Miss Ella Livingstone, of Bedford; Ed. Livingstone and sister and Mrs. Gibboney, of Salsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Randolph, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Koehler, all of Altoona, were guests at the St. Elmo on Sunday. Two hundred guests attended the silver wedding celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gilliland, at their home at Baileyville on the 10th instant. The affair lasted from two o'clock in the afternoon until eleven at night, and Mr. and Mrs. Gilliland received many silver offerings. Newton E. Hess, the big game hunter of State College, has got another attack of roamin' fever and went up to Altoona to arrange with his brothers, W. A. and John Hess, for another big hunt, although the location of their pilgrimage this year has not yet been divulged. The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Will Kepler was the scene of quite a gathering over Sunday. Mrs. Mary Coombs and Jacob Kepler, daughter and son, of Johnstown, and Miss Kathryn Kepler, of Washington, D. C., were all at home, and in addition were Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Chadman, who stopped enroute home from a two weeks outing in Canada. Mrs. Kepler was equal to the emergency and served a delicious chicken dinner. The same afternoon the Chadmans left for their home in Lancaster. Pennsylvanians lodge No. 276, I. O. O. F., held its customary Memorial services for deceased members on Saturday evening. With J. E. McWilliams as chief marshal, and led by the Citizens band, the members marched from their hall to the cemeteries for the exercises. Rev. J. S. English led in prayer while Rev. J. Max Kirkpatrick was the principal speaker. He spoke along the lines of good citizenship and his remarks were timely and interesting. The services had to be curtailed because of a hard rainstorm. The list of deceased members of Pennsylvanians lodge is as follows: Dr. J. R. Smith, Col. James Dunlap, James Erb, Robert G. Brett, Malin Harm, J. G. Heberling, J. C. Sunday, H. M. Krebs, Ray Albright, W. H. Musser, H. E. Sunday, Thomas Vaughn, O. P. Bloom, William Ripka, D. S. Erb, J. W. Fry, J. W. Lamison, O. F. Shaw, Cyrus Goss, A. G. Archey, W. K. Corl, W. H. Goss, D. H. Musser Thomas Archey. Your correspondent got back safe and sound from attending the 61st State encampment of the G. A. R., at Uniontown, last week, and first of all we must admit that while not as large as former encampments, the arrangements throughout were the best I have witnessed in years. At the campfire we had an ox roast, and it was undeniably delicious. The feast was roasted in Chicago and brought to Uniontown in big vats. It was some ox, at that, tipping the beam at 2500 pounds. Robert Sampsell, an old Pine Grove Mills boy, was head carver and because of this fact your scribe did not go hungry. Thirty-two years ago, or in 1895, I attended the national encampment in Louisville, Ky., where they barbecued 10 head of cattle, 40 sheep and 30 hogs, but that was a national affair and old soldiers were more plentiful then than now. Two thousand or more delegates attended the encampment last week, which began on Tuesday and closed on Friday. It included the G. A. R. and its affiliated organizations. Scranton was selected as the place for holding the encampment next year. John Patrick, of Hershey, was elected department commander. President in Power in Troublous Times James Buchanan, as fifteenth President of the United States, occupied the White House when the questions of slavery and states rights were dangerously fermenting. His administration, from 1857 to 1861, saw the prelude to the Civil war. Buchanan was born April 23, 1791. As a Pennsylvanian he disapproved of slavery, but being a strict constitutionalist and a Democrat, he held to official convictions. He publicly denied the right of secession, and refused to treat South Carolina representatives as foreign delegates. His chief difficulty was an unsympathetic congress. The Dred Scott decision and John Brown's raid on Harper's Ferry so stirred the nation during his administration that those events somewhat submerged his diplomatic accomplishments of settling the question of British dominion in Central America and by stopping Great Britain's "right of search" on American ships. The first Atlantic cable was laid in Buchanan's administration. Before he died, June 1, 1868, Buchanan wrote his own vindication of his administrative policies.—Exchange. First Silver Tokens in America's Coinage Old records show that silver tokens for making change were first used in this country in Annapolis. With the consent of the government, L. Chalmers, an Annapolis gold and silversmith, in 1783 turned out by hand sixpence, threepence and shilling coins, to combat sharpers who, after depreciation of paper money, began to cut five "quarters" out of silver Spanish dollars. Because of lack of change the cutting of Spanish dollar into halves and fourths was condoned, and even necessary, until it was discovered that expert cutters were reaping a small fortune. When expertly cut the fifth could be discerned from quarters only by keen eyesight or by weighing. Chalmers produced new standard coins and took the short pieces in exchange until the fraud was stopped. "Know Thyself" When we obey the command, "Know thyself," it does not mean merely that we shall learn our intelligence quotient, our lung capacity, our muscular strength, it means also that we shall know the origin and meaning of our powers and impulses. The injunction has, therefore, a historic as well as a present bearing and value. As in the case of fear we learn that impulses which may now be hindrances or actually destructive were once vitally important. We recognize their true place, utilize their value if they have any, or else banish them from our lives. As in one sense perfect love "casteth out fear, so in another sense perfect knowledge puts fear into its true place and makes man no longer its servant but its master.