chew of tobacco. When asked if he had been hit by a passing train he replied in the negative but it has not been definitely established that he understood the question as he almost immediately lapsed into unconsciousness and died shortly after.

The fact that a number of residents of that locality had engaged in a drinking bout on Thursday evening led to a suspicion that Gill may have been beaten on the head and placed along side the railroad track, and as a result of the suspicion his brother, Edward Gill, and James Blakely were arrested on Friday evening and brought to the Centre county jail. In the absence of coroner W. R. Heaton, of Philipsburg, Drs. John P. Sebring and David Dale went to Julian on Friday afternoon made an autopsy and found the skull crushed, to the right of the top of the head, as if done by something with a sharp point as it was punctured clear into the brain, a bit of which oozed out. Also, just to the left of the wound was a large cut. Dr. Sebring gave it as his opinion that it was not a case of murder but an accident of some character and the jury returned a verdict that Gill came to his death as the result of a crushed skull sustained in a manner unknown. As the result of the jury's finding Ed. Gill was released from jail.

The unfortunate man was a son of George and Susan Gill and was about fifty-five years old. He never married but is survived by his aged father and two brothers, Edward and Thomas, both of Huston township, and several sisters, one of whom, Miss Minnie, is at home. Funeral services were held at the Gill home at two o'clock on Sunday afternoon, burial being made at Martha Furnace.

Long Time Sentences for Escaped Prisoners.

At a special session of court, last Saturday morning, Judge Dale cleaned house of the recaptured escaped prisoners and what he gave them ought to be a warning to all the temporary sojourners at Rockview that it doesn't pay to try and reduce their original sentence by making a get-away. The percentage of prisoners who have escaped and not been recaptured is so small that the odds are too big.

The first two men who faced the court were John Duane and "Dick" Richards, both of Lackawanna county. They are the two men who, after cutting through the wire stockade hid in a cornfield but were recaptured before they got off the prison grounds. They were charged with breaking only. At first the two men demurred against pleading guilty but they finally changed their minds and Duane was given from 4 to 10 years in the western penitentiary and Richards 3 to 10.

Earl Green, of Montgomery county, one of the five men who escaped on July 6th, and who was caught at Bridgeton, N. J., was given from 5 to 10 years. Henry Simpson, of Luzerne county, and John A. Sharp, of Philadelphia, two of the men who escaped on August 4th, were each given 5 to 10 years and Robert McWilliams, the third man in the party, was given 4 to 8 years. Simpson, Sharp and McWilliams were each given an additional year and a half to three years for stealing the car of head gardener B. Allen Rockwell, and using it in which to make their escape. All the men were taken to the western penitentiary in Pittsburgh on Saturday.

The sentencing and return to the penitentiary of the above six men accounts for all but one of those who broke prison during the past two months. James Lee, of Philadelphia, one of the five who escaped on July 5th is still at large but it is only a question of time until he will likely be recaptured.

Annual Pilgrimage to Old Buffalo Cross Roads Church.

The annual pilgrimage to the old Buffalo Cross Roads Presbyterian church, four miles west of Lewisburg, will take place next Thursday, August 27th. Quite a number of Bellefonte and Centre county people make this pilgrimage every year as a means of perpetuating the history of a church organized in 1773.

The program for next Thursday provides for a morning session, at 10:30, which will be devoted to "Early Presbyterian History on Pennsylvania," and discussed by the Rev. F. B. Everitt, of Lewisburg, and the Rev. William Finney, of Pottsgrove, who will present history of the struggles of the Scotch-Irish pioneers. At 2:30 p. m. Dr. W. T. Linn Keifer, a teacher in Lincoln University, and a son of the church, will preside. The address will be given by the present moderator of the Synod of Pennsylvania, the Rev. Dr. A. P. Bittinger, of Ambridge, whose topic will be "The Presbyterianism of Tomorrow." Automobiles will meet trains at Vicksburg. Basket lunch at noon. Vesper service at 6 o'clock.
