

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

After being closed for the winter season J. Mac Davis, on Monday, reopened Ye Old Tavern, at Hublersburg, for the spring and summer season.

The Bellefonte chapter of the American Red Cross will hold its monthly meeting on Monday, April 2nd, at 4 p. m., in the W. C. T. U. room.

The women of St. John's Reformed church will hold an all day Easter market, in the Variety shop, the day before Easter, Saturday, April 7th.

Monday night's high wind blew down a number of telephone poles throughout the county, disrupting the service until repairs could be made the next day.

Miss Blanche Poorman has leased the apartment in the Harter-Heverly block to be vacated by Miss Verna Chambers and will establish her home there. Since returning to Bellefonte a year or more ago she has been living at her old home, on Reynolds avenue.

A joint meeting of the woman's auxiliary and the hospital board of the Centre County hospital, was held Monday afternoon in the assembly room of the hospital, to consider a spring membership drive. After much discussion and a vote the meeting adjourned, John Sommerville later accepting the chairmanship of the drive.

The few warm days of the past week have brought forth the buds on the trees and made the grass show green. While it is hardly possible that spring is already here it is to be hoped that we will have no more freezing weather or killing frosts, as so far the fruit is uninjured and this is the year when we should have a good crop of all kinds.

While out looking over the work at one of his coal operations, in Snow Shoe township on Saturday, Oscar J. Harm slipped and fell from the tippie to the ground below, painfully injuring one arm and suffering internal injuries. He was brought to the Centre County hospital and though his condition at first appeared rather serious he is now recovering.

Ex-sheriff E. R. Taylor is not going to move onto his farm, along the Jacksonville road, this spring. The place will be occupied by his brother-in-law, John Shutt and family, who will do the actual work of cultivating the land. To this end the ex-sheriff has supplied himself with four horses, four cows, hogs, chickens and all the farming implements necessary.

Elsewhere announcement is made of the opening of a produce exchange by Philip C. Shoemaker, under the name of Bellefonte Guernsey Farm produce. Philip asks the public to try these products, knowing on account of the high grade of each a trial means permanent use of all. In anticipation of Easter, telephone your order at once. Phone number 526-M.

James C. Condo, for years in the carriage making business at Penn Hall, sold his plant, buildings and home there last Saturday, and is coming to Bellefonte to live with his daughter, Mrs. Harry N. Meyer and the family. Mr. Condo will be missed in Pennsylvania, where he has lived so many years and been such an outstanding citizen. We welcome him to Bellefonte.

On Monday morning J. T. Storch was engaged in cleaning up some rubbish in the Emerick house, on Spring street, which he recently vacated, when he accidentally stepped on a nail, which not only ran through the sole of his shoe but to a depth of almost half an inch. Mr. Storch lost no time in getting to a doctor and having the injury properly dressed, but he will have a pretty sore foot for some days.

Rev. Stewart Franklin Gast, of Mechanicsburg, has accepted a call to the vacant pastorate of St. John's Episcopal church, Bellefonte. Rev. Gast has filled the pulpit in the church on several occasions and was here all day, last Sunday. The congregation was so favorably impressed with him that at the close of the services the Vestry met and extended the call, which was accepted. Rev. Gast will come to the Bellefonte church about the middle of June.

A rather exciting story got on the street, last Friday morning, that Troop B, of Bellefonte, had received orders to get in shape for a quick departure for the coal regions in the western part of the State, but when it was run down it proved to have originated from the fact that the troop blacksmith had worked on Thursday night putting new shoes on the horses in anticipation of the troop's taking part in the motion picture being filmed of Bellefonte and vicinity.

The new State theatre is getting the business. Lovers of the screen drama go there because they know they will see the best there is in motion pictures and for the additional reason that the State is the best place to see them. The stage is not too far away to cause eyestrain from any part of the house and the chairs are roomy and comfortable. All in all, the State is an ideal place of amusement and is getting the patronage it deserves. Good pictures are also shown at the Scenic at popular prices.

