STATE HIGHWAYS MAY BECOME WIDE BOULEVARDS.

Pre-emption Surveys Filed on Several of the Important Routes in Centre County.

If the dream of officials in charge of the State Highway Department ever materializes all of the main arteries of State highways throughout Pennsylvania will some day become wide boulevards, with grades and curves eliminated so far as possible, but in the meantime landowners along the proposed routes are virtually tied up in a quandary as to what rights they may exercise over their own possessions.

Several months ago the department filed in the office of the recorder of Centre county blue print surveys of pre-emption rights on the State highway routes between Bellefonte and Pleasant Gap, from Pleasant Gap to State College, and from Bellefonte to Lock Haven by way of Nittany valley. Under the law any farmer living along the line of one of these routes who wishes to dispose of his farm must sell it subject to the pre-emption rights of the Highway Department; and any individual purchasing a farm or plot of ground and putting thereon any improvements in the way of buildings, etc., cannot recover damage for same if they are compelled to remove them in the future; and further, will have to remove them at their own expense whenever the department sees fit to exercise its right of pre-emption.

As laid out in the blue print survey the road between Bellefonte and Pleasant Gap will be of various widths. In some places it will be 80 feet, other places 100 and on several stretches 120 feet in width. The latter width will prevail at Pleasant Gap and for some distance this side of it.

While the new survey follows the general contour of the present highway all of the curves are eliminated where it is possible to do so. Logan's branch will be crossed and re-crossed by several bridges. Out at the T. E. Jodon farm the survey cuts about one-third way into the meadow to the west of the present road. At the Imperial oil station and the Peter's junk yard the line runs almost up to the front of the building.

Out at Axe Mann the survey swings to the south, cuts into the hill and will take three or more of the row of houses and the church and continuing in a wide circle cuts right through the centre of the big spring at the Garman property. Coming closer to Bellefonte the survey cuts in west of the old toll house, runs through the rear portion of the old slag pile and comes onto the present road right in front of the Titan Metal Co. office.

As an instance of what the pre-emption rights mean Robert F. Hunter, in looking for a location for the gas plant of the Central Pennsylvania Gas company, had practically decided on the D. M. Kline meadow, but after investigating the highway's pre-emption surveys was compelled to abandon that site. Another location was also abandoned because of the same reason, and now it looks as if the plant may be located on the triangular piece of ground lying just west of the railroad and south of the road leading up over Rishell's hill.

The new survey provides for a road 80 to 100 feet in width between Pleasant Gap and State College, the principal change being the cut-off across the hill from the Houserville road to the Klingler farm, leaving Lemont high and dry to the south of the main highway. Between Bellefonte and Lock Haven 80 feet is to be the prevailing width, while a few of the worst curves will be eliminated.

Of course, it will probably be years before the pre-emption rights will be exercised, but in the meantime it is holding up the sale of land along the present highway for building or any other purposes.

Railroad Hearing to be Resumed Next Week.

The hearing on the application of the Bellefonte Central Railroad company for permission to take over and operate the Fairbrook branch, abandoned by the Pennsylvania Railroad company two months ago, and also for permission to build six miles of new road from Struble Station to Fairbrook, will be resumed before Public Service Commissioner Charles S. Young, in Bellefonte, next Wednesday, and will continue through Thursday unless completed before that time.

As next week is court week, and it is just possible court may be in session at that time, the court house, naturally would not be available for the hearing. In that event it is possible it may be held in the Y. M. C. A. building.

When the hearing adjourned on April 5th it was announced that there were still some ten or fifteen witnesses to hear in the interest of the Bellefonte Central. Whether any additional ones have been summoned has not been divulged, but it is intimated that the company has a new line of exhibits to offer which it is believed will be quite impressive.

Just how many witnesses the Pennsylvania will produce, or what its line of argument will be against granting the petitions, has not been divulged. Whatever it may be, however, the Bellefonte Central will be entitled to present testimony in rebuttal.

Up to April 1, there were 2567 dogs licensed in Centre county.

Interesting Facts About the Beauty Contest in Academy Minstrels.

Headmaster James R. Hughes, of the Bellefonte Academy, makes the interesting and significant announcement that all the young ladies from Philipsburg, Pleasant Gap, Boalsburg, Bellefonte and other places in Centre county, who will participate in the beauty contest in connection with the Academy minstrels, on the evening of Thursday, May 24th, are doing so, not on any grounds of conceit or presumption on their part, but merely because they have been invited and urged by the Academy management to aid, as far as possible, in making this novel feature of the minstrels a real success. The Academy management appreciates fully their willingness to participate.

It has been decided that these contestants will not appear in the big parade on Thursday afternoon. They will be kept in the background and their names will not be revealed until during the second part of the minstrel performance, when the contest will take place. This interesting part of the show will be kept a mystery until the time for the contest comes. Impartial judges from Lock Haven, who are not acquainted with the contestants, will select the three fortunate winners of the first prize of $25.00, the second prize of $15.00, the third prize of $10.00, respectively.

The program for the coming show will be a most entertaining one. Make your plans to enjoy the treat. Reserved seats will be on sale, at Gross' pharmacy, at ten o'clock, Monday morning, May 21st. Secure your seats early. The performance will positively be given one night only. The parade will start at 4.30. The new State theatre will be the scene of the evening's entertainment. The college lads, Kennedy, Shuster, Whetsone, Holderman and Neff, are preparing to make the "hit" of their lives.

