Bold Attempt to Rob Angelo Genua, Last Friday Night.

Two unknown men made a bold attempt to rob Angelo Genua, the well known Italian shoemaker in the Bush Arcade, last Friday night, but were prevented in accomplishing their purpose solely through the pluck and determination of Angelo who, though small in stature, is capable of putting up a stubborn resistance when it comes to protecting his money and his property.

The attempt at robbery took place shortly after ten o'clock, just as Angelo was in the act of closing up for the night. Two strange men entered the shop and made a small purchase then went out and stood on the pavement at one side of the doorway. Anthony Picarra, Angelo's assistant, left the shop and started up town and passersby were very few. As Angelo put out the lights and was in the act of shutting the door one of the men stepped up to him and asked if he would give him a poke of tobacco before he closed. Angelo re-entered his shop and both men followed and once inside they slammed the door shut and one of the men made a grab for Angelo, seizing him by the arm with one hand and by the throat with the other.

But just as he attacked him Angelo grabbed the string which turned on the light and in the struggle the string broke and the men were unable to turn off the light. The man who had hold of Angelo was much larger than the little Italian and he pushed him across the room and threw him down on a chair at the end of the shoe shining stand, still clutching his throat. In the meantime the other man ran behind the counter and tackled the cash register. But before he could get it open Angelo managed to squirm loose from his captor and he promptly made for the man at the register. The latter jumped over the counter and both men then ran out of the store and got away before Angelo could call for help to capture them. Fortunately they were foiled in their attempt to rob. While the men were strangers to Mr. Genua he is confident he will know them if he ever sees them again.

Some Scenic Attractions.

Monday, September 5th (Labor day) the fall season will open at the Scenic theatre and your kind attention is called to the superior class of feature photoplays that will start our greatest season in screen history. September 5th to 10th, inclusive, will be Paramount week and for it the following better class photoplays are booked:

Monday and Tuesday, September 5th and 6th, is headed by that well known screen favorite, Adolph Menjou, in "Service for Ladies," his latest and greatest starring vehicle.

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, September 7, 8 and 9, we will have the first Pennsylvania showing of Pola Negri's latest and greatest attraction, "Barbed Wire."

Saturday, September 10, will be Esther Ralston, one of the screen's greatest coming stars, in "Ten Modern Commandments."

Please remember that Paramount week, September 5 to 10, inclusive, will be held all over the United States, and that they are recognized as the world's greatest producers, and their pictures are controlled exclusively in Bellefonte by the Scenic and Moose theatres; and when you see our fall announcements you will also agree that we are quite exact in saying so. Next week's paper will carry our lineup for the fall, and don't forget to make a study of it. 33-1t

Motion for New Trials Denied Liquor Law Violators.

Judge James C. Furst, on Tuesday, handed down a decision in the cases of the Commonwealth vs. Marcella Beals, Benjamin Fink and John Smay, of Julian, and Howard Walk, of Taylor township, all convicted at the May term of court for violation of the liquor law and on whom judgment had been suspended pending the disposition of motions for a new trial, in which he denied the motions and ordered the defendants to appear in open court on Tuesday morning, August 30, for sentence.

Miss Anne Fox and Mrs. Charles F. Beatty were hostesses at a bridge luncheon given at the Nittany Country club Wednesday afternoon. The party was in compliment to their house guests, Miss Fox's two sisters and Mr. and Mrs. Steinkirchner, and Mrs. Beatty's two sisters, all of whom are among Bellefonte's summer visitors.

IRWIN.—Lewis C. Irwin, a native of Centre county and for a number of years a resident of Bellefonte, died on Thursday of last week at his home in Erie, Pa., following an illness of a year or longer.

He was a son of Daniel and Eliza G. Irwin and was born at Julian, Centre county, on August 9th, 1869, hence was 58 years and 9 days old. His early life was spent at the home of his birth but when a young man he came to Bellefonte and for several years was with his brother Edward in the hardware business, later purchasing the stationery store in the Bellefonte Trust company building which, after a few years, he sold to J. D. Hunter. Closing up his business affairs here he moved to Erie where he has since made his home. During the world war Mr. Irwin served as an inspector for the government in Canada.

