The American Telegraph and Telephone Co.

A HALF CENTURY OF DEVELOPMENT.

In 1876 a single wire was stretched from Boston to Cambridge, a distance of two miles, and a few halting sentences were transmitted. To-day, by Radio Telephone, one can easily converse with London or San Francisco.

This great corporation is composed of twenty-four associated operating companies comprising the Bell Telephone system of the United States. Its total assets are more than three billion dollars.

The corporation is a holding company owned by 399,121 shareholders, the average number of shares held being 26 6-10. Last year the company earned $11.95 per share on the 9,790,000 outstanding shares and declared dividends aggregating $9.00 per share, leaving a net surplus of $26,494,000.

From a single short wire in 1876, when the first telephone message was transmitted, the company now has more than 12,000,000 telephones in use and over 6,000,000 miles of wire, while its range of communication has increased from two miles to thousands of miles.
