Bellefonte, Pa., January 29, 1926.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

Willis Reed Bierly, lawyer and publisher, and well known in Centre county, his former home, has changed his location from York to Philadelphia.

Marian, the eleven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Emil, of Howard street, was taken to the hospital on Monday for an operation for appendicitis.

The members of Crystal Springs Rebekah lodge will hold a card party Monday evening, February 1st, in the I. O. O. F. hall, to which the public is cordially invited.

The second lecture of the Current Events course will be given on Wednesday evening, February 3rd, in the Presbyterian chapel, at eight-thirty. Tickets for the remaining lectures can be procured at the entrance for 75 cents.

At noon yesterday, the thermometer stood at just 10 degrees above zero. There was a high wind blowing the light snow that fell Wednesday night so that by this morning many sections of the county will probably be drifted in.

John M. Garman has resigned his position at the freight office of the Pennsylvania railroad in Bellefonte to accept a position in the transportation department of the American Line & Stone company. He had been with the railroad company eight years.

Three prisoners were taken from Rockview back to Pittsburgh, on Monday morning, by assistant deputy warden C. C. Rhoads. Two of the men were being returned to the penitentiary hospital, in Pittsburgh, on advice of the prison physician, while the other man was sent back because of being detected in planning to escape from Rockview.

The St. Joseph High school basketball team, of Williamsport, will play the Bellefonte Academy quintette in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Saturday evening, at 8:00 o'clock. The Academy downed the strong Indiana Normal team last week and expect to add another notch on their victory pole this evening. All lovers of the game should be on hand promptly on the hour.

Thus far three of the Ford commercial air ships have stopped at the Bellefonte field for oil and gas. The one that landed here Monday carried none but the pilot thought it had seats for four passengers and a large baggage compartment that would seat six others. The ships are all aluminum, have toilet and lavatory facilities and otherwise quite comfortably arranged. They are of the monotype having only one plane on the wings.

Edward Feltenberger, who lives near State College, is anxious to find his mother, if she is still living. Mr. Feltenberger and his brother Samuel, when quite small, were adopted by a Blair county family and only at rare intervals saw their real mother and of late years had lost all trace of her. Samuel died near Buffalo N. Y., two weeks ago and now Edward is anxious to find his real mother, whom he believes, lives in or near Altoona.

E. J. Gentzel, who manages their homebased farm adjacent to the aviation field was in town yesterday and had some doubt as to whether he could get back home because the road was drifted badly when he came in. Mr. Gentzel will leave this morning for Danville where he will enter the Geisinger hospital for treatment. His teeth have been troubling him for some time and he left not knowing how many of them will have to be removed.

When the Watchman went to press last Thursday evening it was so mild and spring-like that we had hopes that the worst of the winter was over. But Friday morning brought another snow to shovel and the temperature since has been too far toward the zero mark to be comfortable. And the weather man offers no promise of any immediate change. But next Tuesday will be groundhog day and probably the little animal will be snowed in and won't be able to come out and see its shadow.

After a recent meeting of the Clearfield County Agricultural Society new officers were elected for the coming year. Among them we note that Mitchell I. Gardner, formerly of this place, was chosen secretary. The society closed the old year with a small balance on hand after having expended $22,000 on its grounds and fair last season. The Clearfield fair has beautiful grounds and splendid buildings. It has been successful, as such enterprises go, and if there is anything an active secretary can add to that the election of Mr. Gardner was a wise one.

Regular patrons of the Scenic have a two-fold pleasure in attending that popular movie show. One is that they are always sure of seeing the best and latest pictures made and the other is to hear the splendid music of that wonderful pipe organ as manipulated by Miss Crouse. Now that she has become accustomed to handling the instrument she can do wonders with it, in fact about everything but make it talk. Music lovers appreciate her performances and the combination of good pictures and splendid music is enough to delight every one who goes to the Scenic.

Judge Keller Orders Election Held Up Pending Appeal to the Superior Court.

With the ballots printed and the recently appointed election board all ready to hold a special election on Tuesday, for the selection of officers for the newly constituted borough of Port Matilda the entire proceeding was halted at the eleventh hour when Judge Harry Keller, on Monday morning, granted a supersedeas for a hearing of the opponents to the incorporation before the Superior court, and also issued an order setting aside the election on Tuesday and continuing the same until such time as the case is disposed of by the Superior court. This action was taken following an argument before Judge Keller, on Monday morning, in which the legality of the nomination of the men to be voted for on Tuesday was questioned.

