

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

The banks, postoffice and most of the stores in Bellefonte observed Labor day, on Monday, with closed doors.

Fred Lutz, of Pleasant Gap, is recovering from a severe attack of the measles which kept him housed up two weeks or more.

The cider presses in Centre county have been put in operation and from all indications the juice will be quite plentiful this fall.

John P. Eckel on Saturday purchased the Gettig family interest in the meat market, in the Bush house block, and is now the sole proprietor.

Fred B. Healy, manager of the Bellefonte baseball team, was taken to the Centre county hospital, on Saturday morning, for treatment for a minor trouble.

William C. Smeltzer, of Bellefonte, was taken to the Geisinger hospital, at Danville, last week, for treatment for a severe attack of neuritis and rheumatism.

Miss Lois Foreman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Foreman, who has been quite ill for several weeks, was taken to the Geisinger hospital, at Danville, on Monday.

Frank Wetzler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Wetzler, of Milesburg, who was so badly injured in an auto accident two weeks ago, was taken to Altoona on Saturday to be under the care of specialists. His condition is regarded as very serious.

Quite a number of Centre county people are planning to attend the big fair at Clearfield next week. M. I. Gardner, a former Bellefonter, is secretary of the fair association this year and is working hard to make the exhibition a success.

Nevin Noll, who became so suddenly ill this week that it was necessary to take him to the hospital Wednesday was somewhat more comfortable yesterday. No diagnosis having been made, he is still under the observation of the consulting physicians.

The Bellefonte public schools opened on Tuesday with a full corps of teachers and the largest attendance ever recorded. The High school is filled to capacity, the out of town attendance exceeding that of any former year. The Bellefonte Academy and the Pennsylvania State College will both open next week.

Mrs. Mary K. Bowers, secretary in the offices of the Keystone Power corporation, with her mother, Mrs. Keen, on Tuesday moved from one of the flats in the Furst building on High street, to the home of William Lyons, on east Bishop street. Mr. Lyons retaining two rooms in the house for his own use.

In 1925 Centre county ranked thirty-third in value of the State's live stock and farm crops. The total value of ours, including apples, peaches and pears, was $3,274,680.22. On January 1, 1926 the value of the live stock, alone, on Centre county farms was $2,440,401.50 and the county ranked 27th in the State.

The local lodge of Moose have not abandoned their plans for remodeling their theatre building. The project was rather an ambitious one, involving a very large expenditure of money. In order to spread it over a longer period, they are considering the feasibility of making a portion of the changes this year and the balance later.

Susquehanna University, at Selinsgrove, is organizing for a drive to raise $450,000, part of it to pay debts, $125,000 for a new library building and the balance for the endowment fund. The development is primarily designed to gain membership for Susquehanna in the association of Colleges of the Middle States and Maryland.

Hebrew residents of Bellefonte celebrated their New Year's anniversary, Rosh Hashanah, yesterday by keeping closed their places of business. The Jewish New Year, according to tradition, dates back to the creation of the world which is supposed to be 5,687 years ago. It is the beginning of the holy season for members of that faith which lasts for twenty-two days and ends on the evening of September 30th with the Feast of Conclusion.

Very unusual indeed is the announced appearance of Robert B. Mantell here in The Merchant of Venice. Mr. Mantell is the greatest living tragedian. Rarely does an actor of his eminence appear outside of the larger cities and his Bellefonte booking was more or less accidental, due to an off night between Harrisburg and Rochester. He will be supported by Miss Genevieve Hamper and a large cast when he appears here Monday night Sept. 20.

It isn't necessary to go to the Sesqui-Centennial to see motion pictures when the cream of the films manufactured can be seen at the scenic theatre, in Bellefonte. Now that the evenings have grown very decidedly longer the one place in Bellefonte to spend them is at the Scenic. There you can have several hours of interesting entertainment at a minimum of expense. Every evening's program is high-class, the musical program being on a par with the pictures.

MARSH CREEK YOUTHS CUT TAIL OFF DOG.

Inhuman Act Cost Them $41.85 in Fines and Costs.

