PINE GROVE MENTIONS.

Shingletown is now illuminated with electric light.

Luther Peters is manipulating the wheel on a new Buick sedan.

Now we write it 1926, and may the new year be filled with happiness for all.

We had a white Christmas and good cheer prevailed throughout this section.

Dr. Irving L. Foster spent the Christmas season with friends in Bethlehem.

George Miller, of Cincinnati, spent Christmas at his parental home at Shingletown.

Eighteen members of the clan were present at the Christmas dinner at the J. S. Miller home.

Hugh L. Dale and family, of Millifinburg, spent the Christmas season with friends here and in Altoona.

J. F. Rossman has been quite busy of late installing radio machines in various homes in this section.

Mrs. A. E. Bowersox served a turkey dinner on Christmas to which a few of her most intimate friends were bidden.

The famous White Horse made his annual rounds in this section this week, giving notice of moving day on April 1st.

A new piano, a victrola and a handsome wrist watch were among the gifts left by Santa at the Nevin Meyers home.

Only near relatives were guests at the sumptuous Christmas dinner served at the Charles Dale home on the Branch.

Miss Margaret Ferree, one of the successful teachers in the Greensburg public schools, spent Christmas at her home at Oak Hall.

Harry Behrer and family spent the Yuletide visiting their cousin, Clarence McCormick, and taking in the sights in the City of Brotherly Love.

Walter Woods and wife, who spent the past week at the Dr. George H. Woods home, departed on Tuesday for their home in Washington, D. C.

Miss Edythe Dunlap has recovered from her recent illness and is planning to resume her work as teacher in the schools at New Castle on next Monday.

J. F. and Guy Rossman will consider our hat off to them for a nice hunt of that big buck they brought down on the last day of the deer hunting season.

Washington Camp No. 620 P. O. S. of A. will hold a meeting in the I. O. O. F. hall on Friday evening, January 8th, at 7.30 p. m. A full attendance is requested.

The G. W. Rossman family holds the record for kills during the deer season. Mr. Rossman and each one of his four sons and two son-in-laws got their buck.

Miss Grace Fitts, teacher of music and home economics in the vocational school in Crawford county, spent the holiday season with her parents, Prof. and Mrs. E. B. Fitts, at State College.

Samuel A. Homan recently received from the Pittsburgh stock yards two car loads of feeders. He retained 25 head, I. O. Campbell took 22 and the remainder were divided among neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Kitchen, of Washington, D. C., motored up to partake of the Christmas dinner served at the Lucas home where twenty-two of the clan gathered around the festive board.

John D. Thomas, of Pittsburgh, spent his holiday vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Meyers, and from his looks we conclude that the atmosphere of the Smoky city agrees with him.

Our young friend, Howard Harpster, of Pennsylvania Furnace, who was recently injured in an explosion in the P. R. R. shops in Altoona, is slowly recovering from his injuries in the hospital at that place.

The Christmas entertainment held by the Lutheran Sunday school on Christmas eve drew a crowded house. An excellent program of music was rendered and the services throughout were most enjoyable and interesting.

Doe killing in Huntingdon county on December 18th, 19th and 21st, did not prove the good sport anticipated. Only two were brought into this section, Paul Stover and Paul Smith, both of State College, being the lucky shots.

Joe Johnson has finished the remodeling of his home on east Main street, except the painting, which will not be done until next summer. The new addition contains all modern improvements, heat, light, water and a bath room.

The Brown sale on the G. C. Corl farm, last Thursday, brought out a good crowd and most of the stuff offered brought good prices. Horses sold from $4.50 to $114; cows, $75; sheep, $20 and shoats, $18. The sale totaled $2300.

A. Brooks Corl, a traveling salesman located in North Carolina, was here for Christmas, leaving on Monday morning for Chicago to attend a salesmen's convention. He will then go to South Carolina where he has been assigned for the winter.

