Bellefonte Young Woman Discards Braces After Nine Years Use.

Nine years ago, while working at the Bellefonte Telephone exchange, Miss Ruth Howley, daughter of policeman and Mrs. Thomas Howley, contracted a bad attack of rheumatism which settled in her limbs. In fact both limbs were drawn up so much that the knee joints were partially drawn from the sockets. She was taken to the University of Pennsylvania hospital where an operation was performed and she was fitted with steel braces extending from her hips to her feet and equipped with large knee pads.

In this way she was able to get around and after returning home went to work for the old Commercial Telephone company. She worked there until that company was taken over by the Bell people when she went back to the Bell exchange. With nine years' wear her braces and pads were about worn out and last week her mother accompanied her to specialists in Altoona with the result that on Monday she returned to Bellefonte carrying her braces and wearing nothing but supporting knee pads. In fact the specialists informed her that the braces should have been discarded years ago. Miss Howley is now able to walk almost as free and easy as she did before she suffered her attack of rheumatism.

John T. McCormick Surprised and Delighted.

The Hon. and Mrs. John T. McCormick, of State College, were enjoyably surprised, last Saturday when a family reunion was held at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Krumrine, of State College.

All of Mr. McCormick's children were there and it was a symposium of McCormick family memories, hopes and expectations.

At the gathering were Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank McCormick and family, of Lock Haven; Mr. and Mrs. Walter McCormick and family, with Mrs. Arthur Wood, Mrs. McCormick's sister, all of Waynesburg; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. McCormick and family, of Collegeville; and Mr. P. M. Corl and family, of State College.

Not sated with Saturday's get-together the whole clan swarmed again at their father's home, at State College, on Monday and there was another day of delightful family fellowship.

It is needless to say that these affairs brought much joy to the parental heart. Those who know Mr. McCormick know his love of congenial company and his pride in and devotion to his family, so that this must have been a very happy occasion for him.

Centre County Bank Building Sold.

The Centre County bank building was sold at public sale, on Saturday afternoon, to John P. Eckel for $20,000. There were only three bidders, G. Oscar Gray, Daniel A. Grove and Mr. Eckel. The sale of the bank furniture, which was advertised to take place at the same time as the bank building, was continued indefinitely, owing to "certain contingencies that had arisen following the sale of the building," according to the announcement of L. Frank Mayes, auctioneer.

W. Harrison Walker Esq., is now driving a new model President Studebaker car.

GETTIG.—The very sudden death of L. H. Gettig, at his home on north Thomas street, early last Saturday morning, was a distinct shock to his many friends and business associates in Bellefonte. He was at his place of business as usual all day on Friday, apparently the very picture of health. About four o'clock on Saturday morning he was stricken with a heart attack and passed away within half an hour.

Lewis Hahn Gettig was a son of Samuel and Sarah Hahn Gettig and was born near Booneville, Clinton county, on March 31st, 1856, hence had reached the age of 70 years, 4 months and 21 days. The Gettig family came to Centre county while Lewis was yet a boy and when he grew to manhood he embarked in the butchering business. His first venture was at Pleasant Gap and during subsequent years he followed that vocation in various places, spending several years in Nebraska where he and Clyde Wetzel conducted a meat market. Returning east he located in Phillipsburg where he and Mr. Mock opened a shop which today is the Phillipsburg meat market. He finally sold out his interest in that place and came to Pleasant Gap where he was in business a short time and in 1892 came to Bellefonte and purchased the Sechler meat market, continuing in business here ever since. Conscientious and upright in all his business dealings he was a splendid type of citizen and his sudden death is cause for deep regret.

On September 2nd, 1890, he married Miss Alice Keturah Ulrich, who passed away on July 2nd of this year, but surviving him are two children, Mrs. R. Wynn Davis, of Washington, Pa., and Donald, of Clarksburg, Pa. He also leaves four brothers and four sisters, Frank, George and Clayton Gettig, of Pleasant Gap; Irvin, of Hubbersburg; Mrs. Frank Weaver, of Bellefonte; Mrs. John Uhl, of Pleasant Gap; Mrs. Harvey Hoy, of Hubbersburg, and Mrs. William Sampsel, of Braddock.

He was a member of the Lutheran church and the funeral services, at two o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, were in charge of Rev. C. E. Arnold, assisted by Rev. Reed O. Stealy, burial being made in the Union cemetery, Bellefonte.

McCLINTOCK.—Mrs. Susan Hoy McClintock, wife of E. L. McClintock, died at her home near Hubbersburg, on Thursday of last week, as the result of a stroke of apoplexy.

She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hoy and was born at Jacksonville on December 29th, 1861, hence was in her sixty-fifth year. She married Mr. McClintock in January 3rd, 1884, and all their married life had been spent in Nittany valley. She was a member of the Reformed church all her life and a woman whose death is deeply deplored by many friends.

She is survived by her husband but no children. In the family, however, are a young man and woman whom she raised from childhood, Earl and Catherine Vonada. She also leaves five sisters and one brother, Mrs. Perry C. Gates and Mrs. Tabitha Gates, of Coalport; Mrs. Tillie Glossner, of New Castle; Mrs. Malissa McClintock, of New Jersey; Mrs. Angeline Vonada, of Zion, and Samuel Hoy, of Howard.

