One of the latest drinks is made by cutting the top off of a watermelon, remove the seeds and the stringy portion of the inside, but not the red pulp, then pack solid with brown sugar. Leave it stand in a cool place for several weeks or a month and you'll have something strong enough to shoot the stars, it is said.

The Highway Department is planning a short cut state road from Snow Shoe to Renovo by way of Orviston. A good part of the distance is now state highway and all that will be necessary will be the construction of one or two connecting links. The work will be done by the State with its own force of men and will not be given out by contract.

The announcement has just been made of the marriage of James Lawrence Redding and Anna J. David, both of Snow Shoe. The wedding took place June 8th, 1923, at Easton, Pa. Every man and woman, boy and girl, requires a certain amount of relaxation and entertainment every day and the one place in Belleville where both can be found is at the Scenic watching the motion pictures. The house is comfortable in all kinds of weather and the pictures are of a superior class, such as cannot be seen anywhere else in town. Get the movie habit and see them all.

Beekeepers in Centre county are anticipating a good crop of honey this year. Clover tops and honey laden flowers have been quite profuse and there has been sufficient wet weather to give them an abundance of nectar with a high sugar content. Last year was one of the poorest seasons for honey ever known by the apiarists in the county. This was ascribed to the long spells of dry, hot weather, and was also noticeable in other portions of the State.

NATIONAL AIR DERBY WILL STOP IN BELLEVILLE.

Major John T. Fancher Here on Monday to Make Necessary Arrangements.

Spokane, Washington, will entertain the National Air Derby association in September when hundreds of civilian airplane fliers will compete for cash prizes totaling many thousands of dollars. Preliminary to the races in Spokane there will be a national air derby from New York to Spokane and it is estimated that from fifty to one hundred fliers will be entered in the two classes. The route of the derby from New York to Chicago will be over the transcontinental airmail route, and Belleville has been selected as a stopping place for all Class B entries with a possibility that many of the Class A entries will also stop here.

Major John T. Fancher, managing director of the races to be held at Spokane and also the air derby, was in Belleville on Monday to make the necessary arrangements for looking after the ships during the five minute stop here. The Major flew here from New York and was met at the aviation field by a good sized deputation of representative citizens. He was especially pleased with the size and condition of the Belleville landing field which he considered admirably adapted for the first checking in place of the fliers.

One of the stipulations of Major Fancher was that the local committee arrange for an adequate supply of oil and gas on the field, to be so distributed that ships can be refueled without any loss of time. The flight regulations provide for a five minute stop here, and all time over that limit will be charged up to the flier, so it is important that when they do stop they can be supplied with oil and gas without any delay.

Major Fancher was very optimistic over the outlook for the derby, which will take place on September 19, 20 and 21, as all ships must be in Spokane in time for the races there on the 23rd and 24th. While it is yet too early to give anything like an accurate number of the ships that will be entered in the derby Major Fancher stated that there will be at least fifty and possibly three times that number in the two classes.

The ships will take the air at Mitchell field, N. Y., and the first official checking in place for Class A fliers will be Cleveland, Ohio, but if they run up against a strong west wind the probability is that many of them will have to stop in Belleville for a supply of oil and gas to carry them to Cleveland. As stated above Belleville has been designated as the first checking in place for all Class B ships, and they must stop here whether they need a supply of gas or not.

The ships will be started on their flight from Mitchell field shortly after five o'clock in the morning so should begin to arrive in Belleville at any time between seven and eight o'clock. They may come through in singles, in pairs or as many as ten ships at a time, so it will be a sight worth seeing.

Only a Few Trout Washed Away.

Various stories have been told in Belleville about the washing away of many of the trout at the Belleville fish hatchery as the result of the terrific rain storm which swept over the Pleasant Gap and Axe Mann section last Wednesday afternoon and evening, but all such reports have been greatly exaggerated. According to W. F. Hass Logan's branch overflowed its banks and the back water inundated two or three ponds in which were kept the small trout. A few hundred of these, possibly a thousand or more may have gone awash when the waters receded but there were not enough of them to effect the supply of the hatchery. In fact the number that was washed away was not sufficient to be noticeable in the large stock in the ponds.

