Henry S. At his first appearance before council he stated that the present sewer from the Masonic building runs through their property to Howard street and he then asked that it be repaired. On Monday evening, however, he entered a vigorous protest against permitting the Masons to relay a sewer through their property, suggesting as the best course for it from the building out to the Allegheny street sewer. John Ammerman, who lives in the Bush house block, on Race St., complained about the surface water, during hard rains, flooding his cellar. #### WANT LINDBERGH TO STOP IN BELLEFONTE.

Renowned Flier will be Asked to Land on Trip West. Burgess Hard P. Harris has extended an invitation to Capt. Charles Lindbergh, the hero of the two contimake good citizens. The committee nents, to make a brief stop in Bellefonte on his way west to St. Louis. Had it not been for the miscarriage of a letter Capt. Lindbergh would have stopped in Bellefonte on his trip from St. Louis to New York before his remarkable flight, so it is not be-M. C. A. They planned various events yound the possibilities that he might be induced to stop here, for a brief time, at least, on his way west next week.

As a means of impressing him with the urgent desire of Bellefonte people to greet him it might be a good idea for some of the leading business and professional men of the town to supplement burgess Harris' invitation. And this is where the Western Union Telegraph company comes in.

That company, in anticipation of a nation-wide desire on the part of the public to congratulate the intrepid flier has authorized a special rate for such messages to Capt. Linbergh to Washington. In fact a message of ten words can be sent for 30 cents. As these messages should be in Washington to greet the flier on his today or early tomorrow morning.

Of course, it is a certain fact that photographs, in which they specialize. most every city and town along the Bellefonte should have prestige over most of them because it has a government airmail landing field, and because it is currently reported that Lindbergh has stopped here on one or two occasions in making flights while he never flew regularly over the eastern route.

Escaped Convict Cries when Sentenced for Breaking and Escaping.

John Harrison Knapp, one of the three men who escaped from the Rockview penitentiary on the evening of April 21st, by cutting a hole through the wire stockade, was captured in Fort Wayne, Indiana, on Centre county jail on Thursday and sentenced for breaking and escaping by Judge Furst on Saturday morning.

Knapp's record showed that he was convicted at Sunbury for implication in the robbery of a jewelry store at Milton and sent to the eastern penitentiary for three to six years. After ern institution he was transferred to week. Rockview and had been there about a year when he escaped.

When called up for sentence Knapp stated that he was 39 years old and was a painter by trade and had spent most of his life traveling over the country. He denied that he participated in the robbery of the jewelry store at Milton but admitted that he had been arrested in Corry when engaged in an effort to dispose of three of the stolen watches which had been given to him by one of the robbers to sell; but stated that he did not know they had been stolen.

While he was telling his story to the court tears trickled down his cheeks and when Judge Furst told him that the court had no option in the matter of imposing sentence the man cried loud enough to be heard all during Miss Mitchell's stay. over the court room. The court gave him three to six years to compute sentence.

Bellefonte Has Personal Interest in Trans-Atlantic Fliers.

Bellefonte has had a personal interest in the success of the Trans-Atlantic fliers. While as an airmal pilot Capt. Charles Lindbergh never was a regular pilot on the eastern division he did on one or two occasions pilot ships over the course between New York and Chicago. As is well known, his ship "The Spirit of St. Louis," was built by the Ryan Airplane company, of San Diego, Cal., of which B. F. Mahoney is the president, and the latter's brother, Ivan Mahoney, was at one time a student at the Bellefonte Academy.

Charles R. Levine, the owner of the Columbia, which this week completed a successful flight to Germany, is a native of Pittsburgh, and two of his brothers have been students at the Academy, Bernard Levine, who completed his course last year and entered Syracuse University, and Philip Levine, who will complete his course next week and is counting on entering Harvard in the fall. Naturally both boys are proud of their brother for having made the trip in the Columbia.

-When John F. Marks opened up his uptown restaurant, "The Governor," last Thursday morning, he found the cash register open and $23 in change missing.
