Mid-year Graduates at State College Number Sixty-seven.

Sixty-seven degrees were awarded Tuesday night at the fourteenth annual mid-year commencement at the Pennsylvania State College, by President Ralph D. Hetzel. Of this number, 59 were bachelors of science or arts, and eight were advanced degrees from the graduate school.

The Rev. Moses R. Lovell, of Washington, D. C., gave the commencement address. The usual formalities were observed and a new custom established in the formation of the procession. Instead of the president and the commencement speaker heading the procession, as has been traditional for years, the graduates were given this honor. The graduates, including those to receive advanced degrees, were tendered an informal reception Tuesday afternoon by President and Mrs. Hetzel, at their residence on the campus. Parents and friends of the graduates also attended.

Each of the six undergraduate schools was represented in the graduating class. The school of education had 16 graduates; liberal arts 18; agriculture nine; chemistry and physics five; engineering 10 and mines and metallurgy one.

A bride of a few months was included on the second honor list, Mrs. Thelma Roof Bull, of Monroeton, who last fall married William I. Bull, of Kennett Square, a graduate of last June, whom she will now join in West Virginia where Mr. Bull is engaged in forestry work.

Among those who took second scholastic honors was Miss Julia J. Fisher, of State College.

Centre countians on the list of graduates included Edward L. Willard, and Julia Fisher, of State College; Thomas Babcock, of Philipsburg, and Frank M. Hosterman, of Boalsburg.

Board of Trade Organized at Howard.

A number of business men of Howard met in the old school building on Main street, last Friday evening, and organized a Board of Trade for Howard, electing the following officers:

President, J. Will Mayes; vice president, Walter Yearick; secretary, Rev. L. F. Sheetz; treasurer, W. C. Thompson. W. K. McDowell, W. C. Horton and A. A. Schenck were appointed a membership committee, who were instructed to send out invitations to all business men, merchants and others interested in the general welfare of the town to attend the next meeting which will be held on Friday evening, March 4th, at the same place, when members will be received.

The object of this new organization is to work for the welfare of the town and advertise it and assist in securing industries for the town.

John B. Payne, Harry M. Murtorf, Harry Yeager and Claude Herr, of Bellefonte, were present at last Friday's meeting and gave some very helpful suggestions, which were greatly appreciated by those present.

Howard is very favorably situated for all kinds of industries, and has a splendid supply of water, while large deposits of brick clay and ganister rock are found near its limits.

Master Plumber Appointed Postmaster of Philipsburg.

John Hirst, a master plumber of Philipsburg, has also proven himself an efficient plum picker. On Monday he was appointed postmaster of that town as successor to the late Frank B. Wythe. So quietly did Mr. Hirst go about seeking the appointment that he literally had it in his vest pocket before anybody knew he was after it. In fact quite a number of applicants were still seeking signers to their petitions after Mr. Hirst had been notified of his appointment, all of which is considered as evidence that he had some strong influence back of him.

New Coach Attends Football Banquet at Bellefonte Academy.

Among the one hundred or more people who attended the annual football banquet, held at the Bellefonte Academy on Saturday night, was Russell Magee, the young athlete chosen as the successor of Carl G. Snively as football coach. This was his first appearance at the Academy and he made a very favorable impression upon the student body in general and football material in particular.

Representatives from a number of colleges were also included among the guests and headmaster James R. Hughes, who presided as toastmaster, took occasion to state that the Academy was not prejudiced in favor of any college so far as trying to exert an influence over any of its athletes in the matter of selecting a college at which to complete his education. Last year Bellefonte Academy boys were found on nineteen college teams.

Mr. Magee and coach Snively also made brief talks to the students. Among the speakers of the evening were Neil Fleming, graduate manager of athletics, of State College, who talked on "Athletic Problems;" Paul Brogley, who discussed "The Impressibility of Youth;" "Chic" Meehan, New York University coach, who talked on experience on the subject, "The Academy Hard to Beat;" coach Carl G. Snively and the new coach, Russell Magee.

One of the features of the evening was the presentation to Capt. Hood of a beautiful pipe by three Bellefonte admirers, Robert Hood, Harry Walkey and C. F. Tate, in recognition of his remarkable services on the Academy football team and the Bellefonte baseball team.

Among the guests of the evening was Russell Stein, selected in 1921 by Walter Camp as first choice for all-American tackle. Stein graduated at W. & J., and is now a resident of Bellefonte, being connected with the State Highway Department.

