State College Opens Exhibit at "Sesqui."

Rural and industrial people of Pennsylvania will be attracted by the exhibit of the Pennsylvania State College at the Sesqui-Centennial.

The display, aimed to show the three main functions of service by the college to the people of the State,—resident instruction to over 6000 students each year, research work on over 200 agricultural and industrial problems, and extension service to thousands each year,—is now open for inspection in the palace of education at the exposition.

Farm people especially will be interested in a working model of the animal respiration calorimeter located at the college and which has enabled State College investigators to work out efficient feeding methods for farm livestock. They will also see a model of the oldest fertilizer experiments in America, which were started at Penn State 45 years ago and have contributed greatly to farm management problems in Pennsylvania.

Pictures showing the many college student, research and extension activities are displayed in two projection machines, and many photographs and charts present the work of the various schools of the college. Special exhibits are shown by the schools of agriculture, engineering, and mines and metallurgy.

Millheim to Have Up-to-date Bank.

The Tilghman Moyer Co., architects, of Allentown, have completed the plans for the new banking building to be erected in the near future by the Farmers' National bank, of Millheim. It will be recalled that on July 3rd the Millheim Banking company and the Farmers' National were merged into one institution which is now operating under the name of the Farmers' National bank.

The new building will be located on the corner of Main and Penn streets, fronting on the former. It will be L-shaped, 35 feet wide on Main street and extending back 72 feet on Penn street. The entrance will be on Main street. The building will be of buff brick with trimmings in granite. In addition to the main banking room and the general room for the patrons of the bank, both of which will be large and commodious, there will be offices for the cashier and president, posting room, ladies rest room and a large two compartment burglar proof vault on the first floor. On the mezzanine floor will be located the directors room and an ante-room. On the Penn street side, second floor will be located a room 11.4 by 30.4 feet in size which will be set aside for public use in holding meetings.

The basement will be divided into five distinct compartments, all of which will be utilized by the bank. Construction of the building will be begun in the near future.

—No hunting license will be issued to John Confer, of Union township, until May, 1927, and none to Arlington Jodon, of Orviston, until Nov. 23, 1927. Both have violated the provisions of the game code and the Game Commission has penalized them in this way. If either hunt before that time they will be liable to a fine of $40 for each day.

—Don't lose sight of the fact that Wednesday, August 11th, will be "Opportunity Day" and our business men may be relied upon to make it a real one.

MUSSER.—Mrs. Gertrude M. Musser, wife of Lincoln H. Musser, for many years residents of Bellefonte, died at four o'clock last Friday morning at Miami, Fla., as the result of an attack of pneumonia. Arrested for Violating Potato Quarantine Law.

Eight residents of Centre county were served warrants yesterday upon violations of the potato quarantine established several years ago in the district of Snow Shoe, in Snow Shoe township, a part of Burnside, and Rush townships, the violators being scheduled to appear before Justice of the Peace Kline Woodring next Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock at which time they will be given a hearing. They are: A. M. Kachik, Mrs. Mary Smithko, Mike Boston, Sr., George Planko, Steve Kachik, Andy Basilla, John Zewak and Andy Kaplon.

The prosecutor in the case is K. W. Laurer, of Ebensburg, a State department of agriculture agent, who states that the above residents did violate a regulation adopted by the secretary of agriculture, an act providing for the control and eradication of the European Wart Disease of the potato. The above area in Centre county had been quarantined for the past several years and specimens of the diseased potatoes had been brought to 'Squire Woodring's office several years ago where they were examined.

—During the past two or three weeks a State highway engineering corps made surveys of portions of the state highway through Nittany valley, and it is reported that the department contemplates making some changes in the route which will eliminate several of the dangerous curves. A number of fatal accidents have occurred on this stretch of highway during the past few years and any changes that can be made to abate the danger should be done as soon as possible.

—A report reached Bellefonte this week by way of Pine Grove Mills and State College that Samuel Musser, who now carries the mail from Tyrone to State College, has been awarded the contract to carry the mail through to Bellefonte. Inquiry at the Bellefonte postoffice brought the information that they had not received any official notice to that effect; although they admit it may be correct.

—Charles Tierney, of the Brick Row, Bellefonte, who was taken into custody last week charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated, plead guilty before Judge Keller, Saturday morning. The Court gave him a lecture and then suspended sentence pending good behavior. He was given until September 1st to pay the costs and his Chevrolet car which had been confiscated was ordered returned to him.

