The Bellefonte Lodge of Elks have started preparations for their annual Hollow-e'en celebration which this year will be held on Saturday night, October 31st. Complete details will be announced in the near future.

John W. Beals, of Phillipsburg, has been appointed a forestry inspector to succeed the late J. R. Van Dinker. The position pays $120 per month and Mr. Beals' district will include portions of Centre and Clearfield counties.

Mark Williams, of the Bellefonte Hardware company, was thirty-five years old on Monday and his wife arranged a surprise party in his honor, the affair being held at the Masonic camp, near Snow Shoe Intersection. Thirty-four guests were present and the evening was spent in playing cards and other social diversions.

Rev. S. F. Forgeus, moderator of the Baptist church in Central Pennsylvania and who for thirty-three years was chaplain of the Huntingdon reformatory, will preach in the Baptist church at Milesburg on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. He will also preach in the Baptist church at Blanchard at 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

Miss Helen Harper was taken to the Centre County hospital Thursday of last week, suffering from a mild attack of typhoid fever. Mary Elizabeth Sloop, the eldest daughter of Arthur L. Sloop, supervising principal of the Bellefonte schools, had charge of Miss Harper's room for a few days, Miss Henrietta Quigley then being substituted permanently.

Changes in the railroad personnel, occasioned by the recent sudden death of station agent Walter L. Cooke, of Howard, have been announced as follows: C. C. Dreese, transferred from Madera to Howard; A. B. Nelson transferred from Blanchard to Madera; P. E. Hicks transferred from Martha to Blanchard, and W. A. Shaffer appointed agent at Martha.

Delman McCloskey, of Blanchard, is under one thousand dollars bail for his appearance before the Centre county court on the charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. His arrest followed an automobile accident in which he figured last Friday night when the car he was driving collided with one being driven by John J. Considine, of Lock Haven.

The primaries are now over and the candidates have been named. Of course every voter will naturally consider carefully which one to vote for but this won't interfere with your going to the scenic every evening for an hour or two and being comfortably entertained in watching the motion pictures as they flash across the screen. There is no denying the fact that manager T. Clayton Brown is giving the people of Bellefonte and vicinity some remarkable pictures, and the Scenic is the only place to see them.

The police of Bellefonte have failed to find any definite clues that might lead to the discovery of the men who, on Wednesday night of last week, burglarized the mill of the C. Y. Wagner Co., blowing open the safe and stealing about one hundred dollars in cash. At noon on Thursday three men traveling in an automobile attempted to hold up a bank in a small town near Bloomsburg, Columbia county, but became frightened before they pulled the job and made a get-away in their waiting machine before they could be captured. It is just possible that this was the same gang that robbed the Wagner mill, as they could easily travel to Bloomsburg between the time the mill was robbed and noontime the next day, when the attempt was made to rob the bank in Columbia county.

500 MEMBERS IN 4 DAYS.

A Big Drive to be Made in Interest of Bellefonte Y. M. C. A.

"Five hundred members in four days" is the slogan of a drive to be made the latter part of this month for membership in the Bellefonte Y. M. C. A. This was decided upon at a preliminary meeting held on Monday evening. The exact dates for the drive will be September 28th, 29th and 30th, and October 1st.

The winter season is approaching when the young people of the town will naturally seek some place of entertainment. The only regular places of amusement in Bellefonte at the present time are the movie picture theatres. While officials of the Y. M. C. A. have no intention of decrying these places they feel that all possible effort should be put forth to interest the young men and women in the Y. The association building was only recently overhauled at considerable expense and is as good a plant as can be found in any town the size of Bellefonte, that must depend entirely upon the community for its support. And the only sure way of getting such support is from membership.

During the summer the people of Bellefonte and vicinity entertained in the neighborhood of two hundred fresh air children from New York city, at an expense of approximately two thousand dollars. While this was a worthy charity, the children of Bellefonte and surrounding community were passed by unnoticed. Charity should always begin at home, and if the people of Bellefonte believe in this adage they will rally to the support of the big drive for membership to be made by the Y. M. C. A. on the dates above given.

Another meeting will be held the latter part of this week when the details of the drive will be worked out. At that time committees will be appointed and all necessary plans made. Watch the papers next week for full announcements, but more than all else, decide now to put your shoulder to the wheel and help push the drive along.

Brook Trout Again Find Home in the Big Spring.

It has been years since the last one of the trout that attracted so much attention in the Big Spring disappeared from the source of the town's water supply. Some of them were sneaked out by fishermen, some were removed because they had become diseased and others just disappeared. Almost continuously, since, the question has come up: Why are there no trout kept in the Spring?

