PARAMOUNT PRESENTS

CLARA BOW

IN

"Rough House Rosie"

An Introduction to "Rough House Rosie."

Ladies and Gentlemen, step right up and meet "Rough House Rosie"—the girl men never forget! When she meets 'em they're met right—when she leaves, they're left right. She's tough'n rough'n ready! Rosie may come from Tenth Avenue but she can go anywhere without having the old street hang its head in shame.

She knows her onions just a bit better than any Fifth Avenue debutante you've ever met. And, can she dance? Say, she knows her Charleston, Black Bottom, and anything else that's apt to be invented. Eyes? When she's out riding at night, the guy she's with can turn out his headlights. A form? She leads the chorus in a night club and any girl who can do that isn't far behind in figures. Cleopatra, Salome, and all the old timers put together would have to take a back seat and give this little girl a hand.

Also Fox News and Screen Snapshots. A genuine attraction for all classes.

Admission 15 and 35c.

Concluding Cases in May Term of Court.

Andrew Thal and Bertha Thal, his wife, vs. J. V. Foster, an action to recover damages sustained in an automobile accident on the road near Pottery Mills, on June 15th, 1924. The case was on trial two days, the jury awarding one dollar damages to each.

C. E. Hartsock vs. E. W. Winslow, an action in trespass to recover the value of two cows which the plaintiff alleged were struck by the defendants automobile, on the Buffalo Run road, on June 16th, 1925, and so badly injured that they had to be killed. The defendant denied liability but the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $200.

James F. Perry vs. Elmer E. Watson and Nannie E. Watson, being an action in ejectment to recover possession of about one hundred acres of land in Snow Shoe township. The plaintiff claimed that the defendants had originally purchased the land from two men by the name of Gates, for $800, to be paid for at the rate of $75.00 per year. The defendants failing to meet payments an article of agreement was given plaintiff for the land upon the payment of the balance of $400, which he alleged he did. The defendants, however, alleged that they were to continue in possession and repay the plaintiff the money that he had paid on the property. The jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendants.

Philip D. Foster vs. J. D. Musser, an action in replevin to recover possession of an automobile. In 1924 Mr. Musser sold a Jewett sedan to a Mr. Koon, the latter making a part payment by turning in another automobile, and giving a conditional sales contract for the balance. Later the defendant became financially involved and was sold out at constables' sale. Notice was given at the time that the title of the automobile was in the name of the defendant. A verdict was returned in favor of the plaintiff.

M. I. Gardner vs. Highland Clay Products company. Continued because of the illness of a material witness.

George A. Reiber vs. R. P. Campbell and Della Reiber vs. R. P. Campbell, an action in trespass to recover damages for injuries sustained in an automobile accident in Centre Hall on April 29th, 1926. Verdict in favor of the defendant in both cases.

Pier School for Delicate Children.

For children suffering from excessive malnutrition, or who have arrested tuberculosis, or who have even been exposed to that disease, Day Camp Manhattan is operated on East River Pier at the foot of One Hundred and twelfth Street, New York City, as a part of Public School 102. It is maintained jointly by the board of education and the board of health of the city, and has a full-time staff of teachers and five nurses, with a doctor in attendance for a part of each day. Until the opening of the pier school in the fall of 1925 an old boat was used for the purpose.

Pupils take the regular work for their grades, but have much individual attention. Three warm nourishing meals are served daily. All pupils are examined at least once a term by the physician, and an effort is made to see that each child who needs it receives special health care. Teeth of all children were recently cleaned by students from Columbia Dental College. Pupils sent to the pier school because of health conditions are released only on order of the physician.—Exchange.

New Altars Consecrated in St. John's Catholic Church.

Two new altars, erected in St. John's Catholic church by the Brockhoff estate to replace those destroyed by fire some months ago, were consecrated to the worship of God last week. The religious ceremonies began on Tuesday and continued through Wednesday. The consecration took place on Wednesday morning and was in charge of the Bishop of the Altoona diocese, the Right Reverend John J. McCort, D. D. Others who took part were Rev. The very Rev. John M. Boyle D. D., was master of ceremonies.

Fourteen priests from the Altoona diocese were present, most of them being entertained during their brief stay in this place at the Nittany Country club, the others being guests of Rev. Father Downes, at the parish residence.

Refutes Proverb About Ministers Sons.

Ministers' sons in Yale University rank highest in both classes rating and mental ability, as shown by recent analysis of returns from a student personnel survey of occupations of parents, conducted in the spring of 1926. Sons of ministers made the average mark of 79.6; lawyers' sons, 77.9; the combined professions of teaching and ministry, 77.8; medicine, 77.3; business, 76.1; engineering and science, 75.8; writing and artistic professions, 74.2; all others, 75.2. The mental test ratings were: Ministry, 63; writing and art, 62; law, 57; teaching, 55; combined professions, 55; medicine, 53; engineering and science, 50; all others 51. In the number of hours devoted to study, it was found that lawyers' sons put in the longest hours, and the sons of writers the shortest.—Exchange.

Army Car Drivers Must Share Road with Others.

Listed among the strict prohibitions observed by operators of United States army cars are: Smoking while driving, repeated sounding of horns, and holding back faster-moving cars. On dry, dusty roads the driver must run at reduced speed, so that no unnecessary dust will be raised to obscure the vision of other motorists. When meeting an approaching car the soldier-chauffeur is ordered to give it no less than half the road. If the road is narrow or rough he must slow down to half speed. No operator is allowed to halt on a bridge, narrow road or bend of the road. These traffic orders have been drawn up to provide the greatest possible saving of life, time and motor equipment.

U. S. Suggests Owl Traps to End Chicken Thefts.

Washington—Trap chicken stealing owls to prevent them from preying on poultry at night, the Agricultural department advises farmers. The government points out that a good way to trap owls is to make a small platform about two feet square, nail it on the roof of a low building, and bait it with a dead chicken. Gopher traps are placed around the chicken and when the owl steps up to obtain his feast it is caught. The department advises the removal of the traps as soon as the offender is caught so that innocent birds will not suffer.
