—The Beezer meat market on the Diamond has not been in its usual tidy condition this week for the reason that a very sanitary and modern new refrigerator is being installed.

—On page six of today's Watchman will be found another big advertisement of the Keystone Power corporation giving further details of the change in rates to go into effect April 1st.

—Charles Miller, the taxi man, bought the Crissman cigar store in the Bush house block, at receiver's sale on Tuesday, for $390; all except the ice box which was purchased by Guy Bonfatto.

—Dr. W. L. Weston was stricken with paralysis two weeks ago and taken from his home on west Linn street, to the Centre county hospital, where his condition has but slightly improved.

—Mrs. McClure Gamble was the guest of honor at a bridge dinner given by Mrs. Earl Kline, at the Brockerhoff house, last night. Mrs. Gamble will leave Bellefonte the latter part of the month, to make her home in Cleveland.

—The Womens auxiliary of the Centre county hospital, will have a food sale on Saturday, April 10th, at the Mott drug store. Every thing good to eat will be on sale and special orders will be placed in the hands of expert cooks.

—The Bell Telephone company is this week celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of its organization, and in the Bellefonte exchange had a visitor's day on Wednesday, when the office and exchange were thrown open to the public generally.

—George Stover, of Philipsburg, was arrested last Saturday on the charge of breaking into and robbing the railroad restaurant's pool room. In default of $1000 bail he was brought to the Centre county jail to await trial at the next regular term of court.

—The Bellefonte Academy basketball quintette will play its final home game with the Pitt Freshman five, in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium this (Friday) evening, at 8.45 o'clock. This should be an exciting game and all lovers of the sport should be on hand early.

—Stockholders of the Sutton-Abramsen Engineering Co., held their annual meeting in the court house, in this place, last Monday evening. We understand that the company had a very successful year in 1925 and is starting 1926 with very encouraging business on its books.

—The first car load of hard coal to reach Bellefonte since the strike was settled was received by the Bellefonte Fuel and Supply company last week. It was a car of chestnut and is being retailed at $16.00 per ton. It won't be long now until the anthracite supply will become normal, and let us hope lower in price.

—Probably half of the people in Bellefonte are movie fans and when they want to see good pictures they go to the Scenic. The big programs shown there every evening during the week are composed of the very best films produced by the leading studios at Hollywood and elsewhere. They are all new and up-to-date and cannot be seen anywhere else in Bellefonte. Every evening's program is worth seeing and if you are not a regular you miss a lot of good ones.

—Announcement was made last Friday of the sale of the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin railroad, which operates high-speed electric railroads through the Chicago section, to Samuel Insull, an operator of public utilities in Chicago and vicinity. Local interest attaches to this sale because of the fact that the vice-president and general manager of the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin railroad is J. Harvey McClure, son of James I. McClure, of Bellefonte. Mr. McClure, will retire from the above corporation and become the operating head of the Cincinnati-Dayton line, which has been purchased by Philadelphia interests.

THREE SITES SELECTED FOR SPRING TWP. SCHOOL.

But No Decision Reached on Which One to Build.

The Spring township school board has finally selected three apparently suitable sites for the new school building at Pleasant Gap, though so far they have not decided which one will finally be approved as the place on which to build.

One is the Thomas Jodon site, located at the southern end of Pleasant Gap, but coupled with its selection are the following provisions: That the high power electric line be removed; and that a road be opened to the Horn-town side of the town without cost to the school district. This lot will have to be filled in about seven feet to meet the road grade.

Site No. 2, is the present location along the state highway. This site, however, has been disapproved by G. A. Stearns, of the State Department of Public Instruction, because it is along the main highway where the lives of school children would be endangered by the heavy traffic; also because it is in close proximity to a stone quarry, mill and lime kilns, and because the school bus would of necessity have to cross a narrow gauge railroad track.

Site No. 3, is the Griffith place at the north end of town, objected to by some as it is considered too far for the children living in the southern end of town to walk and go home for lunch. The fact was evidently not considered that if the southern site is selected a great many more children will have just as far to walk. This site is considered the ideal location by many, as it is in the centre of the school population which will be affected by the centralized project.

The board has decided upon a twelve room, one-story brick structure, with a combined auditorium and gymnasium which can be inter-changed into a class room.

The board has selected as architects for the new building Messrs. Hersh & Sholar, of Altoona, who will draw a commission of five per cent. on the total cost of the building, which is estimated at $60,000. The building is to be ready for occupancy by September 1st, 1926. The architects have already started work on the plans and actual work on the building will be under way in the near future.

