

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

Charles R. Diehl was last week appointed postmaster at Cato, succeeding Charles E. Diehl, resigned.

Judging from the weather we have had since February 2nd that tar-nation creature, the groundhog, must have seen his shadow.

In Centre county 547 farms have running water, 211 farm houses have bath rooms and 168 of them have general heating systems.

How many of the present residents remember that snow fell in Philipsburg on Tuesday, June 24, 1902. It sleeted here that day.

William Musser, of Lamb St., has rallied so rapidly from a recent operation in the hospital that he was able to return to his home this week.

The capitalization of the Peoples' National bank at State College has been increased to $120,000. The new issue of stock was over-subscribed within several days of its offering.

Anyone having second hand clothes of any kind, for girls or boys between the ages of two and fourteen, are asked to send them to Mrs. W. J. Emerick or telephone her, and she will send for them.

Miss Katharine Johnston has taken the position in Dr. David Dale's office made vacant by the resignation of Miss Dorothy Coxey, who is going to enter a business college in York for a course in commerce.

John McCoy is now getting things in readiness to install the machinery for his new hydro-electric plant on his property near Milesburg. He has secured the most modern machinery obtainable and the plant, when completed, will be as up-to-date as it is possible to make it.

Mrs. Mary K. Bowers has been transferred from the Ridgeway office of the Keystone Power corporation to the Bellefonte office to take the place of Harold Edmiston, who will be sent to Ridgeway. Mrs. Bowers arrived in Bellefonte on Sunday and Mr. Edmiston will probably leave for Ridgeway early in the week.

Friends of Mrs. S. S. Aplin will regret to learn of the death of her mother, Mrs. W. H. Bone, which occurred at Ottawa, Canada, on Saturday, January 2. Mrs. Bone visited her daughter while the Aplins were residents of this place, two years ago. Rev. Aplin and his family are now living at Barnesboro.

Word was received in Bellefonte this week, of the marriage of Miss Bertha Laurie Eldridge, third child of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Eldridge, of Cape May, and Donald Lear, of West Chester, which took place in Philadelphia February second. Mr. Lear is a promising young nurseryman and at present is in charge of a big nursery farm near West Chester, where Mr. and Mrs. Lear will make their home.

According to reports gathered by the State Game Commission just 291 foxes were trapped in Centre county during the months of December and January. Of this number 169 were gray foxes and 122 red. Red fox pelts are worth on an average $10 and gray ones $4. The bounty on foxes is $2, hence the entire revenue accruing to Centre county trappers from foxes alone for the two months was almost $2,500.

Our trout editor is already counting the days until the opening of the trout fishing season, and while many other disciples of Izaak Walton are likely doing the same it need not interfere with their regular attendance at the scenic. The pictures being shown there are of such a high standard that they cannot help but appeal to trout fishermen as well as men and women in every walk of life. In order to see all the good ones you should be a regular patron as the best pictures are shown six nights a week.

The head of the department of music at the University of Pennsylvania, Morrison C. Boyd, A. M., Mus. Bac. (Oxford), will give a piano recital in the Presbyterian chapel the afternoon of Saturday, February 20th. The program will include compositions of both the modern period and the classic, and its numbers will give a variety in both heavier and lighter themes. Among other selections Mr. Boyd will play the final chorus from the Christmas oratorio by Bach, Bala-lade in G. minor by Brahms, Humoreske by Chaiikovsky. On this occasion the audience will also be favored by Mrs. Schad as solo-violinist and Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Clark in duets.

Last Wednesday evening Mr. S. M. Shallcross drove home from the office of the American Lime and Stone company and parked his car in the alley between the residences of W. C. Chambers and Judge Ellis L. Orvis. Along about nine o'clock people passing along Curtin street saw a man working about the car but as it was snowing terrifically at the time he paid little attention to him. It later developed that the man was a stranger who drove there in a car, backed his own machine up alongside of Mr. Shallcross', siphoned all the gas from the latter's car into his own, confiscated a spare tire and the robes from the Shallcross car, then drove off as unconcernedly as could be.

JUDGE KELLER IS LENIENT WITH LAW TRANSGRESSORS.

Four Out of Seven Draw Suspended Sentences on Monday.

