Fred Bortoff Goss and wife left our town last Tuesday and have taken quarters at State College, where they both are holding down good positions.

An entertainment is billed to be put on in the I. O. O. F. hall here this coming Saturday evening, at 7.30 p. m., by the Warriorsmark High school.

Rev. J. M. Kirkpatrick is planning to spend the month of February, as his annual vacation, among the ferns and roses in Florida and other southern States.

A Nash sedan, driven by some unknown person, skidded on the ice on the Oliver Hill, crashed through the fence into the meadow, with the wheels skyward.

Installation of officers of Washington Camp, P. O. S. of A., No. 620, will take place this (Friday) evening at 7.15, in the I. O. O. F. hall, and a full turnout is expected.

Charles Fitzsimmons, one of the Penn's most trusted engineers, spent several days the latter end of the week with the H. B. Harman family, at Rock Springs.

Rev. Ralph Illingworth, a chip of the old block, was a guest at the home of his brother, H. S. Illingworth, at White Hall, recently, and greeted old chums along the line.

Farmer Earl Spencer, of Pine Hall, a grower of Holstein cattle, sold the head of his herd, Deacon Bonner. It tipped the beams at the nineteen hundred and ninety pound notch.

Indications are that our community will be represented at the agricultural and horticultural exhibition to be held at Harrisburg, January 17th to 20th, including Gov. Fisher's inauguration.

The venerable A. S. Walker, out on a stroll Sunday afternoon, had a fall on the icy sidewalk that stoved him up considerably. He was able, however, to make locomotion go the next day.

Mrs. Charlotte Kepler departed on Thursday to spend the winter with her daughter Florence and Dr. Devoe Meade, at the Maryland Agricultural College, near the National capital.

Mrs. Cyrus Goss has closed her home on west Main street and gone to Harrisburg to spend the winter with her son Charles, who is passenger conductor on the Pennsy Middle division.

After spending the Yuletide with friends in Washington, Pa., and with his old neighbor, E. M. Watt and family, at Swissvale, Pa., A. S. Bailey returned home Sunday afternoon, perfectly delighted with his visit.

The venerable Phillip Straw, one of the representative citizens of Julian, spent the latter end of the week visiting relatives and friends, with headquarters at the C. H. Meyers home, at Fairbrook, and also spent Friday at the scenes of his boyhood days at Shingletown and Boalsburg.

Friends of W. Frank Strouse, who was born and raised in College Twp., a this county, will regret to learn that a serious break in the health of Mrs. Strouse has necessitated the closing of their home at Roland Park, a suburb of Baltimore, in order that she might be under the observation of specialists in Washington.

Mrs. John Quinn entertained a number of her lady friends at her home, last Wednesday, to a chicken dinner with all of its accompaniments. The ladies from out of town were Mrs. J. M. Kepler, Mrs. John H. Bailey, Mrs. Mary Glenn, Martha Everheart, of Franklinville, and Mrs. W. S. Bailey, of Altoona, were honor guests.

Penn State President will be Farm Show Speaker.

The first public address to be given by Dr. Ralph D. Hetzel, since becoming president of the Pennsylvania State College, will be on the occasion of the opening convocation of the annual State Farm Products Show at Harrisburg on Tuesday evening of next week, January 18th. Farmers of Pennsylvania should make an effort to hear his message at that time, for he represents the great agricultural program that is being conducted by the College through its school of agriculture, extension and research services.

President Hetzel will also be a speaker at the banquet of the Dairy-men's Association on Wednesday evening of farm show week. Other speakers on both programs will be Governor John S. Fisher and State Secretary of Agriculture Frank P. Willits. Members of the Penn State agricultural faculty and extension specialists will be speakers on virtually all association meeting programs during the week.
