NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

Hauling away snow will not be a big item of borough expense this year.

One third of the boys who complete High school in Pennsylvania go to College.

Tomorrow will be St. Patrick's day when the wearing of the green will be in order.

April 12th and 13th will likely be the dates for the American Legion minstrels this year.

The members of the Undine Fire Co. will hold their annual St. Patrick's day banquet at their engine house on Monday evening, March 19th.

There will be preaching services in the Baptist church in Milesburg, on Sunday morning, at 11 o'clock. The Rev. Herr, of Franklin, Penna., will officiate.

A 1927 Chevrolet imperial landau, so little used that it can't be told from a new car is an unusual bargain that the Decker Chevrolet Co. is offering for $550.00.

The road supervisors of Marion township have received a check for $25 from the State Highway Department for the State's portion of work done on township roads.

A 1927 Chevrolet panel body truck that has been run less than 2,000 miles and will be sold with a new car guarantee can be bought for $550 at the Decker Chevrolet Co. There is only one of them so if you want it you'd better call quick.

The deepest snowfall of the winter occurred last Friday. Starting about four o'clock in the morning it snowed hard up until noon with a light snow falling until evening. The snow measured eight inches on the level, but as it melted considerably during the day the fall was probably close to 10 inches.

A better appreciation of what the automobile industry does for the railroads will be had when it is known that just one company, the Chevrolet, paid last year on incoming and outgoing freight, the stupendous sum of $24,805,556.86. The company received 153,496 carloads of freight and shipped out 136,079 carloads.

Centre county friends of Prof. Henry Elmer Bierly, a native of Rebersburg and where he lived quite a number of years, will be interested in learning that he is a candidate for the Legislature in the State of Florida. He is anxious to represent the Second district, which is located in the city of Tallahassee, the State capital, where he lives.

On another page of this issue is an exceedingly interesting article on the early political history of Pennsylvania. Democrats and Republicans, alike, should read it because it tells of the Cameron fight for United States Senator against George W. Woodward, a native of Centre county, and refers to a lot of other old time political giants whose names are only memories now.

GROVE.—Mrs. Annie Grove died at the Centre County hospital, on Monday of last week, as the result of an attack of pneumonia, following several weeks' illness. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gumbo and was born at Fairbrook. Surviving her are one son, her parents and several brothers and sisters. Burial was made at Pine Grove Mills on Wednesday of last week.

The big room in the Odd Fellows' building, heretofore occupied exclusively by the Nighthart barber shop has been made into two rooms, the barber shop located in the front room while the rear room has been taken by the Maytag company for its display of washing machines. The latter company will move there from the small room adjoining the Peter Mangino shoe repair shop, on High street.

Rev. George E. Smith, a former pastor, will give the congregation of the United Brethren church, Bellefonte, a treat this (Friday) evening when he will show a series of lantern slides on the life of Jesus, in story and song. The public is invited. There will be no admission but a silver offering will be lifted. As Rev. Smith had the love and esteem of his parishioners while pastor of the church a large crowd ought to greet him this evening.

The regular eastbound plane carrying the airmail, on Sunday, was late and did not reach Bellefonte until in the neighborhood of nine o'clock in the evening, but the fog and low-hanging clouds obscured the field and the pilot was unable to determine just where he was at. He flew around for some time and finally caught a glimpse of a light and came down low enough to see the lights of Bellefonte. He then had little difficulty in locating the landing field, and got down without any further trouble. As the night was too foggy to permit his continuing the trip to New York his cargo of mail was taken by truck to Altoona and placed aboard a through train so it would reach New York early Monday morning. On Monday night both east and west-bound planes were compelled to land here owing to dense fog.

CONCLUDING CASES OF THE FEBRUARY COURT.

Man Injured in Auto Accident Falls in Damage Suit.

