Trout fishermen are not furnishing much copy for the newspaper writers these days. Of course we realize that the weather has been somewhat against making successful catches, then again it may be that modesty prevents the successful fisherman from bragging about anything that he does get. So far, however, we have failed to hear of anything worth bragging about.

Just because ground has been broken for another motion picture theatre in Bellefonte is no excuse for not going to the scenic to see the movies shown there. A dozen new theatres would not make any change in the scenic program. Manager T. Clayton Brown has the distributor of all the best producers under contract and their pictures are furnished to only one theatre in towns the size of Bellefonte, so that to see the best picture the scenic is the place to go.

If you can't get it from your local druggist, or shoe dealer send fifty cents to W. H. Garman, Bellefonte, and a package will be mailed to you.

THIS WEEK'S COURT A WET SESSION.

Volstead Law Violators Predominate in Cases Disposed of.

The regular May session of court convened on Monday morning with the Hon. James C. Furst on the bench and the various court officers in their usual places.

This court was somewhat different from courts held heretofore by reason of the grand jury having met Monday of last week and passed on all the bills of indictment submitted to it by the district attorney.

On Monday morning, after hearing a few motions and petitions, the court went over the list of civil cases for trial next week and all on the list were marked for trial. This is unusual, as there always are continuances and settlements, but every case on next week's list is marked for trial.

The first criminal case that came up for trial on Monday forenoon was that of the Commonwealth vs. Floyd Johnstonbaugh. Prosecutor, A. C. Rocky. Indicted for adultery. The testimony in this case was short. After the second witness for the Commonwealth had testified the defendant changed his plea from that of not guilty to that of guilty, and was sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution, $250 fine and six months in the county jail.

Commonwealth vs. Victor Devlin. Prosecutor, Agnes Cole. Charged with a statutory offense. The defendant pleaded guilty and the usual sentence was imposed.

Commonwealth vs. John Kisinsky. Indicted for violation of the liquor laws. Prosecutor, J. C. Wedekind. This case was from Rush township and grows out of the same transaction which resulted in Alexander Roach being sentenced to the penitentiary some time ago on a shooting affray. The defendant is a foreigner, does not understand a word of English but related that he was not the maker of the liquor but that it was made by Mr. Roach while he stayed at his place, which was largely acquiesced in by the prosecutor. The defendant pleaded guilty and the court suspended sentence upon payment of costs and gave the defendant six months in which to settle.

Commonwealth vs. Burton Tooley. Charged with assault and battery and threats. Prosecutor, Florence Tooley. This case was from South Philipsburg, and was an action brought by the wife against the husband for an assault committed upon her. It was tried on Monday afternoon and resulted in a verdict of not guilty, but the defendant to pay two-thirds of the costs and the prosecutrix one-third.

Commonwealth vs. B. H. Savercool. This case was from State College and two cases were tried at one time. The indictment in one case was for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. The other indictment had two counts, one for possession of liquor and one for transporting liquor. Prosecutor, A. E. Yougel in both cases. The testimony on the part of the Commonwealth averred that complaint was made to chief of police Yougel that the defendant was operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor north of the borough of State College. That the chief went out with a friend in a taxi, found the defendant in his automobile with a passenger, that he ordered him out of his car into the taxi and had his friend drive the defendant's automobile. That he took the defendant to the office of a physician at State College who pronounced him under the influence of liquor, whereupon the prosecutor lodged him in prison and preferred the charge. That upon examination of the defendant's automobile after it had been taken into State College borough he found a jar containing moonshine whiskey. The defendant and his witnesses averred that he and his passenger had been to Bellefonte, and his passenger had become considerably under the influence of liquor and he was trying to induce him to start home and that he took two small swallows of whiskey from the jar to get his passenger to start home to State College. That the passenger put the quart jar in his coat pocket and that the defendant did not see it thereafter and that the whiskey had not been in the car before he was taken out of it and that he, the defendant, was not under the influence of liquor. The passenger admitted that he, the passenger, was very much under the influence of liquor and that he did not know anything about the condition of the defendant. The gentleman who drove the defendant's automobile to State College had noticed nothing particular about the defendant nor had he noticed any liquor in the car. The case was submitted to the jury on Monday evening and on Tuesday morning they rendered a verdict of guilty on a charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, and not guilty on the other charge but to pay the costs, but when the defendant was called for sentence the court called the attention of defendant's counsel to the fact that the verdict in operating the motor vehicle contained the statement that he was also guilty of possessing liquor for beverage purposes, being one of the counts in the other indictment. Counsel for the defendant took the position that the verdicts were illegally rendered, the jury had been allowed to separate and the verdict could not now be properly corrected and appended to the proper charge and moved the court to set aside the verdicts and grant a new trial, which was forthwith granted and the defendant ordered to enter into bail. Commonwealth vs. George McCloskey. Prosecutor N. R. Lamareaux, chief of police of Philipsburg. Indicted for assault and battery with intent to commit a statutory crime. The defendant pleaded guilty, and after some discussion sentence was suspended upon payment of costs, and the defendant given three months in which to pay.