Mr. Irwin married Miss Bertha Williams, of Julian, who survives with two sons, H. F. Irwin, of Erie, and Daniel, a government engineer on the Canal Zone. He is also survived by his mother, living at Julian, one sister and four brothers, namely: Mrs. Howard Turner, of Julian; Dr. W. U. Irwin, of Bellefonte; C. A., of Julian; E. P., of Bellefonte, and A. T., of Buffalo, N. Y.

The remains were brought to Centre county and taken to the Turner home, at Julian, where funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon, burial being made in the Unionville cemetery.

JACKSON.—Miss Annie Valentine Jackson, a member of one of the oldest and best known colored families in Bellefonte, died at the borough home last Saturday morning, following a brief illness.

She was a daughter of Abram and Hattie Jackson and was born in Bellefonte over seventy years ago, her parents having been brought here by the Valentines about a century ago. Her early life was spent here but she eventually went to Virginia where she made her home for many years, returning to Bellefonte ten years or more ago and taking up her abode with her brother, the late Abram Jackson. She was an industrious woman and in addition to looking after her brother's household did cooking and other housework for any one desiring her services. Following the death of her brother, over a year ago, she lived for a time with Mrs. James Lane and later made her home with Mrs. Thomas Taylor. Several months ago she went to the borough home, where she spent her last days. She was the last member of her father's family, and her only survivors are nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held in the A. M. E. church, of which she was a member, at 2:30 o'clock on Monday afternoon, by the pastor, Rev. L. C. Taylor, burial being made in the Union cemetery.

HUNTER.—Francis J. Hunter, a veteran of the Civil war, died at his home at Axe Mann, last Friday, as the result of complications incident to his advanced age. Mr. Hunter died in the same house in which he was born on September 1st, 1841, hence was within a few days of being 86 years old. During the Civil war he served as a private in Company H, Pennsylvania volunteers. At the battle of Chancellorsville his right arm was shot off at the shoulder by a rebel bullet, which naturally necessitated his discharge.

Mr. Hunter's wife died a number of years ago and since then he had made his home with Mr. and Mrs. James Sommers, who occupy the old Hunter homestead at Axe Mann. He had no children and his only survivor is one sister, Mrs. Margaret Gilberry, of Elkhart, Ind.

Funeral services were held at his late home at 2:30 o'clock on Sunday afternoon by Rev. M. C. Piper, of Milesburg, burial being made in the Bellefonte Union cemetery.

HAMILTON.—Peter Joseph Hamilton, lawyer, judge and author, died at Annistown, Ala., on July 13th, and his passing away is of interest here because of the fact that his preparatory education for his illustrious career was obtained at the Bellefonte Academy in the early seventies. He was a native of Mobile, Ala., and came to the Academy from that city. After completing his course at the Academy he went to Princeton where he graduated in 1879. He served for seven years as federal judge in Porto Rico under President Wilson's administrations, and was the author of a dozen or more books.

Judge and Mrs. Hamilton spent a good part of last summer in Bellefonte as guests at the McGarvey home, on north Spring street, and Bellefonte people who met him during his sojourn here were much impressed with his southern gallantry and courteous manner.

NORTHAMER.—Martin A. Northamer, a native of Centre county, died in the Mercy hospital, Pittsburgh, last Thursday, following a brief illness. He was a son of George and Hannah Northamer and was born at Stormstown almost fifty-nine years ago. Early in life he located in Phillipsburg where he worked at his trade as a carpenter, later going to Pittsburgh. He never married but is survived by two brothers and two sisters, James and Dorsey Northamer, and Mrs. John Cowher, of Phillipsburg, and Mrs. Jacob Griffin, of Stormstown. The remains were taken to Phillipsburg where burial was made on Sunday afternoon.

