PINE GROVE MILLS.

Elmer Louder was a business visitor in Bellefonte on Tuesday.

Rev. E. H. Romig made a business trip to Philadelphia last week.

James R. Smith has suffered a relapse and his condition is now alarming.

The much needed rain came on Monday and replenished the cisterns and streams.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Smith, of Altoona, spent Monday at the Smith parental home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Foster and daughter Nancy, left last week on a fortnight's trip south.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Stover, of Altoona, were callers with friends in town during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Smith, of Coatesville, are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Walker, of Farmer's Mills, spent Monday at the Alfred Musser home, at Sunnyside.

Harold Foster and wife, of Chicago, are visiting Mr. Foster's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phil D. Foster, at State College.

Mrs. D. O. Eiters and daughter, Miss Catherine, are both in the Jefferson hospital, Philadelphia, as medical patients.

Mrs. Annie Richards, of New York, is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Sallie Barr, on Main street, expecting to remain indefinitely.

After spending several months with her parents at Howard, Miss Irene Fletcher is back at the C. M. Dale home on the Branch.

Robert and Albert Wilson departed last Thursday for Dixie land, expecting to land at Miami, Fla., where they hope to find employment.

Thomas Glenn, of the Branch, was taken to the Centre County hospital, last Wednesday, as a medical patient. He has been an invalid for some years.

George A. Tate, of Pittsburgh, tarried a short time in town on Monday, noting the changes that have taken place in the past quarter of a century.

Since the death of postmaster David Barr our townsman, William F. Thompson, has been acting postmaster, a position he is well qualified to fill.

The Millheim High school dramatic club will render "A Poor Married Man" in the I. O. F. hall here tomorrow (Saturday) evening, at 8 o'clock.

L. D. Musser and W. H. Glenn, the two state highway employees who were gassed recently while operating a big truck, have entirely recovered and are back on the job again.

Hugh L. Dale, wife and two boys, Charles and Jack, motored up from Millifinburg and spent the early part of the week with Mr. Dale's mother, who has been quite ill but is now improving.

A party of motorists came to grief on Sunday when their Star sedan went over a high embankment on the Huntingdon Furnace hill. The car turned completely over three times and landed at the bottom of the ravine a complete wreck. The occupants of the car were George Sunday, the Misses Barto and a young man whose name could not be learned. All were badly shaken up but not seriously hurt.

The George E. Meyers home was the scene of a delightful surprise party, on Monday evening, given in honor of Mrs. Meyers' birthday anniversary. The lady spent the day at State College shopping and visiting friends and when she returned home at eight o'clock her home was crowded with well-wishing neighbors. The visitors carried with them well laden baskets and the refreshments were bountiful and delicious. Mrs. Meyers received many beautiful and useful presents.

BOALSBURG.

Rev. W. J. Wagner spent Friday among the sick at Pleasant Gap.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Felty, of Altoona, were week-end visitors in town.

Miss Anna M. Dale returned, Friday, from a week's visit in Centre Hall.

Mrs. Wm. Rockey, Capt. W. H. Fry and A. W. Dale, who were ill, are all improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Rockey and daughter, of Petersburg, were visitors in town on Sunday.

Fred Reitz, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Henry Reitz, and uncle, Jerry Dunkelbarger, enjoyed a motor trip and a week's visit among friends in Sunbury and vicinity.

D. W. Meyer has closed his home on Main street, expecting to spend the winter with his daughters, Mrs. Harry Lombarger, at State College, and Mrs. J. P. Wagner, at Altoona.

After a month's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Harry Kuhn, at Williamsport, George Rowe spent several days in town, leaving Saturday to visit friends in Altoona and Lewis-town.

OAK HALL.

Miss Nellie Wagner spent the week-end visiting at State College.

Mrs. Clell Garner and family, of State College, were Tuesday visitors at the Mrs. Eva Korman home.

Mrs. Annie Sunday, of Tadpole, is spending some time at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Waldo Homan.

Miss Eliza Gilliland has been employed, for the last two weeks, at the agricultural building, at State College.

Isaak Waltoners Have Talk Fest But No Meeting.

Because there were not enough present to constitute a quorum the Isaac Walton League of Bellefonte failed to hold a regular meeting two weeks ago. Those who did gather in the court house remained for several hours to discuss problems of forest and stream informally. In fact, it was our idea that the meeting was quite as beneficial as if it had been in regular session.

The most interesting contribution to the many thoughts under discussion was one presented by James Uzzie, of Snow Shoe, who is of the opinion that aliens, because they are not permitted to have a gun or hunt, are snaring both small and large game with devices very unusual to this country. It is his thought that they capture pheasants, wild turkeys, rabbits and some larger game in far greater quantity than anyone knows. To emphasize the point, he had with him two snares, part of forty-two recently found in the woods about Snow Shoe, that were so unique in construction and operation as to excite considerable interest. They were very simple little devices, easily transported and set up and from which a pheasant or turkey once emmeshed couldn't possibly escape. They had all the ear marks of those acquainted with poaching methods in foreign countries and were undoubtedly the devices of some of the foreign population in the Snow Shoe district.

