Five Members Attend Brief Meeting of Borough Council.

Just five members were present at the regular meeting of borough council, on Monday evening. Stewart Hoy, of north Thomas street, appeared in person and entered a complaint against one or more families living in that vicinity making the alley in the rear of his property a dumping place for ashes, tin cans and other refuse. The matter was referred to the borough manager and Nuisance committee.

A written complaint was received from W. R. Shope regarding the deplorable condition of south Thomas and Potter streets, and requesting that they be temporarily improved for the winter and next summer be permanently rebuilt. Referred to the Street committee.

The Street committee reported cleaning catch basins and sewers and various repairs on several streets.

The Water committee reported completion of water line on Halfmoon hill and digging ditch on north Water street. The committee also reported the collection of $30 on the 1923 water tax, $104.50 on the 1924 tax and $8.00 for junk.

The Finance committee reported that the borough treasurer has arranged to pay off notes aggregating $5,400 and requested the renewal of notes totaling $9,630.

Mr. Cunningham reported that the Fire and Police committee had been in consultation with F. L. Richards, manager of the Bell Telephone company, and he unhesitatingly declared that he would co-operate with the borough authorities in every way possible to facilitate the sending in of alarms in the event of fires. Mr. Cunningham gave it as his opinion that the present alarm is not what Bellefonte needs or should have, and the committee was instructed to make inquiry as to a better system.

Bills to the amount of almost $5,900 were approved for payment after which council adjourned.

Methodist Home, in Tyrone, Acquires Additional Property.

The trustees for the Methodist home for the aged, in Tyrone, have purchased another property on Lincoln avenue, between Ninth and Tenth streets, which abuts on the present home property and gives a solid plot of ground between Washington and Lincoln avenues.

Deed for the property has been received from J. W. Walk at a cost of $8,000. On the lot there is a good dwelling house, which as soon as possession will be given, will be used as a residence for employees of the home. This will release a number of rooms in the present building and enable the admission as guests of a number of applicants who are on the waiting list.

It will not, however, make it possible to clear the waiting list and it is probable, as soon as another addition can be financed, possibly in the course of a few years, the facilities of the home will be enlarged.

A gift of $5,000 from one of Central Pennsylvania's philanthropic Methodists made possible the purchase of this plot. The balance has been collected by the Rev. C. W. Karns, D. D., who was recently assigned to that work by conference authorities.

American Legion Elects Officers.

At a regular meeting of the Brooks-Doll post of the American Legion, held in their building on east Howard street on Monday evening, the following officers were elected and installed for the ensuing year:
Commander—Harry Dunlap.
Vice Com.—Clarence Williams.
Secretary—Charles Eckenroth.
Treasurer—Robert T. Willard.
Historian—Francis Crawford.
Sergeants at Arms—Capt. Herbert Miller and Edward Shirk.
Executive Committee—A. L. McGinley Jr., Gideon Payne, Samuel D. Rhinesmith, John Saylor and Ebon Bower.

The members also decided to make a number of changes and improvements in the building which it is hoped will result in a better attendance of all members.

In compliance with action taken by the Associated Business Men of Bellefonte all the stores in town will remain open evenings from Monday, December 14th, to Christmas to accommodate holiday shoppers. Out of town people who are desirous of shopping in Bellefonte can do so any evening in the week.

FRIEZE.—Israel Frieze, a native of Centre county, died on Friday of last week at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. P. Sliker, in Juniata, as the result of general debility.

He was born at Hecla, Centre county, on May 10th, 1840, hence was past eighty-five years of age. When a young man he went to Clearfield county and was located at Curwensville at the outbreak of the Civil war. He promptly enlisted in the First Pennsylvania Rifles, later known as the famous Bucktail regiment, participating in some of the hardest battles of the Virginia campaign and finally being mustered out of service because of disability caused by various wounds in battle. His life since had been spent in Centre, Clearfield and Blair counties.

His wife died several years ago but surviving him are two sons and three daughters, F. E. and F. A. Frieze, of Turtle Creek; Mrs. B. F. Bradley, of Allentown; Mrs. Harry Charles, of Milesburg, and Mrs. J. P. Sliker, of Juniata.

The remains were brought to Milesburg where funeral services were held in the Baptist church on Sunday and burial made in the Advent cemetery.

