

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

Mrs. Miller, widow of the late John D. Miller, of Hubbersburg, is giving up her home in that place and will go to Altoona to reside with her niece.

The annual Easter flower sale will be held at the Y. M. C. A. on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, April 1st, 2nd and 3rd. Will have a large assortment of cut flowers and potted plants.

Robins, meadow larks and bluebirds, the crocuses and rhubarb sticking their noses through the ground, and the mild weather of this week are indications of the spring season which had its advent on Sunday.

Eggs have been selling in Bellefonte at 25 cents the dozen this week, with an abundant supply on hand. This is cheaper than they have been for several years, and the wise housewife will lay in her Easter supply now.

The Edwards-Dunn company, Inc., Greensburg, was low bidder on the project to grade and drain almost eight miles of roadway between Snow Shoe and Kylertown. The bid, which was opened at Harrisburg on Tuesday, was $116,747.

F. P. Blair & Son have a very attractive offer for prospective purchasers of watches on the sixth page of today's Watchman. Under their plan it is possible for most every man and woman to buy a watch on easy payments. Read their ad.

Robert Roan has sold his property on Reynolds avenue to Jay Bricker, of east Bishop street, and intends erecting a new home for himself on west Curtin street, in the rear of his present apartment house, the old Jacob V. Thomas property.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Centre County hospital will have a food sale at the Mott drug store on Saturday, April 10th. Everything good to eat will be on sale and special orders will be filled by expert cooks, if made before the date of the sale.

The night mail plane east on Tuesday morning was compelled to land near Philipsburg because of motor trouble. A mechanic was sent to Philipsburg from the Bellefonte field who was able to make repairs sufficient to enable the pilot to take the air and continue his trip east.

Last Friday was what the Pennsylvania Dutch term "apple day." According to their mythology if the sun shines bright that day it will mean a big crop of apples as well as other fruits. And the sun shone brightly most of the day, so here's hoping that the doctrine will prove true this year.

Hugh B. Wagner last Saturday sold his interest in the Sourbeck candy store, on High street, to R. R. Davidson, of Tyrone, who was formerly connected with the McClintock & Musser company. Mr. Wagner will go to Reading, where he has a good position in prospect with the William R. Linden corporation.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's club will be held in the High school building on Monday evening, March 29th. Following the usual business meeting Prof. Herbert Dahl, of the department of landscape architecture at State College, will deliver an illustrated lecture on landscape gardening. The public is cordially invited to attend.

John McCoy has expert mechanics here this week setting the machinery for his new hydro-electric plant near Milesburg. He figures that it will probably take a month to set all the machinery, adjust it and test it out, and by the first of May, at least, he will probably be in a position to furnish some of the current used by the Keystone Power corporation.

Milo D. Dorst, aged 30 years, had a narrow escape from the electric chair on Monday morning. He was brought to the death house from Pittsburgh, on Saturday, after the State board of pardons had refused to consider his application for commutation, but late on Sunday afternoon Governor Pinchot granted him a respite until April 26th. Another effort will be made to have his sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

For years the Watchman has devoted a certain amount of space every week to the churches of Bellefonte, space in which the ministers can make announcement of their services for the coming Sunday. There was a time when every one of them took advantage of this privilege, but it has been many a week since any of the Bellefonte ministers has sent in an announcement. Either they do not believe in advertising their wares or else they just don't take the time to prepare a notice.

The public sale season in Centre county will soon be over and it has been a fairly profitable season so far as livestock was concerned. Horses, cattle, sheep and hogs brought fair prices, but farm machinery did not bring its value. One thing noticeable this spring was the comparatively few owners of farms selling out for the purpose of retiring. This fact was emphasized in the real estate transfers, which showed many less farms changing hands this year than ordinarily.

CANDIDATES ARE HUSTLING FOR CO. SUPERINTENDENT.

Six of Them in the Field and All Quite Active.

Two weeks from next Tuesday the school directors of Centre county will meet in convention in the court house, Bellefonte, for the purpose of electing a county superintendent as successor to David O. Ethers, who has reached the age of retirement.