Dr. Frank Bailey and lady friend, of Milton, spent a portion of the Christmas season at the home of the doctor's mother and with other friends hereabouts. The doctor is a member of the Modoc hunting club and always gets his share of game, big and little.

Mr. and Mrs. John Patton are making arrangements for a trip across the continent to spend the winter in Los Angeles, Cal. They will be accompanied by their son Charles, who will sail early in February for India, where he will enter the missionary field.

Our esteemed townsman, William Bigler Ward, celebrated his 76th birthday anniversary on Christmas. He has not been in good health the past year and as a result confined to his home most of the time. However, he is now able to make daily trips to the postoffice and chat with old cronies.

A 1922 model automobile was deserted near the Glades school house, one day last week. The tags show it to be owned by a resident of Mansfield, Pa., and the general supposition is that it had been stolen and abandoned for some reason or other. It was taken to the Rossman garage, at Rock Springs, for safe keeping.

Harry Miller and Miss Sarah Billets slipped away to Cumberland, Md., the day before Christmas where they were united in marriage. They returned the following day and received the parental blessing. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Miller, of State College, and is employed by the Keystone Power corporation as assistant to his father.

A delightful surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Mac Fry, on December 22nd, in honor of Mrs. Fry's natal anniversary. Over one hundred friends and neighbors participated. Music was furnished by the I. O. O. F. orchestra, with Mrs. D. S. Peterson presiding at the organ.

Mrs. Fry received an immense number of valuable and useful presents, including a davenport. The guests took with them baskets laden with good things to eat and the refreshments were naturally a feature of the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Fry have five sturdy sons who are all good representatives of this well known family.

Mrs. Mary E. Breon spent some time with her children in Jersey Shore.

Harry Steffen spent the holiday season with his two daughters, Mrs. Stonge and Mrs. Moser, in Danville.

Mr. and Mrs. Showers, of Lock Haven, spent Christmas night in town, guests of Mrs. Showers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stover.

Mrs. Mable Hain, after a sojourn of several months in California, arrived at the home of her father, H. E. Crouse on December 20th.

Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Stover had as guests, Sunday, their son, Paul Stover and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Spotts, their daughter, of Sunbury.

Claude and Charles Hinds, of Chicago, Ill., who were called east owing to the illness of their father, Ralph Hinds, of Fiedler, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Stover, Monday.

The Misses Lizzie Yarger, Amanda and Cora Haines and Mrs. Katie Greeninger, all of State College, spent their Christmas vacations at their respective homes in this place.

Wm. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Stricker motored to Renovo, Saturday, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tressler, Mrs. Tressler being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stricker.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Crouse had as dinner guests, Christmas day, Mrs. Crouse's brother, Samuel Proxell and family, of Winfield. They made the trip by motor, returning home the same day.

Morgan Otto, who spent his holiday vacation with his mother, Mrs. John Mohr Otto, in State College, was the guest for a few days at the hospitable home of John and Miss Mary G. Foster.

The year 1925 has passed out mid storm and icy blasts, causing the coal bins and wood piles to look dwindled. Seldom have we encountered such severe cold at this season. Let us hope for somewhat milder weather.

Mrs. Geo. McKay and daughter, Miss Florence, of Philadelphia, arrived in town on Monday night, having made the trip by automobile. While in town they are guests of Mrs. McKay's mother, Mrs. W. H. Phillips.

Mr. and Mrs. Sparr Wert and two children, and Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Mingle spent Christmas day at Potomac Mills; the Werts, with Mrs. Wert's father and the Mingles with their son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McCormick.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Harter had a happy family gathering on Christmas day when some of their children gathered with them to celebrate the day. Mr. and Mrs. Harter, though aged, are young at heart and enter into the joys of their family in a lighthearted way.

First Known Envelope is in British Museum.

The first envelope of which there is any knowledge enclosed a letter sent May 16, 1696, by Sir William Turnbull to Sir James Ogilvie. The epistle dealt with English affairs of State, and, with its covering, is carefully preserved in the British museum.

