Mr. Sommerville is deriving considerable pleasure and satisfaction from the work. Boy Robbers Apprehended Wednesday Night of Last Week.

On Wednesday night of last week Jacob and David Mills, twins 12 years old; their brother George, aged 9, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mills, and Alfred Spicer, aged 10, son of Toner Spicer, broke one of the rear windows in the store of J. C. Jodon, and entering the store stole a dozen cans of beans, eighteen bottles of pop, a pound and a half of minced ham and some crackers, and going over into the yard of the Bellefonte Lumber company were having a feast when discovered by Herman Cruise, night watchman.

The boys took to their heels but not before some of them were recognized. Chief of police Dukeman nabbed two of the boys in less than half an hour and they confessed to a series of petty robberies, among which was the R. C. Witmer supply store, where they stole six flashlights; Dr. Malloy's dental office, where they got a compress package; Dunkleberger's creamery, where they stole candy and cakes, and twice into the office of the Sheffield Farms, Inc., where they got money to a total of almost ten dollars. All the boys have been placed in charge of the juvenile court officer.

Boys and Girls Organize Holstein Calf Club.

Eighteen boys and girls within a radius of five miles of Bellefonte have organized a Holstein calf club, under the auspices of the Logan Grange, and received their calves on Monday of this week. They were assisted in perfecting the organization by a committee of the Grange composed of Roy Swartz, chairman; Epley White, L. E. Biddle, Merrill Weaver and Harry Ishler, in co-operation with R. C. Blaney, agricultural extension representative.

The Farmers' National Bank of Bellefonte assisted in a financial way in purchasing the calves. William C. Smeltzer, representing the bank and also the Grange committee on organization; R. R. Welch, of State College, and R. C. Blaney purchased the calves in Bradford county from several of the leading dairy herd owners in the State. The calves were picked from over 250 inspected by the three men. They are all from dams who have a record of 400 pounds butter fat in cow testing associations or its equivalent. In fact the records run from 400 to 600 pounds, which is the highest. The calves, which range in age from five to eight months, were selected from accredited herds with special emphasis on type and development.

The calves are all located within an area of five miles square. Aside from the educational benefit to the boys and girls in this type of 4H work, the calves will serve as an important phase in the community dairy improvement plan.

The second Centre county Holstein bull association, which is located in this community, has agreed to breed the calves the first time free of charge. In the course of a few years, providing the boys and girls grow out their calves in good condition and care for them properly, the community ought to have some good dairy herds developed from this foundation stock.

The calves have been purchased by members of the club on a purely business basis. Those who do not wish, or are so situated they cannot pay cash, may pay for them on a note plan handled through the Farmers National bank. Each boy and girl has been assigned a sponsor, who is a farmer in the community, and whose duty it will be to assist the particular member accredited to him by encouraging him or her to do the best job possible in developing the calf. A round-up will be held this fall at which time prizes will be given to the boys and girls according to the way their calves are placed on that occasion.

The boys and girls who compose the club are Paul Corman, LeRoy Evey, Jerald Zimmerman, Effie Keller, Charles Tibbens, Norman Rice, James Biddle, Helen Weaver, Paul Zimmerman, Malcolm Swartz, Walter Rice, Dale Brooks, Kenneth Ishler, Louise Corman, Blair Fetzer, Kenneth Smeltzer, Arthur Hartle and Norman Jodon.

Circus Day Draws Near and the Kids Become Restless.

With only a few more days remaining before the appearance of the Gentry Bros, circus considerable interest is being manifested, not only by the younger generation but by some of the older "boys." The Gentry Bros. show now on its 41st annual tour, is looked upon as a national institution. Year after year the big show comes for its annual visit. Each season sees an improvement, until finally it is believed the limit has been reached. Yet the Gentry Bros. circus which comes to Bellefonte on Tuesday, May 22, always affords a new and novel entertainment. It is true the old time features remain. Yet novelties and European thrills are added each year as fast as they are discovered.

Among the features are the Flying Jordans, the Peerless Pottery, gymnasts; the Nanking troupe of Chinese equilibrist; the Maxwell Trio, acrobats; Arthur Borella, the highest salaried clown in America; the Florence family of riders; the DeLong Sisters, acrobats and nearly 100 other stars and features of continental Europe and great America.

Organized nearly half a century ago the show is still under the active direction and management of these famous American showmen. A special train transports the big show from city to city. Nearly 700 men, women and horses are carried; the menagerie is one of the largest ever to be exhibited in this section of the State. The equipment and paraphernalia is valued at $750,000. Ten acres of ground is utilized to house the transient city.

