JACK MORRISON STEALS MONEY AND AUTOMOBILE.

Captured in Erie and Brought to Centre County Jail.

Jack Morrison, a Bellefonte young man who has a record of various violations of the law, is again a prisoner in the Centre county jail with two serious charges hanging over him. Last Wednesday night he broke into the pool room of W. W. Bicketts, in the basement of the Brant house, and stole about sixty-five dollars from the cash register. Then he went to the A. W. Rishel barn, broke open the door and stole the Studebaker sedan of Charles T. Fromm, making a getaway before either robbery had been discovered.

Moonshine whiskey, however, proved Morrison's undoing. Motoring to Woodland, Clearfield county, he picked up a man by the name of J. C. Kelley. The two of them continued their journey to Erie and there the moonshine got in its work and both men were arrested for fighting. Erie police looked up the number of the tags on the car and found the license was in the name of C. T. Fromm, of Bellefonte. They promptly telephoned the Bellefonte police and were instructed to hold the men.

On Friday morning sheriff E. R. Taylor, accompanied by Frank P. Bartley, Kenneth Fromm and James Kane, motored to Erie, in the sheriff's car, and returned to Bellefonte Saturday evening with their prisoners and the stolen car. Kelley was brought along, not as a confederate in the robberies but as a material witness against Morrison.

Just as the man in charge of the pool room was in the act of closing up, on Wednesday night, Morrison entered and asked for change for a dollar bill. This gave him an opportunity to see that there was considerable money in the cash register. Thursday morning, when the man in charge went to open the pool room he discovered an open window with a broken pane of glass, and also that the cash register had been rifed of its contents. Suspicion at once pointed to Morrison and when the police failed to locate him around town, on Thursday, it became quite evident that he had committed the robbery and also stolen the Fromm automobile.

MEMORIAL SERVICES FOR SOLDIER DEAD.

Honoring the soldier dead, a custom established almost sixty years ago by veterans of the Civil war, and faithfully followed by them until their ranks became so decimated by the grim reaper that there are not enough left to do the work, is now being carried on by the younger and more virile organization, the American Legion, and in Bellefonte and vicinity the Brooks-Doll post most sincerely performed that solemn duty.

Beginning with Sunday morning the post, as a body, attended divine services at St. John's Catholic church where the Memorial sermon was preached by Rev. Father Downes.

In the afternoon members of the Legion with a detail of Troop B made pilgrimages to the Shiloh and Meyers cemeteries and held services for the soldier dead entombed in those places. Rev. Reed O. Steely was the orator of the day.

At 6:30 o'clock on Sunday evening the P. O. S. of A., escorted by the Odd Fellows band and Troop B, marched through the rain to the Union cemetery and held services for their deceased members. Federal Judge A. W. Johnson, was to have been the orator but was unable to be here and the address was delivered by J. Kennedy Johnston.

At eleven o'clock on Monday morning the American Legion, headed by the Odd Fellows band, marched to the Catholic cemetery and held services, the address being made by the post chaplain.

Services at the Union cemetery were held in the afternoon. The parade formed on Allegheny street, right resting on Bishop, and consisted of the Odd Fellows band, Troop B, G. A. R. veterans in automobiles, American Legion, P. O. S. of A., Girl Scouts, members of the Logan fire company and school children. The parade moved shortly before two o'clock and marched to the cemetery where the customary services were held. Rev. Homer C. Knox and Rev. Reed O. Steely were the orators of the day, while Prof. A. H. Sloop read Lincoln's address at Gettysburg.

Following the services the Civil war veterans were entertained at the Elks home, and only three reported. They were Newton Whippo, William Colpetzer and Samuel Shirk. This is a decided contrast to the first time the soldiers were entertained by the Elks. At that gathering sixty-three reported. Of course that is a number of years ago and most of that number has already answered taps for the last roll call.
