—The one place in Bellefonte that offers high character entertainment every evening in the week, is the Scenic. It's programs of motion pictures stand out as the very best produced in this country and abroad. They are late releases and up-to-date in every particular and can only be seen at the Scenic. If you are a movie fan you should be a regular and see them all.

—On Sunday morning, May 8th, 1921, M. A. Landsy reopened the Brockerhoff house as the new landlord after it had been closed for almost a year, and in the six years he has been in charge he has reestablished its reputation and put the hotel on a sound basis. He has also acquired the Bush property, on Spring street, which he remodeled and uses to accommodate the overflow of hotel guests.

—Mrs. M. H. Brouse, well known Bellefonte civic worker and for years a member of the school board, was taken to the Centre County hospital early yesterday morning, suffering desperately from illness that up to yesterday afternoon had not been satisfactorily diagnosed. She was in company with her brother, G. J. Clemens, a sailor in the U. S. Navy, who had been here for a visit and was returning to his ship. She was taken to Philadelphia by motor later on Sunday night.

—"Miss Pittsburgh," the young lady whose beauty and form won her the honor of representing the city of Pittsburgh in the national beauty contest, will be one of the head-liners in the Academy minstrels when they appear at the Moose theatre, Thursday evening, May 19. Her act should prove especially interesting to the ladies, at least the gorgeous display of gowns that is part of it. "Miss Pittsburgh" is a former resident of Centre county. Away from the spotlight that she is in now she is really none other than Miss Thelma Williams, formerly of Port Matilda, who was all unconscious of her beauty of face and figure until it was discovered by critics in the city of her adopted home.

PATTON TOWNSHIP CASE IN COURT ON MONDAY.

Patton township residents appeared in full force before his Honor, Judge Furst, in court on Monday, witnesses pro and con in the celebrated case of the supervisors of that balivick against the auditors in an action to compel them to approve a bill of $610 for the erection of a township building.

The supervisors are John Hartsock, A. C. Thomas and J. W. Blair and the auditors against whom action was brought, Harry Carson and Frank Hull.

The case dates back to early in 1925 when the supervisors decided to erect a township building. They purchased a plot of ground at Waddle and on it erected a one story frame building, 14 by 16 feet in size, which they averred could be used for storage purposes for the township's stone crusher and other roadmaking implements, and also as a place for holding the township elections.

When the supervisors announced their purpose of erecting the building some of the tax-payers voiced a protest and in order to give it legal status the auditors circulated a petition of protest, securing thereto the names of more than 180 taxpayers and voters out of a total of 206. According to the evidence submitted at the hearing on Monday, that notwithstanding this petition, the supervisors went ahead and erected the building and it stands there today, though it has never been used.

When the township auditors audited the accounts for 1925, they not only surcharged to the supervisors the bill of $610, the cost of the building, but refused to pass a bill for $175 paid by the supervisors for scraping township roads and covering them with ashes. In court, on Monday, the auditors testified that they offered as a compromise to allow the supervisors $100 on the bill of $175, but they refused to accept a portion of it, so they surcharged the entire amount.

As stated above, the case was originally brought in 1925 and various dates had been set to take testimony but something always turned up and the case was postponed from time to time, so that Monday was the first time it really got before the court.

Of course the supervisors, who are represented by Spangler & Walker, had a number of witnesses to prove their justification in erecting the building as well as fixing the township road with ashes, while the case of the defendant auditors, represented by W. D. Zerby, was also well supported by the testimony of quite a number of taxpayers who were opposed to the erection of the township building at that time, and who also condemned the practice of using coal ashes to make good roads.

But the matter is now up to Judge Furst, who will in due time hand down a decision, one way or the other.

Grand Jury Returns Twenty-five True Bills, Ignores Four.

In accordance with Judge Furst's recent promulgation the grand jury for the May sessions of court met on Monday, Mrs. M. H. Brouse, of Bellefonte, was appointed foreman, and in making the appointment the court stated that she had the honor of being the first woman to act in that capacity in the history of Centre county, and that she had been selected not only because she was qualified to fill the position but as a recognition of the public service she has rendered this community in many ways.

Thirty-one bills were presented the jury for action, two of which were withdrawn and four ignored. True bills found included the following:

Julia Grove, assault and battery and malicious mischief.

Henry Sents, Jr., involuntary manslaughter.

Henry Sents, Jr., operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

Floyd Johnstonbaugh, adultery.

B. H. Savercool, violation of auto laws.

John Kisinsky, violation of liquor laws.

George McCloskey, assault and battery with intent to ravish.

Burton Towery, assault and battery.

William McClellan, violation of auto laws.

Victor Devlin, F. and B.

Samuel Cartright, breaking, entering and larceny.

James Harris, involuntary manslaughter.

Benjamin Fink, Harold Stanton, John Shay, Mary Liner, Mrs. William Watts, Daniel Straw, Marcella Beals and Howard Walk, violation of liquor laws.

In its final report the grand jury criticised the uncleanness of the court house, recommended that the exterior wood work of the jail be repainted, recommended that the living room be divided and one part used as an office while the present office be converted into space for female prisoners, and suggested other repairs and improvements. A thorough renovation and cleaning of the court house was also recommended.

—At their rummage sale in the Bush house block, last Thursday and Saturday afternoons, the Woman's Auxiliary of the Centre County hospital cleared a little over two hundred dollars. Some heavy coats and clothing contributed and for which there was no demand at this time of year were turned over to Miss Mary H. Linn, who will have them boxed up and sent to the Near East relief.