Don't forget the annual minstrel dance, at the Hecla dance auditorium, Friday evening, May 25th, from 9-2. Johnny Buck's orchestra, of State College, will furnish the music. The public is cordially invited. All the contestants in the beauty contest will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Hughes on that delightful occasion. That is sufficient guarantee of the good time in store for them.

Attempted Burglary Nipped in the Bud by W. H. Garman.

About three o'clock on Monday morning, W. H. Garman, who occupies rooms over the old Schofield saddlery shop, now conducted by Harry Ward, heard a noise as if some one were trying to force the store door. A few seconds later there was a crash of breaking glass and jumping out of bed Mr. Garman ran down the stairs in his night clothes and caught a young man in the act of reaching through the hole in the broken glass, evidently in an endeavor to unlock the door.

When Mr. Garman asked him what he was doing he took to his heels and ran away, but not before the former was able to partially identify him. In running he lost his cap and on the cap was a fisherman's license button. In the button was the license, which had been issued to Walter Hill. The young man was arrested, on Tuesday, by chief of police Harry Dukeman, and was identified by Mr. Garman as the man who attempted to break into the Ward store.

Trout fishing is like most everything else. It isn't the man who blusters around and makes the big noise that gets the most fish. As a rule the man who slips out quietly by himself and plugs away brings home the speckled beauties. Bellefonte has both kinds of fishermen, and one of the quiet kind is Joseph Thal. While he has not made much fuss about it he has landed just six dozen trout during the first month of the season. One of the six dozen measured eight inches and all the others ten and over, while the biggest one was a little better than seventeen inches in length.

A bigger laugh than even in the new "2 Black Crows" parts 7 and 8. Harter's Music Store, Bellefonte. 72-20-2t.

THE HOSPITAL DRIVE IS OFF TO A GOOD START.

The second annual membership and contribution drive of the Centre county hospital got off with a flying start. Last Saturday, May 12th. The first day, found the many solicitors enthusiastically busy and rolling up results. Telephone reports to drive executive John S. Sommerville, from district captains for the first two days, were very gratifying both as to response of the public and activities of the workers. State College captain Lederer was highly pleased with first results. Miss Blanchard and her ward lieutenants in Bellefonte reported exceptional results. The management of the drive were also gratified to find the generous contributions of the local industries and business houses. All in all the drive has the appearance of a big success.

As a result of the publication by the board of the hospital of the annual report of the financial activities, expenditures and the showing of services rendered, the solicitors find the public very much better informed as to the working of their hospital. Particular attention is called to the exceptional showing in this report of the cost per patient per day of $4.08, which is the lowest in the State for hospitals of this size or larger.

One of the very essential necessities of the hospital, which can no longer be delayed, is securing a new ambulance, better named in this modern day, "invalid car." The Ford ambulance now in use has been in service many years. It answered its purpose when originally given to the hospital through the generous and untiring work of the Women's Auxiliary, but it has become worn out in the service of the patients. To serve the community of Centre county properly, a car especially fitted to convey the sick to the hospital is an absolute necessity. An additional use of an "invalid car" is to convey convalescent patients to their homes and take convalescent children patients out for an airing. A group of generous hospital friends are going to see to it that the "invalid car" is a reality.

The Ritz theatre, through the good spirit of the management, will present to the drive the proceeds of two evening moving picture shows, Monday and Tuesday, May 21st and 22nd, will be hospital benefit shows at the Ritz. Especially for this showing Mr. Richelieu has ordered in the Mary Pickford production, "Through the Back Door." Load up the car, take a party, go to the Ritz Monday and Tuesday, see a good movie and help the hospital.

Any out of the county friends of the hospital, or any in the county who may have been overlooked by the solicitors and want to be numbered among the members of the hospital, may mail their subscription to the secretary of the board, Ralph Mallory, Bellefonte. A membership card acknowledgment will be forwarded.

Three People Have Narrow Escape When Train Wrecks Auto.

Rev. Harry A. Hartman, Reformed minister of Hubersburg; Mrs. Ellen E. Moyer, his housekeeper, and George Spangler, 11-year-old Hubersburg boy, had a miraculous escape from being killed, last Thursday afternoon, when the automobile in which they were riding was hit by the Lehigh Express west, on the crossing at Mt. Eagle.

Mrs. Moyer had been at her home at Mt. Eagle and Rev. Hartman had driven over to get her, taking the Spangler boy along for the ride. After Mrs. Moyer had taken her place in the car they decided to drive down Bald Eagle valley to Lock Haven. Just how Rev. Hartman overlooked the fact that the Lehigh Express was due is not known but he failed to see the train until he was too close to the railroad to stop. There was a deep ditch on both sides of the road and had he turned either to the right or left the car would have been ditched and all thrown onto the railroad track right in front of the oncoming train.

The only thing he could think of at the time was to try and beat the train over the crossing. In this he failed as the locomotive hit the rear end of the car and the three occupants were all thrown out, but fortunately clear of the track. The train was stopped as quickly as possible and the three of them picked up, brought to Bellefonte and taken to the Centre County hospital.

Rev. Hartman's injuries consisted of cuts and abrasions on the head. The Spangler boy was cut and bruised on the head and face but no bones broken, while Mrs. Moyer, who is 68 years old, suffered a broken left leg and numerous bruises. The pastor and the boy were able to leave the hospital this week, but Mrs. Moyer will be there until she recovers.

On the Lincoln highway, near Johnstown, he lost control of his car with the result that it crashed into a telephone pole. Bohren was taken to the Johnstown hospital where it was found that his injuries were only superficial and after being given proper attention he was discharged. Mr. England and Mrs. Wilt were uninjured.
