Bellefonte, Pa., August 26, 1927.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

Proprietors of the Hugg and Kramer restaurant, at Milesburg, are this week erecting a handsome electric sign.

A marriage license was granted at Cumberland, Md., last Saturday, to Daniel Paul Barnhart and Miss Mabel Lucetta Davidson, both of Milesburg.

Mrs. Amanda Houser, of Pine St., who has been in failing health for some time, suffered a stroke of paralysis yesterday morning and was not expected to live over the day.

Out of 1016 Freshmen offered admission to State College this year over nine hundred have already accepted. Indications point to a total attendance of about 3800 students in all courses.

Under the revised schedule of the Susquehanna baseball league the game between Bellefonte and Lewistown originally dated to be played in Bellefonte tomorrow, will be played at Lewistown.

The new athletic board of control at State College has decided upon the total abolition of athletic scholarships after October first and immediate abandonment of all forms of football and other scouting.

The hunting season will open next Wednesday, but inasmuch as railbirds will be the only kind of game that will come in on September 1st there is no great rush for hunters licenses in Centre county.

Rev. Dale Benjamin, pastor of the Church of Christ, at Flemington, who was committed to the Danville asylum after conviction in the Clinton county court of a serious offense, escaped from that institution on Sunday.

The Tyrone lodge of Moose have let a contract for the erection of a Moose home in that town to cost approximately $60,000. The building will be located on a plot of ground on south Logan avenue adjoining the armory of Troop B.

Thomas H. Harter, editor of the Keystone Gazette, who suffered a serious attack of illness last week and was taken to the Centre County hospital, on Friday night, for treatment, is recovering very satisfactorily and anticipates returning home with the next few days.

Herman Klobe, who was so severely cut with an axe in a fight with Joseph Huntingdon, at Hartleton, on Tuesday of last week, died in the Lock Haven hospital on Monday night. Floyd Klobe, the son, who was also badly injured, is improving with a good chance of recovery.

Rain badly interfered with the horse racing at the Lewistown fair last week. It rained most of Thursday so that the races had to be postponed and the fair continued until Saturday, but a hard rain most of that day rendered the track unfit, with the result that the races had to be cancelled. The rain also cut down the attendance away below the average in former years.

The evenings have grown so noticeably longer that indoor entertainment is now in order, and the one place in Bellefonte where the best can be found is at the Scenic, watching the motion pictures. Bellefonte movie fans always go to the Scenic when they want to see something good because they know they will not be disappointed. And the only way to see all the good pictures is to be a regular.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company started work two weeks ago on the construction of a three mile branch from the Lewisburg branch to the State village, near Laurelton. The branch will connect with the Lewisburg road at Laurel Park, just east of Glen Iron. In addition to opening up rail traffic to the State village the branch will pass through Laurelton and will be a great convenience to several small industries located there, principal among which is the Laurelton foundry.

On their way to Bellefonte, early Sunday evening, George Vallman and Franklin Maurer, two young men of Karthaus, failed to make the turn on the curve of the road near the Dim Lantern tea room, at Runville, with the result that their machine crashed into the concrete abutment of a culvert. Both young men, who occupied the front seat, were thrown against the windshield and cut by the broken glass. Two companions on the rear seat were uninjured. Vallman and Maurer were brought to Bellefonte and had their injuries dressed by a local physician.

Tomorrow (Saturday) will be the last day to register for the Elks kids picnic, which will be held at Hecla park next Thursday, September 1st. All children wishing to go to the picnic must register and get a card, which will entitle them to free transportation to and from the park, their lunch, ice cream and lemonade, or whatever the Elks shall provide for them. As it is necessary to know the number of children who will attend in order to make adequate provision registration will positively close tomorrow night. So that no one is missed Mr. George W. Rees will be on the porch of the Elks home all day tomorrow and until late in the evening to register the children and give out the cards.

GRANGERS HEADING TOWARDS GRANGE PARK.

Big Encampment will Open Tomorrow and Continue All of Next Week.