Funeral services were held at her late home at two o'clock on Sunday afternoon by Rev. Harry Hartman, assisted by Rev. H. I. Crow, of Nef Bethlehem, burial being made at Jacksonville.

GARNER.—William E. Garner, for years a well known resident of Tadpole, was found dead in bed at the home of his brother-in-law, David Wertz, at Gatesburg, last Friday morning, a heart attack evidently being the cause.

He was a son of Henry and Mary Bloom Garner and was born at Tadpole on March 24th, 1851, hence was in his 76th year. He was a blacksmith by occupation and all his life was spent at the old home until a few months ago, following the death of his brother Jeremiah, when he closed the home and went to live with his sister, Mrs. Wertz, who is his only survivor. Funeral services were held at two o'clock on Sunday afternoon by Rev. Joseph Rigley, after which burial was made in the Meek's church cemetery.

HAUPT.—Miss Celia Haupt died at the Centre County hospital at 1.15 o'clock yesterday morning. She had not been in good health for a year but confined to bed only about a month. She was taken to the hospital on Wednesday of last week and her death was the result of a sudden collapse. She was a daughter of the late Henry and Mary Haupt and was born in Bellefonte 45 years ago. She is survived by her mother and two brothers, Arthur and James. Burial will be made in the Catholic cemetery tomorrow morning.

WALKER.—Mrs. Laura Walker, wife of William Walker, died at her home near Yarnell on Tuesday of last week following an illness of five years as the result of a stroke of paralysis, aged fifty-six years. She was a devoted member of the Methodist church for many years and a good, christian woman. She is survived by her husband but no children. Burial was made in the Advent cemetery last Thursday.

Woodward Cave Proving a Big Money Maker.

Taking big money from a hole in the ground is the present occupation of Luther L. Weaver and O. M. Hosterman, proprietors of the Woodward cave. Since the cave was opened on May 1st something over eleven thousand visitors have taken a personally conducted tour through the underground cavern. The charge for a trip through the cave is 75 cents per person, which means that in a little over three months the owners have taken in $8,250. Of course it is not all velvet, as there is some expense connected with it, but enough of it is pure profit to add a tidy sum each month to the individual bank account of Messrs. Weaver and Hosterman. In fact it is no mean business for a cave located in the mountains far from any big town, and if the Sequi managers at Philadelphia had one or two like it as attractions for their Centennial they might be on the paying side instead of the losing.

Since the opening up of the cave many stories have been circulated in connection therewith, one of which by the versatile Henry W. Shoemaker being that it was at one time the hiding place of Lewis, the robber. Of course this is possible but at the same time improbable, as their trail was through the Seven mountain district. But the cave has been there for many years as there is living in Bellefonte today a man who went into it fifty-five years ago. The man is G. R. Spigelmyer, who, as a young man frequently passed the cave. One day he decided to investigate it and taking a ball of twine and another young man as a companion, he went to what looked like a big hole in the ground.

The cave is located along Pine creek and the opening was partially filled with driftwood and dirt washed in by high water from the creek when it overran its banks. Tying one end of the twine to a small tree Mr. Spigelmyer and his companion entered the cave, using tallow candles as light. They were compelled to creep in many places where the inwash of debris had clogged the openings but finally reached the main chamber where they viewed with wonder the various formations created by the dripping water from the limestone rocks. The two men traveled until their ball of twine was entirely unrolled, then afraid to venture further followed the string back to the opening, and this is the first exploration of the cave definitely known.

Of course when Mr. Weaver and Mr. Hosterman, less than a year ago, decided to open up the cave as a natural attraction they changed the course of Pine creek to prevent any possible flooding in the future, and spent thousands of dollars in cleaning out the rubbish and fixing up the cave to make it attractive. Having done so they are now reaping the reward of their efforts.

Deer Poachers Busy in Seven Mountains, is Report.

John D. Decker, the veteran member of the board of jury commissioners, was in Bellefonte on Friday and Saturday helping to draw the jury for the September term of court. When asked what the prospects are for a good deer season over in Decker valley he said it would be pretty good if the deer poachers would stay out of the mountain and quit killing deer illegally.

Mr. Decker avers that the killing is being done at night by the aid of strong flashlights, and is not the work of people living in that locality. He declares that the pot hunters come in after dark in automobiles, make their killing and get away under cover of darkness. The bright rays from a strong flashlight so blinds the deer that a man can walk almost close enough to bat them on the head. In any event their killing under such circumstances is an easy matter and can be done without enough of noise to attract attention.

Every traveler through the Seven mountains knows that deer in that section are unusually plentiful. Does and fawns, with a good sprinkling of bucks, can be seen most any day, and are quite tame. But if Mr. Decker is correct in his assertion that many deer are being killed at night by illegal hunters the Seven mountains would be a good field for night work on the part of the game wardens.

Port Matilda Residents Arrested in Altoona.