Jury Awards Verdict of $4,250 in Millheim Turnpike Case.

The jury in the case of the Millheim Turnpike Co., vs. Centre county, returned a verdict in the Centre county court, last Friday, of $4,250, which was more than double the sum awarded the company by the jury in condemnation proceedings. But the rendering of the above verdict does not mean the termination of the case by any means. In the above case, for instance, there is a mortgage against the Millheim turnpike of $5,500, which is just $1,250 more than the verdict awarded by the jury. And now the question comes up, what will be the position of the mortgagee in regard to the mortgage? If the county commissioners should decide to submit to the verdict of the jury and signify their willingness to pay the above verdict; and should the mortgagee be paid the full amount of the verdict, what rights would he have to collect the balance of his mortgage?

Of course, there has been no action taken along this line up to this time, and there is no predicting what might be done, but it is a technical legal complication that is puzzling the heads of some of the attorneys at the Centre county bar.

In connection with the verdict of $6,000 rendered in favor of the Brush Valley, Nittany and Bald Eagle Turnpike company, it is understood that an application will be made by the county for a new trial, and the same thing may be done in the case of the Millheim turnpike.

Car and Truck go off Snow Shoe Mountain Road

Milford Lucas, a brakeman on the Snow Shoe railroad, lives at Mt. Eagle and motors out to Snow Shoe and back in his Ford car. On his way out, early Monday morning, his car skidded on the ice at the big fill above Runville and went down over the side of the mountain several hundred feet. Fortunately Mr. Lucas escaped without serious injury but his car was badly wrecked.

Not long after the Lucas accident Lloyd Smith, of Milesburg, came down the mountain with a truck load of furniture he was bringing to Bellefonte from Snow Shoe for a Mr. Wolford, when his truck also skidded off the road and went down over the side of the mountain, just a short distance above where the Lucas accident occurred. Mr. Smith also escaped injury but his truck was wrecked and the furniture badly battered up.

On Tuesday evening the cars of John F. Garthoff, of Bellefonte, and postmaster George Glenn, of State College, sideswiped on the state highway just south of the big cinder pile beyond the Titan Metal company plant. Both cars had to be towed into town for repairs but none of the occupants in either were hurt.

The Brockerhoff "Annex" in Shape to Accommodate Transient Guests.

The old Bush homestead, on south Spring street, Bellefonte, purchased last fall by Mrs. M. A. Landsy and being converted into an apartment house, is fast nearing completion, so far as the interior is concerned. In fact, by the latter part of this week Mr. Landsy expects to have ten rooms completed and furnished in which to take care of guests to whom he is unable to give accommodations in the Brockerhoff house. These rooms are located on the second and third floors and are complete in every detail. The rooms are connecting and each two rooms have a bath, but they are so arranged that if used singly each room will have hot and cold water. There will be a telephone in each room, while no details in the furnishing of the room necessary for the comfort and convenience of the guests has been overlooked.

The entire first floor of the building has been converted into three apartments. The one to the left of the main entrance has been specially arranged for Mr. and Mrs. Landsy's own use, but until they decide to occupy it will probably be given out to parties who desire a suite for a month or six weeks at a time. It consists of a spacious living room, a bed room, bath and kitchenette.

On the right side of the main entrance is located the largest apartment. It consists of a living room, kitchenette, two bed rooms and bath room.

In the rear is another apartment which has already been rented by John G. Love. It consists of a living room, dining room and kitchenette on the first floor, two bed rooms, a bath room and sun parlor on the second floor, and the use of a large porch opening out from the sun parlor.

Each apartment will have its own outside porch and private entrance and so arranged that it can be closed off entirely from the main entrance and hall way leading to the rooms on the second and third floors. Every sleeping room in the house is equipped with a closet, and ample closet space has also been made in the apartments.

While the rooms on the second and third floors will be ready for occupancy this week the apartments will not be ready before the first of April, but Mr. Landsy hopes to have the interior completed by that date. Of course there will be a lot of exterior work yet to do, as the entire outside of the building will be painted and the premises cleaned up and put in good condition.

Mr. Landsy for the present will call his building "The Annex," and as such it will be known in the future.

Milton Fair Gives Up the Ghost.

With the statement that the Milton Fair, an event looked forward to in Central Pennsylvania for nearly 100 years, is dead, came the announcement Saturday that the property will be sold. Faced with the loss of their grandstand last fall after several discouraging years, the stockholders met and decided to quit. The buildings and other property will be offered at public sale Saturday afternoon, March 13.