The eyes of hundreds of Grangers in Centre county are turned toward Grange park and tomorrow many of them will be journeying thither for the big encampment and fair which will be held next week. The grounds are all in readiness for the big gathering. Tents are floored and furnished with one bunk, one table and one bench. The committee wishes to repeat, furniture must not be removed from unoccupied tents. Attention to this warning will materially aid in getting campers quickly and comfortably settled in the most beautiful camping place in Central Pennsylvania.

After securing admission tickets at the gates report to headquarters in order to be directed to the proper tent location and also secure cards which will entitle you to the privilege of parking your car conveniently.

Tickets similar to those of last year will be used, consisting of four leaves, one for each day, beginning Monday, August 29th, and no admission without ticket. On entering, ticket for the day will be removed and if for any reason the person wishes to leave the grounds and re-enter the same day, a pass-out check must be secured at the gate and presented when desiring to re-enter.

Since the opening and completion of a gate-way in to Grange Park at Potter street, traffic from the north through Centre Hall is urged to turn west at the Presbyterian church where gate is in full view. This will relieve congestion at the main gate.

Exhibitors and concessionaires have engaged all space set apart for the purpose and a larger and more complete show in all departments is assured for this year: Entertainment, education and amusement provided for young and old. Playground for young children; basketry taught; first-aid tent in charge of Red Cross. Displays and demonstrations of interest to everyone.

All trains will stop at the park and the Emerick Motor Bus company will have regular service on Wednesday and Thursday between Bellefonte and Centre Hall. The program for the week is as follows:

Bellefonte Public Schools will Have Large Attendance.

When the Bellefonte public schools open for the coming school year on Tuesday, September 6th, it will be with the largest attendance ever enrolled. From present indications there will be a Freshman class of from 120 to 130. About two hundred out of town pupils will be found in the High school this year, which will be about twenty more than last. In fact the High school will be so large that the board of directors have engaged another teacher to add to the corps elected in June. He is Ralph Henry Dale, of Oak Hall, who will specialize in mathematics. Just now considerable repair work is being done at the High school building. The new lighting system in all the grade rooms is being charged and much improved. The clock system is also being repaired and five new clocks added. And while the interior of the building presents a very much torn up condition now it will all be completed and ready for the opening of school on September 6th.

Delayed Letting of Spring Township School.

The letting of the Spring township school advertised to take place on Saturday afternoon, August 27th, has been unavoidably deferred because of the delay in securing approval of the plans by the State Board of Education. The letting, however, will take place on Wednesday evening, September 7th, at 7.30 o'clock, at the law offices of Orvis, Zerby & Dale, in Temple Court. All bidders are requested to note the change in time and place.

Centre County Bankers Toured Centre County Yesterday.

The annual tour of Centre county bankers through the county was made yesterday, in the neighborhood of forty people participating. The bankers assembled at Centre Hall early in the morning where they exchanged greetings with the members of the State association, who spent Wednesday night at the Centre Hills Country club preparatory to starting on their annual tour.

This meeting was held at Grange park and on the departure of the State association the Centre county bankers visited the Kerlin poultry farm where, through the courtesy of the proprietor they were served with a delicious country ham and egg breakfast.

From the poultry farm they motored to Paul Bradford's to inspect his stand of soybeans and alfalfa, going from there to the stock farm of W. F. Rishel, at Farmer's Mills.

The motor cavalcade then came to Bellefonte and had lunch at the Brockerhoff house. Leaving here they motored to Stormstown where they inspected the Peters poultry farm, which is located on the farm formerly owned by Capt. J. A. Hunter.

From Stormstown the bankers journeyed to Ferguson township, to the model farm of Aaron C. Kepler, in the Glades. It is needless to say that they were much impressed with Mr. Kepler's twenty acres of potatoes, five acres of strawberries and three acres of potatoes.

The last place visited was the Alvin Corl farm where the bankers inspected his superior Holstein herd. A short drive took them to State College where the tour disbanded.

These banker's tours are made each year for the purpose of encouraging the farmers to broaden the scope of activities. In former years growing wheat, rye, oats, corn and potatoes, with an orchard to supply about enough fruit for the owner's own use, was regarded the limit of farming. Nowadays, however, there is more money in diversified crops than in the old standbys.