To dock the tail of a bull dog is in keeping with the nature of the beast but when it comes to cutting the tail off of a dog not your own it is a costly proceeding, as two Marsh Creek youths, Theodore Emenhizer and James Packer, have found out to their sorrow, as the inhuman act cost them just $41.85.

The dog in the case, a young colli-shepherd, is the property of James Fye, of Marsh Creek. On the 30th of July Mr. Fye had driven in to Howard in a two horse wagon, the dog following along. Emenhizer and Packer had also gone to Howard with a two horse team. The two young men were not far behind Fye on the way home and the dog evidently got mixed in the teams and followed that driven by Packer instead of that of his owner.

When they got far enough into the foothills of the mountains so they would not be detected, it is alleged, the young men stopped their team, caught the dog and while Packer held him Emenhizer cut off all but about four inches of the bushy tail. Thus maimed the dog went home and when Mr. Fye discovered what had been done he had no doubt as to who were the guilty parties.

George S. Glenn, of Bellefonte, humane officer for Centre county, was notified on August 30th he went to Howard and before 'Squire A. A. Pletcher swore out a warrant for the arrest of Emenhizer and Packer. The young men were placed under arrest and Saturday of last week was fixed as the date for the hearing before 'Squire Pletcher, but rather than appear for a hearing they appeared before the justice last Friday and settled the case by paying the fine and costs, a total of $41.85. This should be a warning to others that it does not pay to be inhuman to dumb animals.

Why the Pike Alley Sewer Leaked.

On several occasions during the summer Dr. C. M. Parish appeared before borough council and complained about sewer water draining into the cellar of his new building every time it rained hard, maintaining that the sewage must come from a leak in the sewer on Pike alley. Borough manager Seibert expressed the conviction that the drainage came from filled up cess pools east of the Parrish building.

No one, however, doubted the doctor's assertion that sewer drainage into his cellar was not a very desirable thing and finally borough council ordered a new iron sewer pipe laid which, once sealed, would prevent any leakage. Consequently the iron pipe was secured and men were put to work digging the ditch for the new line and then the mystery of the sewage drainage into the Parrish building was uncovered.

In the old building there was a sewer connection with the Pine street sewer but when the doctor erected his new building he connected with the main sewer on Allegheny street. And in erecting the wall and chimney the workmen in charge had simply cut the connection to the Pike alley sewer and never plugged the opening. The result was that during hard rain storms, and at other times when an excess of sewage was sent down the Pike alley sewer it could not help but run right out of the sewer connection against the foundation wall of the Parrish building, and of course seep through into his cellar. But the condition was one in which the borough was not at fault.

Bellefonte and Jersey Shore Contenders for League Pennant.

The Susquehanna baseball league season was officially declared closed on Monday by C. C. Crouse, of Williamsport, president of the association, who also declared the Bellefonte team the winner of the second period. Owing to so much rainy weather during the summer each team had quite a number of postponed games, but inasmuch as the season was scheduled to close on Labor day regardless of the number of postponed games, president Crouse had no alternative in the matter.

Jersey Shore, having won the first series of games and Bellefonte being declared the winner of the second series, these two teams will now have to play five games to decide the championship of the league. The first of these games was played on Hughes field, Bellefonte, yesterday afternoon, but had not been decided when the Watchman went to press.

Academy Will Open Next Tuesday.

The Bellefonte Academy will open its fall session on Tuesday, Sept. 14th, at 9 a. m. Students in Centre county who wish to enter the Academy this fall are requested to report for enrollment at that time.

Mr. A. P. Ringler, of Gettysburg College, Princeton University and the University of Wisconsin, has been added to the already large faculty to assist in the mathematical and modern language departments. Mr. Ringler was a teacher at the Academy before the World's war and proved himself a strong teacher and a good disciplinarian.

The prospects for another successful year in scholarship and in athletics are very bright.

Few Centre County Farmers to Motor to Sesqui Next Week.