Originally organized nearly 100 years ago, fairs were held intermittently until 1856, when regular exhibitions were given for a long time by the Northumberland County Agricultural Society, of which former Governor James Pollock was one of the founders. That was succeeded in 1885 by the Milton Driving Park and Fair Association, which passed out in 1903. Another organization carried on the struggle until 1909. The present organization had its first fair in 1910.

Electric Service Rate on Rural Line Extensions.

The local office of the Keystone Power corporation has just been advised the company has filed a rate for rural consumers as outlined in the Public Service Commission's general order on "Rural Line Extensions."

This rate of the corporation is applicable to those consumers requesting service under the commission's special rural line extension policy, as contained in their general order No. 27. The rate becomes effective April 1, 1926, as does the order of the Commission.

Residents in rural communities can obtain full information in regard to the above by inquiring at the Bellefonte office of the Keystone Power.

Philadelphia Promoter Catches Several Bellefonte Investors.

Harrison M. Van Duyke, who is head of the Philadelphia Hotel Corporation, an organization that was to build a four million dollar hotel at the corner of Broad and Locust Sts., in Philadelphia, is being sought by postal authorities for having used the mails to defraud hundreds of people in New York and the western part of Pennsylvania.

The scheme was based on a plan to buy the site designated and erect thereon, "Philadelphia's largest and most sumptuous hotel, which the Van Duyke stories pictured would pay out in a short time because of the rush of Sesqui-centennial visitors to that city. Western Pennsylvania was primed for riches in hotel stock, for hadn't a lot of her people taken fliers in stock of the Hotel Pennsylvania, in New York, which turned out to be a veritable gold mine. In fact some local buyers, who hadn't any idea of what they were buying and traded their holdings for automobiles and other things wakened up to discover that when the "Hotel Pennsylvania" got going its stock became worth three or four times as much as the local holders had traded it in for.

This has been common knowledge around Bellefonte for some time and it, as we have said, abetted the investing appetite for hotel investments. The Broad and Locust hotel might have been a great investment proposition, but it appears that Mr. Van Duyke used the $175,000.00 he got from investors for other purposes than buying the lot on which the hotel was to stand and he lost his option on the lot. Now there's no place to build the hotel and the investors and the Government wants to talk it over with Mr. Van Duyke and he can't be found.

In the published list of subscribers to the stock appears the names of W. J. Emerick and Mrs. Maria Brewster Thomas, of Bellefonte.

Opening Day at the New Nittany Shoe Store.

The 17th of March will have an added significance to the people of this vicinity this year for it will mark the opening day of the new Nittany shoe store by Wilbur Baney in the Bush Arcade. We use the word new advisedly, for it is not a mere gesture that Mr. Baney is making. The old Yeager room has been entirely remodeled, decorated and furnished with the most modern of retail shoe furniture. And filled with a stock that is just as new as the furniture.

The line of footwear for all classes, men, women, and children, covers every possible demand that might be made, from the snappiest to the most conservative models.

The store is arranged in departments: All the footwear for women and girls on the one side with chairs and accessories specially for their use, while on the opposite is the men's and boy's lines with furniture and little comforts especially appreciated by the male patron. At the rear of the store and separated from the main sales room is the underpriced department where broken sizes and special offerings will be shown.

Altogether the room is so completely modernized that it will appear as an entirely new place in every respect, except for the presence of Mr. Baney whose long experience in the shoe business in Bellefonte has made his name and face almost synonymous for the trade.

A visit to the new store on the opening day will be quite worth your while for there will be a great surprise in store for you, both in its attractive appearance and in the quality and style of the stock with which it is being filled.

Joseph Wagner Home at Spring Mills Destroyed by Fire.

Shortly after supper, last Saturday evening, the Bellefonte fire department received a call for assistance from Spring Mills, where the home of Joseph Wagner, a rural mail carrier, was burning down and there was great danger of the fire spreading to adjacent properties. The Logan company, with pumper and squad wagon made the run to that town in forty minutes, but found the Wagner house already beyond all efforts to save. The house was located on the hill in the rear of the old Spring Mills hotel, and that building and a nearby barn were probably saved from destruction by the heroic work of a bucket brigade before the pumper reached there. The Logans, however, went into service and prevented any possible spread of the flames.

Mr. Wagner saved most of his household goods from the first floor of his home and some from the second. He carried some insurance but not enough to cover his loss. The fire originated from sparks on the roof.