HEATON.—Mrs. Sarah E. Heaton, wife of Howard Heaton, died at her home at Milesburg on Monday evening following a lingering illness. She was a daughter of Daniel and Sarah Malone and was born in Milesburg fifty-seven years ago. In addition to her husband she is survived by the following children: Fred Heaton, of Juniata; Mrs. Marcelle Fetzer, of Glen Campbell; Mrs. Donald Snyder, Mrs. Blaine Port and Mrs. Niles Davis, of Bellefonte, and Allen Heaton, at home. She also leaves these brothers and sisters: Mrs. Seaman and Miss Elizabeth Malone, of Harrisburg; Miss Kathryn Malone, of Birmingham, Ala.; Mrs. William Wooster, of Pitsburgh; Mrs. Austin Fetzer and Thomas Malone, of Milesburg; William, of Lewistown; Fred, of Coburn, and Edward, of California. Burial was made in the Treziulny cemetery yesterday afternoon.

LONGWELL.—S. Linn Longwell, a member of an old and well known Bellefonte family, died at his home in Erie last Friday as the result of cardiac muscle.

He was a son of William Hamilton and Anna Marshall Longwell and was born in Bellefonte sixty-six years ago. He was educated in the Bellefonte public schools and as a young man engaged in the work of a traveling salesman. During the past ten or a dozen years he had been in the employ of the General Electric company, at Erie, a position he held until his last illness. He never married and his only immediate survivor is one sister, Miss Elizabeth Longwell, now of Washington, D. C.

The remains were brought to Bellefonte on the 3:08 p. m. train, on Monday, and taken direct to the Union cemetery for burial, Rev. W. C. Thompson, officiating.

Theft of Christmas Trees Carries Severe Penalty.

The Christmas season always brings with it a demand for Christmas trees, greens and shrubs, and many law-abiding citizens have been accustomed to going out in the forest and thoughtlessly helping themselves, without the owner's consent.

Continuance of this practice, in the future, may get the individual into considerable difficulty; because he will be a violator of a recently enacted law for the protection of trees and woodlands, which carries a severe penalty. An excerpt of this law follows:

If any person shall wilfully or maliciously cut bark from, or cut down, injure, destroy, or remove a tree or shrub, or standing upon the land of another, without the consent of the owner; such person on conviction thereof in a summary proceeding before any justice of the peace, shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than $25.00 and costs of prosecution for each such tree or shrub or part thereof cut, injured, destroyed, removed, or from which bark has been cut; and in default of the payment of said fine and costs shall be imprisoned in the county jail one day for each dollar of fine and costs unpaid.

One-half of any fine collected under the provisions of this act shall be paid by the justice of the peace to the person or persons furnishing the information upon which the prosecution was instituted.

Any owner of any such trees or shrubs, his, her, or its agent, employee, or lessee, or any constable or police officer is authorized to arrest without warrant any person found violating this law. Arrest may be made on any day including Sunday.

Nittany Mountain Road to be Thrown Open December 16th.

Mr. N. A. Staples, district engineer of the State Highway Department, authorizes the statement that the new highway from Pleasant Gap to Centre Hall will be thrown open for travel on Wednesday, December 16th. That will be Wednesday of next week and there will be every likelihood that residents of Pennsylvania as well as the public generally will appreciate the opening of the road and make good use of it in the nine days intervening before Christmas.

Associated Business Men Discuss Telephones, Markets, Etc.

The regular monthly meeting of the Associated Business Men of Bellefonte was held at the Brockerhoff house on Monday evening. The question of all stores keeping open evenings from December 14th to Christmas to accommodate the shopping trade was discussed and endorsed as the right thing to do.

The question of the consolidation of the two telephone systems was discussed, and members didn't think it would be exactly fair to them to be compelled to keep the two phones for an indefinite time after the first of the year when the entire system will be under the one management. A committee was therefore appointed to take the matter up with the Bell company officials and they had a conference with manager F. L. Richards on Tuesday morning. He gave the committee assurance that the change in the service will be made as soon after the first of February as possible.

The curb market of the past summer was discussed and it was unanimously voted that it had proven a success. In the opinion of the merchants the market should be continued every Wednesday and Saturday as long as the farmers have produce to bring in. On motion John B. Payne was re-appointed as head of the market for the ensuing year, and he stated that he had plans for a few changes which he believed would result in a bigger and better market next summer. He contemplates having a meeting of all market-men in the near future at which time the proposed plans and changes will be discussed.