BRIGHT FUTURE PICTURED FOR BELLEFONTE CENTRAL.

Director T. D. Geoghegan Talks at Kiwanis Luncheon on Future of the Road.

Coming direct to Bellefonte from an important business trip to New Orleans T. D. Geoghegan, a director of the Bellefonte Central railroad, was the guest of honor at the Kiwanis luncheon, at the Brockerhoff house, on Tuesday, and took advantage of the opportunity to make public his predictions as to the future of the Bellefonte Central railroad. In his talk Mr. Geoghegan confirmed almost in detail the story published in the Watchman almost three months ago, which at that time was "real news" to many people in Bellefonte and Centre county.

The subject of Mr. Geoghegan's remarks was "The Past, Present and Future of the Bellefonte Central Railroad." He explained that for many years, from 1892 down to date, the Bellefonte Central had been known as a stub-line railroad, with no outlet but the Pennsylvania, at Bellefonte. That the rates to and from the Bellefonte Central were so high as to be discriminatory against all receivers and shippers along that line, and the effect of such a condition was to detract from the development of either the receivers or shippers along the line and of the railroad itself.

He also spoke of the recent fight before the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Public Service Commission, wherein the shippers secured practically 100% relief as to rates for the future, and explained how it would benefit such receivers and shippers, resulting in prosperity for the Bellefonte Central railroad, making a brighter outlook for the little line, and all those persons who use it. After detailing present conditions along the line, he then went into the future plans for the road, the gist of which indicates that they are going ahead with the plans to build the six miles from State College to Fairbrook, and going ahead with plans to operate the Fairbrook branch, and are prepared to negotiate with the Pennsylvania railroad for trackage rights from Stover to Tyrone. This would give the Bellefonte Central a through line from Bellefonte to Tyrone.

Further, taking up the proposed plans he confirmed many of the rumors that have been persisting around Bellefonte over the past eight months or a year, that the Bellefonte Central expects to extend its lines eastward for a physical connection with the New York Central.

He further explained that the Bellefonte Central is the last remaining hope of Centre county for competitive railroad service, pointing out that industries have avoided Bellefonte and located elsewhere on account of lack of such service. While labor conditions have been ideal, large industries have refused to locate where there is service by only one railroad. The only way in which Bellefonte can develop in an industrial way is to have better facilities in way of a competitive line.

He stated that the Bellefonte Central is proceeding in a concise and orderly way to carry out all these plans, and while it realizes that there will be a certain amount of opposition from the Pennsylvania, it is proceeding right along, convinced of the justice of its cause, and with no doubt of the ultimate outcome before the Public Service Commission and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

After lunch, Mr. Geoghegan indicated that details concerning the plans of the eastward extension would be forthcoming very shortly after the hearing of the westward extension, which is scheduled for Bellefonte on April 4th. While the Bellefonte Central has been more or less the butt of ridicule in the past, in this vicinity, developments the last year or so would indicate very clearly to farsighted persons the necessity for whole-hearted local support of this ambitious little road to extend its line and help put Centre county, and especially Bellefonte, on a new competitive basis, insofar as the industrial situation is concerned.

The Pennsylvania railroad is so large that any business it may have to divide with the Bellefonte Central will not seriously interfere with the financial condition of the former carrier, and its ability to perform proper service; in fact the entering of the Bellefonte Central into Centre county and other counties in this vicinity ought to convince the Pennsylvania of the necessity of rendering better service to the public than it has in the past.

To this end every public spirited citizen, having the good of his town and community at heart, should attend the hearing in the court house on April 4th, at 9:30 a. m., and find out for his own satisfaction what the actual details of this proposed development will be.

Mrs. George O. Benner, of Centre Hall, was taken to the Clearfield hospital, last week, and on Wednesday submitted to an operation by Dr. Waterworth for the removal of an inward goitre. The operation was apparently a success, as Mrs. Benner is getting along nicely and her condition looks promising for a complete recovery. Mrs. Benner, before her marriage, was Miss Margaret Miles, a daughter of the late John Q. Miles, of Martha Furnace, and has many friends in that section of Bald Eagle valley.

