

PINE GROVE MENTION.

Several holiday weddings are already booked for this section. Hugh C. Dale was a caller at the G. B. Fry home on Sunday afternoon. Garage man Willis Weaver transacted business in Tyrone on Saturday. The cow sale advertised to be held at the G. P. Irvin sale yesterday was called off. Geo. Thompson, of Bellefonte, was here last week installing electric washers in the homes of Ed. Reed,

James E. Peters and Squire E. H. Au-

man. Postmaster R. E. Musser, of Pennsylvania Furnace, is sporting a new Dodge sedan.

The new arrival at the Lloyd Frank home last week is a boy. He has been christened Lloyd Jr.

Game protector Thomas Mosier and Robert E. Fry, of Bellefonte, were recent visitors in our town.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell were Sunday visitors at the home of William Rossman, at Pleasant Gap.

Miss Ella Livingstone, teacher in the High school at Hollidaysburg, was a guest at the St. Elmo over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rossman, of Union county, spent the latter end of the week with relatives in the valley. Rumor says Mr. Rossman has his eye on the McCracken farm.

J. D. Neidigh, our hustling grain buyer, shipped a carload of $1.50 wheat to the western market on Friday.

Young America is enjoying the week's holiday while the school teachers are attending institute in Bellefonte.

Mr. and Mrs. Cal Irvin, of Altoona, spent Friday with Mrs. George P. Irvin, who is somewhat improved in health.

Mrs. Sarah Everts is spending a week or two with friends at Bellwood, while recuperating from her recent sick spell.

George Fisher, of Boalsburg, was a brief visitor here on Friday, while on his way home from a business trip to Pittsburgh.

W. G. Gardner and wife celebrated their 36th wedding anniversary at their comfortable home in the Glades, last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kustaborder, of Warriorsmark, were callers with old friends at Rock Springs on Sunday morning.

Butcher G. W. Koch has invested in a new Ford truck to be used in gathering in fatted stock for his up-to-date meat market.

Our garage man, Royal Kline, has come to the conclusion that in the future he will scrutinize very carefully all checks offered him.

Squire Ed. Woomer is recovering from the bout he had with his deacon several weeks ago, and the deacon has since been in solitary confinement.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Martz, motored in from Cleveland, Ohio, and are spending a few days with Mrs. Martz's father, J. R. Smith, who is slowly recovering from a siege of illness.

Mrs. Margaret Musser Waite, of Dunkirk, New York, is making her annual visit among her many friends in the valley, making her headquarters with her mother, Mrs. Wallace Musser.

A Hallow-eeen social will be held in the L. O. O. F. hall on Friday evening, October 30th. Prizes will be awarded for best costumes and to winners in various contests. The public is cordially invited.

Boyd Gardner, of Rockford, Ill., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Gardner, the first time in ten years. He is now employed as an inspector by the International Harvester company and is making good on the job.

Mr. and Mrs. Mac Fry and family and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Musser and family took a spin on Sunday to Tyrone and down the new state road through Bald Eagle valley to Bellefonte, returning home by way of State College.

Dr. Glass and wife, of Uniontown, are making their annual visit here and at State College, where they have two sons enrolled as students. Part of their time was spent as guests of Squire and Mrs. Ed. Woomer, at Graysville.

Florence Port, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Port, has been awarded the gold prize offered by the First National Bank of State College to the student in the High school making the largest savings deposit during the school year.

While an unknown resident of Julian was attending services in Meek's church on Sunday evening, his car caught fire. The cushions and the top were destroyed before the flames were extinguished by a bucket brigade. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Joseph Gilliland has decided to quit farming owing to the scarcity of farm help, and will be succeeded on the Miller sisters' farm in the Glades by Ed. Frank. We are sorry to lose the Gilliland family from this section as they are splendid people and good neighbors.

The venerable W. E. McWilliams came up from Centre Hall and is spending some time with his daughter, Mrs. R. E. Musser, at his old home at Pennsylvania Furnace, where he lived for forty years. Mr. McWilliams had been quite ill for some time but is now in fairly good health.

Mrs. Nannie Bailey spent Friday afternoon at Rock Springs, where she took part in the celebration of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Ella Gardner. Quite a number of friends called during the day and that estimable lady was kindly remembered with numerous gifts and congratulatory messages.

The Pine Hall Reformed church has been repaired inside and out at a cost of $3000, and re-opening services will be held the first week in November. They will begin Thursday evening, November 5th, with preaching by Rev. Lescher. The services will continue over the following Sunday when Rev. S. M. Roeder will officiate.

Notwithstanding the rainy weather there was a large turnout at the Brotherhood meeting at Graysville Presbyterian church, last Friday evening. Following a session of inspiring talk and music a committee of ladies served delicious refreshments to which all did ample justice. The third Friday evening in each month was set as the time for holding the monthly gatherings.