An immense street parade will be seen at noon on show day. There will be two performances at 2 and 8 p. m., the doors opening an hour earlier.

Several Injured by Falls.

Thomas B. Hamilton one of the older residents of Bellefonte, made a mis-step on the outside stairs leading down into his garden, last week, resulting in a number of bruises about his head and face.

Mrs. Robert Walker is now recovering from her fall down the back yard steps. Her condition was at first thought to be serious, but an X-ray shows only torn ligaments in her elbow.

Mrs. Calvin Gates, of north Thomas street, is suffering from a broken right arm, her fall being from a chair while cleaning house.

AVIATOR BONNEY KILLED IN PLANE CRASH, FRIDAY.

Man Who Brought First Airplane to Bellefonte Meets Death in Own Bird Machine.

Leonard W. Bonney, pioneer aviator and the man who brought the first airplane to Bellefonte, was killed at Curtis field, Long Island, last Friday afternoon, while testing out an airship of his own invention and construction, "The Bonney Gull," so named because it was built with flapping wings to enable the operator to take off and alight on a small area.

Bonney had worked three years on his invention and spent in the neighborhood of one hundred thousand dollars. His first test flight was made at Mitchell field, last October, when the machine rose only about five feet then crashed. Bonney was uninjured. Nothing daunted he went to work to rebuild the machine, which he constructed on different lines.

On Friday he was ready for another test, which was attempted at 4:15 o'clock. The plane left the ground after only a short run and appeared to be sailing along beautifully, when it suddenly toppled at a height of about eighty feet and crashed to the ground. Bonney was thrown a distance of fifty feet from his plane, was picked up unconscious and rushed to a hospital where he died shortly after his arrival.

The aviator inventor was 52 years old and was one of the first flying pupils and was one of the first flying pupils at the Dayton, Ohio, field of the Wright brothers. Having mastered the art of flying he purchased a plane of his own and made barnstorming tours of the United States, giving exhibition flights at county fairs and other big gatherings.

He came to Bellefonte in September, 1914, on the occasion of the last year of the Centre county fair. At that time he had a three thousand dollar French monoplane which was shipped here by express. He put the plane together on the fair grounds where it attracted much attention. In tuning up the bolts that held the propeller in place sheared off and it was thought the prospects of a flight had ended. Spectators jeered Bonney, said it was a fake and he never intended to fly. Goaded on by these taunts he went to the Central R. R. of Pa., shops had new bolts made and got the propeller in position again. It was Thursday then, the big day of the fair. The crowd was so large that it was feared that someone might be hurt were he to attempt to take off or land on the fair grounds so the machine was towed to the field on the Tom Beaver farm, just west of his house.

On that day he took to the air shortly before four o'clock, sailed majestically down over the fair grounds, circled once, then made a long sweep west with the intention of returning over the grounds on his way to the Beaver farm, but while in flight the wire control of his elevator snapped in twain and he crashed to the ground on Halfmoon hill from a height of about 1200 feet. As the plane hit the ground it burst into flames.

Though badly bruised and stunned from the shock Bonney was not knocked unconscious and was able to crawl from the cockpit before the fire reached him. Most of the plane was burned. Bonney was rushed to the Bellefonte hospital where he was given proper attention and was able to leave that institution within a week.

Nothing daunted with his accident he continued flying and in 1925 was a pilot in the air forces of the Carranza movement in Mexico. At the completion of his services there he started work on the construction of his "Bonney Gull." Bonney was married and leaves a wife at Flushing, N. Y., where he had his home.

Two College Township Men Narrowly Escaped Electrocuting.

On Wednesday of last week Foster Musser, Arthur Witmer, Samuel M. Hess and Charles T. Homan started out to repair the line of the Farmers' Telephone company, badly damaged by the heavy snow storm of the Saturday previous. They found a number of poles down and the wires badly tangled, while in front of the Walter Weaver home, on the Branch, the wires were broken.

Musser and Witmer took hold of the wires and were trying to untangle them, unaware of the fact that another gang of men were at work on the same lines further down the road. The latter crew in some way accidentally threw one of the wires in contact with one of the high voltage lines of the West Penn Power company with the result that both Witmer and Musser got a severe shock. Witmer was knocked loose from the wire but both hands were severely burned.

Musser was unable to drop the wire and was knocked unconscious. His life was saved, however, by quick work on the part of Sam Hess and Charles Homan, who grabbed his clothing and pulled him loose from the wire. They promptly applied first aid methods and after five minutes work he regained consciousness. The four men promptly stopped work on the line.
