

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

Don't forget the High school dance Saturday evening, January 23rd. The library needs your support. John Bower, of Aaronsburg, was temporarily paralyzed when a tree fell on him one day last week. He is said to be recovering from the effects of the accident.

The English department of the Bellefonte High school will give a dance for the benefit of the library fund on Saturday evening, January 23rd. The Academy orchestra will furnish the music.

An exciting basket ball game will be held in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium this (Friday) evening, when the strong Indiana Normal quintette will play the Bellefonte Academy five. The game will be called at 9:15 o'clock, and you don't want to miss it.

There were 291 prisoners in the county jail during various periods of 1925. Seven white women one colored and 283 white men made up the host of boarders the sheriff had to feed and it will cost the county in the neighborhood of $6,000 to reimburse him at the legal rate of fifty a day for keeping prisoners.

A fair representation of real estate investors was present at the offering at public sale of the A. G. Morris property, on east Linn street, last Saturday afternoon. While the bidding for a few minutes was quite spirited the best bid received was $7,500, and inasmuch as this was deemed so much below the value of the property the sale was continued until the afternoon of January 30th.

Don't spend your evenings at home brooding over household worries or business cares, but go to the Scenic and be cheered up by watching the motion pictures. You may not know it but manager T. Clayton Brown is now giving the people of Bellefonte a class of pictures that ranks with those shown in leading picture houses in the large cities. Because of this fact it pays to be a regular and see them all.

Miss Audrey Dale, only daughter of Col. and Mrs. Frederick A. Dale, of Brooklyn, has joined Flo Ziegfeld's Follies organization. Miss Dale's dancing attracted attention in New York a year or more ago and Ziegfeld is then supposed to have offered her an engagement, but she did not accept it. However, last fall certain conditions were made more agreeable to her and she joined the company that is now playing in Miami, Miss Dale does solo and specialty dancing.

On Tuesday of last week policeman J. C. Wedekind, of Philipsburg, went to the home of George Mothersbaugh, near the Gardner club house, in Rush township, to serve a warrant for that man's arrest on the charge of larceny, information having been made that he was cutting timber on the land of W. P. Kennedy, of Brisbin. Mothersbaugh resisted arrest and was supported by his wife and daughter. A general fight ensued in which the policeman and Mothersbaugh were both badly pummed. Wedekind finally got his man and in default of one thousand dollars bail he was committed to the Centre county jail.

John McCoy is progressing with his hydro-electric plant at the McCoy-Linn iron works property. It is a great deal larger undertaking than those who have not been over it realize. The dam is entirely completed and it is the best looking structure of its kind in this part of the State. At present the concrete for the wheel pit is being poured. The floor on it is 2ft. thick of solid concrete, tied with 1 in. square steel bars, and reinforced by 32 in. concrete beams. When this is completed all that will remain to be done is to run the sides up and erect the generator house. Mr. McCoy expected to have the plant in operation by the middle of February, but has been delayed by bad weather and other deterrents until he has little hope now of getting it going before the middle of March.

BOROUGH COUNCIL COMMITTEES APPOINTED.

Robert E. Kline Re-Elected Borough Fire Marshall.

On the convening of borough council, in regular session on Monday evening, president John S. Walker announced the appointment of standing committees for the ensuing year as follows: Street—W. H. Brouse, Harry Badger, W. J. Emerick. Water—J. M. Cunningham, W. H. Brouse, Thomas Hazel. Finance—W. J. Emerick, W. F. Reynolds Jr., John P. Eckel. Fire and Police—Harry Flack, J. M. Cunningham, Thomas Hazel. Market—John P. Eckel, W. J. Emerick, Harry Flack. Sanitary—Harry Badger, Thomas Hazel, John P. Eckel. Village Improvement—W. F. Reynolds, Jr., Harry Flack, Harry Badger. Special—Thomas Hazel, W. J. Emerick, W. H. Brouse, W. F. Reynolds Jr., J. M. Cunningham.