As it looks now comparatively few Centre county farmers will go on the proposed motor trip to Philadelphia, next Monday, to attend agricultural week at the Sesqui-Centennial. According to county agent R. C. Blaney, yesterday, the rainy weather of last week undoubtedly had a deterring influence on many farmers who were considering the trip but he hesitated in saying they would go because of the uncertainty of weather conditions. This week a few farmers have informed the county agent that they would like to go and if they can arrange their affairs will be on hand on Monday morning. Mr. Blaney, however, is not expecting a large delegation, stating that there will probably be not over half a dozen cars. But he is going. He will go on the schedule time as published last week and any farmer who intends going should report at the court house, Bellefonte, not later than eight o'clock on Monday morning.

The Hess Party is Off Again After Big Game.

The call of the wild is on Centre county's big game hunters again. Lured on by the thrills of their experience in British Columbia last fall Newton E. Hess, of State College, and his brother Ernest, of Boalsburg, left on Wednesday for the "Packson's Hole" country of Wyoming.

With duffle bags bulging and faces beaming in expectation of a great time in the Rockies the brothers boarded the Lehigh after telling their friends that they had set no time for their return and were going to stay as long as the chase offered good sport. Newt confided to us that he doesn't intend coming back until he brings down an elk, even if it takes until next spring.

Their destination was Cody, Wyoming, which place will be their base while on the expedition.

The remains of Lieut. Cyrus W. Bettis, who died in the Walter Reed hospital, Washington, on Wednesday of last week as the result of injuries sustained when his plane crashed in the Seven mountains on Monday, September 23rd, were taken to Port Huron, Mich., his home town, for burial on Tuesday. A small fleet of army planes flew over the cemetery during the services at the grave.

Argument on the petition of Geo. A. Beezer, Geo. H. Yarnell and Josephine Grenoble in the Centre County bank matter has been set for next Tuesday before Judge Albert W. Johnston sitting in the U. S. District court. The petition seeks the removal of the present receivers and the transfer of control of the affairs of the bank from the courts of Centre county, back into the hands of the Federal courts.

One of the surprising things in connection with the quantity of rain that has fallen during the past several weeks is that it has had no appreciable effect on the streams in Centre county. While the water has been clouded several times from surface drainage it has not raised enough to be noticeable. But those farmers in the country who depend upon cisterns for their water supply are now well stocked up.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company has started a campaign against the careless automobile driver who not only endangers his own life but the lives of others by taking reckless chances at grade crossings. The company has had published a neat booklet entitled "Cross Crossings Carefully," which contains many valuable pointers for the man who thinks he can beat a train over a crossing and get away with it safely.

Anthony Pantallo, a sixty-two year old Italian, was brought to the Centre county jail from Philipsburg, last Friday, for alleged misdoings with a fifteen year old girl, whose name has been withheld from publicity. Coincident with the arrest of Pantallo Mrs. Lydia Daughenbaugh was also arrested for keeping a disorderly house and in default of five hundred dollars bail was committed to jail to await trial at the next session of court.

Last Friday's Philadelphia papers came out with a scare story in effect that two army fliers had been lost in the mountains of Pennsylvania while flying to the air races in Philadelphia. The intimation was that they had come down in either the Allegheny or Seven mountains, but fortunately there was no foundation for the story, as the fliers had never entered Pennsylvania, one of them coming down at Dayton, Ohio, and another at Moundsville, W. Va.

Representatives of the Crouse-Hinds company, of New York city, were in Bellefonte last week giving a night demonstration on the Diamond of their four way traffic signal. The signal is equipped on the four sides with three lights, red, which means "stop," violet, which means "caution," and green, "go." It is an electrical signal automatically operated but the price of over three hundred per did not appeal very strongly to the members of Bellefonte council who saw the demonstration.

Miss Thelma Williams Not Barred as "Miss Pittsburgh."

Court action was invoked in Pittsburgh, last Friday, to disbar Miss Thelma Williams, the nineteen year old Port Matilda girl, from representing that city as "Miss Pittsburgh" in the boardwalk beauty pageant at Atlantic City this week, on the ground that she was not a duly qualified resident of that section of the State. But the committee of actors and movie officials under whose auspices the contest for the selection of "Miss Pittsburgh" was held, refused to consider the disbarment proceedings and the brown-haired Centre county girl is this week parading among the beauties in Atlantic City.