At the time of the hearing before Judge Dale on the application for incorporation, attorneys for the applicants presented a petition signed by seventy-six alleged free-holders, which, it was claimed, was a big majority of the property owners in the borough. The exact number of free-holders, however, was not definitely set forth, and now, it is alleged, quite a number of those who signed the petition did so on the spur of the moment and would be willing to withdraw their names.

In carrying the case to the Superior court attorneys for the opponents to the incorporation, contend that the application was granted by the court without proper judicial investigation as to the necessity or expediency of such a move, and that the incorporation of the town into a borough would be prejudicial to the best interests of that community.

Regarding the nominations of the men and one woman placed upon the ticket to be voted for at Tuesday's election attorneys for the opponents contended that they were not nominated at primaries as provided by the election laws of Pennsylvania, but put on the ticket as the result of party caucuses, which was illegal and could not be sustained by the courts. Judge Keller coincided with this view and issued the order setting aside the election.

Planning for Apartments on Third Floor, Bush Arcade.

In order to secure greater returns from the Bush Arcade building the Bellefonte Trust Co., executors of the estate of the late Mrs. Louisa Bush, are considering the advisability of turning the entire third floor into apartments. At no time since the present building was erected over thirty years ago has there been a steady income from the third floor. Laid out as it was in two big halls and several smaller rooms it was suitable only for lodges, dances and public gatherings of one kind or another. The result was it never had a permanent tenant and consequently not much of an income was derived therefrom.

The continuous demand for living quarters in Bellefonte will doubtless justify converting the upper floor of the Arcade into apartments. Architects are now preparing plans for the changes that will be necessary to reconstruct the upper floor without destroying the architectural design of the building. The present window space on the third floor is not suitable for apartment uses, and this will naturally mean the entire reconstruction of the walls from the second floor up.

But there is ample space on the third floor for from four to six good sized apartments, and as they would all be pleasantly located they would likely be in demand and furnish a very profitable return.

Two Coasting Accidents.

Richard Robb, ten year old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Robb, had a narrow escape with his life on Saturday evening, when he coasted on an automobile at the intersection of Bishop and Allegheny streets. He and another boy were up on Logan street doing some repair work on their sleds. When the job was completed Richard started for home and boy like decided to coast down Allegheny street hill from Logan to Bishop, believing he could keep his sled under control. But the sled went faster than he anticipated and on Bishop street he ran into the rear wheel of a Dodge car driven by Mr. Smith. He sustained a bad cut on the forehead and several severe bruises. Persons who saw the accident picked the boy up and took him to the office of Dr. Rogers where first aid was rendered after which he was taken to the hospital and the cut on his head stitched when he was taken home. He is now getting along all right.

At noontime on Tuesday Elizabeth Ann Taylor, the youngest daughter of sheriff and Mrs. E. R. Taylor, coasted down Penn street from High to Howard and ran into the automobile of Van Jodon as he was driving along that street. She sustained quite a cut on the head but not large enough to require stitching. She also received several body bruises but fortunately escaped serious injury.

The Central Pennsylvania conference of the Evangelical church will be held at Jersey Shore in March.

Spring Township Squabble Over School Location.

At the election last fall the taxpayers of Spring township voted in favor of a township bond issue in the amount of $64,400.00 for the purpose of building a new school house at Pleasant Gap. The plan was to provide for a High school and, possibly consolidate the five other schools now being conducted in two township buildings and one rented hall in that place.

At present in Pleasant Gap there are five schools. Two in the township building on Main St., the High and grammar schools in a rented building formerly used by the knitting mill and the primary school in a building on the "Hornstown" road. The bond issue proposed and endorsed was for the purpose of providing a suitable High school building and also room for consolidation of all these schools.

At the election the South precinct of Spring in which Pleasant Gap is located the vote was 289 for and 54 against. The north precinct, which is the territory just around Bellefonte voted 54 for and 45 against. The West precinct, which takes in the territory around Coleville, voted 55 for and 30 against. Altogether the proposal carried by a vote of 398 to 129.

It is rather an unusual condition. While the entire township voted to carry the debt neither the North nor the West precincts will derive much benefit from it because of the topography of the township. It entirely surrounds Bellefonte so that the High school here is much nearer for scholars living in the North and West precincts than is their own located at Pleasant Gap, so that it would seem that the greatest benefit of the proposed new building will be derived by residents of the South precinct. They need the school, however, because the town is growing so rapidly that facilities are entirely inadequate to the demand.

But Pleasant Gap is divided against itself. There are "up town" and "down town" crowds out there. Some want the new building located on the site of the present township school house on "the Pike" or Main street. Others think that location is too far up toward the mountain and away from the natural further development of the village. In other words they want it located somewhere on the road leading to State College or that to the Aviation field.

