LAST OF A BIG JOURNEY.

George T. Bush Winds Up His Trip at Toronto Fair.

Toronto, Can., August 31.

Editor of the "Watchman:" On leaving Detroit, Mich., I went to Mt. Clemens, twenty miles distant, where I spent several days. Mt. Clemens is the "city of baths," the resort for people afflicted with rheumatism and blood disorders. To test the efficacy of the baths. I tried them and must admit that they have an exhilarating effect. Baths can be had in most of the large hotels, although there are regular public bath houses where one can take a dip for a dollar with rubs fifty cents additional. The water for the baths is pumped from wells 1100 feet deep. It comes out of the ground almost the color of ink and is heavily laden with various medicinal salts. It has an odor of hydrogen sulphide, but is really better than it

Thirty years ago I visited Detroit on a football trip and our game was played on the athletic club grounds, which were then at the edge of the city limits. Today the city extends four miles beyond where the field was leasted at that time. Present day reserved at the time. located at that time. Present day residents claim a population of one million. One of the biggest and most marvelous industries is the Ford Motor company plant. Its size is enormous and at present there are 46,000 employees. In fact there are so many that they have a pay day every working day in the month. I visited the factory and was impressed with the system everywhere. Workmen do not leave their places at lunch hour but are served from lunch wagons wheeled to them. The best of food is served

Extensive machinery changes are now being made to turn out the new models Ford cars, which will be so entirely different from the old designs that much new equipment will be

From Detroit I went by boat through Lake Erie to Buffalo, a fifteen hour trip. The lake was very rough at night and many of the passengers had a slight attack of seasing the season of the passengers. sickness. The most impressive thing at Niagara Falls is the night illumination of the falls and rapids. Leaving the Falls I took the gorge route down to Lewiston, crossing the lake to Toronto, Canada. Before landing on Canadian soil customs officials give the traveler the "once over" and coming back U. S. officials perform that rite before the traveler sets foot on land. A close watch is kept for smuggled booze, but the officials also keep their eyes peeled for anything dutia-ble. In Toronto liquor can be obtained only over the prescription counter, but 4.4 beer and ale is sold indiscriminately. They, however, do not seem to satisfy and it will not be surprising if, at the next opportunity, the Province of Ontario votes wet. Five years ago the drys had a majority of 300,-000, while last fall a scant 38,000 lined up against liquor. Toronto, as a city, held two weeks beginning the second Saturday before Labor day. The fair is owned and run by the ci managed by a committee of citizens. It represents an investment of eleven million dollars and a large portion of the profits every year is put into permanent equipment. The admission price is moderate, 25 cents, or five tickets for $1.00, including grand-stand. The Midway is unusually large. stand. The Midway is unusually large and I was surprised to see Johnny Jones, of DuBois, holding the carnival

Auto races and auto push ball are held on a good half-mile dirt track, furnishing splendid sport for the large crowds in attendance. Saturday was the opening day and 85,000 people went through the turnstiles. This immense crowd was handled without the constant of the same of the constant of the same of th any noticeable congestion or undue