Bellefonte Lodge of Elks Robbed Last Friday Night.

The Bellefonte Lodge of Elks was burglarized, last Friday night, and while the exact amount of spoils secured cannot be definitely determined members of the order estimate that the robber or robbers got from $100 to $125 in cash, three slot machines, a new electric lathe and rendered useless a perfectly good cash register which was badly broken in the attempt to get at its contents.

And the peculiar thing about the robbery is that it must have been done by some one who had a key to the front door as there was no evidence anywhere of the home having been broken into. Every window on the first floor was locked but one and the undisturbed dust on the sill of that one was evidence that it had not been used as a means of entrance.

The robbery evidently took place between midnight and morning and the man who committed it must have worked with considerable stealth and dexterity, as he failed to awaken Paul Haag, the caretaker, who occupies rooms in the rear part of the building. The man evidently forced the cash register and took all the cash in it, estimated at from forty to fifty dollars, then afraid to break open the three slot machines, carried them away with him.

Just why he stole the electric lathe is a mystery. It was a new piece of machinery and had been installed on the work bench in the basement on Friday. It is just possible that the taking of the lathe may have been done to throw suspicion on an innocent party.

Chief of police Dukeman is working on the robbery and developments may be expected most any time.

Protesting Against the Removal of Trains from Lewisburg Branch.

The Harrisburg Telegraph says that protests against removal of trains from the Pennsylvania railroad branch running between Montandon and Bellefonte are on the increase. If the plans announced calling for one train each way, daily, are carried out in the schedule of the Pennsylvania Railroad effective April 29, this section will be without passenger service from early morning until late in the evening.

The towns along this branch are Mifflinburg, Centre Hall, Coburn, Rising Springs, Millmont and Lewisburg. Reports say that a large number of patrons will be inconvenienced by the curtailment of this service, including commuters, business and traveling men. Mail service, parcel post and express deliveries it is said will also be hampered.

Trains now leaving Bellefonte at 6:20 a. m. and 1:30 in the afternoon are to be eliminated along with the one leaving Montandon at 1:54 and arriving at Bellefonte at 4:40 p. m.; and only one train leaving Bellefonte at 6:14 in the morning and Montandon in the evening will be run.

Interesting Club Meeting.

Another of the Woman's club's very interesting meetings was held Monday night in the High school auditorium.

A short business session was followed by brief talks by Mrs. Brouse, in the interest of Polk institute for feeble minded children; Miss Linn in explaining the final Near East drive to be put on in 1923-24; and by Mrs. Beach for the support of the Gillette resolution to resume negotiations for the World Court. The Academy orchestra was then heard in a very much appreciated and exceedingly entertaining musical program of a half hour, their variety of selections and special acts, showing great versatility on the part of the boys. Then Judge Fleming, the speaker of the evening, in a terse fifteen minute talk, put before the women their responsibility in being at the polls for the primaries, then followed adjournment for the social hour in the cafeteria.

Twenty women from Pleasant Gap, ten from State College and a dozen or more from Howard, were the Bellefonte club's guests for the evening.

"Miss Pittsburgh" Before a Buffalo Grand Jury.

Both Grimm and Miss Williams are still at liberty under bail.

Many Dairymen Attend Public Meeting Last Friday Evening.

A large number of dairymen and farmers from all sections of Centre county attended the public meeting held in the court house, last Friday evening. The call for the gathering, which was sent out by the Spring Mills Dairymen's League, did not specify what the meeting was for, but the impression prevailed that it was preliminary to the organization of a county association. If this was the purpose, however, it was not brought up at the meeting.