Altogether there is quite a commotion over the project and everybody is excited.

What Becomes of the Kansas Rabbits?

During the past three or four winter seasons thousands of Kansas rabbits have been shipped into Pennsylvania for distribution by the State Game Commission. Several hundred of these animals have annually been distributed in Centre county, but among the many rabbits killed during the recent hunting season did any hunter recognize among the animals in his game bag a rabbit with a Kansas pedigree?

We have been constrained to ask this question because a well known Bellefonte hunter informed us this week that most, if not all, of the Kansas rabbits turned out in the Ten Acre territory late in December have either perished with the cold or died of starvation. The Kansas rabbit, on its native heath burrows in the ground and has no trouble getting something to eat when it is hungry. Transported to Pennsylvania, a section of country entirely different in temperature and environment, it stands within reason that it would be like a fish out of water. It has no ground burrows to pop into, and no succulent grasses and herbs to feed on. Our northern rabbits, being to the manor born, have no trouble shifting for themselves during the most rigid winters, but it would seem as if the most propitious time to import Kansas rabbits into Pennsylvania would be in the spring of the year, when they can find plenty to eat and a hole to hide in.

Centre County Naval Officer in Divorce Proceedings.

A rather interesting divorce suit has been attracting legal attention in this place for the past two days. It is the proceeding of Lieutenant Commander Joseph F. Hoffman, U. S. Navy, against his wife, Francis G. Hoffman and is being heard before John J. Bower Esq. master.

The libellant is represented by James C. Furst Esq., and Mrs. Hoffman's attorneys are W. Gwynn Gardner, a rather noted Washington lawyer, and John G. Love Esq., of this place.

The case is of interest to Centre countyans because of the fact that the libellant is a son of Joseph F. Hoffman, who was associated with William Shelton in the Millheim knitting mills. The respondent, his wife, is a Washington woman.

Both sides offered the testimony of detectives and others from Washington who had knowledge of the case. The metropolitan papers have been making more or less of a sensation out of it.

Mr. Hoffman, father of the libellant in the above case, was stricken with paralysis just after he had finished eating dinner in Martin's restaurant on Allegheny St. yesterday. His condition is said to be serious.

NEW YORK SYNDICATE BUYS WALTER COHEN LOT.

Also Leases Vacant Lot from Morris From, at State College.

Walter C. Cohen this week sold his vacant lot between the Richelieu theatre and the former W. S. Katz property to a New York syndicate, and now everybody is wondering what the purchasers are going to do with it. Although the price paid was not given out for publication it is understood to have been a very good sale on the part of Mr. Cohen. The deal was made through A. L. Bradley, of Flushing, Long Island, and while he admitted that he represented a syndicate he refused to disclose the nature of the business they are engaged in, or expect to develop, but he did volunteer the information that the people he represents expect to spend a quarter of a million dollars in the purchase of properties in Pennsylvania alone, and intend to carry their operations into other States.

In support of the above statement is the fact that late Wednesday afternoon Mr. Bradley executed a lease with Morris From, of State College, for a fifteen foot vacant lot alongside his clothing store at a monthly rental of $100. The lease was executed after attempts to purchase a property in State College failed of success.

Mr. Cohen stated positively to a reporter of the Watchman that he has not the least idea as to what the syndicate intends doing with the lot purchased from him. And the fact that they can utilize a lot with such a narrow frontage as the one leased at State College makes their intentions more mystifying.

New Receivers Ready to Take Charge of Centre County Bank Affairs.

Judge Johnson of the Federal District court having issued his decree discharging Ivan Walker Esq. from any further responsibility as temporary receiver for the Centre County Banking Co., all of the papers, securities, etc., in his possession are now to be turned over to the new custodians.

Messrs. Ginter, Stealy and Dale met here on Tuesday expecting the transfer to be made then, after they had executed the proper receipts, but Mr. Walker was not ready to make the transfer and set yesterday as the time for them to return. And yesterday Mr. Walker asked for another postponement until today. Until this transfer is made of course the new receivers can do nothing.

The receivers have given no information as to what they intend doing further than to declare that that just as soon as the property and effects are in their possession they will get busy at once in an effort to make an early distribution.

There is no telling what complications might arise. A well founded rumor has been on the streets for several days to the effect that some creditors are moving, individually, to throw the whole proceedings back in to the federal bankruptcy courts. A petition was presented to Judge Johnson praying for such an adjudication, but because of a misunderstanding of the amount of the necessary filing fee it was returned. Of course the costs of a proceeding of this character would have to be borne by the individuals instituting it, unless the creditors assent to sharing in the burden. If the petition should be filed anew and granted there is no telling what will happen further than the certainty of more long drawn out and expensive litigation.