A written application was received from O. B. Malin for appointment as fire marshal, and his appointment was unanimously endorsed by the Logan fire company, of which he is a member.

A communication was received from John J. Bower, secretary of the Firemen's Relief association, requesting council to pay over to the association the apportionments due for the years 1923 and 1924.

The Street committee reported hauling snow off the streets and the collection of $32.25 for sewer pipes, $4.61 for old pipe and 75 cents for cleaning snow from pavement.

The Water committee reported the collection of $50 on the 1923 duplicate and $378 on the 1924.

The Finance committee asked for the renewal of notes totaling $4,800 and reported that the treasurer has an opportunity to borrow $2500 at five per cent, and the committee recommended that he be authorized to do so and pay off a note of like amount drawing six per cent. Council approved the transaction.

The Fire and Police committee recommended the re-election of Robert E. Kline as fire marshal and J. T. Storch, G. Max Gamble, Robert Garman and Ellis Hines, as drivers for the Logan fire company, and the election of Charles Saxton, Ralph Moerschbacher, Basil Doll and Walter Smith as drivers for the Undines. All were duly elected.

The question of asking an increase in rental from the G. F. Musser Co. for the Phoenix mill building was pretty thoroughly discussed. The borough is receiving $750 a year and some members of council think the amount should be increased to $1000. Others were of the opinion that the present rental is about all the business will stand. It was finally decided to execute a new lease with the tenant for one year from April 1st, 1926, to April 1st, 1927, at $750 per year, payable monthly, and a resolution was passed to that effect.

Several members of council took issue with Burgess Harris' order to sound the fire alarm for the curfew notice at 8:30 o'clock, being of the opinion that it is liable to confuse firemen in the event there should be a real alarm sent in at or about that time. The matter was finally referred to the Fire and Police committee to consult with the burgess relative to some other way of announcing the curfew hour.

Bills were approved to the amount of $2257 after which council adjourned.

Bellefonters Survive Burgess Harris' Closed-Tight Sunday.

About the only things in Bellefonte wide open and running as usual, on Sunday, were the big spring and Spring creek. Burgess Harris' edict last week not only closed the lid on all unnecessary business but clamped it down good and tight. He is starting his administration on a reform platform and with this end in view gave notice, through the police last week, to all cigar stores, green grocers and fruit stores, that no more Sunday selling will be permitted. The hotels can sell cigars to bonafide guests, but none other. Restaurants may serve meals to the hungry but not soft drinks to the thirsty. Drug stores must cut out the Sunday sundae and other drinks and confine their sales to drugs and medicine.

The result was everybody who had heretofore kept open on Sunday was closed tight and more than one smoker who failed to lay in a supply on Saturday night went smokeless on Sunday while the regular soda fountain habitues did not habit as heretofore. But nobody dropped dead or suffered any unusual pain because of the deprivations, and business picked up on Monday morning just where it laid down on Saturday night.

Burgess Harris has also issued an order closing pool rooms and restaurants at twelve o'clock at night during week days. This order was the result of a disgraceful scene on High street in the small hours of the morning, one night last week. Several young men who participated were fined five dollars by the burgess and given until February 1st to settle. It might also be mentioned that the burgess has already imposed fines in some four or five cases for reckless driving.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Centre County hospital will hold a card party at the Elk's home, Thursday evening, February 11th.

FIRST CULPRITS FACE JUDGE KELLER.

Judge Harry Keller had his first experience in dealing with violators of the criminal code, at special session of court, on Saturday, and several of the young men who appeared before the bar got off very luckily.