—The power of the press and its potential force in advertising was never more strikingly exemplified than in the case of Red Grange. Less than two months ago he was merely an ice man playing football at Illinois University. Then he invaded the east and almost single-handedly licked the University of Pennsylvania. Sports writers everywhere proceeded to proclaim him a phenomenon. A smart advertising manager in Chicago saw the opportunity to capitalize on Red's luckily won reputation. Today he has upwards of one hundred thousand simoleons in his sock and almost half a million in sight. We're willing to give fifty per cent. commission to the man who can turn the same trick for us.

—The Keystone Power corporation this week received the standards and lights which will surmount the five stone pillars of the new wall surrounding the big spring and are now at work putting them up. The lights will be a little over nine feet above the pavement and should light up the spring and that section of south Water street more efficiently than ever before.

—The commercial department of the Bellefonte High school will conduct one of its popular dances in the High school building, Saturday evening, December 12th, at 8 o'clock. The alumni of the school are especially urged to attend.

—Yesterday we had a real touch of wintry weather, minus snow, but as this is well along toward the middle of December we can't expect summer-like weather, although it is supposed to be warmer the end of the week. Last year the early part of December was quite cold and snowy.

—Thirty inch wide brown mahogany finished spinet desks, $16.90, at W. R. Brachbill's. 49-11

—Send him or her a practical Christmas gift. The "Watchman" would be one of that kind.

—Up to this time it has not been definitely decided whether Bellefonte will have a community tree for Christmas or not.

—A baby clinic will be held in the Baptist church at Milesburg in the afternoon of Monday, December 14th. Parents are urged to take their children for examination.

—The young people of Centre county must be spending all their money for Christmas presents this year as not a marriage license was issued by register Harry Rossman during the past week.

—Only a fair sized audience attended the annual memorial services of the Bellefonte Lodge of Elks, held in Petrikin hall on Sunday afternoon. Hon. Samuel Hare, of Altoona, was originally scheduled to deliver the address but he was suddenly taken ill and Rev. Dr. A. M. Schmidt, of Bellefonte, was the speaker. Though not a member of the order Dr. Schmidt made a very impressive and interesting talk.

—The number of children at the Pruner orphanage in Bellefonte was increased to eight a fortnight ago when three children by the name of Rote, from Tyrone, were admitted. Their father left home a number of years ago and has not been heard of since and when the children were brought to the orphanage their mother was lying at the point of death. She passed away last week and on Thursday the three little orphans were taken to Tyrone to attend their mother's funeral.

—A public health committee has been organized in Milesburg and is now conducting the tuberculosis Christmas seal sale. From the proceeds of the former sales, they have twice had the dental hygienist in the schools and the past year paid a nurse to do all the follow-up after medical inspection in Boggs township. Milesburg is certainly establishing a precedent that other places in the county might well follow! The Well Baby clinic there, notice of which appears elsewhere, is to be a regular thing hereafter as Miss Ethel Campbell, State nurse, is arranging to have one the first Monday in every month.

Noted Clergyman and Lecturer Dies in Philadelphia.

The Rev. Dr. Russell H. Conwell, renowned Baptist clergyman, founder and president of Temple University, Philadelphia, lecturer, author and philanthropist, died in that city early on Sunday after a long illness. Conscious until the end, Dr. Conwell bade goodbye to his daughter, Mrs. Anna Tuttle and several close friends who had been summoned to his bedside and then passed quietly away. He was 82 years old.

Dr. Conwell had been in failing health for more than a year. About ten weeks ago he was operated upon for cancer of the bladder. For a time he appeared to be growing stronger and hope for his recovery was held out. He took a turn for the worse and died at 2:05 a. m. Sunday. His only son, Leon Conwell, mayor-elect of Somerville, Mass., and editor of the Somerville Journal, was unable to reach his bedside before death came.

Although Dr. Conwell had earned more than $11,000,000 on the lecture platform he is believed to have died almost penniless, having given all his earnings to charity. Only recently he mortgaged his home and used the money for improvements at the Samaritan hospital, of which he was the founder. He also was the founder of Garretson hospital in Philadelphia, and had been a large contributor to both institutions.

Dr. Conwell was said to have addressed more people as a public speaker than any contemporary. He memorized twenty-eight lectures, all of which he gave without notes, and had delivered his famous lecture "Acres of Diamonds," 6,152 times, the first time when he was sixteen years old. He delivered this lecture before the teachers' institute in Bellefonte almost forty years ago. He was the author of many books, mostly biographies, stories and travels.