The court room was filled, most of the crowd being from Pennsylvania, when Mr. Walker, of Spring Mills, stated the object he introduced B. F. Fairchild, of Union county, who spoke further as to the purpose of the meeting and introduced Mr. Slocum, president of the Dairymen's League. The latter gentleman talked nearly an hour on dairying problems. The gist of it was co-operation and its presumptive benefits to the farmer. It would seem from his references to the matter that the price of whole milk in the New York market is to be dropped a cent a quart early in April and there is controversy between the Dairymen's League and the Sheffield Farms Inc. as to who is responsible.

Mr. Slocum urged the dairymen of Centre county to form units and join the League in order to hold prices at a point where there will be a living profit in it for them. At his conclusion the meeting was thrown open for general discussion and Mr. Gable, from Union county, responded at some length. He was followed by a gentleman in the audience from Bradford county who said he is a Union man and a farmer who had been forced to quit his farm in order to make a living at other pursuits. Several others spoke. Among them a Mr. Zeigler, from down near Madisonburg, who suggested that the surplus milk in the seasons when cows are in pasture and producing at the highest should be "fed to the hogs" rather than put on the market with the consequent effect of driving the price down. Mr. Zeigler's suggestion was regarded rather lightly by the gentleman presiding, but it touched the very root of the trouble, because, after all, the price of anything is regulated by the law of supply and demand.

At present there are three branches of the Dairymen's League in Centre county, one at Spring Mills, another at Rebersburg and the third in Nittany valley. The principal purpose of the League is co-operative marketing of milk and all farm products, as well as co-operation in the purchase of about everything needed by the farmer.

W. R. Shope to Build New Sucker Stick Factory.

W. R. Shope has been given the contract for the construction of a new building to be used as a sucker stick and skewer factory for Calvin Troup and Clarence Rine. The building will be approximately 18x30 feet in size, plenty large enough for the present equipment and to permit of some expansion.

For several years the factory was operated in one of the buildings of the Bellefonte Lumber company but when that plant was leased to Claster & Co., of Lock Haven, the new company wanted the room taken up by the factory. Messrs. Rine and Troup had made partial arrangements to take over the brick building at the Phoenix pumping station but because of various reasons abandoned that proposition.

Finally arrangements were made with Mr. Shope to build a factory for them and this he is going to do. While the exact location has not been decided upon it will be near his present planing mill and the waste products of his mill will be used in making skewers and sucker sticks. All the machinery has been removed from the plant of the Bellefonte Lumber company and has been stored out at the Shope plant ready for installation as soon as the new building has been erected.

Penn State Glee Club to Tour Europe.

Announcement was made, on Tuesday, that as a reward for diligent service and twice winning the State intercollegiate championship, members of the State College men's glee club are to use an accumulation of the club's funds this summer in taking a seven weeks' tour of Europe. Richard W. Grant, director of the club and the college music department, said twenty-five men will be taken on the trip.

According to the tentative program the club will sail from New York on July 28th. Arrangements are now being made for concerts before Rotary clubs of London, Paris, Brussels and Amsterdam, as well as in other cities on the continent.

Dunlap yesterday received a telegram from Tampa, Fla., announcing the death in that city of Tat Emery Watts, requesting that the wife and children, supposed to be located four miles west of Bellefonte, be notified. Indications Favorable to Good Trout Fishing This Year.

According to all indications trout fishing, this year, should be very good in Centre county. There was not enough extreme cold weather during the winter to freeze the mountain streams, and the water was high enough at all times to afford the trout a ample protection in any of the streams in the county.

Most of the larger streams have been fairly well stocked with trout since the close of the fishing season last year and this will help some. So far this spring there have been no indications of illegal fishing on any of the streams. In past years the fish hogs got in their work early with the result that on the opening day of the season many of the best pools on Spring creek, Logan's branch and Fishing creek had been scooped clean and law-abiding fishermen had hard work finding enough trout to make the sport interesting. But the activities of fish wardens and sportsmen's associations in going after illegal fishermen is having its effect and every year sees fewer infractions of the fishing laws.