KELLY.—Mrs. Alice Kelly, widow of Patrick Kelly, died on Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Hazel, Bellefonte, following several years illness. She was a daughter of Frederick and Anna Bartley, and was born near Bellefonte seventy-one years ago. She was twice married but was preceded to the grave by both her husbands. Surviving her, however, are the following children; Mrs. B. A. Painter, of Williamsport; Mrs. George Beightol, of Howard; Charles Mulbarger, Mrs. Ralph Moerschbacher, John Kelly, Edward Kelly, Mrs. Harold Gross and Mrs. Joseph Hazel, all of Bellefonte; William Kelly, whose whereabouts are unknown, and Mrs. C. D. Hoy, of Los Angeles, Cal. She also leaves one brother and two sisters, John Bartley, in Ohio; Mrs. Minnie Bottorf, of Flemington, and Mrs. Julia Lucas, of Howard. Funeral services will be held at the Catholic church tomorrow morning, with burial in the Catholic cemetery.

FLECK.—Rev. Lindley N. Fleck, who a number of years ago was pastor on the Lutheran charge at Pine Grove Mills, died on Tuesday evening of last week at his home in Woodland, Clearfield county, aged 77 years. Rev. Fleck married Miss Emma Henderson, of Julian, this county, who survives. He also leaves a number of brothers and sisters living in Blair county. Burial was made in the Grandview cemetery, Tyrone, on Sunday.

National Air Derby will Draw Large Crowd to Bellefonte.

Though the national air derby is yet almost a month away many inquiries are being received from people throughout the State relative to the number of ships that will stop here, the program to be carried out, etc. As Bellefonte is the only place between New York and Cleveland that any of the ships are scheduled to stop, it is already manifest that a large crowd will be on hand early on the morning of September 19th, the day for the start of the derby.

According to Major John T. Fancher, managing director of the derby, over seventy-five ships have already been entered. Up to this time, however, they have not been catalogued, so it is not known how many of them will be placed in Class A or how many in Class B. Class A ships are not scheduled to stop in Bellefonte, but it is permissible for them to do so. If they run into adverse wind currents and the pilots find their supply of gas and oil running low, they can stop in Bellefonte for refueling. All Class B ships, however, must stop in Bellefonte for a period of five minutes. This, it is believed, will give ample time to take on a supply of gas and oil and make an inspection of ships, if necessary.

The fact that Bellefonte is going to put up $500 in prize money to be paid to the three ships making the best record between New York and Bellefonte will undoubtedly be an incentive to the pilots to put forth their best efforts on the first lap of the derby.

The folly of building narrow roads has been proven by a collation of statistics by engineers of Cook county, Illinois. Checking up on the vehicular traffic over the eighteen foot wide roads leading to Chicago it was found that each vehicle lost four minutes every hour because of congested conditions. This loss multiplied by the number of vehicles found using the roads daily aggregated 3,300 vehicular hours, which expressed in dollars meant a daily loss of time of $9,900 or $2,770,000 a year. The sum appeared so staggering that Chicago newspapers started a campaign for forty-foot roads instead of 18ft. It was predicated purely on economic arguments and the figures presented were so convincing that the county voted for a $15,000,000 bond issue in order to begin the widening program at once. Nearly every other community in the country is daily suffering a loss in time, nerves and property such as Chicago found herself to be suffering. And it will increase in exact ratio with the increase of motor traffic. It seems to us that the Chicago investigation should prove food for much thought for the Highway Department of Pennsylvania.

Centre County Soldiers Return Home.
Centre county's contingents of the National Guard, the head-quarters troop and Troop B, of Bellefonte, and Troop A, 52nd machine gun battalion, of Boalsburg, returned home last Saturday afternoon from their two week's encampment at Mt. Gretna. The boys were covered with grime and dirt, and also no small share of glory, as Troop B won the largest trophy cup for machine gun problems on the 1,000 yard range and Troop A won the cup in the field firing contest.

The only regrettable incident in connection with the camp was the fact that George Ray, a member of the headquarters troop, was stricken with appendicitis, last Thursday night, and had to be taken to a Lebanon hospital for an operation. He is now getting along a well as can be expected.

Included in the faculty of the Mount Union High school for the coming year are I. Newton Taylor, a former instructor in the Bellefonte High school, and Miss Sarah A. Haag, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haag, of Bellefonte.