So insistent has it been since the trout in Spring creek have become the object of such general interest that Mr. Cunningham, chairman of the Water committee of council, set about to procure a few trout for the spring. It was thought that the native brook trout should be the only variety there, so with the co-operation of William Haas, superintendent of the Pleasant Gap hatchery, Fish Commissioner Buller was interested to the extent of presenting eight beauties to the borough of Bellefonte. As there are no large brook trout at the Gap hatchery it became necessary to bring them all the way from Cory. This Mr. Haas did last Saturday, bringing eight, ranging in length from 10 to 14 inches. Two were carried in a can. They arrived here in fine condition and are having the time of their lives jumping at the flies that skim over the surface of the Spring.

Shock Absorbers Being Turned Out in Bellefonte.

A new firm which is already beginning to make its mark in automobile circles is the Aero Shock Absorber company, located and doing business in Bellefonte. Eben B. Bower is the superintendent and general manager of the company and his assembling plant is in his warehouse down near the Lamb street bridge, over Spring creek. The company is now turning out upwards of one hundred sets of absorbers a day and has already placed over two thousand sets in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Maryland towns.

At present the absorber is manufactured entirely for Ford cars, but the local company controls the patent and its field covers the entire United States and wherever Ford cars are sold and in use. As there are now over twelve million Ford cars on the market they have fertile territory in which to work. Mr. Bower has confidence in the attachment he is putting on the market and is looking forward to the time when the absorber plant will be one of the big industries of Bellefonte.

Want a New Bank at Howard.

Ten citizens of Howard and vicinity have made application for a charter for a new bank at that place to be known as the Farmers and Merchants National bank. The capitalization is to be $50,000, which will be made up of one thousand shares of stock of a par value of fifty dollars. It hasn't been such a long time ago that the only banks in Centre county were located in Bellefonte, Phillipsburg, Centre Hall and Millheim. Now there are two at State College, two in Centre Hall, two in Millheim, one at Rebersburg, one at Spring Mills, one at Port Matilda, one at Snow Shoe and one at Howard, with a new application for a second one at the latter place. And they all seem to be flourishing and in a healthy condition.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tyson, of Lewistown, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter. Mrs. Tyson was formerly from State College and well known in that locality as Miss Ruth Meek, the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Meek.

Some unknown person has again started the rumor that the aviation field is to be moved from Bellefonte because of the dangerous air pockets in this locality. Right here it might be said that the pilots who have been flying the route from New York to Cleveland since the airmail was instituted declare that there is no such thing as "air pockets." There are air currents which are naturally influenced by the alternating mountains and valleys, but the mountains extend from Virginia to Canada and the present route is no worse than one at any other point would be. All these facts were taken into consideration when the present route was laid out and Bellefonte selected as the place for the landing field in Pennsylvania. The matter was again fully considered when the question of a new field arose six months ago, and the fact that the Postoffice Department spent upwards of one hundred thousand dollars in equipping the present field should be the most decisive evidence that there is nothing in the rumor that the Bellefonte field is not as good as can be found anywhere.

The "Watchman" last week told of the finding of the stolen Ford coupe of Charles E. Gates in Altoona, but when that young man went up to that city on Thursday to bring it home he found it so badly wrecked that it could not be driven to Bellefonte. In fact it had to be towed to the Ford plant for repairs. While there is no definite knowledge as to who stole the car suspicion points to two young men who left Bellefonte at three o'clock on the morning of the night the car was stolen, skipping their hotel bill and having passed a worthless check for $25.00 the day previous. On arriving in Altoona they parked the car close to police headquarters and there it stood until the Altoona department received notice from the Highway Department about the stolen car. And when Mr. Gates went up on Thursday the man at the police desk refused to take the names of the young men suspected of having taken the car, telling the owner that he ought to be satisfied to get the car back, even though it cost considerable to repair the damage done. Mr. Gates went up on Sunday and brought his car back to Bellefonte. In the meantime an effort will be made to discover who took the car.

Buffalo Run Woman Badly Burned While Boiling Applebutter.

While boiling applebutter on the farm of Miss Annie Gray, in Buffalo Run valley, last Friday, Miss Lottie Cupp, housekeeper for Charles Bloom, who occupies the farm, was so terribly burned when her clothing caught fire that she is now in a serious condition in the Centre County hospital. Miss Cupp was stirring the applebutter in the big copper kettle when the wind blew a spark from the hot fire against her dress. Her clothing quickly ignited and before she realized what had happened she was virtually a living torch. The only one at the house at the time was her small nephew and he was too young to render any assistance in extinguishing the flames.

Fortunately Miss Cupp retained enough presence of mind to throw herself on the ground and roll over and over until the flames were extinguished. The little nephew then went to the nearest neighbor, a considerable distance away, and summoned help. A physician was called and after rendering first aid brought the woman to the hospital. Although her suffering has been considerably relieved she is still considered in a serious condition.

Another Closed Bank to be Reopened.

Several months ago the Producers and Consumers bank of Philadelphia, closed its doors. Already plans are under way for its creditors to reopen it. When it failed the creditors were informed that they could hope for not more than sixty cents on the dollar, then some one suggested almost the same plan this paper suggested to the creditors of the Centre County and they got busy. They went even further than we suggested that creditors of the closed local institution might go. They decided to leave all the money they had in the bank there to help them in the work of recouping their losses ultimately. And they will be recouped.