There are six candidates in the field, so that it is not going to be a walk-over for any one of them. The list includes assistant county superintendent H. C. Rothrock, of Port Matilda, who naturally thinks he is entitled to the job as coming in the line of promotion. Milford F. Fletcher, of Howard, a former assistant, is another active candidate. Then there is John B. Payne, of Bellefonte, now director of vocational schools in Centre county; L. E. Baird, principal of the Spring township High school at Pleasant Gap; F. G. Rogers, of Nittany, and S. S. Williams, of State College, all men of ample experience in teaching to justify them seeking the superintendent's office.

Every one of the candidates is working hard to get a corner on a sufficient number of school directors to put him across, but it is a good humored, gentlemanly campaign, and there is no knowing who the successful man will be. In fact it is hardly likely that any of the candidates will be able to garner a sufficient number of pledges to put him across on the first ballot.

B. H. S. in Debating League

The local High school is taking a new step forward this year in the way of developing ability in public speaking by joining with State College and Philipsburg High schools in the formation of a debating league. Each school has an affirmative and negative team, and by the schedule worked out there will be two debates at each place, giving each team an opportunity to debate at home and away.

The question for debate is: Resolved, That it is advisable for the United States to join the World Court. A large cup, donated by the State College Parent Teachers association, will be awarded the school with the highest standing. This cup has been on display for some time in Baum's window.

The Bellefonte pupils are making thorough preparation under the capable direction of Miss Alice Lewis, head of the English department. From the following list the final teams will be selected: Mary Smith, Charles Mensch, Betty Ray, Fred Fisher, Albert Grove, Charles Bullock, Michael Hazel, Gilbert Shope, Mary Robb, Elinor Magargle, Donald Mallory, and Harold Hoag.

The first debate here will be held Friday, March 26, in the High school auditorium, the Bellefonte affirmative meeting the State College negative. The debaters and school officials are very anxious that this new worthy enterprise will receive the wholehearted interest and support of the town. No admission will be charged.

The Nittany Shoe Store Opening.

The new Nittany shoe store, in the Arcade, was opened last week and, true to the advance notices, proved somewhat of a sensation.

It is a radical departure in arrangement from any retail shoe store this community has been accustomed to, but aside from this interesting feature the crowds that visited the Nittany on Thursday, Friday and Saturday were interested most in the extraordinary size and variety of snappy shoe models that were shown.

It is, undoubtedly, a very modern and carefully stocked store. There is every kind of footwear for every kind of taste and foot. And with Wilbur Baney, whose long experience in the business here, in charge, there is a guarantee of courteous and patient treatment of every person who enters the place.

Quite a few novel features characterized the opening days. Flowers were given lady visitors, music was furnished for all, there were toys and trinkets for the little folks and manikin's displaying the shoe models. At times the crowds were so great that the doors had to be locked until the congestion inside the store could be relieved.

Penn State Grange to Banquet and Dance Tonight.

This evening, March 26, at 6:30 o'clock the Penn State Grange will hold its annual banquet and dance at the Centre Hills country club. Many local people will hold pleasant memories of this function last year, at which time the Worthy State Master P. H. Dewy made a very impressive address. This year the speaker of the evening will be past lecturer of the Pennsylvania State Grange, E. B. Dorsette. On the program will also be R. G. Bressler as toastmaster, R. L. Watts, and J. F. Shipley. Professor F. J. Heckman, and Mrs. Broyles will add much to the entertainment. Dancing 10 to 12 to the music of the Campus Serenaders will complete the evening.

It will be an open affair and everybody is invited. Tickets may be secured, or reserved by phone, from S. B. Wingard, phone 67, or from J. S. Dale, phone 406, both of State College. The price will be $1.50 per plate.

Lester Meek's Sale Drew a Great Crowd and Good Prices.

Fine weather and good cattle combined to draw a great crowd to the Lester L. Meek farm sale at Waddle, on Wednesday.

Though there was much to be sold bidding was so active that everything had been disposed of by the middle of the afternoon. The total receipts were $5442.77. The twenty-four head of cattle, cows, yearling heifers and all, averaged $98.16. Two of the grade guernseys went for $172.50 each.

Methodist Conference Appointments.