National Air Transport Corp. Officials Visit Bellefonte.

Paul Henderson, president, and W. L. Smith, superintendent of operation, of the National Air Transport corporation, which will take over the contract for carrying the airmail between New York and Chicago next Thursday, September 1st, were brief visitors in Bellefonte on Tuesday afternoon. They flew here in one of the big Douglass ships that the company will use in transporting mail and express. Mr. Henderson was formerly second assistant Postmaster General while Mr. Smith was one of the regular pilots between New York and Chicago until he resigned to go with the National Air Transport.

The visit of the officials was evidently for the purpose of seeing how the work was progressing on the new hangar being built for the company's use adjoining the aviation field. They found the foundations completed and the wooden frame work up, but the steel sheathing and roofing has not yet reached Bellefonte.

Up to this time the National Air Transport has given no intimation as to the number of men they will have at the Bellefonte field, or whether any of the present force there will be retained. The Douglass ship which the company will use is a more powerful ship than the DeHaviland and has a longer sailing radius. And because of this fact the new ships will not land in Bellefonte except when it is absolutely necessary.

"Hit and Run" Driver Arrested by Sheriff Taylor.

Sheriff Taylor, on Tuesday night, arrested Clarence Stickler, of Spring Mills, as the "hit and run" driver who, on the night of July 22nd, ran down Nestor Gentzel, 24 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Moyer Gentzel, on the public highway about midnight between Centre Hall and Spring Mills, and left him lie in the road where he was found the next morning by W. Harrison Walker, while on a trip down Pennsylvanian. Edward Rhine, aged 15, and who was with Stickler at the time of the accident, was also placed under arrest and both are now being held for court in the Centre county jail.

Rhine is the owner of the car but being too young to secure a driver's permit Stickler, who has a driver's license, was at the wheel. While the young men have not made a complete confession they admit that they were up near Centre Hall that night and have told enough to almost definitely connect them with the accident.

In the meantime Gentzel is still a patient in the Centre County hospital but he is getting along as well as can be expected for a man who had both legs broken and was otherwise injured, and it is believed now that when he fully recovers he will be as good a man as ever.

Y. M. C. A. Boys Hike to Aviation Field.

Hiking is now proving the popular pastime of the boys of the Bellefonte Y. M. C. A. The last experience of this kind was an over night hike last Friday to the aviation field. Twenty-three boys accompanied Secretary Hineman on the hike and they arrived at the field in time to see two planes land and take off before dark. They also saw the mail plane come in and leave at three o'clock in the morning. The big camp fire, with an Indian settler game, was a feature of the hike. Of course there was story-telling and other games.

The boys who participated in the hike were M. Gordon, J. Spangler, R. Spangler, Roy Wilkinson, Bob Wilkinson, J. Musser, Sonny Purnell, Paul Beck, Sharwood Springer, James Peters, Dick Robb, F. Pennington, M. Waite, J. Gough, K. Ulrich, Harold Rossman, Jack Shope, Robert Thal, Paul Shawley, Robert Guisewhite, H. McClure, L. McClure and "Bo" Curton, of Pittsburgh.

Interest in the summer gym class is growing, the attendance last Friday being twenty. Classes every Tuesday and Friday at 9:30 a. m. These classes are for the younger boys. At the Y. M. C. A. your boy is building health and character.

Features of the Forthcoming W. C. T. U. Convention.

One of the features of the county W. C. T. U. convention, to be held at Port Matilda on September 15th, will be a gold medal declamatory contest, at the evening session, between young people from Unionville, Blanchard, Wingate, Millheim, State College and Pleasant Gap. Each of the contestants already holds a silver medal won in competition with a class in their own community.

The county contests are under the direction of Mrs. V. C. Ridge, of Blanchard. Many young orators have been discovered through contests of this kind and encouraged to fit themselves for public speaking. Preparations are also being made to put on a one act play at the same session.

Mrs. Emerson Karns, of Tyrone, has again consented to be present and conduct the music. Her lovely and cultivated voice adds a great deal to any occasion.