Four young men got off with suspended sentences, on Monday, at the hands of Judge Harry Keller, after they had pleaded guilty to offences which might have resulted in their being sent to the penitentiary. All of them were first offenders and the court made it plain that he was willing to give them one chance but if they failed to tread the straight and narrow path of good citizenship he would have them brought in and impose sentence commensurate with the offense they had committed.

The first man to appear before the court was Charles Baney, of Bellefonte, who pleaded guilty to passing two forged checks on State College merchants on January 7th, one for $9.50 and one for $22.00. District attorney John G. Love stated to the court that Mr. Baney had been before the court on previous occasions, in March, 1922, for stealing money from R. Russell Blair and about a year later when he was mixed up with the theft of some liquor. J. Kennedy Johnston represented Baney and he told the court that the man had promised to go straight in the future and he believed he meant it. The court, however, evidently had some doubts about Baney's promises as he sentenced him to pay a fine of one dollar, costs and spent six months in the county jail.

The next man up was John Hazel, thirty-eight years old, charged with robbing a Philipsburg store in May, 1925, carrying off goods to an approximate value of twenty-five dollars. Hazel told the court that he was accompanied by another man when the robbery was committed and that they were both intoxicated. In fact he admitted that he was so drunk he did not know what he was doing. He also told the court that if he would leave him go this time he would never go wrong again. Judge Keller, however, sentenced him to pay the costs, one dollar fine and spend one year in the county jail.

Maynard and Howard Hazel, brothers of the above Hazel, plead guilty to receiving stolen goods, the same being some of those stolen by John when he robbed the Philipsburg store, but they maintained that they were entirely ignorant of the fact that the goods had been stolen. Maynard is 22 years old and married and Howard 29 and single. Sentence was suspended and the young men given three months in which to pay the costs in the case.

Albert Natterer, of Philipsburg, plead guilty to the charge of stealing a small sum of money from his father, Carl Natterer. The young man stated that he stole the money because his father chased him away from home. He was sent to the Huntingdon reformatory.

Millard Nearhood, 23 years old, of Philipsburg, plead guilty to writing six forged checks for $19 each, four of which were passed on Philipsburg merchants. Nearhood was represented by W. G. Runkle, who told the court that his client wrote the checks at the solicitation of a fellow workman, George Langer, and it was Langer who passed the forged paper then made good his escape. The court was also informed that Nearhood's father and father-in-law had placed in the hands of "Squire Hancock, of Philipsburg, a sufficient sum of money to reimburse the merchants for their loss in cashing the forged checks and also pay the costs in the case. The court suspended sentence with the understanding that the costs be paid promptly.

The last man up was Norman Taylor, 19 years old, of State College, charged with the theft of 144 pints of liquor from the Ray Gilliland drug store. The prosecutor was chief of police Yougel, of State College. The district attorney explained to the court that all of the liquor with the exception of three or four pints had been returned, and Mr. Gilliland was not anxious to push the case. As it was the boy's first offense sentence was suspended upon the payment of costs.

Ferguson Township Boy Injured in Auto Accident.

Frank Dean, ten year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Dean, who occupy the J. W. Kepler farm in the Glades, was painfully injured in an automobile accident last Friday evening. He was engaged in coasting down a path shoveled through the snow from the house to the state highway, and when lying down on his sled was unable to see up or down the road, and likewise could not be seen by any person driving along the road. The result was that he coasted out onto the roadway right in front of an automobile being driven by a resident of Punxsutawney. It was impossible for the driver to stop and he almost overturned his car in his efforts to avoid hitting the boy but the distance was too short.

While the car did not run over the lad he was struck and knocked to one side, sustaining a gash on his head and a broken collar bone. He was brought to the Centre County hospital where a thorough examination disclosed the fact that his injuries, while painful, were not of a critical nature, and he is now on the road to recovery. The driver of the car was exonerated of all blame for the accident.

Gerald Little, who makes his home with Mrs. David Miller, on Willowbank St., is recovering rapidly from his recent operation for appendicitis. His condition was quite serious for a few days.

Bush Addition School Closed by Epidemic of Scarlet Rash.

An epidemic of scarlet rash has broken out in the Bush Addition neighborhood and while it has not become general the two schools out there were closed Tuesday morning as a precautionary measure.