Before adjourning on Monday the Central Pennsylvania Methodist Episcopal conference, in session at Berwick, voted to meet next year in the Trinity church, Lock Haven. Eighty-six changes were made in the assignment of 267 pastorates by Bishop Hughes. Rev. Homer S. Knox was returned to the Bellefonte church and the new appointments in Centre county are as follows: Halfmoon—W. H. Rose. Howard—J. F. Smith. Snow Shoe—A. A. Price. Pine Grove Mills—J. C. Rigby.

Pruning Demonstrations to Be Held in Centre County.

There will be two pruning demonstrations on Saturday March 27. The first demonstration will be in A. H. Spayd's orchard near the picnic grounds at Centre Hall at 10.00 a. m. In the afternoon the meeting will be held at Wm. Clevenstine's, near Hecla Park, starting at 2.00 p. m.

Prof. R. W. Reuf, orchard specialist from State College will assist R. C. Blaney, county agent, in conducting these demonstrations. There are a number of trees on every farm in Centre county that need pruning and will never bear fruit successfully until they are pruned. Prof. Reuf will demonstrate how these trees should be pruned and will also do some grafting.

Paroled Convict Beats up H. R. McMonigal.

Harold Newman, who is alleged to be a paroled convict from the western penitentiary, on Monday, badly beat up H. R. McMonigal, an aged citizen of Hannah Furnace. Newman served a two years and ten-months term in the penitentiary for larceny, having been convicted in the Centre county court in December, 1922, on complaint of Ellis Wigaman.

On Monday Newman, according to report, was in Beckwith's store at Hannah, and on going out came face to face with Mr. McMonigal. Without any preliminaries he remarked "you're the man I've been looking for," and promptly assaulted the aged man, beating him up pretty badly, according to all reports.

Oil of Untold Uses.

The Gulf Oil corporation of which the Gulf Refining company is a subsidiary, one of the largest producers of petroleum products in the United States, has in the last year entered the small specialty field with the introduction of oil known as Gulf Oil, "The Oil of Untold Uses." This is gotten out in a small handy three-ounce can, as well as in three and eight-ounce bottles, for the convenience of large consumers. They have also put on the market a furniture polish, a cleaning fluid, a penetrating oil for use on springs of automobiles, and an insecticide which is claimed to be one of the most powerful manufactured.

The company is represented in this district by C. H. Dougal, Ben Venue Station, Gross Street & P. R. R. Pittsburgh, Pa. A special effort is being made at this time to place these products with local merchants and it is the intention of the company to back up the campaign with newspaper advertising, so that every possible aid can be given to the dealer.

The Rev. Robert Reed and his family are moving this week from Iowa City, Iowa, to Columbus, Ohio, where Rev. Reed has accepted a call to the Indiana Presbyterian church. Upon leaving State College, Rev. Reed and his wife, Mrs. Ruth Bottorf Reed, went to Champagne, Ill., then he accepted a call to the University church at Iowa City and from there are coming back east to Columbus. Each of Rev. Reed's changes have been very flattering ones, both as to his successful ministerial work and also from a financial standpoint.

The Osceola Mills Water Supply company has given to the State a free right to its water shed for a long period of years for the purpose of establishing a game preserve. The water shed covers a tract of 970 acres in Rush township, Centre county, and is regarded as an ideal place for the propagation of small game as well as deer. The preserve will be enclosed with a one-strand wire and posted to prevent hunters from encroaching thereon.

HIGHWAY BUILDERS EAT, DRINK AND BE MERRY.