In the two cases of Neal Graffius vs. Steve Sawkin, and Minnie Graffius vs. same, verdicts were rendered as follows: In favor of Neal Graffius for $72.00; in favor of Minnie Graffius for $550.00.

J. E. Weaver vs. B. C. Dotterer, being an action in trespass. This case was from Nittany valley. The defendant, driving from the vicinity of Lamar west past the residence of the plaintiff, east of Zion, on August 15, 1926, hit three cows belonging to the plaintiff at between twelve and one o'clock of said date, injuring one to such an extent that it had to be disposed of, and the other two injured. The cows were being driven from the barn of the plaintiff across the State highway to the pasture through a lane, which lane the defendant claims he did not see and the cows could not be seen until they were driven out in front of the defendant's automobile out of this lane; that the lane was not visible to him nor had he observed any notice or any warning given and that he hit the first three cows, hitting one and the one hitting the other two. Suit was brought by the plaintiff and the case was tried on Wednesday and resulted on Thursday morning in a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $125.00.

J. Fred Slack vs. Paul Bradford and W. F. Bradford, being an action in replevin. This case grows out of an exchange of a team of mules by the plaintiff to the defendant for a team of mares. The plaintiff was dissatisfied owing to the fact that one of the mares was blind, and in an interview had between plaintiff and defendant, the plaintiff alleges a promise made to exchange back but when he took the mares to the home of the defendant, Paul Bradford, he refused to accept them and to surrender the team of mules. The case was tried on Thursday and resulted in a verdict in favor of the defendant.

James Starette vs. Harry Spector and David Schwab, trading as Williamsport Auto Parts company. This case grew out of an accident on the State highway a short distance west of Central City, in Boggs township, on the evening of June 13, 1926, when the plaintiff was struck by an automobile going east in the same direction the plaintiff and his wife were walking. The plaintiff was very seriously injured and was taken to the hospital. It was discovered that the automobile that struck the plaintiff was operated by one Peter Sheiman, who was operating, as the plaintiff alleged, an automobile belonging to the defendant company. The defendants contended that Peter Sheiman was not an employee of the defendant company, that he was not using the automobile in furtherance of the defendant's business, and that the automobile had been secured without the knowledge of the defendant or either party. The case went to trial Thursday afternoon and resulted late Friday afternoon in binding instructions for the defendant.

Charles F. Greevy, of the Lycoming county bar, of Williamsport, was an attorney in the Starette case.

Domer S. Ishler vs. James Schreck, executor of the last will and testament of W. E. Tate, deceased. Being an action in assumpsit, settled.

Court adjourned late on Friday afternoon.

Centre County "Beauty" Girl in Toils of Law, in Detroit.

Thelma Williams, a native of Port Matilda, Centre county, who sprang into prominence in 1926 when she won the beauty contest in Pittsburgh and became "Miss Pittsburgh" in the beauty contest at the Atlantic City pageant, where she won very favorable mention, was held for four days under detention by the police of Detroit, Mich., on the charge of being a party to alleged fake beauty competitions.

When placed under arrest in an apartment she had in that city, last Thursday, it was given out that she was being detained on request of her mother. This was later denied by her mother, who at the time was visiting another daughter at Trafford City. Since then it has developed, according to information from Detroit, that the authorities there are searching for three men who are believed to be working in conjunction with Miss Williams.

Another allegation that comes from Detroit is that Miss Williams was married in 1926 to Jesse W. Gray, of Trafford City, but whether this is correct, or not, has not been ascertained.

Miss Williams was released on Monday, the Detroit authorities stating that she had merely been detained as a material witness against three men.

The indoor circus exhibiting at the State theatre this week is proving quite an attraction for the young people, as well as some of the mature years. It is such attractions, in addition to the splendid programs of motion pictures, that is putting State on the map. Good crowds are in attendance every evening, while those who are seeking a cheaper class of entertainment go to the Scenic.

Supreme Court Sustains Ruling of Court in Three Centre County Cases.

