-The righteous and the wicked alike walked in darkness in Bellefonte on Wednesday evening, and it was not of their own choosing, either. During the hard storm about six o'clock the high power electric line of the Penn Central Light and Power company was broken over at Corncropts Mills, in Huntingdon county. As this was the line which serves the Keystone Power corporation not a bit of juice flowed into Centre county and the result was a complete shut down of both light and power. Lamps and tallow candles were much in demand and it was some time between twelve and one o'clock before the line was repaired and electricity turned

-Students of nature and lovers of wild animals who failed to attend the Christy Bros. show, in Bellefonte last Friday, missed one of the best animal exhibitions shown in Bellefonte in many years. Christy Bros. are a California combine and this is their first trip through the east. The fact that they were unknown here and not as widely advertised as they might have been are probably the reasons they were not patronized to capacity, as the big tent was not crowded at either the afternoon or John Nichols and Berenice Alexander. night's performance. And this, notwithstanding the fact that they gave a splendid street parade at noon. From dogs to elephants, lambs to Lions, the performance was a wonderful exhibition of the power of man over the wild denizens of the forest. Every person who saw the show had only words of commendation for it, and if the Christy Bros. come back to Bellefonte next year they are sure to draw a good crowd.

BELLEFONTE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Seventy-one Young Men and Women Graduate at High School Commencement.

CLOSE SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The Bellefonte public schools closed this week after a most successful year in all grades and departments. The event in connection with the finish of the school term was, most naturally, the High school commencement, at which just seventy-one young men and women received their diplomas. The exercises in connection therewith began on Sunday evening when Rev. Reed O. Steely, of the Evangelical church, preached the baccalaureate sermon in the Presbyterian church. The large edifice was crowded to the doors with friends of the graduating class and the sermon delivered by Rev. Steely was replete with good thoughts and splendid advice to the members of the class.

On Monday evening the annual declamatory contest was held in the High school auditorium. The ten contestants were Philip Wion, Walter Irvine, Arnold Kalin, Eleanor Barnhart, LaRue Schaeffer, Edward Worrick, John Nichols, Berenice Al- Yarnell. exander, Utalicia Flack and Marion fonte, and they awarded the prizes to Walter Irvine and Eleanor Barnhart, with honorable mention for John Nichols and Berenice Alexander. The annual pageant of the grade on the High school grounds on Tuesday morning had to be postponed until Wednesday on account of the rain.

The commencement exercises were address was delivered by Dr. Andrew Johnson, of Philadelphia, after which Dr. Melvin J. Locke, president of the Bellefonte school board, presented the

In the forenoon they marched to the Catholic cemetery where exercises were held and the graves of deceased soldiers decorated and marked with flags. Rev. Father Downes made the address. Services in the Union cemetery were held at two o'clock. The parade formed on Allegheny street and on the march to the cemetery included the color bearers, six G. A. R. veterans in automobiles, the last remnant of the once strong and flourishing Gregg Post; the Odd Fellows band, American Legion, Troop B, Bellefonte camp P. O. S. of A., Troop No. 1 Girl Scouts, twenty-four in number, and members of the Logan and Undine fire companies.

At the cemetery the American Legion held the services according to their own ritual, and the memorial day address was delivered by Rev.

Robert Thena. At State College on Monday Major General Charles H. Muir, commander of the Keystone (28th) division during the world war in France, was the memorial day orator. The regiment of student cadets and world war veterans joined in holding the services,