This is only one of many banks that have failed in Pennsylvania since the Centre County closed its doors and been reopened on firm footing and with good management that will eventually work out its problems. The creditors of the Centre County might be better advised if they were to follow the example of people in other communities than they are by listening to some who are profiting by their dilemma, others who hope to profit by it and others who "don't want a third bank in Bellefonte."

Wanted, Young Woman to Learn Linotype Operation.

A young woman with common school education will be given an opportunity of learning to operate a linotype machine by calling at this office. We will have a permanent position to offer one who becomes proficient enough to handle it.

"Buddy" Nighthart Accidentally Drowned in Hughes Swimming Pool.

Edward Nighthart, thirteen years old, and more familiarly known among his playmates as "Buddy," was accidentally drowned in the swimming pool on Hughes field on Wednesday afternoon, the body not being recovered until between eleven and twelve o'clock Wednesday night. The child was among a group of boys who had gone to Hughes field to watch the Bellefonte Academy football team at practice. While there "Buddy" borrowed a scooter from one of his playmates and scooted back and forth across the field.

When football practice ended all the boys followed the players from the field and returned home. Not seeing "Buddy" on the field the boy who had loaned him the scooter naturally supposed he had returned home and about six o'clock went to the Doll home, where the lad lived, to get his scooter. But "Buddy" had not returned home. A search was then instituted around the town but no information as to his whereabouts being obtained a searching party was formed to go to Hughes field.

The swimming pool seemed the most likely place to look and several men plunged in and began a search. In the course of half an hour the body was found, the hands of the drowned boy still clutching tightly the handlebar of the scooter. The only explanation of the drowning is that the boy had been riding on the concrete wall of the swimming pool, scooted over the edge into the water, and being unable to swim was drowned. A coroner's inquest returned a verdict of accidental drowning.

Edward Nighthart was a son of Charles and the late Mame Doll Nighthart. His mother died over six years ago and shortly thereafter he and his older brother, John, were placed in the Catholic school at Crescon. They returned home about two months ago and have been making their home with their aunt and uncle, Mrs. Rose Doll Pearl, George and Frank Doll. No arrangements for the funeral have yet been made.

Chapter of I. W. L. Organized in Bellefonte.

In response to a call sent out last week a goodly number of those interested in out of door life met in the arbitration room of the court house here, last Friday evening, and organized a chapter of the Izaak Walton League of America.

It had been anticipated that one of the national officers of the League would be present for the institution of the new chapter, but as such was not the case there was little done further than to elect the following officers:

President, G. F. Musser; secretary, Charles Brachbill; treasurer, J. J. Kilpatrick. The executive committee has not been named by the president up to this writing.

The annual convention of the Pennsylvania Chapters of the League will be held in Williamsport the latter part of this month and Bellefonte will be well represented.

The Izaak Walton League is growing all over the United States. Its object is conservation of forests and streams and keeping the out of doors clean. Within a very short time forty-one chapters have been organized in Pennsylvania and there will be more. This is very significant. Especially to Centre county sportsmen. With Pennsylvania organizing under the potential leadership of a great national organization it is going to make the matter of fish and game distribution by the State one of vital interest to us. That is, the more organizations there are working for their own districts the more will a militant one be necessary here in Centre county if we are to be properly taken care of.

Home for Sick Children to be Built Near Lewisburg.

The various Presbyteries in Central Pennsylvania have undertaken the erection of a home in Union county for the care of convalescent orphan or semi-orphan children. A farm four miles west of Lewisburg, in Buffalo valley, has been donated by Mrs. Jane Harrison as the location for the home and plans are now being prepared for a $75,000 building to be erected there. This will be the first home of the kind to be erected in Pennsylvania and within the territory which the home will serve are 432 churches and 95,000 church members. The capacity of the home will be from forty-five to fifty children. Definite plans for the prosecution of the work will be made at the fall meetings of the various Presbyteries to be held next month.

Tomorrow, the Jewish New Year.

Persons contemplating visiting any of these stores should bear in mind that they will be open tomorrow only after 6 o'clock in the evening.

The condition of W. J. Emerick, who has been at the sea shore the past six weeks, is very much improved. His temperature is down to about normal and he feels decidedly better in every way. It seemed something in the nature of a family reunion in this office last Friday morning when three generations of the Tressler family, of State College, dropped in for a little call while waiting for the bus. There was Mrs. E. S. Tressler, her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Miller, and the latter's daughter, Miss Elizabeth Miller. The ladies had been shopping a bit and that being done they made the call here. Since women have gotten into politics we never fail to inquire as to their reactions to the game men played alone so long and we are often surprised to discover that many of them are quite abreast of the situation. Such was the case with our callers of Friday. They seemed well informed on the judicial contest up there and the returns of the primary proved it. Miss Elizabeth Miller is a Sophomore at State this year.