Commonwealth vs. Sam Cartwright and Dolly Hendershot. Indicted for breaking, entering and larceny, prosecutor, Ernest Vinton. This case was from Rush township. The prosecutor is the owner of a farm which he occupied during the summer by himself and family and is away during the winter season. That he found people had occupied this house, used up the beds and ate food that was left at the house. That he subsequently learned that these defendants were the occupants. This case went on trial Tuesday forenoon and shortly before noon a verdict was rendered of not guilty.

Commonwealth vs. Marcella Beals. Indicted, first count, possession of liquor for beverage purposes. Second count, selling liquor. The testimony on the part of the Commonwealth showed that Thomas A. Buckley, a member of the state police, had visited the home of the defendant at Julian on April 2nd, at about 11.30 a. m., and alleged that he bought two gallons of whiskey from her. That he took the whiskey to Lock Haven, a sub-station, where he labelled it and locked it in his trunk and subsequently delivered it to the chemist at Bellefonte, the whiskey being in four different containers. The defendant strenuously denied the sale, stating that she had never seen Buckley until at the time of the hearing before the "Squire, and produced her book in which she kept the time of the men who were working for her in making repairs about the premises, which showed that on the second day of April at 11.30 they ate dinner with these working men and one of them was produced who swore that he did not see Mr. Buckley and that no one had called at the defendant's home. The defendant also produced her daughter and her son-in-law who swore that they were at the home of the defendant on Sunday, the 3rd of April, and that Mr. Buckley was not there on that day as he claimed to have been as they were there about 11.00 o'clock until late in the afternoon. The case went to the jury on Tuesday afternoon and resulted in a verdict of not guilty.

Commonwealth vs. Daniel Straw, prosecutor, Corporal Davis, located at the sub-station at Lock Haven. This man was indicted on two counts, one for selling to Thomas A. Buckley two quarts of whiskey and subsequently under the premises of the defendant were raided a ten-gallon keg of moonshine whiskey was found. The defendant is a man 67 years of age and entered a plea of guilty on both indictments. Sentence was suspended on the indictment for the purchase of the ten-gallons of whiskey upon payment of costs but Straw was sentenced on the other indictment to pay the costs of prosecution, a fine of $150 and three months in the county jail.

Commonwealth vs. Howard Walk. Indicted for violation of liquor laws, prosecutor, Albert Davis. The case was tried on Tuesday afternoon and a verdict was rendered of guilty as indicted.

Commonwealth vs. Mrs. William Matts. Indicted for violation of liquor law, prosecutor Albert Davis. The defendant who lives near Hannah Furnace with her children was charged with having sold liquor to one Thomas Buckley, a state policeman. She pleaded guilty and was sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution, $150 fine and three months in the county jail, but the prison sentence was postponed on condition that the costs will be paid forthwith.

Commonwealth vs. Mary Liner. Indicted on two accounts, possession and sale of whiskey. This case was likewise from Taylor township, and while there was considerable controversy over dates, etc., defendant was finally convicted of possession and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100, costs and spend thirty days in the county jail.