The first case called was that against Floyd St. Clair, of Centre Hall, and Ray Dean, of Bellefonte, charged with forgery. St. Clair is 20 years old and Dean only 15. On or about December 28th they cashed a forged check at the Beezer meat market for $26.29. Naturally their arrest followed and both entered pleas of guilty. Both St. Clair's and Dean's father were in court and volunteered to make good the forged check and pay the costs in the case. District attorney John G. Love stated to the court that Miss Beezer would be satisfied with a suspended sentence if the money she advanced on the check was returned to her. Judge Keller told the boys that they were bad pickers, as they could not have picked a more serious way of getting money than by forging a check. He also told them that he could impose a fine of $1,000 and send them to the penitentiary for five years, but in view of the fact that it was their first offense and their parents were willing to make good the money they obtained unlawfully and pay the costs in the case, he would suspend sentence on condition that St. Clair return home and go to work and Dean also go to work and quit loafing in the pool rooms.

The next man was Oscar Ostrander, who passed a worthless check for $3.00 at State College. Attorney W. G. Runkle represented Mr. Ostrander and stated to the court that while he was not condoning the crime, Ostrander really deserved some sympathy. That he was a good workman when he didn't drink, and was up against a little hard luck when he gave the worthless check. Only a few months ago his wife ran away from home with another man leaving him with a family of nine children. Three of the eldest are self supporting but he has the care of the other six. Judge Keller told Ostrander that while he sympathized with him he couldn't condone his offense entirely, and sentenced him to pay a fine of one dollar, costs of prosecution and serve thirty days in the county jail.

Ray Stone, of State College, pleaded guilty to the charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. In explanation of the young man stated that he is a member of Troop B, of Bellefonte, and came here on the evening of January 5th to attend drill. He drew his drill checks and in company with several other young men proceeded to have a good time. Though intoxicated he drove back to State College without mishap but was arrested by chief of police Yougel on his arrival in that town. Stone is only 19 years old and Judge Keller asked him which place he would prefer, the Huntingdon reformatory or the Centre county jail. Stone said the jail so the court gave him from one to six months, a dollar fine and the costs.

Wilson M. Cramer and Paul Gross, two State College youths, were haled before the court for stealing about $200 worth of students' clothing from the Delta Upsilon fraternity on the morning of December 31st. The court told the boys that they, also, were poor pickers, and gave them an indeterminate sentence in the Huntingdon reformatory.

The "Merry Widow" a Great Photoplay. One of the finest pictures the people of Bellefonte will ever have an opportunity of seeing will be presented at the Scenic theatre, where the better class photoplays are shown on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, January 25th, 26th and 27th, with matinees daily at 2:30 p. m. It is entitled "The Merry Widow," and shows Mae Murray and John Gilbert as co-stars. Laid in a mythical Balkan Kingdom the picture reflects all the glamor, fascination and beauty of the continent. The settings are exquisite, some of them done in natural color, while the story is replete with surprises and moves at a pace that keeps the audience enthralled. It is brimful of surprises and thrills and its climaxes lead from one to another with refreshing swiftness. The picture was staged by that master director, Enrick Von Stroheim. Admission for all engagements, children 20 cents, adults 35. Don't miss it.

Women's Missionary Society Celebrated Golden Jubilee. The Women's Missionary society of the Presbyterian church, at Graysville, celebrated its golden jubilee last Thursday. A luncheon was served at noon and the afternoon was featured by an excellent program. Three charter members were present, namely, Mrs. Cyrus Goss, Miss Belle Goheen and Mrs. Frank Gardner, the latter two being sisters of Rev. Miliken Goheen, who for many years was a missionary in India. The speaker of the afternoon was Rev. J. O. C. McCracken, of Juniata, a native of that valley. Others who were featured on the program were Mrs. H. D. Fleming and Mrs. R. J. Hillis, with brief talks; Miss Isabel Musser and Miss Elizabeth Goheen in a duet, and Mrs. Cyrus Goss in a very good historical paper on the organization and work of the society during its fifty years of existence.

YOUNG FORGER GYPS BELLEFONTE MERCHANTS.

Three Bellefonte business men are out just $157.00 through their willingness to cash checks for a man whom they knew little about, except that he was a workman on the new addition to the hydrating plant of the American Lime and Stone company.