The officials and salaried employees of the Bellefonte office, State department of highways, District No. 1, took time off from highway building, last Thursday night, and made merry at a banquet and dance at the Nittany Country club. It was the first affair of the kind ever held and the gathering proved so delightful to all present that it is just possible it may be made an annual affair. The committee in charge was composed of Lloyd B. Brown, Thomas H. Mensch and Philip J. Gross, and every arrangement for the evening's entertainment was letter perfect. The Penn Centre Eight orchestra furnished music and after the sumptuous dinner those who preferred cards played bridge while others danced. The guests present were as follows: N. A. Staples and Miss Anne Straub, Mrs. L. B. Brown, William J. Carroll, Robert M. Gehret and daughter, Cecil Walker and Miss Geraldine Noonan, Mr. and Mrs. Plummer Davidson, of Millersburg; Charles G. Cruse and Miss Mary Shelton, Mr. and Mrs. Ogden B. Mallin, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Guidin, of Franklin; Mr. and Mrs. Aaron D. Letzel and son, of DuBois; Miss Helen Cruse, Mr. and Mrs. D. Paul Fortney, Mr. and Mrs. John C. McCreight, of Ridgway; Ed. S. Smith, of Philadelphia; Charles G. Klechner, of Lock Haven; Ross L. Patton, Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Holmes, Ed. G. Cantwell, of Bellefontaine, Ohio, and Miss Margaret Mignot, H. L. Londo, of Green Bay, Wis., and Miss Della Beezer; Henry J. Grathwohl, E. Blair Fisher of Wingate; A. B. Ferman, of Brockway; C. W. Flick and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Homan, of Unionville; Thomas J. Graham, of Madera; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. McClellan, of Millersburg; R. G. Hirlinger, of North Bend; G. W. Hancock, of Philipsburg; Sterry J. Mahaffey and Miss Ruth Pogerman; W. H. Lewis of Washington, D. C.; Thurston H. Smith and Miss Ruth Pogerman; W. H. Lewis of Mauch Chunk; Dale Ackerson, of Clymer; C. W. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Sanderson, of Mill Hall; Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Koons, Robert Mitchell, M. E. Gray and Norman Watson, all of Clearfield; Miss Ruth Walte and Joseph Donnelly, of Harrisburg; Gilbert Nolan, of State College, and Miss Irene M. Gross; R. E. Elliott, of Franklin.

How Ward Yarnell Met His Death.

Particulars of the accident which resulted in the death of Ward S. Yarnell, at Chester, Pa., last week were not obtainable up to the time the Watchman went to press. According to reliable information Mr. Yarnell and his gang of men were engaged in making repairs on a ship. They were in the act of removing one of the steel plates which was being lowered with a block and tackle. The plate caught on an obstruction and Mr. Yarnell leaned out of an opening in the side of the ship and was looking up to see what held the plate when it suddenly dropped and crushed his head against the ship. Notwithstanding his serious injury his first thought was for his men and he inquired if any of them had been hurt. He then insisted on walking to the ambulance that was rushed to the quay to convey him to the Sun Shipbuilding company's hospital. The accident happened on Monday and the next day he had rallied to such an extent that there were hopes of his recovery but he grew worse on Wednesday and passed away at five o'clock that afternoon.

The body was brought to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Yarnell, at Hecla, on Friday afternoon, where funeral services were held on Sunday afternoon. Burial was made at Zion.

A Fortunate Auto Accident.

On Sunday afternoon Harry Clevenstine took a run up the new concrete road through Bald Eagle valley. He had with him his wife and five other people. On his way back, some distance this side of Port Matilda, he was driving close behind a Ford car when the driver of the latter stopped quite suddenly without giving Mr. Clevenstine any warning. To avoid running into the Ford he turned sharply to one side and his car went off the road and rolled down into a ditch, some six or seven feet deep. He was just drifting along when the accident happened and the car couldn't have been let down easier with a rope and tackle than the way it went over.

One of the seven people in the car not one of them received a scratch. Help was secured and the car drawn up onto the road and a general inspection failed to reveal even a scratch on it. There was a little mud on the fender where it landed in the ditch but a little water removed that. It was really the most fortunate accident that ever occurred in this section.

Let us hope that it does. Writing from Philipsburg recently Mrs. Van Daniker says: "If the Watchman gives as much pleasure to the rest of its subscribers as it does to me, surely your work is not in vain."

Wasn't that a heartening message to receive and brighten up the depressing gloom of Tuesday morning?

NEWS PURELY PERSONAL.

Among the Watchman office callers, on Wednesday, was Thomas M. Gates, of Altoona, who was in Bellefonte on one of his infrequent business trips.

Having spent most of the winter in various cities in New Jersey John R. Bartruff, well known here, has returned to his home in New Bloomfield.