Bellefonte Noses Out Hollidaysburg 23-22.

A rally during the closing minutes of the game gave Bellefonte a hard-earned victory over Hollidaysburg High last Friday night. Coach Riden's boys seemed to be in a slump and found it difficult to compete against the fast teamwork of the visitors. Hollidaysburg was leading at half time 14-6. When play was resumed the Red and White caged three double-deckers in succession. The spurt was of short duration and not until the final half-minute of the battle did the local team gain the lead. A shot by Furey pierced the net just a few seconds before the whistle blew. A discussion followed the game as to whether the goal should count or not. The referee's decision in favor of Bellefonte ending the controversy.

Houtzdale will come here this (Friday) night. The visitors will bring with them a strong team, but Bellefonte must win in order to be in the running for championship honors.

By winning Friday's game Bellefonte stepped up to third position in the Mountain league, the standing of the clubs to date being as follows:

	Won	Lost	P. C.
Philipsburg	8	0	1000
Houtzdale	7	1	875
Bellefonte	5	2	714
Hollidaysburg	5	3	625
Tyrone	4	3	444
Lewisstown	3	5	375
Mt. Union	0	8	000
Huntingdon	0	8	000

Tuesday's Kiwanis Luncheon.

In the absence of president W. Harrison Walker vice president James R. Hughes presided at the Tuesday luncheon of the Kiwanis club, at the Brookhollow house. Guests present included Ralph Dinsmore, of Wilmington, Del.; Herbert Beezer, Bellefonte; Jeff Messmer, Dan Wieland and "Bobby" Miller, of State College. Kiwanians John Rossman and Frank Hockman gave brief talks on their trip to Florida and a beautiful birthday gift was presented Miss Berenice Crouse, the skillful pianist. Rev. Homer C. Knox making the presentation.

The speaker of the evening was "Bobby" Miller, of State College Kiwanis, who talked on the inter-club idea. He advocated fraternal meetings as a means of both pleasure and profit.

President Walker's instructions to the two councilmen from the South ward, at the regular meeting of borough council on Monday evening, to come prepared at the next meeting of council to make a recommendation for a third official from that ward, has naturally caused some speculation as to who may be chosen. Rumor has it that John Hartwick is being considered as a successor to the late Thomas S. Hazel. His election by council would be good only until the next regular councilmanic election, which will be next November. At that time there will be four councilmen to be elected. The term of John S. Walker will expire with this year and also the terms of Harry Badger and Harry Flack, in the South ward. No changes will take place in the West ward lineup this year.

The Scenic's Coming Photoplays.

We take great pride in calling your attention to our coming attractions. During our past nineteen years of exhibiting we have never offered the public such entertainment, and we believe you will also agree after you look over the following program, which has been arranged with much difficulty and at considerable expense. Nevertheless we must keep in line with our slogan, "Presenting the better class of photoplays," and realizing that nothing but the best in screen entertainment will please you we submit the following program for your approval:

This Friday and Saturday we offer you "The Popular Sin," made by Paramount, with Florence Vidor and Olive Brook. You all know the stars and who made it.

Next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, First National presents "McFaddin's Flats," with Charles Murray and Chester Conklin. Use your own good judgment on this 8 reel special.

Thursday is Bebe Daniels in "Stranded in Paris," with Ford Sterling. Please bear in mind this is for one day only.

Friday and Saturday Paramount presents Richard Dix and Betty Bronson in "Paradise for Two." You are well acquainted with the company that presents it and the stars are old favorites.

To balance up such a program we have the greatest comedies on the market, and they are Mack Sennett's which you all know so well. Fox news, mightiest of all, Wednesday and Saturday. Screen Snapshots and other single reels of importance.

Topping it off we have the beautiful toned Robert Morton organ, which you all know is one of the finest organs you ever listened to. With such photoplays, comedies and music one can surely expect the Scenic to be Bellefonte's most popular fun centre. More coming next week. Look for it. 6-1t.

Deer Eat Farmer's Corn After it is Husked.

Every farmer in Centre county had trouble getting his corn in last fall because of the rainy weather, and some of them didn't get it all in.

Among the latter was George Fortney, of Boalsburg. He had huskers in the field as late as December 4th and on the evening of that day he had about one hundred bushels of husked corn laying in piles in the field which he intended leaving there over Sunday to dry.