State College Bulletin Gives Home Heating Hints.

Valuable suggestions for the operation of house heating plants and the economical use of coal are contained in a bulletin just issued by the engineering experiment station of the Pennsylvania State College. The publication gives the results of several years study of fuels conducted by F. G. Hechler, professor of engineering research at the college, and it is of particular value to the householder whose heating troubles have been increased by the coal strike and the frigid weather.

Less than a quarter of an inch of soot on the heating surface of the boiler will reduce the efficiency of that surface by seventy per cent., the bulletin points out. Cleanliness of flues and heating surfaces is outstanding in Professor Hechler's suggestions for fuel saving. A second factor which he rates almost as important is the covering of all heat pipes in the cellar. A square foot of uncovered heat pipe in the cellar is capable of costing the house owner a loss of 150 pounds of fuel in one heating season, results show. The savings from such covering will pay for it in one or two seasons, the bulletin points out.

Copies of the bulletin may be obtained from the engineering experiment station, Pennsylvania State College, State College, Pa. They are free to residents of Pennsylvania.

9,495 Aliens Deported by Authorities in 1925.

Washington.—Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, reports that the immigration service during the fiscal year 1925 arrested and deported a total of 9,495 aliens, the largest number in the history of the service. He makes the following comment on the situation:

"With the tide of immigration suddenly and materially stemmed by the adoption of restrictive immigration measures, leaving millions of aliens who were unable to gain admission through lawful channels, it is quite natural that their eyes should turn to other channels which afford a means of gaining entry.

"Stimulated by conditions existing in their own countries and encouraged by unscrupulous persons, who sought to reap financial reward from their undertakings, they were easily influenced to adopt the 'back door,' which to them presented a ready albeit an expensive, means of effecting entry to the land of their ambitions.

"Of a total of 9,495 deportations under warrant for the fiscal year, the largest number in the history of the immigration service, 1,169, were upon the ground of entry without inspection. Deportations to Canada numbered 1,921 and to Mexico, 1,826. The remainder, minus a small percentage of South Americans, Asiatics, and Africans, were deported to European countries."

—The Joneses had been through the trying ordeal of a fire.

All the neighbors gallantly turned out and gave every assistance that lay in their power, finally putting up the Joneses themselves for the night.

However, things weren't so bad as they looked and the following day the Joneses found that they could return to their home.

Accordingly they did so, and having settled down, they wondered what could be done to show their appreciation of their neighbors' kindness. At last they hit upon a brilliant idea and inserted an advertisement in the local paper. It read thus:

"Mr. and Mrs. Jones wish to express thanks to their many friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted at the burning of their residence."

How Coffee Stimulates.

Coffee is more of a stimulant than alcohol. The latter makes a man stupid. It is depressing and paralyzes all proper fear and restraint. While those under its influence can do more work, they do not do it well. On the other hand coffee is stimulating, enabling the user to work beyond normal strength, although he must pay the penalty later in loss of sleep. These statements were made recently by Dean Henry H. Rusby of the Columbia College of Pharmacy in New York city, says Popular Science Monthly.

Hard to Account for Hobbies of Collectors

You can understand a person collecting china or coins or stamps or snuff boxes. These are objects of beauty, or at any rate of interest. Birds' eggs, butterflies, or beetles form interesting collections and teach natural history, while such objects as playing cards, fans, mezzotints, or enamels have at least historic interest.

But of late years many people have abandoned the more ordinary forms of collecting in favor of gathering together all sorts of freakish objects which do not appear to have either beauty or intrinsic value, and the gathering of which at much expense both of time and money looks like sheer waste of both these commodities.

For instance, in a daily paper certain individuals have been boasting of their collections of match boxes, one correspondent declaring that he has over 300 different specimens.

No doubt the collection gives him a certain amount of pleasure, but what will his heirs think of it? Would any museum say "thank you" for it?

But the collector of match boxes shows more discrimination than the man who has spent half a lifetime and goodness knows how much money in traveling all over the world and collecting water from each river he comes across.

Out of each stream he takes a sample in a small bottle, which is then sealed and labeled. He has already hundreds of these bottles, and the number constantly grows.

A hobby that is worse than useless is the collection of title pages. This is a form of curio hunting of considerable antiquity, and is the reason why so many early printed books lack their title pages. Thousands of the rarest books have been mutilated in this way, the classical authors suffering more than others for the reason that their title pages were so often fine steel plates.