Quite a large gathering was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Carver, near State College, last Saturday, in celebration of Mrs. Carver's birthday anniversary. Fifty or more relatives and friends were present and all came with baskets well laden with good things to eat. Robert Kustaborder was master of ceremonies and handled the job to perfection. It is needless to say that everybody present had a delightful time.

The Shall Gap hunting club was royally entertained, last Thursday evening, at the home of John H. Bailey, at Fairbrook. The early part of the evening was spent in reviewing their various hunting exploits but when Mrs. Bailey announced dinner there was a general stampede for the well laden table. Members present included G. W. Rossman, C. E. Close, J. A. Gummo, Davis Tressler, J. H. McCracken, Melvin Peters, Alfred Albright, Robert Harpster and J. H. Bailey.

PLEASANT GAP.

Rev. Piper will preach in the M. E. church next Sunday.

Raymond Houser, of Lock Haven, visited here last week.

John Millward is visiting here with his son Frank and family.

The stork visited the home of Joseph Barnes, recently, and left them a sweet little girl.

It is rumored that Rev. Rishel has been prevailed upon to remain here another year; after having resigned his charge recently.

Our road overseers are very tardy about installing our light system for the lighting of our streets. Why not proceed and satisfy the public.

Mrs. Robert Miller and son, Robert Jr., of Tyrone, gave us a call the past week, and it goes without saying that their presence was highly appreciated.

George W. Smith has sold his little home at the forks of the road. He was fortunate to secure a comfortable home near his work at the American Lime and Stone company.

Mr. Hoover's Sunday school class were entertained at the home of Miss Marian Gettig, Thursday evening of last week. It was largely patronized and proved a magnificent affair.

Dr. Barlett and wife left this morning for a motor trip to the western part of the State in their new Buick sedan. They will have a most enjoyable trip, as so many of their friends reside west of the mountains.

The cafeteria supper at the Methodist church on Saturday evening was a success, when you take into consideration the fact that it rained all evening. The faithful ones were in attendance notwithstanding.

My good friend, Henry Noll, the airplane artist, very kindly volunteered to give me a ride to Pittsburgh in his serial machine. Owing to the election being so near at hand I had to decline the offer; and besides, I took into consideration the fact that good men are growing scarcer from day to day, fearing we might meet with an accident, and owing to the protest of my housekeeper I am clinging to the earth.

Our judicial contest will in a very brief time be concluded. Two aspirants will be disappointed, and one will be successful. Politics is a very treacherous game. I am conceited enough to think that I know in advance which of the three will land the plum. However, I will await the final result. The contest was rather harmoniously conducted throughout with a very few exceptions; but then a little strategy belongs to the game. The man with the most votes will win. I am satisfied we will have a good, capable and conscientious Judge to preside over our courts for the next ten years.

Pleasant Gap can boast of having a full-fledged and enthusiastic sportsman in the person of Freeman Hile. About ten days ago he set his traps for foxes and up to this time has landed six. Just prior to the coming in of the coon season he purchased a coon dog in Kentucky, the consideration was $50.00. The first night he took his favorite Kentuckian to the Nittany mountain and brought down five fine coons, and the end is not yet in sight. Freeman is a born hunter and trapper and somehow always succeeds in his ambition where others fail. Mr. Hile refused two offers of a hundred dollars each for his coon dog.

Through the judicious management of our energetic Sportsman's association game is becoming far more prolific on the Nittany mountain and in Greenvally. At the time of the berry season I had occasion to forage the mountain for two days and saw four frisky deer and one fawn, rabbits, coon, red and grey foxes, which are very plentiful. Wild turkeys and pheasants are also in abundance.

Bears, while not numerous, are frequently seen up in the gap crossing the state road from one knob to the other. Game is not scarce hereabouts. All is due to the great care and good management of our efficient sportsmen, who are wide awake so far as pertains to propagating game of every description.

A good business man makes a success because he utilizes what would otherwise be waste products and turns them into profits. The wise farmer, in order to succeed must resort to planting the best of seeds in order to improve his products and thus turn his labor into a money making proposition. Mr. J. S. Peters, residing adjacent to the penitentiary, who had ill luck in raising potatoes for some years past, realized the necessity of making a change in his seed. Last season he planted the new Rusic variety and had a very productive crop. These potatoes grow very large, many exceeding four pounds in weight and of excellent quality. The potatoes matured but there was no help in sight to harvest the hundreds of bushels. (The Whitecock boom grabs about all the idle men in sight). It happens in Tyrone; a strong robust woman, tipping the beam at 210 pounds. He wrote to her, pleading with her to come and help him out. The next train brought Mrs. Robert Miller and son, Robert Jr., to the scene of action. They remained a full week, raised all the potatoes, picked apples and about cleaned up the fall work of the farm. In the meantime, Robert Jr. hulled 14 bushels of walnuts, so that the Miller family will have an abundance of walnuts for the coming winter.
