

Mrs. Harvey Keller, of State College, Seriously Injured in Auto Accident.

On Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Keller left State College to motor to Bellefonte. Near the Ray Hoy home, this side of Lemont, they were not only forced off the road by an autoist going in the opposite direction but the unknown motorist's car sideswiped the Keller car, a Jewett coach, and threw it over on its side into the ditch along side of the road.

Instead of stopping to render assistance the offending motorist tramped on the gas and got away from the scene of the accident as quickly as possible. It was only a minute or two later until other autoists came along and they quickly stopped and went to Mr. Keller's assistance. He was uninjured but Mrs. Keller was unconscious. She was carried to the Hoy home and later brought to the Centre County hospital in the ambulance. An examination at the hospital revealed the fact that Mrs. Keller is suffering from head injuries, but just how serious they may be has not yet been determined. Mr. Keller's car was badly damaged.

Word of the accident was telephoned in all directions and state police and other officers promptly instituted a search for the motorist responsible for the accident. They had nothing material to go on, as no person got his license number, but they looked for a car that had been damaged on the left side, as the car undoubtedly was through its contact with the Keller car.

Two More Men Electrocuted.

James Scott, negro, of Westmoreland county, and Antonio Wichrowski, a Pole, of Berks county, were electrocuted at the Rockview penitentiary on Monday morning, making eight murderers who have paid the death penalty within five weeks. Scott was convicted of the murder of chief of police George Rae, of West Newton, in September, 1924, while Wichrowski killed his wife last December. The latter served in the Polish army during the world war. His body was claimed and shipped to Reading for burial, while Scott's body was buried in the penitentiary cemetery.

The barn of Mrs. George Rhoads, at Coleville, was completely destroyed by fire shortly before midnight on Wednesday night. One truck and a small quantity of hay in the barn were also burned. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Blanchard-Moshannen Investors Lose All Their Money.

The "Watchman" last week told of the sale of all the holdings of the defunct Blanchard-Moshannen Coal Mining company to a Pittsburgh gentleman at the same price bid at the receiver's sale by Robert F. Hunter, as trustee for the stockholders. Mr. Hunter made every attempt possible to interest capital sufficient to hold the property but failing to do so, was compelled to dispose of it.

The facts were fully explained at a meeting of the preferred stockholders held at the court house on Tuesday evening, and the principal thing is that Centre county investors who put up $170,000 to finance the company are out every cent of their money. Mr. Blanchard, the Pittsburgh gentleman who was one of the promoters of the company, is now in Florida selling Florida lands to any one willing to invest.

The best pictures made are shown at the Scenic, that old-time reliable motion picture theatre. Manager T. Clayton Brown has been in charge of the Scenic long enough to know what the people of Bellefonte like in motion pictures and he makes it his business to get that kind. He has under contract the best productions of the leading film makers in the country, and the Scenic is the only place where they will be shown. A big program every evening.

Overcoat time is here. See what Sim, the Clothier is selling for $25.00.

According to a government survey just published there are 190 less farms under cultivation in Centre county now than there were in 1920. The value of the farm lands and buildings in the county is estimated as having decreased $1,404,224 during the five year period.

Word was received yesterday by Mrs. William McClure of the birth of a grand-son, the child being the second son born to Mr. and Mrs. Murdock Claney, of Narberth, Pa.

The trout in Spring creek have begun to spawn and the big ones are coming up stream to their favorite spawning beds opposite the "Watchman" office.

One good catch-penny scheme begets another. Why not get out a picture post-card of the new sign board that adorns High street.

The disagreeably cool weather of the past week is enough to make most any man look with longing eyes toward the sunny south.

Hope Lies in Flourishing Sunday Schools.

Those who have decried a lack of interest in matters of the church will be glad to know that reports at the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association, in convention at Erie last week, show that even in the face of heavy pruning by a couple of counsels in their membership lists, yet there has been an increase of over 5000 in the Sunday schools of Pennsylvania during the past year.

At president Craig's banquet in the Lawrence hotel Wednesday evening, former secretary Dr. W. G. Landes called attention to the last meeting in Erie, ten years ago when a budget of $36,000 was asked as against the present one of $70,000, indicating the extent in increased effort on the part of the state organization. Dr. Landes also said that then they were talking about putting Uncle Sam on the water wagon and now that we had him there it was up to the Sunday school folks to keep him there.

Ten counties were given recognition as 100 per cent. counties while twenty-one others gained a standing of 90 per cent.

Every county but three was represented and over seventeen hundred delegates registered with several hundred that did not register.

Billion Dollars Yearly on Highways is Planned.

Ten years ago the idea that the United States would spend a billion dollars annually on highways would have been regarded as preposterous, just as preposterous, perhaps, as the idea that the country some day would have one motor vehicle for about every six persons.

The United States bureau of roads estimates that this year the States will invest more than $400,000,000 in highways, and the counts an even larger amount, while about $135,000,000 will be spent by state departments in maintenance. The explanation of this condition is found largely in the fact that there are now more than 17,500,000 motor vehicles in the country.

The motor car has helped to bring the roads and it is furnishing no small part in the cost of them, contributing for that purpose nearly $200,000,000 in license fees alone and still other millions in the form of gasoline taxes.

It is a day of big figures, big operations and big prospects in the motor vehicle and highway field. The benefit of this development is beyond calculation. It is another era of progress for America, comparable to the roads half a century ago, but without the excesses of that earlier period. Those who have believed that the days of great expansion in America ended with the opening of the west and the building of railroads, telegraph and telephone lines should consider the transformation of the country being wrought today by the motor vehicle and the paved highways.
