Former Centre Countians Celebrate Golden Wedding.

Surrounded by their children, grandchildren and many friends Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Gramley celebrated their golden wedding at their home in Greenwood park, near Altoona, on Tuesday of last week.

She was a daughter of Martin and Catherine Gingham Meese and was born near Pleasant Gap on July 29th, 1846, hence was in her eightieth year. As a young woman she married William Keller and the most of their married life was spent in the vicinity of Boalsburg.

Her surviving children are Mrs. Fromm and Mrs. Margaret Brown, of Bellefonte; Joseph W. Keller, in the West, and D. F. Keller, at Rockview. She also leaves one sister, Mrs. E. K. Keller, of Pleasant Gap.

KREAMER.—Mrs. Margaret Hannah Kreamer, of Centre Hall, died on April 17th, 1926, at 5.15 p. m. The cause of her death was chronic nephritis and complications.

IRVIN.—Dean Irvin, youngest child of Harry and Jeannette Florey Irvin, of Akron, Ohio, but formerly of Bellefonte, passed away on April 7th, following a week's illness with pneumonia.

McMAHON.—Mrs. Mary McMahon, widow of Peter McMahon, died on Tuesday morning at her home on south Allegheny street, following an illness of eighteen months.

WYLAND.—Mrs. Laura Ellen Wyland, wife of David Wyland, died at her home at Milesburg on Tuesday morning following an illness of several months with Bright's disease.

Spell it "Centre" Not "Center," Says State Geographical Board.

Some official connected with the State Geographical Board, at Harrisburg, has been digging into the archives at the capitol and made the astounding discovery that the proper way to spell Centre county is "Centre" and not "Center."

Centre county, in Central Pennsylvania. (Not Center.) A decision based on the spelling of "An Act for erecting parts of the counties of Mifflin, Northumberland, Lycoming, and Huntingdon into a separate county."

Centre Hall, Centre county, "not Center Hall." In accordance with common usage and in accordance with the spelling designated when the county by that name was erected.

Treziulny mountain, Centre county. A mountain point just east of Central Railroad of Pennsylvania, just 1 1/2 miles northeast of the square at Bellefonte.

James Stickler, the Bishop street tailor, is arranging to open up a modern and up-to-date dry cleaning establishment in connection with his tailoring business.

LUTZ.—Joseph F. Lutz, of Centre Hall, died at 2.15 a. m. on April 16th, 1926. Death was caused by myocarditis, accompanied by complications incident to influenza pneumonia.

He was born in Walker township, on August 12th, 1852, making his age 73 years, 8 months and 4 days. His parents were John and Hannah Lutz. He is survived by his wife, whose maiden name was Susan E. Lohr, and one daughter, Annie E., wife of C. D. Bartholomew, of Centre Hall.

He is survived by his wife, whose maiden name was Susan E. Lohr, and one daughter, Annie E., wife of C. D. Bartholomew, of Centre Hall. He also leaves one sister, Mrs. Mary Dunkle, of Bellefonte, and two brothers, Aaron, of Centre Hall, and Frank, of Zion.

Mr. Lutz was a member of the Rebekah lodge as well as the I. O. O. F. lodge.

KELLER.—Mrs. Susan Meese Keller, widow of William D. Keller, died last Friday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Fromm, on Bishop street, following a protracted illness with dropsy and other complications.

She was a daughter of Martin and Catherine Gingham Meese and was born near Pleasant Gap on July 29th, 1846, hence was in her eightieth year. As a young woman she married William Keller and the most of their married life was spent in the vicinity of Boalsburg.

McMAHON.—Mrs. Mary McMahon, widow of Peter McMahon, died on Tuesday morning at her home on south Allegheny street, following an illness of eighteen months.

WYLAND.—Mrs. Laura Ellen Wyland, wife of David Wyland, died at her home at Milesburg on Tuesday morning following an illness of several months with Bright's disease.

Only a baby grave. Some foot or two at the most. Of star-daisied sod, yet I think that God knows what that little grave cost.

Only a baby's grave. Yet we often come and sit. By the little stone and thank God to own. We are nearer Heaven for it.

McMAHON.—Mrs. Mary McMahon, widow of Peter McMahon, died on Tuesday morning at her home on south Allegheny street, following an illness of eighteen months.

sixth year. She is survived by her husband and eight children, three sisters and three brothers. Burial will be made in the Treziulny cemetery this afternoon.

MILLER.—Miss Jennie Miller died at the home of her brother William Miller, in Williamsport, last Monday and her remains were brought to Pleasant Gap, where interment was made in the Lutheran cemetery on Wednesday afternoon.

Deceased was a daughter of Alexander Miller and spent most of her life in this community, where she was engaged as a seamstress and generally regarded as a woman of gentle nature and more than ordinary attainments. For years she maintained the family home at Pleasant Gap and after it was closed made her home with the late Mrs. Henry Eckenroth, maintaining rooms here as well.

BOAK.—Theodore A., son of James K., and Sarah Rupley Boak, died at his home in Hughesville, Pa., last Saturday, and interment was made in that place on Tuesday.

Mr. Boak spent the greater part of his life at Pine Glenn, this county, where he was a leader in the social and business activities of the community until his removal, some years ago, to Hughesville.

"Pickles" Pleased a Packed House.

"Pickles" a musical version of George Ade's comedy, "Just Out of College," was presented at the Richelieu last Thursday, matinee and night, by the Glee Club of the Bellefonte High school.

Two Movings. On or about May first John F. Marks and family will move from the Joseph Runkle flat, on High street, into a flat on the second floor of the McClain block.

Charles Brachbill has leased the flat in the Beatty building recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Garbrick, and with his wife and children will move there from the Brachbill residence on Spring street.

The Bellefonte Academy played all around the Indiana Normal team, in the opening game last Friday, defeating the visitors by the overwhelming score of 16 to 3.

OAK HALL. Mrs. L. K. Dale was a Bellefonte visitor on Tuesday.

William Bohn was taken ill last Friday and is in a somewhat serious condition.

Mrs. J. J. Tressler and Miss Izora Rupp spent Sunday at the James Swabb home, at Milesburg.

Mrs. Mae Bloom, of Detroit, Michigan, was called to the bed-side of her mother, Mrs. Lily Houtz, who is in a very serious condition.

Mrs. Nannie Gilliland and family, Mrs. J. Elmer Campbell, Mrs. Charles Whitehill and Mrs. W. A. Ferree were among those who attended the funeral of Mrs. William Kreamer, of Centre Hall, on Tuesday.