Supper will be served to the delegates in attendance in the basement of the Methodist church, where the convention will be held. If any delegates desire to be entertained over night arrangements can be made by notifying Mrs. Grace R. Williams, Port Matilda.

Sacco and Vanzetti Electrocuted at Charlestown State Prison.

Notwithstanding world-wide attempts to save their lives Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti were electrocuted in the Charlestown State prison, at Boston, Mass., shortly after midnight on Tuesday morning, and thus ended the career of two confessed anarchists whose fate caused uprisings in half a dozen countries.

Celestino Madeiros preceded them to the electric chair by a few minutes, the world-known radicals following as rapidly as the execution routine would permit.

Madeiros died at 12:09 a. m., for the murder of a Wrentham bank cashier. Sacco and Vanzetti were executed for the murder of a pay master and his guard at Braintree more than seven years ago. Sacco was dead at 12:19 and Vanzetti at 12:26.

Inside and outside of the high prison wall stood a small army of armed guards. Waiting also were the press wires to inform the world that the long fight to save the men was at an end. The fight in behalf of the men continued until the last minute.

Both Sacco and Vanzetti made brief speeches in the death chamber before they took their seats in the chair, Vanzetti protesting his innocence to the last.

Sacco, pale but steady shouted in Italian: "Long live Anarchy" as he sat down in the chair. "Then in broken English he went on: 'Farewell my wife and child and all my friends.'"

The straps were being adjusted as he said last words: "Good evening gentlemen. Farewell mother."

Vanzetti entered the death chamber the calmest of all the three men. Shaking hands with two of the guards as he came through the door of the execution chamber, he walked unassisted to the chair and seated himself.

As the guards began the hasty adjustment of straps to his head and body he began a speech.

In the broken English that characterized his dramatic plea for 'justice' when sentence was passed on him in Dedham on April 9, he declared: "I wish to tell you I am innocent and never connected with any crime, but sometime some sin. I thank you for everything you have done for me. I am innocent of all crime not only of this one but all. I am an innocent man."

Then just as the guards slipped the straps and head cap in place, cutting off further speech, he shouted: "I wish to forgive some people for what they are now doing to me."

The crime for which Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti were sentenced to die was a double murder. On the morning of April 15, 1920, Frederick A. Parmenter, paymaster, and Alexander Berardelli, his guard, arrived at the factory of Slater and Morrill company, South Braintree, near Boston, to pay off employees. They carried in satchels, $15,776. As they were about to enter the factory door, two men approached and fired at them. Both fell mortally wounded.

The two robbers grabbed the satchels. An automobile, which had been waiting nearby, sped up to the curb. The satchels were thrown in and the two robbers clambered into the car, which was driven off at high speed.

"Old Ironsides" on its Third Capacity Week at the Nixon Theatre, Pittsburgh.

The high entertaining quality of the great Paramount picture "Old Ironsides" presented by Adolph Zukor and Jesse L. Lasky, at the Nixon Theatre, Pittsburgh, for its third and positively last week, is reponsible for the tremendous popularity of this epic of the sea, one of the greatest and truest historical dramas ever seen on the screen.

Laurence Stallings, author of "The Big Parade" wrote the story, and James Cruze, who spent nearly $2,000,000 on the production, directed it. The principal players, whose mimetic art adds so much to the human quality of the picture are: Charles Farrell, Esther Ralston, Wallace Beery, George Bancroft, Charles Mailes, Johnny Walker, Eddie Fetherston and George Godfrey.

They were supported by over two thousand sailors and marines. "Old Ironsides" as a picture deals with only one of the many stirring episodes in the active life of the U. S. Constitution, the part she took in carrying the Stars and Stripes to glory on a foreign shore, and her winning of the freedom of the seas from the Barbary pirates.

But the real glory of the beautiful frigate which in the picture "Old Ironsides" you see brought to life again and breaking the waves with all sails set like "A full-breasted swan" come after this.

Full glory was to come to "Old Ironsides" during the war of 1812, to be won in a single battle, Captain Isaac Hull was her Commander then.