Ament trout getting away from the hatchery there has been a well founded suspicion for some time that some unknown person or persons have been slipping into the hatchery grounds at night and taking some of the large trout from the storage ponds. These unlawful visits were made on Monday and Friday nights and when superintendent W. F. Haas felt convinced that somebody was stealing his trout he put a guard on the ponds but the illegal fishermen were quick to detect this fact and changed their nights for visiting the hatchery ponds to Tuesdays and Thursdays. It was only recently that superintendent Haas made this discovery and so far he has been unable to catch the illegal fishermen, whom, it is believed, come from the neighborhood of Bellwood, Blair county.

Two More Prisoners Make the Break at Rockview.

The big reservoir which is being constructed in McBride's gap, on Nittany mountain, is offering a means of escape to a number of prisoners in Rockview penitentiary, as two more made the break for liberty between one and two o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. They are Harvey and Fred Buck, sent up from Bradford county for burglary and larceny, Harvey for two to four years and Fred for four to eight years. The men were convicted and sentenced on June 21st, of this year, and had only recently been transferred from Pittsburgh to Rockview.

Temporary Organization of Centre County Motor Club.

Upwards of four hundred automobilists in all parts of Centre county were represented at a meeting held in the court house, last Friday evening, for the purpose of organizing a Centre county motor club. Present at the gathering was Mr. McNelly, field secretary of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, who pointed out the advantages to be derived from an active motor club. R. C. Haldeman, president, and T. W. Rudderow, general manager of the State Federation, were also present and urged organization.

Motorists present were sufficiently impressed to appoint a committee on permanent organization which will take place at a meeting to be held at State College on Friday evening, August 5th, when officers will be elected and a constitution and by-laws adopted. At that time it will probably be possible to tell the exact number of members enrolled.

The directors met at the Brockerhoff house, on Monday evening and elected as tentative officers subject to the approval of the members at the meeting on August 5th, the following: President, Robert F. Hunter, Belleville; vice president, Wilbur Woodring, Port Matilda; secretary, Claude Moore, Howard; treasurer, James P. Aikens, State College.

The membership dues for the first year were fixed at $6.75 and thereafter at $6.00 annually.

Snow Shoe Coal Miners Gradually Going Back to Mines.

During the middle part of last week two hundred or more of the striking coal miners from Morrisdale and other portions of Clearfield county marched into the Snow Shoe region and through means of coercion and intimidation attempted to induce the three hundred or more miners of that section to refrain from working in sympathy with the strikers.

By Friday the situation had become rather acute and at the request of the operators sheriff E. R. Taylor went to Snow Shoe to investigate conditions. He considered it serious enough to request the services of mounted state policemen and three of these officers were sent into the district on Saturday. The daily visits of the striking miners were not attended with any acts of violence or infractions of the law of any kind, but the operators naturally resented the interference of the striking miners with their men, who were not only willing but anxious to work.

On Saturday a report was broadcast that the region would be invaded on Monday by a force of seven hundred strikers, but they did not materialize. In fact not a single striker put in an appearance on Monday and the authorities believe the situation now so well in hand that by the end of this week all the Snow Shoe mines will be operating as usual.

State Highway Patrolman Arrested for Aggravated Assault.

Glenn A. Amend, a state highway patrolman located at Pleasant Gap, was arrested on Monday on the charge of aggravated assault and battery on complaint of Robert Taylor, son of the late B. B. Taylor, and who now conducts a plumbing establishment at the Gap.

