SECOND WEEK OF

SEPTEMBER COURT. All Commonwealth Cases were Cleaned Up Last Thursday.

When the Watchman went to press last week the case of the Commonwealth vs. Harry McCloskey, of Liberty township, was on trial. Mr. Mc-Closkey was charged with illegal possession and sale of liquor, the prosecutor being A. R. Fox, of the State police. Information was made on the alleged purchase of some liquor by a member of the constabulary in July, 1926, but when a raid was made a few days later on the McCloskey home no liquor was found. The jury returned a verdict of guilty as indicted and the defendant was sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution and a fine of $100.

The last case tried was that of the Commonwealth vs. Henry Spangler, indicted for possession of liquor. eant of the State police. This case was also from Liberty township and grows out of the same state of facts as reported in the trial of the case against Henry Spangler for the sale of liquor, at May sessions of court.