The young man, only 19 years of age, was known here as Clyde C. Childers, though his right name, according to police officials is Zackery Justice, and his home in Regina, Ky. According to the police he came to Bellefonte two months or more ago and secured employment at the hydrating plant of the American Lime and Stone Company. He boarded at Mike Torsells, and police aver that he had not been at work for several weeks, though he took his dinner bucket every day and spent the day away from the Torsell home.

On Friday evening he went to the clothing store of Harold Cowher, on Allegheny street, purchased a suit of clothes and tendered in payment a check drawn to the order of Henry Fetzer and signed by C. L. Cliff, explaining that Cliff was the man in charge of the work at the new hydrating plant and he had received the check too late to get it cashed at the bank. The check was for $61.00, and Mr. Cowher took out the price of the suit of clothes and gave the man the change.

Later in the evening Justice went to Schofields and got a check cashed for $36.00, and early Friday morning he went to the cigar store of Robert Roan, purchased a package of cigarettes and tendered a check for $60.00 in payment. The check was cashed and, according to police information, Justice went direct to the train from Roan's store and went west on the 9:17.

On Friday morning a First National bank note for $61.00 was found at the Pennsylvania railroad crossing on High street. It bore the names of C. L. Cliff and Henry Fetzer and was signed by W. A. Justice and J. F. Justice. The note evidently had been drawn by the same man, although the writing of all the names on the face of the note did not appear to be in the same hand writing. There is no likelihood that any money was realized on the note, however.

The forgeries were discovered when the checks were presented for payment at the First National bank on Saturday morning. That institution has no account in the name of "C. L. Cliff," and the Mr. Cliff who is in charge at the American Lime and Stone Company plant is Walter R. Cliff. All the checks passed were First National bank counter checks, and this in itself ought to have aroused suspicion in the minds of those to whom they were presented.

John S. Ginter Credited With Bank's Growth.

In connection with the recent election of officers for the Farmers and Merchants National Bank of Tyrone the Herald, of that place, made the following complimentary reference to John S. Ginter, vice president and cashier of the institution. "John S. Ginter, who, in assuming office as a vice president still retains the office of cashier, is to be congratulated upon his new associations. To him, whose ability in recent years has gained recognition in the calls made upon it by many interests outside Tyrone, is due in great measure the steady progress of the bank."

Mr. Ginter is one of the receivers whom Judge Dale recently appointed for the defunct Centre County Banking company, of Bellefonte.

Ladies Undie Found in Waste Paper Receptacle.

A very serviceable ladies undie garment was found on Monday morning by Charles Baney in the waste paper receptacle at the corner of the Brockerhoff house block on the Diamond. The garment was mixed up with a copy of a Sunday paper and when Mr. Baney found it he was somewhat non-plussed, as he wasn't sure whether it had been put there with purpose intent, deposited by mistake or was a supplement issued in connection with the Sunday paper. But after opening it out full length, squinting at it from all angles and satisfying himself that it was a perfectly good undie he declared he'd take it home to the "old woman" and she could wear it.

The query now is, where did the undie come from? The waste paper receptacle stands close to the post-office but there isn't anybody in there who wears that kind of garment. And lady or no lady we can't conceive of anyone shedding their undies during the kind of weather we have had recently and casting aside a perfectly good garment. In this case "finders are keepers," and Mrs. Baney will profit through somebody's carelessness.

Tickets may be bought at Blair's store or from individual members of the club, Mrs. Gregg Curtin, Mrs. S. M. Shallock, Mrs. H. M. Quigley, Mrs. Russel Blair, all of whom may be reached by telephone. As it is the desire that all the club members be sure to get in and get seats, not only for themselves but also for their husbands and relatives, it is urged that they do not delay getting their tickets now. The time is short.

The girls in the cast are working hard to make the evening's entertainment a success, and hope that the public will be pleased with their efforts. The plays are light and entertaining, with plenty of humorous situations, calling for a variety of histrionic ability.