The Fred Haupt, Frank Gardner, William Corman and Smith families are all under quarantine and it is hoped that careful observance of the regulations will confine the epidemic to that section and prevent its spreading through the entire community.

What it Costs to Electrocute a Man.

The State Welfare Department, at Harrisburg, has figured up the average expense of electrocuting condemned murderers at Rockview as follows: Attendants and electricians, $104.25; legal papers and postage, $2.10; casket and burial, $14.30; meals, $2.10; uniform, $3.50; electricity, $3.50; telephone tolls, $4.60; incidentals, 98 cents, a total of $135.33. Since the death house at Rockview has been in service just 153 electrocutions have taken place, and assuming the above figures to be correct they have cost the State exactly $20,705.49. At that it is cheaper than shuffling off this mortal coil in the ordinary way.

Prof. J. Orvis Keller Will Broaden Scope of His Department.

Prof. J. Orvis Keller, who last week took up his new duties as head of the engineering extension department at the Pennsylvania State College, is formulating plans to further increase the employee training service to the industries of the State. While the general policies of the department will not be changed it is the hope of Prof. Keller and his assistants to broaden the scope of the work now being accomplished for the benefit of thousands of industrial employees through night classes, home study and correspondence instruction.

Prof. Keller, who is the eldest son of Judge and Mrs. Harry Keller, of Bellefonte, was formerly head of the industrial engineering department at Penn State, being succeeded there by Prof. C. W. Beebe.

Fishing Creek Cottages Robbed.

Four or more of the cottages lining the banks of Fishing creek, in Clinton county, were broken into and robbed some time during the past few weeks. And all those robbed are owned by Lock Haven people. Silverware, dishes, blankets, lamps, etc., to a value of several hundred dollars, were carried off. Several years ago a number of the cottages were robbed but at the time, the looters did not show discrimination in regard to ownership, as several Bellefonte residents were among the losers. Two men were later arrested and convicted of the robbery in the Clinton county courts. So far the owners of the cottages just recently looted have no trace of the guilty parties but a reward of one hundred dollars has been offered for their apprehension.

Track Walker Injured in Peculiar Manner.

Arthur Bathurst, track walker on the Bald Eagle Valley railroad between Mt. Eagle and Milesburg, was injured in a peculiar manner one day last week. He lives at Mt. Eagle and was on his way to Milesburg when he met a freight train. He promptly stepped over onto the other track, which ordinarily would have placed him out of danger, but a tie rod had come loose on one of the cars and stuck out just far enough to hit Mr. Bathurst a glancing blow on the head. He was dazed for a few minutes but instead of seeking help at the nearest house continued his walk to Milesburg. He was almost exhausted when he reached the station at the latter place and the agent promptly summoned a physician who dressed the injury on Bathurst's head. He was sent home on the next train.

Boy's Life Saved by Dog.

LeRoy Bechdel, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bechdel, who occupy a farm between Howard and Blanchard, was probably saved from being trampled to death by an infuriated bull, one day last week, by the family dog. The boy was engaged in driving the cattle into the barnyard when the bull charged him and tossed him some fifteen feet or more against the fence. Mr. Bechdel and several neighbors were in the barn baling hay but failed to hear the boy's cries for help because of the noise made by the machinery. But the dog heard him and was quick to respond, holding the bull at bay until the lad crawled out of danger. The boy sustained lacerations of the head, neck and back, and various body bruises, but no really serious injuries. The bull which had never before shown a disposition to be cross, was turned into beef the day following the attack.

MOONSHINE RAID

ON HALFMOON HILL. Yields a Gallon Jug, Four Pints but No Still.

A moonshine raid on Halfmoon Hill, about midnight Wednesday night, yielded a gallon jug and four pints of liquor and three additional boarders for sheriff Taylor in the persons of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Parks and Mrs. Parks' mother, Mrs. Ann Keeler. The Keeler home had been under suspicion for months. In fact people who live in that locality aver that it was not only wide open but that some of the inmates peddled the booze around with daring impunity. The house is located in Spring township and, according to report, the moonshine would be carried to the Bellefonte borough line and passed across to the regular patrons.