In a long list of decisions handed down, on Monday, the Supreme court affirmed the judgment of the lower court of Centre county in three cases, in which James C. Furst was the presiding judge, as follows:

Walker, Trustee vs. Shugert. This is the case in which Ivan Walker, as Trustee, brought an action to determine the ownership of the Potter-Hoy Hardware company building, Judge Furst deciding that it rightfully belonged to the assets of the Centre County Banking company.

The decision in the case of Walker, trustee vs. Shugert, is one in which the creditors of the Centre County banking company are vitally interested. It was an amicable suit to test the title to the three-story brick building, on High street, Bellefonte, occupied by the Potter-Hoy Hardware Co., and the Oriole store.

The building originally belonged to the late James Harris. When he died his will devised it to his half-brother, the late Dr. George F. Harris. The latter died and willed it to his wife, the late Mary C. Harris who was a partner in the banking company when it closed its doors. She voluntarily turned over all she had to the creditors of the bank.

As it was generally known to have been the intention and desire of Mr. James Harris that the building in question was to become the property of the two daughters of Dr. George F. and Mary Curtin Harris and there was some such inference in the will, the suit was brought to ascertain at law whether the property belonged to the mother or her daughters.

Now that the question is settled the building will be sold by the trustee and the proceeds distributed to the creditors of the bank.

Sebring vs. Niles Fire Brick company, an action to recover on a contract in which Dr. John Sebring, executor of the estate of his father, J. P. Sebring, secured a judgment in the Centre county court.

McCurdy vs. Bellefonte Trust Co., Executor, an action to recover on a note for $3,000 on which Mrs. Louisa Bush and George T. Bush were co-endorsers. Judgment in favor of the First National bank was secured in the Centre county court.

J. C. Dawson Elected President of the Philadelphia Traffic Club.

Mr. Dawson was born in Bellefonte on March 9th, 1882. He received his education in the public schools here and following his graduation took a job as office boy with the Reading railroad. Later he was made westbound billing clerk. Before he was twenty-one years old he left the Reading and went with the Lackawanna, filling various positions with that company until 1920 when he was appointed commercial agent, a position he now occupies.

CHARLES WAGNER'S CAR FOUND NEAR PORTAGE.

Stolen by Three Young Men After Wrecking Another Car.

The Chevrolet coupe of Charles Wagner, stolen on the streets of Bellefonte on the night of February 29th, was found along the public highway, near Portage, on Thursday of last week, just a week after it had been stolen. The license tags had been removed from the car and there was a slight dent in the radiator but aside from that the car was unchanged. The same day that the car was found three young men were arrested for the theft of another car at Portage, and from them it was ascertained that they had stolen the Wagner car.

Two of the young men are residents of Portage and the other is from Ohio. According to their story the youth from Ohio stole a Chevrolet car in that State and driving east through Pennsylvania picked up the two young men of Portage. They came through to Tyrone and down the Bald Eagle valley road to near Snow Shoe Intersection where they had an accident and wrecked one of the wheels of the stolen car. They removed the Ohio license plates and threw them into Bald Eagle creek then came on into Bellefonte.

About nine o'clock on the evening of February 29th they went into Roan's store and got a sandwich. Chief of police Harry Dukeman happened into the store at the time and noticing the three strange young men decided that they would bear watching. When they left Roan's store they crossed the street and walked up as far as the Brouse store, where two of the men looked at the groceries in the window and the other one walked to the curb and was apparently looking across the street.

Now it just happened that Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wagner had motored into town to attend the movies and had parked their car in front of Brouse's store, just where the three young men stopped. They remained there only a few minutes, then walked up to Spring street, went south on Spring to Pine and started out Pine street, Dukeman trailed them that far but when they continued out Pine street he concluded they were college students and were out to catch a car home, so he went home and to bed.

About 10.30 o'clock a telephone call announced the theft of the Wagner car.