As an example, Centre county is becoming more and more of a dairy county every year, and is still regarded as in the infant class in this direction. But when the financial returns are considered it is one part of farming that brings in ready money every month. Take the Sheffield Farms Co., as an example. They now have four milk stations in Centre county and at the Bellefonte plant alone over $25,000 were paid out for milk for the month of July, while the total in Centre county averages from $60,000 to $75,000 a month. These are facts that the bankers are striving to bring to the attention of the farmers through their annual tours.

Allen Quick a Quick Man with His Fists.

A collision between two cars occurred on Pine street, about two o'clock on Monday morning, which resulted in Allen Quick, son of Clyde Quick, of Snow Shoe, giving an exhibition of his fist ability. Quick was a passenger in a car driven by a man named Lucas. The driver was cold sober but Quick and a brother of the driver confessed to having had a few snifters.

On Pine street the Lucas car swerved a car driven by a foreigner, resident of Coleville and in the altercation which followed Quick used his fists as a persuader and the foreigners fled the scene. In the meantime another car happened along and the driver stopped to see what the trouble was. Quick again used his fists to such good advantage that after one or two knockdowns the strangers proceeded on their way.

In the meantime the racket had disturbed the residents of that locality who summoned the State highway patrol and W. J. Graham responded. When he ascertained the trouble he invited Quick to accompany him to the Centre county jail, which he did without a demur. Once in the sheriff's office, however, he again became rancorous and struck the state patrolman a blow on the side of his head that dazed him, though it did not knock him down. When the sheriff got up to interfere Quick struck him and knocked him down. Then the patrolman used his mace and it took five blows on Quick's head to subdue him. It was then necessary to get a doctor to fix up Quick's head, after which he was locked up for the night.

The next day he was taken before Squire Woodring to answer to the charge of disorderly conduct. Quick was penitent and admitted that it was the drinks that did it. He was fined $2.50 and costs.

Ladies, bring your sore feet to Yeager's Tiny Boot Shop and have them fitted with corrective shoes, and by an expert who knows how to fit feet.

WILLIAM MILLER KILLED BY TRAIN.

With Both Legs Cut Off He Laid on Track Three Hours Before Being Discovered.

William Miller was run down by a train on the Sutton Engineering company siding, on Monday evening, after lying on the track for three hours with both legs almost severed from his body was found and taken to the Centre county hospital where he died early Tuesday morning.

So far as known at this writing no one saw the accident and the trainmen were also unaware of what had occurred. In fact it is not definitely known what train ran him down but it is the general belief that it was the Lewisburg freight. It was a little after nine o'clock on Monday evening, when it pulled into Bellefonte, and as has been the custom for some time past, the train was shunted onto the Sutton Engineering company siding for car distribution the next morning by the shifter.

Something after twelve o'clock, when the night crew at the Sutton Engineering company's plant were eating their midnight lunch, the men were attracted by the cries of a man calling for help. Bliss Meyers went to investigate and down opposite the old pump house found Miller lying under a car with both legs badly mangled. He promptly summoned help and the man was taken to the hospital in the ambulance, where it was found that his left leg was cut off just below the knee and was hanging by a tendon so that when he was put in the ambulance it was laid up along the upper portion of his leg. The right foot was completely severed just above the ankle and it was not discovered to be missing until the man was gotten to the hospital. Later the foot was found in part of the shoe at the scene of the accident. An immediate operation was performed but Miller had lost so much blood that there was not much hope for him and he died at 5.40 o'clock on Tuesday morning.

The unfortunate man was a son of George and Nancy Miller, both deceased, and was born in Spring township about forty-one years ago. He was a laborer by occupation and was employed at times by the Dunlap brothers in their concrete work.

When a young man he married Miss Blanche Sharp but after a few years of wedded life they separated and Mrs. Miller obtained a divorce and re-married. Surviving him, however, is one daughter, Miss Sarah Miller. He also leaves four sisters and a brother, Mrs. George Hazel, of Greensburg; Mrs. Sarah Ayers, in the old home and with whom he lived; Mrs. Edward Brown and Mrs. Harry Johnson, of Bellefonte, and George Miller, of Josephine.

Funeral services will be held at his late home at 2.30 o'clock this (Friday) afternoon by Rev. Reed O. Steely, of the Evangelical church, burial to be made in the Union cemetery.