William Matt and Gordon Walk, two residents of Port Matilda, created considerable excitement in Altoona, last Friday, by driving up Washington avenue at a speed said to be from 45 to 50 miles an hour in a Jewett coupe. Near Eighteenth avenue their car crashed into a Ford touring car, wrecking it, then careened from the wreckage of the Ford and ran into the porch of the home of Mrs. Lewis Stahl, almost completely demolishing it. The Jewett coupe was reduced to a pile of junk. Both men were said to have been under the influence of liquor, and a broken bottle was found on the Stahl porch.

The two men were arrested, Matt, the owner and driver of the car, being held for court on the charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, while Walk was fined for being drunk and disorderly conduct. Matt suffered several fractured ribs while Walk escaped with a few slight cuts and body bruises.

Big Sales of Household Furniture.

Two of the biggest sales of household furniture held in Bellefonte in some years were those of L. H. Musser, on Thursday of last week, and Miss Rachel Marshall on Saturday. The Musser sale ran from 10:30 o'clock in the morning until almost six o'clock in the evening and amounted to a little over nine hundred dollars.

The Miss Marshall sale amounted to $671.00, and was interesting principally because of the antique bidders present. They came from New York State, Philadelphia, Williamsport, Lock Haven, Charleroi and other places. Most of the furniture, crockery ware, dishes, etc., were quite old, having been in the family for several generations. A walnut secretary, said to be over one hundred years old brought $50. Old mirrors went for $10 and $14. A copy of Linn's history brought $12, and was bought by a Bellefonte young woman. A set of six kitchen chairs, solid wood, sold for $5.75 apiece and a set of dining room chairs $6.75 each. Most everything else went at proportionate prices, simply because they were classed as antique.

The Marshall property was sold to Horatio S. Moore for $4,500. Among the bidders for the real estate were D. A. Grove, John Blanchard, Dr. M. J. Locke, Walter Cohen and Sim Baum. Mr. Moore, the purchaser, has not made any plans, as yet, regarding the property aside from the fact that he was impressed with the location as an ideal place for a nice home and expects to improve the property so that it will compare favorably with other properties on that street.

But the Marshall sale was not in it with one held in Lewistown last week. It was the household goods of Mary Turner McCullough, who died several weeks ago at the age of 93, leaving her estate to the Lewistown hospital, Y. M. C. A., Presbyterian church and Presbyterian home at Hollidaysburg. At her sale two old davenport sets sold for $100 each; a bread plate $12, a round table $180, two ordinary parlor chairs $50 each, a mantle mirror $70 and a mantle clock $24. The sale totaled $2300.

New Dads' Day Date at State College.

Announcement was made this week at The Pennsylvania State College that the annual Fathers' day observance in the future will be held each October instead of May, as has been the custom since the event was established in 1921. The change is at the request of both students and fathers; for most of the Dads wish to assemble at a time when a football game will be one of the attractions.

Saturday, October 9, when Marietta College is Penn State's opponent on the gridiron, has been selected as Fathers' day this fall. The change also includes the moving of the annual student observance of Mothers' day to a week-end in May, on or near the date set aside for the observance of National Mothers' day.

Do "Fine Manners" Make "Fine Ladies?"

That's the question asked in Gloria Swanson's latest film, "Fine Manners." Gloria is seen as a dancer in ners, which arrives at the Scenic on a burlesque music hall. With a brother, who jealously tries to guard her from the world's tawdry influences, she lives in a tiny tenement apartment.

Then—Fate—or call it what you will, has her meet a young, socially bored, society scion. He immediately falls in love with this veritable child of nature. Thinking to improve, and make her well-nigh perfect, the youth tells his sweetheart that a course in "fine manners" will make her a "fine lady."

What happens? Certainly, this is a situation to bring forth lots of laughs and many perplexities.

Those who have already seen "Fine Manners," say that Gloria has never been better. Richard Rosson directed for Paramount. Eugene O'Brien plays the part of the fiancee.

Added on Friday 4th Chapter of "The Snowed In" Serial. On Saturday a First Run Two Reel Comedy.

Monday-Tues. Aug. 30-31

The Most Charming Woman in the World

in the most beautiful role she ever played:

Glittering little grand duchess in royal jewels—a million people pay her homage but she was lonely. Then into her kingdom a baby—and the girl who had walked to the throne to the fierce beat of drums and military boots—thrilled to the patter of baby feet through the royal halls—flung away her royal title of dutchess—proud to wear the coronet of MOTHER.

Also a First Run Two Reel Comedy "Meet My Girl!"

"Mantrap"

Ernest Torrence and Percy Marmont.

Clara Bow, who has become famous as the typical flapper of the screen, is being "de-flappered" in "Mantrap," Victor Fleming's Paramount picture-ization of Sinclair Lewis' latest novel.

Miss Bow plays the role of a Minneapolis manicurist—a typical flapper. When she marries and goes into Canadian woods to live with her husband, a trader, she immediately loses all the flapper effect which clothes and toilet give her. However, the flapper spirit being unquenchable, leads to most of the plot's complications.