At that period and long afterward, it was the general custom to fold letters and seal them with wafers of wax. As a matter of fact, it is still fashionable to use sealing wax on the flaps of envelopes. Many people now living can remember the time when the old method of sealing was still in use.

A reference to a "letter with an envelope" is found in a poem written by Dean Swift in 1726.

Answer to Shooting Enigma.

A sergeant, after explaining the course of bullets to his men turned to Private Doolan and said:

"Private Doolan, perhaps you'll answer a few questions. Supposing I was standing a thousand yards away, say over by that brick barn, and you were standing half way between me and the enemy who were shooting at me, what would happen to you?"

"The bullets would go over my head, sir," replied Doolan.

"Quite right," said the sergeant, "but what would happen to me?"

Doolan answered:

"I am not very sure, but I think you would be dodging behind the trees or barn."

BOALSBURG.

D. W. Meyer spent Christmas with friends in Altoona.

Miss Lulu Reish, of Altoona, was a visitor in town on Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kimport, with Robert Lucas as chauffeur, are enjoying a new Ford sedan.

Mr. P. S. Dale and daughter, Mrs. Mary Miller, of State College, were visitors in town on Sunday.

Merchant J. D. Patterson presented his customers with a handsome and useful thermometer on Christmas.

Samuel Weber went to Huntingdon to attend the fiftieth wedding anniversary of his brother, Peter Weber and wife, on Tuesday.

Rev. W. W. Moyer, pastor of the Reformed church, was tendered a birthday party in the Sunday school room on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. E. E. Steuart and Mrs. Alice Magoffin went to Pittsburgh, last week, expecting to spend some time among friends in that district.

Owing to the extremely cold weather our plumber, F. M. Charles, and assistant have been quite busy looking after frozen pipes and drains.

Mrs. William Sweet and sons William and Perry, of Instanter, arrived in town on Wednesday and will remain for an indefinite time with Mrs. Sweet's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Meyer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stover, and Ellwood Stover, of Philadelphia, and John Mothersbaugh, of Berlin, who accompanied the body of Rev. Stover, remained with friends until Sunday, as did also the undertaker and assistant.

George Rowe and daughter have closed their home on Main street indefinitely. Mr. Rowe going to Williamsport to spend some time with his daughter, Mrs. Harry Kuhn, and Miss Daisy sharing an apartment with a friend at State College.

Mr. Nogle and daughter, Miss Harriet, of Shamokin, are visiting at the home of Henry Reitz. A number of years ago Mr. Nogle was interested in extensive lumber operations in this vicinity, and is enjoying the renewal of friendships of former days.

Our community was saddened by the news of the sudden death of Rev. S. C. Stover, of Berlin, a number of years pastor of the Boalsburg Reformed church and who had many friends in this vicinity who were present at the interment of the body in the local cemetery on Saturday afternoon.

The school children are enjoying a week's vacation following Christmas exercises Wednesday preceding Christmas. Miss Dale and Miss Campbell treated their pupils with candy and gifts from Santa, while Messrs. Hosterman, Dale and Ross treated their pupils to ice cream and cakes. A number of visitors were present.

Among the many persons who returned to spend Christmas with their parents and friends were Albert Meyer, Cyril Zechman, Charles Hosterman, Fred and Russell Ishler, Cyrus Wagner, Paul Brouse, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brouse, Miss Grace Fitts, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Rocky and daughter, Mrs. Elmer Houtz and daughters and Mrs. Mary Baylerts.

Kenneth Watson and Donald Lucas visited friends at Tyrone last week.

Mike Kauffman, of Williamsport, spent the week-end at Boyd Johnsons.

Toner and Samuel Furl and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Walker, of Williamsport, were Christmas visitors among friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Lucas, of Altoona, came down and spent Christmas with Mrs. Lucas' sister, Mrs. Mary Heaton.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Garbrick and Mrs. Annie Witherite, of Tyrone; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Witherite and son Burtus, of Ocoola Mills, and Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Johnson were entertained at the home of Mrs. Alice Rodgers on Christmas.