Santa Approves a Christmas Gift.

Santa Claus has been down a great many chimneys since he started business, and he is intimately acquainted with a large number of people. He knows that the best kinds of gifts are those which please the whole family, and which bring the excitement and enjoyment of Christmas every week. That is why he looks so jolly when he receives hundreds of subscriptions to The Youth's Companion with which to fill his pack. And, being wise from long experience, he knows that people are likely to overdo things around Christmas, so he chuckles when he sticks a Companion into the top of a stocking. "Be as greedy as you like," he thinks, "the more, the better for you."

The 52 issues of The Youth's Companion for 1926 will be crowded with serial stories, short stories, editorials, poetry, facts, and fun. Just send your order to the address below and Santa will take care of delivering the paper to your home or to the home of a friend. Subscribers will receive:

1. The Youth's Companion—52 issues in 1926, and
2. The remaining issues of 1925.
3. Or include McCall's Magazine, the monthly authority on fashions. Both publications, only $2.50.

WHAT STARTED THE MUSICAL DISCUSSION.

December 5, 1925, Bellefonte, Pa.

My Dear Mr. Meek:—
"Well, we've heard Paul Whiteman and his band. Individually we believe them to be artists, but collectively our candid opinion is that they are an abomination when they devote such talent to interpretation of music absolutely void of either theme or rhythm."

The above you will recognize as an item that appeared in the December 4, 1925, issue of the "Watchman" under the column headed "Ink Slings." You, being a capable editor for many years, can realize the power of the press in influencing the public opinion of any community. From the article which is stated above many persons will be prejudiced against Whiteman, and conclude that his efforts are misdirected, unless they are previously formed their opinions regarding his talent by having heard his band or by having read the many articles of commendation of his work, written by eminent musical critics. The purpose of this letter is not to increase the host of friends Whiteman has made, but to sway the public opinion in this particular community in favor of Whiteman's work, so that in case he should ever contemplate a return engagement in this part of the State, he will find a favorable attitude assumed by the public in general.

It is true that in the years 1918-1920 when this so-called "jazz" was in its infancy, it was devoid of musical sense or rhythm. This was due primarily to the fact that each musician in an orchestra improvised his own ideas of music, without any consideration of real musical interpretation and meaning. Whiteman, in organizing his first orchestra, was quick to realize the worthlessness of this new type of music, due to his previous training under leaders of prominent orchestras. We, together with many others believe that Whiteman has made this particular type of music worthy of the utmost efforts of the musical talent of the country to develop it to its Utopian stage.

It is even the opinion of many foreign musical critics that this will become America's contribution to the world of music. A little research will show that many very worthy compositions were played at the concert referred to, and also at other concerts attended by the writers of this letter.

A few of the compositions and their noted composers are herewith mentioned:

- Cog d'or (Hymn of the Sun) Rimsky Korsakow
- Pomp and Circumstance Elgar
- Adoration Borowski
- Chanson Indone (Song of India) Rimsky Korsakow
- Caprice Viennois Fritz Kreisler

It must be recognized that such composers as these are immortal. Perhaps you may maintain that an orchestra of this kind would defile such compositions as are mentioned, but is it not creating an interest in the classics which the public at large heretofore has avoided as boresome?

In conclusion, while giving all respect to your personal opinion, we would advocate that you reconsider the value of this type of music as played by Mr. Whiteman, and that you reflect your unprejudiced views on this matter in the manner and spirit of Kipling—who writes:

"If you can lose, and start again at your beginning
And never breathe a word about your loss"

Respectfully yours,
TWO DEVOUT READERS OF

IBANEZ COMPARES JAZZ TO JUNGLES.

But Spanish Writer Believes Pavlowa Closer to Primitive Than Jazz.

Expressing his thoughts regarding jazz and dances, after seeing Pavlowa perform, Ibanez, the Spanish author who has been in the public eye so much recently through his criticism of the King of Spain, states that jazz came after the collapse of the third civilization, when men reverted to the jungle. The dance called classic, interpreted happiness born of the absence of evil on earth. Man then fell for the second time to lower depths of bestiality. His dance was an interpretation of passion and sin which inspired him in his lower life.