Mrs. Shuey, who has been in Bellefonte since Christmas, with her mother and sister, Mrs. H. K. Hoy and Mrs. Clayton Royer, will leave today, to return to her home at Prospect, Ohio.

Miss Erie Decker, a student at Penn State, and a schoolmate, Miss Webb, of Philadelphia, were over Sunday guests of Miss Decker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Decker, of the Decker garage apartments.

Mrs. John Blanchard and her son Evan, went to Philadelphia this week, to consult specialists with regard to the condition of the boy, who has been ill since coming from school for his spring vacation.

Dr. and Mrs. Coburn Rogers were in Hazleton last week owing to the death of Mrs. Rogers' father, Cornelius Cannon. Mrs. Rogers had gone over the week before, Dr. Rogers joining her there Monday for the funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Brinmeier, formerly of this place, have moved to May View from Aspinwall, where they had resided for several years. Mr. Brinmeier has accepted a position as head gardener of a large institution located at May View.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McCormick, of Columbia, S. C., have been north helping Mrs. McCormick's mother, Mrs. David J. Meyer, with her recent sale in Centre Hall, all leaving there Saturday with John D. Meyer for Tyrone, where Mrs. Meyer will be permanently.

Mrs. Oscar Wetzel returned to Bellefonte Sunday, to open her home on Willowbank St., after spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. McCoy, at Washington and Ambridge, Pa. The McCoy's moved from the former to the latter place during Mrs. Wetzel's visit.

Alter K. Ush and Carl Bashour, both former residents of Bellefonte, were here from Millersburg last week, on one of their occasional short business trips, having driven up to spend a few hours of the afternoon with some of their few favored business and social friends.

Mrs. Albert E. Blackburn was here for the week-end, with her mother, Mrs. J. L. Spangler and Col. Spangler, at their home on Allegheny street, having stopped off in Bellefonte on her return trip home from a visit to Fishertown, Dr. Blackburn's former home in Bedford county.

John C. Bair had a week-end guest at the Garman house, his daughter, Mrs. T. K. Marquette, of Philadelphia, who came here last week for a short visit with her father, and to renew old friendships. Mrs. Marquette as Miss Helen Bair, spent all her girlhood life in Bellefonte.

Harry Rhoads came in from Wilkingsburg Saturday, called here by the illness of her mother, Mrs. Amanda Walte, whose condition is regarded as serious. Mrs. Walte is at the home of her son Allen G. Walte on east High street, with whom she has lived for a number of years.

Miss Ella Bottorf returned to Centre county Monday night from a three months visit with her sister, Mrs. Robert Reed and her family in Iowa City, Iowa. Miss Bottorf stopped in Bellefonte to spend several days with her sister, Mrs. John I. Olewine, before going on to Lemont to open her home.

John A. Walte was here from Johnstown, for a Sunday visit with his mother, Mrs. George Walte, of Phoenix Ave., the object of his visit at this time being to see his grandmother, Mrs. Amanda Walte, whose condition is such as to cause much alarm concerning her recovery from her present illness.

Mrs. McClure Gamble has stored their furniture in anticipation of leaving today, for an indefinite stay in Cleveland, Ohio, where she will be with her mother and brother, Mrs. Joseph Ceder and Joseph Jr., who recently went there from Newark, N. J. Mr. Gamble will remain in Bellefonte for the present.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Munson McCormick, of Ferguson township, spent part of Monday in Bellefonte, doing some spring shopping and attending to a little business for Mr. McCormick's mother, Mrs. Charles B. McCormick, of State College. They had been talking of quitting the farm for a home at the College, but are still undecided and will not make a change until fall, if then.

Mrs. John A. Woodcock will return to Bellefonte the early part of next week to open her home on Howard street which has been closed since before Christmas. Upon leaving here in December Mrs. Woodcock went to Syracuse for a holiday visit with her son, the Rev. J. R. Woodcock and his family. From there she went to Scranton and then to Chambersburg. Mrs. Woodcock is now under the care of her oculist, in Philadelphia, where she will be for a week.