Helium for Longevity

Helium, the sun element, is now a commercial product in relation to longevity. It is offered in bottles as an aerated table water. Claimed to be the intrinsic factor of most of the health springs, helium in this impregnated water, is said to prevent the clogging of the vascular glands normally responsible for the nutrition of the body. If they become debilitated or functionless there is senility and the phenomena characteristic of certain chronic complaints. Vital statistics gathered in the vicinity of some of these springs are very interesting—accounting in one instance for no fewer than 20 octogenarians in a population of 523. The difficulty of obtaining a supply of helium at an economic price has held back its therapeutic applications. It is now available at a figure which permits its sale in England in aerated water at about 10s 6d per dozen bottles.—London Times.

Kings Made Sea Popular

Do you know why you go to the sea shore to spend your summer vacation? It is because the sea shore was made fashionable by royalty.

There was a time when no one ever thought of spending a holiday by the sea. Such a thing was unheard of. The country and inland watering places were then in favor. Then came a change.

George III of England became ill and, according to Tit-Bits, was advised by his physicians to go to Weymouth-by-the-sea. Instantly the town came into favor. Later George IV patronized Brighton, and the resort became famous. And from then on seaside vacations became increasingly popular.

Protestants Vist Pope

Among the hundreds of thousands who, during the year of pilgrimage, sought audience with the pope, have been many Protestants, whose requests have been received quite as hospitably and granted quite as quickly as those of Catholics. Especially notable in this respect, were two Scandinavian pilgrimages. The first contained 400 Catholics and 40 Protestants; the second, 80 Catholics and 180 Protestants. The Protestants, among them several pastors, were regularly inscribed as Pilgrims and were given a special welcome by the pope in his informal address.

Wise Child

The attitude of so many foreigners across the seas toward Americans demonstrates the truth of the proverb about fair-weather friends, and reminds one of little Billy.

Billy's uncle paid him a visit. When he was leaving, Billy was playing out in front of his home with a group of boys, so his uncle gave him a dime, saying: "You have lots of playmates, Billy; are they all your friends?"

"I was just playing with them," he replied, putting the dime in his pocket, "but they'll all want to be my friends now."

Escaped Russian Prison

After 11 years' imprisonment in Russia, during which he made several unsuccessful attempts to escape, Paul Cons, sculptor, recently reached Bonn. During the Russian campaign of the German army in August, 1914, Cons was wounded and taken prisoner. When he recovered, he says, he was assigned to a Russian working squad and put at hard labor. His repeated attempts to escape were frustrated until this year, when Cons and three companions succeeded in crossing the border.

RUNVILLE.

Mr. and Mrs. James McClincy were Sunday visitors in Williamsport.

Albert Bierley, of Milesburg, called at the Claude Confer home on Sunday.

William Resides came down from Tyrone on Monday and called on friends.

Mrs. Ida Witmer, of Wingate, visited her daughter, Mrs. Earl Kauffman, on Sunday.

Revival services are still going on here and so far there have been six conversions.

Miss Edna Rodgers, who teaches at Snow Shoe, spent Saturday with her mother, Mrs. Alice Rodgers.

Mrs. Lucy Poorman came home last Sunday, after spending two weeks with her son Lawrence, at Williamsport.

Mr. and Mrs. Evan Lucas, of Altoona; Wilson Lucas, of State College, and Miss Verda Lucas, of Milesburg, called at Jack Heaton's, on Sunday.

Those who visited at the James McClincy home last week were Mrs. Clara Davidson and daughter, of Milesburg, and Mrs. Mildred Osterman and daughter, of Jersey Shore.

CENTRE HALL.

The Stork left a baby girl for Jack Smith's on Sunday.

Mrs. Lalick is at the C. F. Emery home looking after Miss Smith and her mother.

The Y. P. B. held their regular meeting on Monday evening. A minstrel show was a feature of the evening's entertainment.

The Penns Valley Banking Company stockholder's meeting on Tuesday evening was well attended. All report having had a fine time and excellent eats.

The McClenahan family moved into their new home recently purchased from C. W. Swartz. The final moving was on Tuesday. Their house on west Church street is to accommodate two families, E. M. Smith, and a party from Coburn.

MEDICAL.

Back Lame and Achy?

The Advice of This Bellefonte Resident Should Help You to Get Well.

Do you suffer nagging backache? Feel dizzy, nervous and depressed? Are the kidney secretions irregular; breaking your rest? Likely your kidneys are at fault. Weak kidneys give warning. You have backache; rheumatic twinges. You feel weak, tired, all worn-out. Heed the warning. Don't delay! Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys.

Your neighbors recommend Doan's. Here is a Bellefonte case.

C. E. Hartman, Mgr. Weis Store, 118 E. Logan St., says: "Mornings the muscles in my back were lame and drawn. When I stood a long time I had a severe ache across my kidneys. My kidneys were weak, too and I had to get up quite a bit at night to pass the secretions. Any little work tired me toward the end of the day I was so worn-out, I hardly felt like moving. I used Doan's Pills and three boxes, from the Mott Drug Co., cured me." 70-1t

This is sure their busy day. Send your order—don't delay. —Young Mother Hubbard.