—Providence Journal. Music in Surgery Music has been employed successfully in an eastern hospital while operating on persons under a local anesthetic. Special headphones are worn by the patient, music being relayed from a phonograph in a distant room, so that it cannot disturb the surgeon or other attendants, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. It has been found that the tunes ease the patient's mind, divert his attention from the operation and thus make it easier for the doctors. Although the local anesthetic eliminates pain, in many cases difficulty is experienced while operating on persons under such conditions because they remain conscious and nervous. Insult to Injury An elderly man was cycling down the street when a dog rushed out from one of the doors and, getting under his wheel, threw him to the ground in a sitting position. The dog, in playing mood, rushed round him, seeming to enjoy it. A boy stood gazing at the two for a minute, and then inquired, in a quiet voice: "Did you fall?" "Well, I should think I did," said the man, rising and rearranging his clothing. "Ah," responded the youth, as he walked away, "I thought you couldn't have sat down to play with the dog." Uniforms for Women How can humanity revel when it is plagued with doubts about its dress? That is one reason why women should insist on a uniform evening dress. This uniform need not be worn always, but it should be obligatory on formal occasions. Men may be painfully perplexed as to the choice between "tails" and dinner jacket when no hint has been given, but they should realize that women are always in this position of wondering whether they have suited the dress to the occasion. A uniform is the solvent of such distress.—London Saturday Review.

A BUILDING NEARLY A QUARTER MILE HIGH. Plans for the 110-story Larkin Tower, to be built in West 42nd street between 8th and 9th avenues, New York city, were approved as to zoning and general construction last week by Charles Brady, superintendent of buildings. Revisions are still to be made in plumbing and other details, which the engineers expect to have complete next week. Demolition of the structures now on the site is expected to begin in the fall, according to announcement recently made by Thoons & Flaunlacher, agents for the building, and completion of the $25,000,000 structure is anticipated before the end of 1928. The tallest structure ever erected by man, the Larkin Tower, will rise 1200 feet above street level, 267 feet higher than the Eiffel Tower. Borings recently made seventy feet deep on the site showed solid bed rock beginning ten feet below the street level and continuing without apparent change. The building will extend into this fifty feet below the street level. While engineers estimate that the natural rock foundation will support a load of thirty tons to the square foot, the weight of the structure will be distributed at twelve tons to the foot over the 47,000 square feet of the plot. The Larkin interests, headed by John A. and Edward L. Larkin, architects of the skyscraper, have purchased the buildings at 320-22 and 326-28 West 42nd street to assure light protection to the lower stories of the tower. The massive pedestal of the tower will rise 150 feet on 42nd street before the first of the three setbacks starts at the eleventh floor. On 41st street there will be five setbacks, beginning at the seventh floor. The stern, unadorned tower itself, described by E. L. Larkin as a "seven-phase tower" will rise from a base area of 11,770 feet at the seventeenth floor to an area of 1177 square feet at the ninety-eighth floor. It will be surmounted by a truncated pyramid room, 17 by 17 feet. Sixty-one elevators will handle the vast traffic of the building and the top floors will be devoted to observation platforms. It is planned to put a light at the top of the spire to guide navigators and night fliers. Marriage Licenses. Andy J. Kachanek and Annie M. Cingel, both of Clarence. Gilbert C. Waite, of Port Matilda, and Margaret H. Brown, of Mill Hall. George A. Robb, of Howard, and Ruth B. Scantlin, of Blanchard. Ray C. Ishler, of Pleasant Gap, and Ella Catherine Neff, of State College. Daniel Flood and Sarah E. Shade, both of New Haven, Ind. Joe Smithcko and Pauline Saeko, both of Clarence. Charles Clayton Ripka, of Spring Mills, and Sarah Alice Weaver, of Aaronsburg. Heroic Swiss Guards Swiss Guards were a body enrolled in the Seventeenth century for the special protection of the person of the French king. Left without directions when Louis XVI placed himself in the hands of the national assembly, they defended the Tuilleries against the revolutionists for some time, but in the end were butchered as they retired in obedience to the king's order based on a treacherous promise by the leaders of the mob. Fatal Strain A visitor being shown through an English insane asylum noticed one of the inmates, an American who was jabbering senselessly and covering his cell with diagrams. "What a pathetic case," he remarked. "Yes," replied the superintendent. "He tried to explain to some Englishmen what waffles were."