Acting on complaints preferred on various occasions chief of police Harry Dukeman on Wednesday secured a search warrant and accompanied by sheriff Taylor and the latter's deputy, Leo Orr, went to the Keeler home about twelve o'clock on Wednesday night and demanding admittance made a search of the premises. Their trip was fruitful in finding a gallon and a half of moonshine but no still. Mrs. Keeler, Bert Parks and his wife were placed under arrest and conveyed to the county jail.

AUTO ACCESSORIES THIEF ARRESTED YESTERDAY.

Just before noon yesterday chief of police Dukeman arrested Charles Lucas, and thus has cleared up some, if not all, of the petty thieving of automobile tires, etc., that has been going on in Bellefonte for some time past. The particular thefts for which Lucas was arrested were the stealing of tires from Newton Hockman, of Bellefonte, Charles Bohn, of Zion, and the robbing of the car of S. M. Shallcross, on Wednesday night of last week of gas, a spare tire, chains and robes. Lucas confessed to policeman Dukeman of being guilty as above charged and is now in the county jail to await the action of the court. Lucas, according to reports, has been implicated in robberies in Bellefonte on one or more previous occasions which led to suspicion being directed to him at this time.

Part of Hospital Nearing Completion.

The second and third floor of the new wing of the Centre county hospital are now nearly finished as to give the visitor an idea of how fine the addition will be when finally completed. The plastering is all done, most of the wood work is finished, the plumbing and fixtures are set and little more is to be done than putting down the composition flooring, which is now in progress.

Certainly it looks nice and when the furniture, which is to be of a standard design in all rooms, is in place we can imagine nothing more to be desired in the way of well lighted, well ventilated and comfortably furnished hospital accommodation. The woodwork is of cypress, which will be finished in mahogany.

When the wing is completed for occupation it can be used as a separate unit and will provide rooms for the normal number of patients so that the work of remodeling the old portion can be carried on with little inconvenience either to the patients or the operating force.

Money is essential. The board has done so well under the handicap of limited funds that those who are delinquent in their pledges should remit at once and help make it easier to complete the work yet to be done.

A meeting of the hospital board was held on Tuesday evening and it was officially reported that the elevator is now in use, the doors all hung, the plastering completed and the equipment for the rooms purchased. Work on laying the floors was started on Wednesday, and the board is out of money. Inquiry developed the fact that just about $60,000 of the $92,000 pledged in the Serve Centre Sick drive has been paid in and as all payments are now several months overdue the board will appreciate it if those in arrears will please pay up as soon as possible. The money is necessary if the hospital is to be completed.

Mrs. John A. Woodcock is now at her girlhood home in Chambersburg, called there from Scranton, by the critical illness of her sister, Miss Mary Forbes, who is suffering from an attack of angina pectoris. From Chambersburg, Mrs. Woodcock will return to Bellefonte.

Mrs. Nathan Kofman returned home Monday night, following a weeks visit with relatives in Harrisburg. Max, Mr. and Mrs. Kofman's second son, who has been employed in New York city for some time, returned to Bellefonte two weeks ago, expecting to be at home for the present.

Mrs. Louis Carpeneto went over to Clearfield Wednesday, to spend several days with her daughter, Miss Louise, who is a surgical patient in the Clearfield hospital, under the care of Dr. Waterworth. Miss Helen Schaeffer and Miss Rose Carpeneto will spend the day with Miss Carpeneto in Clearfield tomorrow.

The First National bank of Bellefonte will be represented at the annual meeting of Group B, Pennsylvania Bankers' Association, being held in Altoona today, by cashier James K. Barnhart, Albert W. Gummo and Walter W. Yearick. All the officials and employees of the Bellefonte Trust company will be in attendance, while every bank in Centre county will have one or more representatives at the meeting.

Out of town people here for the funeral of Lloyd Allen Stover, last Thursday, were Harry Stover and wife, of Altoona; Guy Stover and wife, of Clearfield, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brooks, of Lake Worth, Fla.; Blair Mattern, of Pitscain; Charles Hartcock and family, and Stewart Snyder and family, of Williamsport; Misses Ruth Bekert and Ruth Shellenberger, of Tyrone; Miss Maude Poorman, of Roulette, and Mrs. John Garner, of Centre Hall.