A rather turgid orator, noted for his verbosity and heaviness, was once assigned to do some campaigning in a mining camp in the mountains. There were about fifty miners present when he began; but when, at the end of a couple hours he gave no sign of finishing, his listeners dropped away.

Some went back to work, but the majority sought places to quench their thirst, which had been aggravated by the dryness of the discourse.

Finally there was only one auditor left, a dilapidated, weary-looking old fellow. Fixing his gaze on him, the orator pulled out a large six-shooter and laid it on the table. The fellow rose slowly and drawled out:

"Be you going to shoot if I go?"

"You bet I am," replied the speaker.

"I'm bound to finish my speech, even if I have to shoot to keep an audience.

The old fellow sighed in a tired manner, and edged slowly away, saying as he did so:

"Well, shoot if you want to. I may jest as well be shot as talked to death."

Millions Invested in Canadian Fox Farms.

Ottawa, Ont.—More than $10,000,000 was invested in fox farms in Canada at the end of 1924, according to the dominion bureau of statistics. There were 1,466 fox-raising establishments in Canada at the end of 1924 an increase of 923 farms.

About 75 per cent. of the fox farms are located in eastern Canada, the report shows. Prince Edward Island, where the industry began has a third of all the establishments operated in Canada. Farmers in the prairie provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, where fox-raising is a recent development, have shown marked interest in the industry as a profitable farm side line.

OAK HALL.

Miss Dorothy Lowder is spending several days with relatives at Altoona.

Clayton Etters purchased an Atwater Kent radio last week and is now enjoying the best of programmes.

The pupils of the Oak Hall school enjoyed a two day's vacation, beginning work again last Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Alexander, of Unionville, enjoyed their Christmas dinner at the Mrs. Nannie Gilliland home at this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Whitehill, who are employed at a fraternity house at State College, are enjoying their vacation at their home at this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Zong, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Zong and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Zong and family enjoyed Christmas dinner at the George Lohr home, at Penn Hall.

Among the arrivals home to spend their holiday vacation were Fred Wagner, who is employed at Akron, Ohio, and Harold Wagner, who is holding down a good job at Tamaqua. Miss Nellie Wagner also returned home from Cleveland to remain here for an indefinite time.

London is of great antiquity and unknown beginnings. It is mentioned very early in the history of northwestern Europe. It is noticed in Tacitus, and later the Romans under Claudius took it and gave it a Roman administration. That occurred something like a century after the invasion of Caesar. The old Britons were a bold and warlike race, and, led by Queen Boadicea, they recaptured the city and burned it.

Soon thereafter it was rebuilt, remaining unfortified, it is believed until the reign of Constantine, by whom it is thought the walls of London were constructed and the city erected into an episcopal see. The walls began in the neighborhood of the present tower, and were completed by another wall along the banks of the Thames. The importance of the city at that time is attested by the number of the Roman highways which led from it.

The extension of a patent and the reissue of a patent are entirely different from each other. Under the patent laws, by an extension of a patent is meant a prolongation of its life, so that the patent remains in force through an extended period of time. When the term of a patent was made 17 years in the year 1861, the law respecting extension was modified so as to provide that an extension shall be granted only by special act of congress, the effect of which has been that extensions have not been granted since such modification took effect. A reissue of a patent consists of the grant of an amended patent in the place of one which the patent office permits the patentee to surrender because it is defective or invalid on account of a defective or insufficient specification, or on account of the patentee having claimed in the original patent as to his invention or discovery more than he had a right to claim as new.

Great in his writings, he was greatest in his conversation. In him was disproved that old maxim, that we should allow every one his share of talk. He would talk from morn to dewy eve, nor cease till far midnight, yet who ever would interrupt him—who would obstruct that continuous flow of converse, fetched from Helicon or Zion? He had the tact of making the unintelligible seem plain. Many who read the abstruser parts of his "Friend" would complain that his works did not answer to his spoken wisdom. They were identical. But he had a tone in oral delivery, which seemed to convey sense to those who were otherwise imperfect recipients. He was my fifty-year-old friend without a dissonance. Never saw I his likeness, nor probably the world can see again—Lamb.