$1.00 Makes You a Member.

There are many friends of the Centre County hospital at distant places, outside of the county who will not be called upon by a membership drive solicitor. All these friends and ex-Centre countians, reached by the wide circulation of this paper, who feel a desire to be one of the hospital corporation members and thus help the institution on its way to a larger service, may forward membership dues of one dollar or more to Ralph Mallory, Secy. of the Board of Trustees, Bellefonte, Pa. A membership certificate will be mailed in acknowledgment.

Academy Black Face Talent to Entertain Next Week.

Don't forget the Academy minstrels in the Moose theatre on Thursday evening, May 19th. They will produce a very amusing and entertaining program fully up to the high standard of former years. The first part will be the regular old fashioned minstrels, with catchy music, clever jokes, artful dancing, and tuneful ballads and choruses.

The second part will be a real Keith vaudeville. Miss Thelma Williams, a Centre county girl, who was selected to enter the National beauty contest last summer at Atlantic City, as "Miss Pittsburgh", has contracted with Headmaster Hughes to appear in her "beauty" stunt. She should be greeted with a crowded house. Other communities are giving her worthy ovations. Kennedy, Runkle, Farley and Fisher, stars of State College Thespians, will give clever song and dancing stunts. Herbert Beezer and Joe DeLallo in wonderful exhibitions of the terpsichorean art. Doc O'Dea, of Scranton, a remarkable whistler, has promised to entertain the audience and that means much. The opening scene representing the air plane crash and the dropping to earth of the ends imported from New Orleans will be a "hair raiser." This will likely prove the most thrilling part of the program. It will be worth the price of admission.

The chart opens at Zeller's drug store, Monday, May 16th, at 10 a. m.

Read the big posters. Watch for the street parade at 5.30 Thursday afternoon.

—Your name and every other member's name will be published in the hospital annual report.

Barrymore in 'Don Juan' at Cathaum, State College.

What has been acclaimed by critics everywhere as one of the most notable photoplays ever produced will be shown at the Cathaum theatre, State College, next Thursday and Friday, May 19 and 20. It is "Don Juan," in which John Barrymore has the outstanding role of his brilliant stage and screen career.

In "Beau Brummel," "The Sea Beast," "The Beloved Rogue," and other great pictures, Barrymore has firmly established himself as the screen's greatest actor. The story of "Don Juan" is founded upon the legend of the greatest lover of all the ages, and it has back of it a three-hundred year tradition that has inspired poets, dramatists, musicians and artists.

Barrymore fairly revels in the silken fascinations of the role of the greatest romantic lover. Amid scenes that range from an old Moorish castle in Spain to the glorious pageantry of Rome, he finds the beautiful ladies of his heart's desire, and loves them exquisitely. The picture is alive with flashing action and one of the greatest casts ever assembled supports Barrymore.

There will be a matinee on Thursday, starting at two o'clock, and the evening showings will begin at six.

Two Houses Burned at Port Matilda.

Fire at Port Matilda, on Monday, completely destroyed two frame houses and damaged another. Spread of the flames to other buildings was checked by the good work of the Neptune fire company, of Tyrone, which responded to a call for assistance.

The fire originated in the home of Paul Nichols, communicating to the home of William Cowher, both properties being burned to the ground. A third house caught fire but was not destroyed. The Cowher family saved all their furniture but the Nichols family lost everything they had. The loss is estimated at $15,000, only a small portion of which was covered by insurance.

—The attention of holders of second Liberty Loan bonds is called to an advertisement in another column of this issue. The bonds have been called for payment or exchange on November 15, next and as interest on them will cease at that date we advise holders to consult their bankers regarding the matter. Do it soon. Don't wait until the last moment and flood your banker with a deluge of work that he charges you nothing for doing.

The bills, as signed, include $2,100,000 for general maintenance, $270,000 for agricultural experiment, $630,000 for home economics and agricultural extension, and $1,000,000 for new buildings.

Governor Fisher also signed the omnibus road bill, with some reluctance, it was reported. This bill will add 28.30 miles of state road to those already taken over in Centre county, which is more than in any surrounding county. Blair will get 11.10 miles more, Clearfield 21.25, Huntingdon 11.36, and Bedford 15.56.

Other bills signed by the Governor were those increasing the hunters' license from $1.25 to $2.00 and the fisherman's license from $1.00 to $1.50.

Eight Volstead Law Violators Held for Court.

Justice of the peace S. Kline Woodring had a busy day, last Friday, hearing the cases of the eight persons caught in the state policemen dragnet, in the raid made in Bald Eagle valley, on Wednesday of last week, and the entire eight were held in one thousand dollars bail each for their appearance at the May term of court. One of the men for whom a warrant was issued, William Burns, an old offender, has not yet been captured.

The principal evidence against the accused was given by corporal Albert Davis, who had charge of the raid and private Thomas A. Buckley, who furnished the information upon which the search warrants were sworn out. Mr. Buckley testified that he had made his investigations at the request of the district attorney, and he further testified that he had purchased moonshine whiskey from all the parties arrested, paying from two dollars a quart up to seven dollars by the gallon. He swore that he had purchased a gallon from Harold Stanton for seven dollars and gave him a ten dollar bill in payment, but had not yet received his change of three dollars.

If all the cases go to trial next week some interesting developments may be expected.