To quote the correspondent of the New York World, Ibanez remarks: "Today this same dance has returned to us via the jungle. We call it jazz. Unthinking critics have called it the original plastic emotion. But to any student of poetry creation there can be no doubt but that the dance that expressed the emotions of the virgin Eve is more nearly duplicated by Pavlowa."

A Boyhood Memory of the Hon. Henry Meyer.

Altoona, Pa., Dec. 7, 1925. Democratic Watchman:

Reading the good things said in your last issue of the late Hon. Henry Meyer tempts me to pen a few reminiscent lines.

When a small boy I looked forward to his visits in his capacity as County Superintendent to the Black Oak school, in Huston township. The school house was located on our farm and my father having been a director it was quite natural that Mr. Meyer should stop with us during his periodical visits.

When about twelve years old it fell to my lot to take him with our horse and buggy or sleigh out over the Alleghenies to visit the schools of Rush township and Phillipsburg. The first stop was at the Beaver Mills school, discontinued many years ago. Then to Bilger's and on to Phillipsburg, where we stopped at the Lloyd house for dinner. After the meal, which was a great treat to a farmer boy, I would drive back home alone.

I looked forward with great anticipation to these trips, for young as I was the splendid character of the man won and impressed me in a way that I never fully comprehended until more mature years revealed the real meaning of it all.

After he retired from his office I did not come in contact with him until I became a candidate for sheriff of the county in 1896. Then I found him the same dignified, refined, kindly gentleman I had idealized in boyhood. After I retired from office a quarter of a century lapsed before I saw him again.

It was on a Sunday afternoon, last summer, I had driven to Millheim to see my old friend W. F. Smith. While there he, Fred Hosterman and I decided to take a drive through Brush Valley and as we entered Rebersburg the thought occurred to me that I might be fortunate enough to see my old friend again. As we approached his house I noticed him sitting out on the lawn and as I went to greet him he hesitated only a moment before exclaiming: "Oh, Sheriff, and the boy who used to haul me over the Alleghenies."

He was nearing his eighty-fifth birthday then but his mind was so clear that he mentioned names of the teachers of the schools we had visited together half a century before. Too much could not be said of the Hon. Henry Meyer. He was surely a christian gentleman and to know him was to love him.

W. M. CRONISTER.

Yeager's Tiny Boot Shop.

To My Friends:
It gives me much pleasure to inform you, that by the time this paper reaches you I will have opened, as manager, Yeager's Tiny Boot Shop, located on High street, between the new Richelieu theatre and Bezer's meat market. This is perhaps the smallest store of its kind in Pennsylvania. The size of the room is 9x22 feet, large enough for my special proposition.

I am known personally to almost every shoe buyer in this locality, as I have been in the shoe business in Bellefonte for over twenty-five years, in another location. I have an interest in doing business in such a small space and under some inconvenience to the public. This is done in order to keep down the overhead expense that large stores have. In this way I will be able to sell you shoes for very much less than the actual value. My total expense for operating this store for a day will be less than seventy-five cents. This includes rent, heat and light. My object is to do a volume of business at a very small profit, and try and sell two hundred pairs of shoes every week at 50 cents a pair profit, in place of selling fifty pairs at $2.50 profit. If I am able to do this it will be a better business than operating a large store with a large overhead expense.

I will handle just two lines of shoes, nothing else in the shoe line. Therefore I have selected to the very best of my knowledge of men's and women's shoes in the United States that have a retail value of from $6.00 to $8.00 per pair. All of these shoes will be sold at $4.85 per pair. This will be the highest price shoe in the store. At $4.85 per pair I will be able to give the public the very best shoes, made of the very best leather that the leather market produces. This is only made possible by the very low cost of operating this store. I will have about twenty styles each for men and women, in all sizes, and with my knowledge of the shoe business you may depend on being fitted properly.

In conclusion I wish to say that the merits of this new store will not be just on my side. You will not only be doing me a kindness in purchasing your shoes at this store; you will be doing yourself justice in being able to save at the very least $1.15 to $3.00 on a pair. I am going to ask you to try to do your purchasing at this store during the day time. If you put it off until Saturday night, as most persons do, you will not be able to get in the store, as it only holds about six people at one time. I will be pleased to welcome all of my old customers and many new ones. I will give you my very best service for such a tiny store, and guarantee to you personally that no such values have ever been given in the United States, as I will be able to give you, due absolutely to the very low cost of operation. Please remember there will be only two kinds of shoes, men's and women's, and the price will be $4.85 per pair.