The young men evidently drove it until the gas supply gave out then abandoned it and made their way into Portage and stole another car. The names of the young men have not been learned but they will possibly be brought here in the near future to answer to the charge of stealing the Wagner car.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Geist Wedded Fifty Years.

On Wednesday of this week Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Pierce Geist celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their comfortable home in Warriorsmark. About sixty guests were present, which included their ten children. A big chicken dinner was naturally a feature of the gathering, while both Mr. and Mrs. Geist received many appropriate remembrances of the occasion.

It was on March 14th, 1878, that Mr. Geist and Miss Susan Ada Kinch were married at the Kinch home, at Franklinville, by Rev. R. H. Smith, pastor of the Lutheran church. They started their married life on the farm, living for some years at Pennsylvania Furnace, then had charge of the Porter farm, at Graysville. Nine years ago they retired from the farm and moved into a comfortable home in Warriorsmark.

Mr. and Mrs. Geist were the parents of eleven children, ten of whom survive, as follows: Mrs. O. P. Miller, of Eldorado; Mrs. E. D. Isenberg, of Pennsylvania Furnace; Frank, Chester and Wilson Geist, of Warriorsmark; Mrs. G. V. Hunter, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. E. J. Watson, of Philadelphia; Angelina, Zella and Loreta, of Altoona. One son, John Geist, died at the age of 35 years. They also have twenty grand-children and one great grandson.

Included among the guests were five who attended the wedding fifty years ago, namely: Mrs. G. P. Irwin, Mrs. William Parshey, Mrs. James Irwin, Miss Ella Kinch and D. C. Kinch.

—D. Wagner Geist is in the peculiar position of being an officer without an office. Last fall he was appointed assessor of the West ward of Bellefonte to succeed Miss Sarah Love, who was appointed tax collector following the resignation of Herbert Auman. But the matter was allowed to hang fire until after the new board of County Commissioners took office in January. Mr. Geist several times went for the books but for some reason or other they were not turned over to him. Last week the Watchman stated, on the authority of one of the commissioners, that the books either had been or were ready to turn over to Mr. Geist. But when he went after them he was again told by the commissioner's clerk that he had not been instructed to give him the books, and so the matter stands. Mr. Geist is assessor in name only and the ward is without such officer legally equipped to serve.

A Considerate Thief.

Last Friday night someone took the Ford truck that Caldwell uses in their plumbing business. It disappeared from the front of their place of business about 9 o'clock that evening.

The next morning it was found parked at the side of the road on the outskirts of State College. It was a cold night and the pilferer evidently thought to save its owner the expense of buying a new radiator for he drained the car before "beating it" away from it.

As it happened, however, his consideration was misguided for the Ford was full of alcohol, so that was lost.

Blue Ball Man Abducted in Own Car and Robbed.

Motoring from Phillipsburg to his home at Blue Ball, Clearfield county, on Saturday night, Nile E. Shimmel saw three men walking along the road and as he attempted to pass them he felt a hard thump on his car and naturally concluded he had hit one of the men. He stopped the car and went back, and was shocked to find a negro lying in the road and the other two men bending over him.

Naturally Mr. Shimmel offered to take the injured man to the hospital and the three men carried him to the car and put him in the rear. As they did so one of the strangers said he would drive the car and as he jumped into the driver's seat the "injured" man suddenly came to and with the assistance of the other man overpowered Shimmel and forced him down on the floor of the tonneau of the car, covering him with a robe. They then sat upon him and kept him there until he lost consciousness.

The next thing Shimmel realized was when he came to and found himself sitting in his car, and the sun shining through the curtains. He drove to the nearest town and upon inquiry found it was Hancock, Md.

The men had robbed Shimmel of $50 and his pocket knife, but overlooked a five dollar bill in his vest pocket. After telephoning his family as to his whereabouts Shimmel started home, reaching Blue Ball at four o'clock on Sunday afternoon.