Members of the Fenlon and Brew families here for the funeral of the late Harry E. Fenlon last week, included Mr. and Mrs. Philip Fenlon, of Duquesne; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fenlon, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Bear, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Celestine Blair, Mrs. Walbridge, Edward, Miss Katherine and Frank Blair and Edward Balsinger, of Ebensburg; William E. Brew, of New York city; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brew, of Lansford; Mrs. George Brew and her daughter, Miss Janet, of Indiana; Mrs. Riley, of Crafton; Don Kittell, of Ebensburg, and James A. McClain, of Spangler.

Miss Maude Miller, of Ferguson township, was in Bellefonte Saturday doing some shopping and when we inquired as to why she had picked such a disagreeable day for her visit she replied that "there is no picking about it. I have to come when I can." We had forgotten that Miss Miller is one of the county's successful school teachers and Saturday is her only day off. With her was her sister, Mrs. Clarence Lemon, and her niece, Mrs. Bernard Lemon, both of State College. Miss Miller was very much interested in the work of the Rock Springs dramatic club which had presented its latest play "Home Acres" in Pine Grove Mills the night before for the benefit of the proposed community hall at Balleyville. She said it had not been a great financial success, but from a dramatic standpoint was excellent.

When you visit the Scenic theatre next Monday and Tuesday and see Wallace Beery and Ramon Hatton in the year's greatest comedy hit, "Behind the Front," all you can do will be simply laugh and laugh and laugh. Bellefonte Calcium Lime.

The Bellefonte Calcium Lime company is an infant industry being established by Fred. B. Healy, former deputy warden at Rockview penitentiary, at the Whiterock quarries, and while there is no predicting its future it is making an auspicious start and there is no reason why it shouldn't develop into a very prosperous business.

As everybody knows lime is one of the best land fertilizers in existence. It is also in a class by itself as a disinfectant. For this latter purpose it has not been used as generally as some other disinfectants because it was never put in reach of the average householder. This the Bellefonte Calcium Lime company will now do. The pulverized, or hydrated, lime is put up in ten pound paper bags and one pound pasteboard containers with a perforated top. The latter is the ideal package for family use. The lime can be sifted out without any trouble or difficulty and doing away with the possibility of getting one's clothing covered with lime dust while using it.

The ten pound paper bags have been placed on sale in the hardware stores while grocery stores and drug stores will carry the small containers. The first supply of this calcium lime was placed in the Bellefonte stores this week. Mr. Healy has already placed a stock of his lime with several wholesale concerns, and the fact that one of them has sent in a second order is evidence that there is a demand for it.

The Bellefonte Academy has a boxing team. It went down to Annapolis, last Friday, and on Saturday put on the gloves with the Naval Academy freshmen. They didn't win but they came within one of it, the final result being 4 to 3 in favor of the naval cadets. One of the Academy's best boxers was out of the contest with a crippled hand, his place being taken by a novice in the boxing game. This is the first year the Academy has gone in for boxing but in the future it will probably be a regular thing in athletic training.

The snow and the ice and the freezing weather of the winter has been hard on the limestone and oil-dressed streets of Bellefonte. Out on east Howard street and portions of Wilson street the surface is torn up in numerous places, with ruts several inches deep. Spring street, which was put in good shape last summer, is showing the result of the winter's hard weather, the surface crumbling at a number of places. A good top dressing and rolling just as soon as the weather settles will probably put them in fair condition again.

If you want to see late releases, up-to-the-minute motion pictures, the Scenic is the place to go. Every picture shown there is the best that money can secure and includes the work of the leading studios at Hollywood and elsewhere. Carefully study the big programs published every week in the Watchman and you cannot fail to be impressed by the offerings for the coming week. And, in addition to the pictures, the splendid music of that big pipe organ gives an evening of delightful entertainment.

Burgess Hard P. Harris has not been much in the limelight the past few weeks but he is on the job just the same. On Wednesday evening two young men parked their car, a long roadster, in front of Einkelstine's pool room with the rear end of it sticking straight out into the street. When requested to change its position they began to argue the question of their right to park as they saw fit, but when the burgess decided to take the tag number they changed their mind and moved the car.