The arrest grew out of a mixup following an automobile accident on Saturday night in which the highway patrolman is alleged to have hit Taylor seven times on the head with the butt end of his revolver. Information was made against him on Monday and his arrest followed. At a hearing before Squire S. Kline Woodring, on Monday evening, he was held in $1800 bail for trial at court and being unable at the time to furnish a bond was taken to the Centre county jail.

If all the allegations that have been made in connection with the case are correct other charges may develop later.

Forest Tree Seeds Wanted.

The Department of Forests and Waters desires to purchase and collect large quantities of forest tree seeds for the State nurseries, from which seedlings are supplied at cost for planting on private and State land. Seeds collected within the State usually produce trees better adapted to our soils, climate, etc. District forester Chas. Hogeland, of Renovo, wishes to obtain the following kinds this fall: White pine cones, red pine cones, pitch pine cones, red oak acorns, white ash seeds, black walnuts with hulls on.

John R. Bartruff, a former resident of Belleville but now living at New Bloomfield, has filed nomination papers with the Secretary of the Commonwealth, at Harrisburg, as a candidate for associate judge in Perry county.

A LITTLE CHIPMUNK KILLS BIG RATTLESNAKE.

Chews Hole Into Vitals of Reptilian Monster then Dies from Snakes Bites.

Several weeks ago state foresters in the Allegheny mountains captured a big rattlesnake and taking it to Snow Shoe turned it over to the state highway patrolman to keep until they could find a blacksnake of suitable size to match with the rattler in a reptilian combat. Any one who knows anything about snakes knows that the rattler and the blacksnake are at all times deadly enemies and the sport loving men of Snow Shoe were anticipating a lot of fun when the snakes were matched in a suitable enclosure.

But the foresters were a little slow in finding a blacksnake and the state patrolman, fearing the rattler might die from hunger, captured a little chipmunk (ground squirrel) and put it in the box with the snake for the latter to dine on. The chipmunk evidently realized that it was meant for snake food and did its best to avoid the jaws of the rattler but the snake became so vicious in its attempts to catch the chipmunk that it turned the tables by attacking the snake in its most vulnerable part.

Clinging to the reptile with its paws the squirrel chewed a good sized hole right into the vitals of the snake, thus ending its life, but the snake also managed to sink its fangs into the chipmunk with the result that it, too, died, and thus the sport loving residents of Snow Shoe were frustrated in their desire to see a real snake fight. But they are all still wondering how the little chipmunk was able to kill the rattler, which measured four and a half feet in length.

Evangelical Orphanage Band Delights Large Crowd Here.

The band from the orphanage of the Evangelical church at Lewisburg gave a concert on the court house plaza here, Tuesday night. Though the organization was somewhat handicapped by the absence of several of its stellar musicians the concert was surprisingly well played. In execution and expression the boys are splendidly adept; especially so when their youth is taken into consideration. The program was so varied as to give opportunity of interpretation of both the classics and the modern music and they rendered both most impressively.

Belleville had more than a casual interest in the concert, for Edward Miller, a Belleville lad, is first cornet in the organization.

The band was reduced to eighteen pieces because several of its members were taken ill and had to be sent home while on their present tour. We congratulate director L. A. Albert, however, on the performance they made without their full complement of instruments.

The collection lifted amounted to about fifty-two dollars.

National Air Transport Lease Ground for Hangar.

Donald Bartlett, assistant to the general manager of the National Air Transport corporation, which will in due time take over the government airmail route between New York and Chicago, was in Belleville over Saturday night and while here leased a plot of ground from William Smeltzer on which the company will erect a hangar of sufficient capacity to house one or two emergency planes.

The size of the plot leased is 100x160 feet and lies adjacent to the landing field and east of the present government hangar. The ground lease was made for a period of ten years, which is evidently the life of the contract the corporation has entered into with the Postoffice Department for carrying the airmail. Erection of the new hangar will probably be begun in the near future. Just when the N. A. T. will take over the contract for carrying the mail has not been definitely announced, but it is hardly likely it will be before September first.