Girl babies roll their eyes and look at bright lights sooner than boy babies do, Dr. M. D. Guttman, a German psychologist, learned as a result of extended observations and tests on newborn infants. Some babies, he found, shied at light, some were indifferent, and others halted it joyfully almost at birth. The latter were more often girls. Doctor Guttman observed that reaction of the eyes to light occurred sooner in most cases than has hitherto been believed to be the rule. Some infants of only two or three days used their muscles in a properly co-ordinate fashion and gazed fixedly at bright objects, such as lights. Babies, as a rule, must learn the use of the eye muscles by experience, just as later they learn to use the other muscles of the body.

When last I went West by way of the "Broadway Limited," I was sitting on the observation platform, watching the scenery dash by, when the porter came out to straighten the chairs which had been left in some disorder by a group of young folks.

"We don't seem to be going so much faster than an ordinary local train, George," I commented. "How then can this be the fastest train on earth."

"Wal, suh," replied the porter with a grin, "de fac' is we alle doan go no faster'n lots of them pesky locals, but we gits dar in quick time because we just keeps on keeping on."—Forbes Magazine.

The Stranded Shah.

The Shah of Persia is—or was—one of the world's richest men; also the world's greatest spender. This seventh potentate of the Kajar dynasty, which started in 1776, is now an ordinary citizen. Reza Khan, the Persian premier, appears to have instituted a successful overthrow of the kingly dictator and established a republic.

The Shah of Persia was one of those potentates who did not help the prestige of the king business in the eyes of the world. A man who has jewels worth many millions, who can afford to lose $3,000,000 in Parisian gambling houses, whose yacht parties cost him $1,000,000 and whose tips to flower girls have been 10,000 francs each, has not been exactly a piker in the realm of pleasure. His harem at Tehran was the largest in the world, and the utensils in his kitchen cost $25,000,000. But for two years he has lived in Paris, where his unofficial harem has been as large as the official one at the Persian capital. In short, he is, or was, a survivor of the type of Oriental despots that figure in tales of the dim past in the Far East.

During the war, when everybody except the Shah and his harem seemed to be on the verge of starvation in Persia, he invested $100,000 in Liberty bonds as a token of gratitude toward the United States for coming to the aid of his starving kinsmen.

His Highness or whatever they call him, is now stranded in Paris. If he hasn't plenty of funds sewed up outside of Persia he may have to go to work. He ought to make a good butter for some genteel family.—New Britain, Conn., Herald.

The first annual intercollegiate dramatic contest held a few days ago at The Pennsylvania State College, which was won by the dramatic club representing Gettysburg College, was voted a great success and plans made for a second contest to be held next year at Drexell Institute, Philadelphia.

Bucknell University players won second place in the contest in which six Pennsylvania colleges were entered. Drexell Institute won a special honorable mention award. The Penn State players did not enter the contest, acting as hosts to the more than fifty player delegates from other colleges.

There's little rest or peace for the backache sufferer.

Days are tired and weary—Night brings no respite.

Urinary troubles, headaches, dizziness and nervousness, all tend to prevent rest or sleep.

Why continue to be so miserable? Why not use a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys?

Use Doan's Pills.

Your neighbors recommend Doan's. Read this Bellefonte case:

Gilbert Haupt, mgr. Weis Store, S. Spring St., says: "Kidney trouble came on suddenly and a dull pain in the small of my back caused many uneasy hours. Mornings I could hardly stoop to tie my shoes. My kidneys acted too frequently and I had a tired, languid feeling. It didn't take much work to make me feel worn-out. After I had used Doan's Pills, from Runkle's Drug Store, I was rid of the attack."
