Last Thursday evening a Star car driven by Harold Dreiblebis and a Ford coupe operated by J. W. Sunday had a collision at Pine Hall. No one was injured but the Star was somewhat damaged.

Hearing a noise in his hen house, on Monday night, H. S. Illingworth started to investigate, and was surprised to see a man emerge with a turkey under each arm. The turkey thief was so surprised he dropped his spoils and made a getaway.

The monthly meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the Methodist church was held at the I. O. Campbell home, at Fairbrook, on Monday evening. Four new members were enrolled. The next meeting will be held at Meek's church.

Seventy or more relatives and friends invaded the Moore home, near here, last Thursday evening, for a reunion of the Moore family. The affair had been planned for out of doors but the rain made it necessary to go inside. A big dinner was naturally the feature of the gathering. The day was spent in social intercourse and merry-making. The guests of honor were John C. Moore and wife, who came here last week from Des Moines, Iowa, where they attended the national encampment of the G. A. R. Mr. Moore was the dean of the clan, being 81 years of age. He was born near Boalsburg, Centre county, and served throughout the Civil war in Company G, 77th Penna Vols. After the war he located in Philadelphia, but later moved to Chester where he now lives. Before the gathering adjourned, last Thursday, it was decided to hold next year's reunion at the same place.

Mr. and Mrs. William Noll are spending this week in Philadelphia with their three daughters, and also taking in the Sesqui.

Small Cost of Modern Highway.

Many are wont to sigh for the simplicity and economy of the "good old days."

They see the nation headed for the bow-wows on a wave of extravagant public expenditures, not realizing that for many of our superior advantages we pay far less—partly because there are more of us—than our ancestors paid for ways that were far from being as pleasant or contributing as much to the happiness and fullness of life.

Take our public roads, for example. In the first years after the colonies became a republic, funds were so meager and the people so poor that the commonwealth could not assume the burden of road building. Instead private companies were formed to build and maintain turnpikes for which service they are authorized to charge a toll for the use of the road, says the Maine Motorist.

On June 14, 1796, the first turnpike company in New Hampshire was organized. A schedule of tolls running from one cent per mile for every ten sheep or hogs up to three cents per mile for wagons, stages, private carriages and like conveyances drawn by horses was legally permitted the company.

These old roads were very poor. Ruts were left unsmoothed, bridges sagged and fell in, vehicles were mired in the mud holes. Yet the toll companies claimed their returns were so small they could not afford repairs.

Imagine a present-day motorist traveling over one of these roads and being stopped every two or three miles by a gate which he could not pass without paying a toll.

Compare this with the cost of traveling on a modern, paved highway. It will surprise many to learn that our modern highway is the cheaper of the two—far cheaper.

A hard surfaced pavement today costs about $27,000 per mile. Grading, draining, fencing, etc., bring the cost of the whole improved road to about $35,000 per mile, the actual cost depending upon the locality where it is built and the amount of grading required. At 6 per cent, the yearly interest on this total cost is $2,100. The sum which must be put aside each year to replace the pavement at the end of 20 years is $900. Maintenance may be estimated at $200 a year. The total yearly cost of a mile of modern pavement is then $3,200.

If an average of only 500 vehicles per day passes over the mile of improved pavement the cost then is only 1.73 cents per vehicle per mile. This is but little more than half what our ancestors used to pay to travel the mud and dust and ruts of the "good old days."

A Booklet for the Motorists.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 29.—Copies of "Facts Motorists Should Know," the traveler's guide, issued by the State Department of Highways, are being mailed to all persons in the State who have sent requests for them and have sent postage stamps.

97,000,000,000 Cigarettes to be Smoked This Year.

Engines are not going to do all the puffing this year, for it is estimated that there will be about 97,000,000,000 cigarettes smoked in the United States in 1926. Figures on tobacco taxes issued on Monday by the Bureau of Internal Revenue disclosed an increase of about 22,000,000,000 in the use of cigarettes since 1925.

The country will consume about 8,100,000,000 cigars in 1926, an increase of 1,000,000. About 40,000,000 pounds of snuff and 393,675,000 pounds of tobacco that will be used this year represent material increases over 1925.

Popularity of bridge is held responsible for greater sales of playing cards upon which were paid a tax of $531,484 from July 1 to September 1. Radio bridge lessons are said to have nearly doubled the playing of this game.

Penn State Active in Military Circles.

Because of limited financial aid from the federal government for military instructional purposes at the Pennsylvania State College, enrollment of advanced students in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps has been limited this year to the size of the staff of two years ago. Many more upper class students who are eligible have sought enrollment in the Officers' course, but could not be accepted. The full enlistment of over 1600 freshmen and sophomores is now training in a basic course under the direction of the military department in charge of Lt. Col. Clenard McLaughlin and staff. The engineering corps is also filled to capacity and is under the supervision of Major C. H. Cunningham.

Are You "Toxic?" It Is Well, Then, to Learn the Importance of Good Elimination.

FUNCTIONAL inactivity of the kidneys permits a retention of waste poisons in the blood. Symptoms of this toxic condition are a dull, languid feeling, drowsy headaches and, sometimes, toxic backache and dizziness. That the kidneys are not functioning as they should is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Many readers have learned the value of Doan's Pills, stimulant diuretic to the kidneys, in this condition. Users everywhere endorse Doan's. Ask your neighbor!