Commonwealth vs. Harold Stanton, violation of the liquor laws. Defendant pleaded guilty and was sentenced to pay a fine of $150, costs and three months in jail.

NEW SEWER ORDINANCE PASSED BY COUNCIL.

Price of Tap Boosted from $10 to $30 and $60 Dollars.

The most important piece of borough legislation put through at the regular meeting of borough council, on Monday evening, was the passing of an ordinance boosting the charge for sewer taps from $10 to $30 for a single house and $60 for a double house. The ordinance has been under consideration for some time and when brought up for final action on Monday evening was opposed by Mr. Cunningham, who expressed the belief that charges for taps should be based on the amount of sewage carried from a building instead of on a double, or single house. He declared that hotels, boarding and apartment houses should pay more than a private residence, etc. When an aye and nay vote was taken seven members voted in favor of the ordinance and Mr. Cunningham and Mr. Flack against it. Mr. Cunningham requested that his objections be recorded in the minutes.

When council convened four residents of Reservoir hill, Malcolm Young, Harold Benner, Blair Convey and Ernest Benner, were present, the first two to ask for a sewer extension to their houses and the last two for both water and sewer to new houses they intend erecting on Burnside street. The young men averred that they would only pay ten dollars a tap for the sewer, but were informed by president Walker that they would have to pay what council would decide on, if they got the sewer. In the meantime, the sewer request was referred to the Street committee and the Water request to the Water committee.

The Deitrick-Dunlap Cadillac company presented a permit from Harrisburg for the putting down of a gas tank and the installation of a pump at their garage on the corner of Bishop and Allegheny streets, and the matter was referred to the Fire and Police committee.

The Logan Fire company presented two bills totalling $60 for the repair of their hook and ladder truck which was damaged in a collision with an automobile while returning from a fire. The bills were referred to the Fire and Police committee for investigation and report.

The Street committee reported digging ditches for several sewer extensions and miscellaneous collections totalling $11.75.

The Water committee reported repairs to meters, laying a water line extension on west Lamb street, miscellaneous collections of $121.68 as well as $25 on the 1924 water duplicate, $14.50 on the 1925 and $333.50 on the 1926, a check for which was turned over to the secretary of council.

The Finance committee recommended that exonerations of $46.83 on the 1923 borough tax duplicate and $783.49 on the 1925 duplicate requested by tax collector Herbert Auman be allowed, and council approved the recommendation.

The committee also recommended that the tax millage for 1927 be fixed at the same rate as last year—10 mills for borough purposes, 10 for street and 5 for interest, and council so ordered.

Council also authorized the renewal of a note for $2000 and a new note for $2000 to meet current bills.

The Fire and Police committee reported receipt of a rebate of $9.75 from the American La France Fire Engine company on materials purchased by the fire companies.

Mr. Emerick asked the borough manager if he had a record of the exact cost of putting down the sewer extensions he is now working on, and suggested that records be kept for future reference. The borough manager said he could give exact costs when the sewers are completed.

Mr. Brouse, of the Street committee, reported that residents of north Allegheny street have signified their willingness to put down pavements as soon as they are given a grade, and this they will arrange to do soon.

Mr. Brouse also reported that the committee had made an inspection of the streets that needed top-dressing and to do the work will require 10656 gallons of oil and 444 tons of crushed stone, at an approximate cost of $3,000. The committee was instructed to get bids on both oil and stone, ascertain how soon the work can be done and report at next meeting.

Mr. Eckel stated to council that the Pennsylvania Railroad company has put a stop to all travel over the bridge south of the station and residents on both the north and south sides of Spring creek would like permission to put a footbridge across the stream. The matter was referred to the Special committee.

The report of the borough auditors for the year 1926 was submitted to council and on recommendation of the Finance committee it was accepted and an order made for its printing and distribution.

It was at this juncture in the proceedings that the new sewer ordinance was taken up, and passed. Bills totalling $2352.82 were approved for payment after which council adjourned.

The porch rockers have been shipped to the Bellefonte merchants who have been giving out the tickets, and you will be able to get your chair at the Y. M. C. A. in a few days. 20-1t