G. H. Pike dropped in for a little call on Monday and we were desperately hard up for news. Like so many of our visitors he was sure he didn't know anything worth-while that would help us out and then we started talking about the ground hog and the weather. One thing led to another and before he left we got nearly half a column of good live stuff from him. Its funny how diffident people are about telling news gatherers what they know in the way of community happenings. And what wonderful papers we'd all publish if everyone would realize that an item that seems trifling to him or her is often the making of a very good news item.

Miss Emily Crider is entertaining Miss Thelma Cortis, of Clearfield, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burns Crider on Linn street.

Solomon Poorman has sold his house in Bush Addition and is now staying with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson. Mr. Poorman fell on the ice three weeks ago and is carrying a badly swollen wrist and hand as a result of the accident. As soon as he has fully recovered he expects to go out to Ambridge for a visit with his son.

A party of Ferguson township people who were in town, Wednesday, doing some shopping was made up of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Stover, Mrs. Alice S. Miller and her son John W. Miller. They motored down and reported having found the highway in very fair condition for traveling, though they couldn't say so much for the by roads. Mr. Miller is not farming any more. He is in the threshing and baling business and because of that is very much interested in the by roads for he has a lot of baling to do and it is utterly impossible to transport his machinery to the barns of many of his customers.

This is the day for the big gathering of Knight Templars in Bellefonte. They will come from Lewis-ton, Huntingdon and Philipsburg and be guests of Constans Commandery in the annual winter meet. Grand Commander Thomas Shipley, of York, with members of his staff, will come here from Pittsburgh where they have been engaged in delivering degree work during the fore part of the week. The meeting today will convene in Masonic hall at three o'clock this afternoon and will be continued to-night until the degree work is completed. A banquet will be a feature of the gathering.

Fruit specialists are now sending forth the glad tidings that the peach crop has not been hurt in the least, notwithstanding the fact that we have had considerable freezing weather during the winter. But this is nothing to gloat over. There is still plenty of time for the fruit killer to get in his work. The writer has a delicious plum tree in his garden and every year it apparently escapes the rigors of winter and comes out strong in blossoms, when along comes old Jack Frost in the month of May and blooeey goes the plums.

Mrs. J. A. Dunkle, who is spending the winter at the Bellefonte Academy and is now advertising for a limited number of musical pupils, is unusually well equipped for this work. A musician by inheritance, the talent was developed under the best of instructors, her childhood and much of her late life having developed to its study. Any child placed under her care, will at 20 times receive the best of instruction.

In these days when there seems to be no limit to the rents asked by the average landlord it is refreshing to hear that there is one householder in Bellefonte, at least, who has not raised his rents in ten years. His tenants are still paying the same monthly rental paid for the properties at the beginning of the world war.

Word has been received from Philadelphia that Mrs. Louis Schad is to be soloist Saturday, tomorrow night, at a banquet at the Bellevue-Stratford and will be broadcasted from Strawbridge and Clothier, Station W. F. I. The banquet will be at 7.30 and Mrs. Schad will play four numbers between speeches.

Mrs. Russel Blair, after having had the matter under consideration for some time, has decided to give another musical comedy. No further information has been vouchsafed but we all know an evening of great pleasure may be anticipated when Mrs. Blair decides to be a producer.

W. H. Garman is authority for the statement that robins have made their appearance at Runville, where they were thrilling their spring lay during Sunday's sunshine.

Rumor has it that the "Big Spring" cafe is to move into the rooms in the Kurtz building, on High street, soon to be vacated by Mrs. Craig.

The Bellefonte Academy basket ball team will play California Normal in the Y-gym this evening at 8.45. A thrilling game is expected.

Notice to Delinquent Tax-Payers.

Notice is hereby given to all delinquent tax-payers of Bellefonte who have not responded with all taxes in the last four years, both men and women, that they had better make arrangements to pay same. After March 15, 1926, legal proceedings will be taken to clean up all unpaid taxes. No excuses will be accepted. HERBERT AUMAN, Collector. 71-2t

Baked Ham Supper.

The Susanna Wesley society of the Milesburg Methodist church will have a baked ham supper in the fireman's hall, in that place, Friday evening, February 19th. Price, 35 and 50 cents. Ice cream and candy will also be on sale. Everybody welcome.

See Thomas Meighan as a traffic cop in "Irish Luck," at the Scenic next Monday and Tuesday. Usual admission, 10 and 25 cents. 7-1t