But unfortunately it began to snow on Saturday night and the deepest snow of the season, about a foot of it, fell on Sunday and covered the corn so that it was impossible to haul it in. After the deer hunting season ended the deer began coming out of the mountain in search of food and in some way they discovered the corn piles in Mr. Fortney's field with the result that they ate all the corn that was husked as well as tore apart most of the shocks standing and ate that, literally stripping his field of all the corn left in it when the big snow put an end to the farmer's work of garnering his crop.

Planning to Forestall Motor Accidents.

Members of the State Highway patrol in Central Pennsylvania held a meeting in Altoona, last week, and mapped out a tentative program for a conference to be held in the same city in the near future which will have as its object the curtailing of automobile accidents during the coming summer. Automobile owners in Bellefonte, Altoona, Huntingdon and Bedford will be invited to sit in the conference in the hope that some plan can be devised which will make the highways, while not entirely foolproof, yet in a greater measure more safe for the average motorist.

It is a well known fact that at least ninety-eight per cent. of the motor accidents on public highways in the past have been caused either by carelessness or recklessness, and an intoxicated man at the steering wheel of an automobile is more to be feared than a man with a gun. If the public can be educated to regard the safety of their own lives as well as that of others it will cause far less friction with highway patrolmen.

Gordon Burd Dies as Result of Accident Near Wingate.

Gordon Burd, aged sixteen years, was so badly injured by being run over by a wagon on the farm of James Davidson, at Snow Shoe Intersection, last Thursday, that he died at the Centre County hospital on Friday morning. The young man was helping Mr. Davidson haul in corn fodder and in some way slipped and fell under the wagon while it was in motion. One of the wheels of the heavy vehicle passed over the lower portion of his body, causing internal injuries which resulted in his death.

He was a son of James (deceased) and Mrs. Catherine Burd and was born in Union township. His survivors include his mother and quite a number of brothers and sisters. Funeral services were held in the Free Methodist church at Unionville, on Monday afternoon, burial being made in the Oak Ridge cemetery.

—Move in! McFaddin's Flats will be ready next Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday at the Scenic, with matinees daily at 2 p. m. 6-1t.

Denver Post Credits Rev. Ard With "Remarkable" Address.

Mignon Baker, a feature writer for the Denver, Col., Post, paid an unusual compliment to the Rev. Wilson P. Ard, in a recent edition of that paper. It was because of an address that Rev. Ard had made to the Woman's club of Denver and was so highly complimentary that we know his many friends here will be interested in reading it.

Pinch-hitting for Dean Helms of the University of Colorado was the way in which the Rev. Wilson P. Ard of the Messiah English Lutheran church explained his unheralded appearance as speaker at the Woman's club Monday.

Granting his audience every right to feel disappointed when they had gathered to hear Dean Helms on "Attic Ideals in Modern Life," the Rev. Mr. Ard proceeded to wipe out every trace of disappointment by giving the most refreshing talk that has marked the sessions of the Woman's club for many a season. With seemingly unlimited command of rhythm from the cleverest jingle to the sublime passage from Browning, he built his theme around that bit of description of the temple of Solomon, "and upon the top of the pillars was lily work." This plea for a solid foundation for character that will flower into beauty he gave again in the words of Edwin Markham, who voiced the needs of the world, as beauty, bread and brotherhood.

In giving his audience five standards by which to measure their value to their community, the Rev. Mr. Ard counseled them to look back and see if they had lost any of the things that money cannot buy. Quoting Henry Van Dyke's "Patient Lover of Impatient Men," he built up his ideal of friendship. His second measure of value he gave as joy, defining it not as happiness or pleasure, but as the "joy that cometh from the Lord."

The gift of the heart, his third measure of value, Dr. Ard defined variously as love, compassion, pity, or "the touch of lily work on the top of the pillars" of character.

"By our ability to see we are to measure our value to our community," said Dr. Ard. "Having physically perfect eyes, we yet fail to see God about us. To one man a tree means fire wood, to another a beautiful interior trim for his house, to yet another grateful shade in summer's heat, and to Joyce Kilmer, the lovely handiwork of the God, who alone can make a tree."

It was under this fourth division of "Eyesight" that Dr. Ard reached his most exquisite height. He described what he had seen in a sunset over the Potomac, on the Pacific, at the Grand canon of the Colorado, and lastly in our Cheesman park.

As his fifth measure of our value to our community, he defended the overworked term "service" as that giving which is measured back to the giver, or as Markham sings:

"There is a destiny that makes us brothers;
None goes his way alone;
All that we send into the lives of others
Comes back into our own."