It is only rumor, but we have heard that there were at least five individual signers to the attempted new action.

Whiterock Quarries Dinkey Knocked from Track by Auto.

About eleven o'clock last Friday morning the dinkey engine and three cars loaded with stone were knocked from the track on the state highway crossing at Pleasant Gap by a Buick automobile driven by Clifford Warner, of Lemont. Warner suffered a number of slight bruises and cuts from the broken glass of the windshield while the front portion of his car was badly damaged. The dinkey engine was put out of service for the day through bent and broken pipes, etc.

The stone train was on its way west to the kilns from the quarries east of Pleasant Gap and the engineer averted that he sounded the customary crossing signal by blowing the whistle. It is quite possible that Warner, who was on his way to Centre Hall, failed to hear the whistle and the result was he ran head on into the dinkey just as it got on the crossing. The engine was knocked from the track and before it could be stopped three cars of stone also went off.

A Special Deputy Attorney General.

The recent appointment of former Judge Arthur C. Dale as attorney to the Sanitary Water Board of Pennsylvania seems to have carried with it a broader import than was generally supposed at the time of announcement. It appears that Judge Dale has been made a Special Deputy Attorney General of the State, with commission "to serve notices, file information and institute and carry suits into any of the courts of Pennsylvania and the United States."

Judge Dale received this appointment at the hands of Atty. Gen. Geo. Woodruff and it has been approved by the Governor.

Mr. and Mrs. Swartz had been in Bellefonte with Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Royer but left on Tuesday morning for Pleasant Gap, expecting to return from there to Madisonburg to remain until leaving for their home in Illinois about the middle of February.

Among our callers on Friday was B. F. Heman, of State College, whom we hadn't seen for a long time. Mr. Heman is not so busy since he has retired, but now that he comes to town in an automobile it isn't like it used to be when the trip was made with a horse and buggy or on the train. Then he had to kill time while the horse was being fed or wait until the train got ready to start back and it usually meant a day. Now the trip is made in an hour or two and there is very little calling around the town. He and his son George were here so that the latter could make some arrangements for the sale he is going to have in the spring. He expects to quit farming and go into the grain business with his father-in-law at Oak Hall, where he has bought Dr. Kidder's interest in the well known firm of Raymond and Kidder.

He says he saw every inch of ground within 150 miles of Miami and while he was not bubbling with enthusiasm we got the impression that he liked it and would not fight very hard against going back to stay. He was part of the State now, for he bought a furnished house in Miami and before he started home could have resold at a right nice profit.

A. L. and S. Co. Dinner Dance a Pleasing Social Function.

The fourth annual dinner dance of the American Lime and Stone Co., officers and their wives, which was given at the Nittany Country Club, last Saturday night, proved a most charming social function for those directly responsible for the management of Bellefonte's greatest industrial enterprise.

There were eighty covers laid. Mr. Chas. Warner, president of the Company, presided at the dinner, which was served at seven o'clock, and proved an inimitable toast-master by making it just as jolly an affair as it could be. It was really a dinner dance for between courses Channing Smith's orchestra lured the diners across the hall into the club parlors so that there was something doing always and only when Mr. Warner began his felicitous talk to his lieutenants was there any respect shown for stilted formality.

In addition to the men and women of the local offices of the company, many of the general salesmen were present and the home office at Wilmington, Del. was represented by president Charles Warner, vice president A. D. Warner Jr., secretary Chas. C. Bye and Fred A. DuBall.

Noah H. Swayne II on the Air.

Radio fans in this section will be interested in the announcement that Noah H. Swayne II, has been invited to participate in the radio broadcasting concert from station W-O-O, Wanamaker's store in Philadelphia, on the night of February 5. Mr. Swayne will be on the air three times that evening, about 8:15, 8:45 and 9 p. m.

He is well remembered in musical circles here, for when a resident of Bellefonte and president of the Nittany Iron Co., a concert or other musical program was thought not complete without several Swayne numbers. Since going to Philadelphia, where he is head of the Ark Coal Co., operating both mines and retail yards, he has taken a prominent place in the activities of musical circles there.

If Mr. Swayne were to sing "Boola" and tell his "Columbus" and that "Riding to the Hounds" story he could make an entire evening's program that the air wouldn't forget—ever.

Mrs. Dahl suffered from shock and lacerations about the face and head while the children were also painfully cut. The car was only slightly damaged.

A chicken and waffle supper for the public has been planned by the Brotherhood of St. John's Lutheran church. The supper will be served in the social rooms of the church on next Thursday night, February 4th.