Following her selection to represent Pittsburgh in the seashore pageant Miss Williams was taken in charge by the committee and for four days made rounds of the shops of the Smoky city while purchases of suitable clothing were made for her. On Friday she was taken to Washington, D. C., where she posed in moving pictures and a test made of her histrionic ability. On Monday she was taken to Atlantic City for the pageant which begun on Tuesday and which will close today.

Whether she is chosen "Miss America" or not she will be taken to New York city following the pageant and given a tryout in the movies and on the stage. So it is among the possibilities that the little girl from Bald Eagle valley may finally develop into a movie actress or a star on the legitimate stage.

Green Family Reunion.

The fifth annual Green family reunion was held at Runville on Monday. Arrangements had been made to hold the gathering in Locust grove but because of the wet weather the farm house on the George Walker estate farm was secured and the several heavy downpours during the day did not mar the pleasure of those in attendance. In the nature of such gatherings the big dinner was one of the most enjoyable features. It was decided to hold next year's reunion in Locust grove, at Runville, on Labor day. Those in attendance on Monday were as follows:

Thomas Green, wife and daughters, Dorothy, Minnie, Roberta and Anna May, and son Robert, and John Stevenson and wife, of Kersey, Pa.; Wolford Green, wife and daughters Stella, Lavon and Lois, son Clyde and Carrol Glans, of Brockway; Mr. and Mrs. William Green with their grand-son, Claude Shofstahl, of Dagus Mines; Miles Green, of Julian; Mr. and Mrs. John Green and son Roy, Mrs. John Robson and sons Raymond, Glen and Eldon, of Brookville; Mr. and Mrs. Orin A. Keller and sons Howard, Harold and Francis, and daughter Dorothy, of Brockport; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hayes and daughter Elsie, of Bradford; Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Hall and daughters Elsie and Ethel, and son William, Charles Houtz, wife and son Walter and daughter Mary, of Fleming; Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Hancock and daughter Helen, of Philipsburg; Mrs. Poorman, Mr. and Mrs. Dunkle and son William, of Milesburg; and Mrs. and Mrs. Elias Hancock, Rev. A. L. Barnett, John Furl, wife and sons Edward, Arthur and Richard, of Runville.

Altoona Races Postponed Until Next Saturday.

Announcement has been made by the Altoona Speedway Association that the Labor day, 250-mile speed classic is postponed until Saturday, September 18.

Steady rainfall during the last week-end followed by a cloud-burst Sunday flooded all land adjoining the speedway property.

Joint conference was called by the speedway management, in which drivers, speedway officials and A.A.A. representatives were present. Conditions about the track were investigated with a result that unanimous consent was reached on postponement.

Delaying the staging of the race at this time will offer additional assurance of a more carefully selected group of eighteen starters from the twenty-three entered. In announcing the new race date the drivers and mechanics will be afforded an additional opportunity to tune their cars to a higher degree of efficiency. Qualification tests can therefore be accomplished more readily than would have been done in the recent short interval between rains.

All tickets held for the Labor day date will be honored on September 18.

Rockview Penitentiary Without Pie on Tuesday.

Rockview penitentiary was minus pie on Tuesday, only in this case it was not the table dessert but Pie, a negro inmate, who made his escape from the early morning gang at work on the big impounding dam in McBride's gap. The early gang goes on duty shortly after six o'clock and a few minutes after they arrived on the mountain Pie ducked into the dense underbrush and disappeared.

He was sent up from Erie county for from six to twelve years for robbery and had five years yet to serve. He is 35 years old, 5 feet 7 1/2 inches tall, weighs 155 pounds and light in color.

Mrs. J. Will Conley is offering her home on Logan street for rent for the winter. The house is in an exceptionally good condition, well furnished and with all modern conveniences. Those wanting a furnished house could not find one more comfortable or desirable than that of Mrs. Conley. 34-3t.