—On Tuesday evening Charles Thompson, fourteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson, who reside in the Beaver and Hoy row, volunteered to stay in the office of the Imperial Filling station while the regular attendant went out on an errand. While there there was a gas explosion in the stove and the boy was painfully burned on the face and left hand.

—A concert will be given in the Bellefonte Presbyterian chapel, on Tuesday March 1st, by Mrs. Louis Schad assisted by The Keystone Ladies quartet of Williamsport. An admission of seventy-five cents will be charged.

Little Sermon

Lo, the young intellectual!

He is esthetic.

He dwelleth among his kind and talketh confidently of his art. He leteeth his hair grow long and discontinue of Freud. He shaveth not, but he understandeth the futuristic. He laugheth to scorn the conventions and prateeth of free love. He derideth industry.

And yet, being hungry, he buyeth sustenance with money which his father hath earned. For he remaineth esthetic only so long as he is comfortable.

So we mock him, knowing in our hearts that we, too, would be esthetic. But for the absence of rich fathers. —Kansas City Times.

Beaten Path Monotonous

Our associations are greatly responsible for our lives. Happiness or otherwise follows upon the heels of our companions. The mighty help us to prevail. The great create an atmosphere for us. Train the heart and mind to be at home in the great places and to live on the broad plains. The superlative alone can give us cheer. Get away from the humdrum and regular. Sometimes have courage to depart into the country unknown. Remember, if a rolling stone gathers no moss, a fixed one gathers little else. It is earthbound.—Exchange.

Sharp

"Oh, doctor," cried a wild-eyed man, "I am dreadfully afflicted. The ghosts of my departed relatives come and perch on the tops of the fenceposts all round my garden when dusk is falling. I can look out onto the gloaming any evening and see a couple of dozen spooks sitting on top of the posts, waiting, waiting, waiting! What shall I do?"
"Sharpen the tops of the posts," came the cool reply.

Beautiful Specimen of Mounted Arctic Owl.

One of the most beautiful specimens of a mounted bird ever seen in Bellefonte is that of an Arctic owl in the show window of the Willard gents furnishing store, in the Bush Arcade. It is unusually large, snow white with light mottled black dots and stripes. The bird was killed in November on the Mrs. G. Murray Andrews farm, near Bellefonte, by H. C. Antis and was mounted by a Rebersburg taxidermist. It is the only specimen of its kind ever found in this section, so far as the writer can recall, and how it came to fly this far south of its native habitat is of course unknown.

Second Victim of Auto Accident.

Mrs. Louise Emery Mervine, wife of Dr. Graydon D. Mervine, of Lock Haven, died on Sunday as the result of injuries sustained on January 9th in an automobile accident on "Dead Man's Curve," on the Nittany valley highway. The accident occurred when four Lock Haven people were on their way home from Pittsburgh. R. J. Moquin was so badly injured that he died within three days. Mrs. Mervine's injuries consisted of a broken arm and body bruises. She seemed to be improving satisfactorily until Saturday when she collapsed and passed away on Sunday.

—The plumbing firm of Lyons and Witmer have contracted to buy the P. H. McGarvey building on Bishop St. It is one of the properties formerly owned by the T. R. Reynolds estate from which Mr. McGarvey bought it some years ago. He has been conducting a tire and accessory store there but the deal does not include stock. It is the intention of Lyons and Witmer to move their plumbing store and work shop to the new location as soon as transfer is made. Just when that will be is contingent on Mr. McGarvey's recovery from a recent injury that has confined him to the hospital.

—A ventilator and electric fan has been installed in the big fireproof vault in the First National bank of Bellefonte. It is not for the purpose of keeping the money cool but a precautionary measure against any person being suffocated in the event they should be locked in the big vault by mistake.

—The many friends of Mrs. C. F. Romick, of Nittany, who has been confined to bed for almost three years, will be gratified to know that even under such trying circumstances she is resting comfortably. Her daughter, Mrs. Anna M. Frain, is with her constantly.

—L. A. Schaeffer, who has been in ill health for much of the past year, suffered a relapse Monday, from which he is now slowly recovering at his home on east Curtin street.

—All jurors drawn for the first week of court, which will convene on February 28th, have been notified not to appear until Tuesday morning, March 1st.

—Charles Murray and Chester Conklin in "McFaddin's Flats," at the Scenic next Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday. Matinees daily at 2 p. m. 6-1t.
