BELLEFONTE LUMBER CO. LEASED TO CLASTER & CO.

New Owners Took Charge on Monday Morning.

Another important business change took place in Bellefonte during the week in the lease of the Bellefonte Lumber company's plant, on South Water street, to Morris Claster & Co., of Lock Haven. All details in connection with the lease were concluded and papers signed the latter part of last week, and the new owners took charge on Monday morning. The lease, it is understood, was made with an option to purchase the plant at a stipulated figure on or before a specified date and is for a ten year period. Operations at the plant will be in direct charge of Isadore Claster, son of Morris Claster, and to a represen--The Sandy Ridge brick plant of tative of the Watchman he stated on the General Refractories company, Tuesday that the lumber yard and mill will be continued in operation, for the present, at least, as they have been in the past. Rumors have been current on the street that the planing mill will be shut down at once, but Mr. Claster stated that such is not the case. The mill will be kept in operation indefinitely and may never be closed down. It all depends upon whether it proves a money making > proposition or a loser under the new management. Morris Claster & Co. are large lumber dealers in Lock Haven and their experience there will be utilized in the operation of the plant here. The Bellefonte Lumber company plant is the oldest industry of its kind in Bellefonte. Just who established it originally is not exactly clear but it passed into the hands of the late John Ardell over forty-five years ago, and for many years was operated as the Ardell Lumber company. Following the death of Mr. Ardell it was taken over by the Bellefonte Lumber company, an organization formed by the late Edward Hoy. Different interests have been connected with it since that time and the principal owner of late was Col. W. F. Reynolds.

Thousands See the "Human Fly" Scale Crider's Exchange.

Several thousand people congregated in the Diamond, on Saturday evening, to see Harry W. Gardiner, the celebrated "human fly," climb to the top of Crider's Exchange. The feat was performed at 7.30 o'clock and Mr. Gardiner made the climb successfully to the roof, but he quailed at climbing the tower. Not because of the height but because of the fact that the galvanized iron runners on the corners of the tower are so rusted and weakened that they crumbled to dust in his vise-like grip, and it would have been foolhardy to have risked his life under such conditions. After several attempts to ascend the tower Mr.

Randall Thompson, of Unionville, was fortunate enough to win the county prize in the essay contest conducted by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The nature of the prize has not been announcd but it will be publicly awarded at the county convention to be held at Port Matilda on the evening of September 15th, and it is reported that it will be worth young Thompson's claiming at that time. Mrs. Lella Gardner, of State College, has for years added to her other numerous activities the management of the department of scientific temperance instruction in the county. The work of this department is to visit schools and encourage teachers and superintendents of schools to stress the teaching of the effects of alcohol upon the human body. Although this instruction is made compulsory by state law, experience has shown that the whole subject is vitalized by the interest of organized mothers in the community. The essay contests carried on by local Unions are one great method. The topic this year was "Why the United States Outlaws Wine and Beer." Contests were held in the schools of Philipsburg. State College, Unionville, Bellefonte, Millheim and some others not vet reported. The Bellefonte contest was in charge of Miss Lucy Potter.

At the meeting at Port Matilda, on the 15th of September, some of the essays will be exhibited as well as a group of posters designed by State students. Plans will be launched for extending the essay contests for next year. As the local essays carry handsome cash prizes the interest has grown rapidly in communities where County in the State of Pennsylvania they are introdced.

W. C. T. U. Essay Contest Won by ASK IMPOUNDING OF COUNTY BALLOT BOXES.

Judge Furst will Not Comply Unless Expense is Guaranteed.

Judge James C. Furst, on Monday, received a letter from David S. Barry, sergeant at arms of the United States Senate, requesting the impounding of the ballot boxes, ballots and everything pertaining to last fall's election, but he has decided not to comply with the request unless the U. S. government guarantees all expenses that would be entailed in complying with the request, and also either releases the ballot boxes or furnishes new ones in time for the primaries on September 20th. Judge Furst's reply to the sergeant at arms is as follows:-

Bellefonte, Pa., Aug. 8, '27 Honorable David S. Barry, Sergeant at Arms U. S. Senate, Washington, D. C. Sir

Your letter of August 8th has been received in which you ask that I, as President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Centre County, make an order at the earliest possible moment requiring custodians of all ballot boxes, ballots, tally sheets, voters' lists, registration lists, aand all documentary paraphernalia connected with the election of November 1926 be deposited at the County Seat and held there in possession of the Court subject to the order of the Sergeant is managing salesman of the Great Lakes at Arms for transportation to Washington.

I assure you that I am ready and willing to act in full harmony and accord with any request from the United States Senate, but there are several matters that I wish to call to your attenion and upon which I desire information before making such an order.

Centre County is next to the largest and is composed of sixty six voting precincts. To carry this order into effect would require the expenditure of a considerable amount of money. The transportation item alone would be large. The question of storage under proper conditions would be a problem and it would immediately become necessary to supply each of these precincts with new ballot boxes and they would have to be in place on September 20th, the date of our fall primary, and this item would also The service of such a no conditions can I see that it would be just or right to place these costs on the County.