State College Poultry Show Set for October.

Seven varieties of birds will be shown at the Penn State Standard Production Poultry Show, October 27 to 29. These include White Leghorns, Barred Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island Reds, Mottled Anconas, White Wyandottes, White Plymouth Rocks, and Jersey Black Giants. Capons also will be exhibited.

All residents of Pennsylvania are eligible to exhibit, according to R. R. Murphy, State College, show secretary. L. M. Black, extension poultry specialist of the New Jersey State College of Agriculture, who formerly was on the staff at Penn State, will judge the show this year.

Prizes of considerable value will be offered this fall. They include silver loving cups, silver and bronze medals, special ribbons, poultry equipment, books, and poultry magazine subscriptions.

Big Labor Day Celebration at Phillipsburg.

The John Ashley Dennis post of the American Legion will hold a big Labor day demonstration at Phillipsburg in connection with a week's bazaar. The latter will open on Saturday, Sept. 3rd, and close on the night of the tenth. A $50 Spanish shawl, a $50 juvenile automobile and a $100 French rug will be given away. The celebration will open on Labor day with a monster parade at 10.30, which will be led by the Clearfield Legion band. In the afternoon there will be races and a ball game, and in the evening the bazaar. The public is invited.

—Mr. and Mrs. James R. Hughes' present guests include Mr. Hughes' sister, Mrs. Frank P. Bassett, of Annapolis, her son Jean and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Melvin Bassett and her daughter Patty, of Cleveland. The Bassett party is in Bellefonte for a week only.

—Mrs. Jerome Harper returned on Saturday from Ellsworth, Pa., where she had been visiting with Mr. Harper's sister, Mrs. Archibald Saxe and her family. Mrs. Harper accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Strawn upon their return drive to New Kensington two weeks ago.

—Mrs. E. J. Harrington, who is now with relatives in Phillipsburg, went over, Friday, expecting to be there until after Labor day. Since coming to Bellefonte from Hazleton, several days ago, Mrs. Harrington has made her home with her niece, Mrs. G. Oscar Gray.

J. Linn Graham, wholesale manager of the Brockway Motor Truck Co. factory branch, of Philadelphia, with Edward O'Donnell, a representative of the Keystone Automobile club, stopped here for a few days, the early part of the week, while on a pleasure drive through Central Pennsylvania. Mr. Graham is a native of Bellefonte and was very prominently connected with its business life at one time.

—Among Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Twitmore's summer guests, whom they entertained during July and August, were Billy Twitmore, of Sunbury; Helen Stover, of Collingswood, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. John Brachbill and their two sons, John Jr. and Charles, of Williamsport, and Dorothy Margaret Gochanauer, of East Petersburg, Lancaster Co. Dorothy was in Bellefonte for a month with her grandmother and Mr. Twitmore.

—We had quite a surprise on Tuesday when one of our most valued friends dropped in unexpectedly. It was H. L. Camp. The name will sound familiar to those who recall that it was Harry's father who came to Bellefonte with the late Frank E. Nagney and started the furniture business on Bishop street under the name of Nagney and Camp. Later the Camps withdrew from the firm and left Bellefonte, but not until Harry had formed many friendships among the boys that have lasted through all the years of his travels and occupations in various parts of the country. He is in the manufacturing end of the candy business now and has been highly successful. The visit to Bellefonte, on Tuesday, was merely a stop-off on a motor trip he was taking to New York.

—A big improvement at the Elks home, on High street, is a new concrete pavement put down last week by the Dunlap brothers.

—Knowing how to fit sore feet and having the proper shoes, is Yeager's Tiny Boot Shop specialty. 33-1t

McCormick—Roberts.—John L. McCormick and Miss Marjorie A. Roberts, both of Clearfield county, came to Bellefonte last Saturday for the special purpose of having Rev. W. C. Thompson unite them in marriage. Finding the minister absent they went to the home of Miss Mary and Henry S. Linn, and were rather heartened to learn that the pastor is away on his vacation. But Mr. Linn hastily volunteered the information that Rev. J. R. Woodcock was at that time a visitor in their home and they accepted him as a happy solution, and the marriage ceremony was promptly performed in the parlor of the Linn home.