It is supposed to throw one thousand gallons of water a minute, while the capacity of the old pump is from 900 to 950 gallons. The new pump will probably be used now and the old one overhauled so as to be in shape for any emergency.

—The Millheim Journal says that on Wednesday morning Wilbur H. Decker, of Bellefonte, purchased the S. H. Breen cash grocery in that place and will conduct the same in the future.

Big Farmer's Picnic to be Held at Boal Camp.

Farmers of the State College community have made plans for one of the biggest picnics of the year to be held with the Kiwanis club of that place at the Boal camp grounds, Boalsburg, Thursday, August 5th. A big program of events has been arranged that will keep everybody busy from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m.

One of the big features will be an adult judging contest open to all. Plans are to have a ring of Guernseys, a ring of Holstein cows and a ring of horses. This event will start at 10 a. m., sharp. The winners will be decided and announced later. Worthwhile prizes will also be given.

Another feature of importance will be a pulling demonstration. Local teams will be entered and some lively competition is expected.

The main feature of the day will be a table piled high with food. Interest will center around this part of the program at 12.15 sharp. Dinner will be served in cafeteria style after which R. G. Bressler, vice dean of the school of agriculture, will lead some community singing. The afternoon program will be made up of games for the youngsters and a guessing contest for the ladies; a tug-of-war between the farmers and Kiwanis, horseshoe pitching and last but not least, a big ball game between the central Pennsylvania champion farmers nine and the Kiwanis would-be champion nine.

Big plans are being made and every detail taken care of by the committee which will assure a good time for both young and old. Go and take your friends.

State Convention of Sabbath School Workers.

Sabbath school leaders of Centre county will be pleased to learn that every detail of the coming State convention has been completed.

This sixty-fourth annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath school Association will be held in Reading, Pa., on Oct. 13, 14 and 15, at which place will be assembled from all over the continent half a hundred Sunday school experts.

Dr. Floyd Tompkins, pastor of Christ Protestant Episcopal church of Philadelphia, will be in charge of each of the devotional periods.

Prof. H. Augustine Smith, dean of the school of music and art of Boston University, will be in charge of the music and pageantry. He will bring with him a wonderful art exhibit of religious pictures and close the convention Friday evening with his pageant "The Gateway to Good Will," which evoked such favorable comment at the international convention at Birmingham last spring.

President I. L. Foster, of our county Association, is already making plans to have a larger than usual number of delegates attend the Reading convention.

Truck Drivers Pay Heavy Fines for Overloading Trucks.

Several weeks ago State highway patrolman Millard Solt arrested Ray Knowse, Carl Knowse and George Black, of Millerstown; N. B. Reisinger and W. R. Powell, of Icksburg, and L. B. Ranck, of Lewistown, on the charge of driving and transporting overloaded trucks on state improved highways. The men were engaged in hauling stone from Bellefonte to a road construction job east of Curtin at the time the arrest was made. At the time set for a hearing before 'Squire S. Kline Woodring, in Bellefonte, they asked for a continuance which was granted them four times, but on Tuesday morning the six men walked into the office of 'Squire Woodring and signified their desire to settle the case by paying their fines and costs.

The fine in each case was $100 and the costs $14.68, a total of $114.68 for each man, or a grand total of $688.08. As three of the men were arrested in Milesburg borough and three in Spring township, $300 of the fines will go to Milesburg and $300 to Spring township.

—Bellefonte's baseball team doesn't seem to be able to strike a winning gait the past several weeks. In fact it hasn't had much opportunity to do so, as it has rained most every day it was scheduled to play since the beginning of the second period of the season. But we have not entirely lost faith in either the players or management. With an even break of players luck we believe they are the equal of any team in the league and we expect to see them make a good showing before the season closes.

—An automobile refinishing plant is to be built at Phillipsburg by George H. Ayers and W. H. Hollingsworth. The building will be 60x100 feet in size and entirely of steel and concrete. The object is the reconstruction of wrecked or badly damaged cars.

—It was thought that the local lodge of Elks would give up their annual kiddies picnic, at Hecla park, but such is not the case. It will be held on Thursday, August 12th. The I. O. O. F. band and Wright's orchestra, from Columbus, Ohio, will furnish the music.
