GRANGE FAIR AND ENCAMPMENT NEWS.

Erection of Tents will be Started Soon. Demand Exceeds Supply.

Erection of tents will be begun on Grange park within a few days, which will be evidence of the fact that another year has passed and the opening of the annual Grange fair and encampment, with all its unique features, is drawing near. The camp, containing hundreds of tents, and the largest encampment held in connection with a fair east of the Mississippi river, will be increased this year by the erection of many additional tents which have already been engaged for the week. At that the demand far exceeds the supply, much to the regret of the committee in charge. In addition to the tents for rent many persons who own tents have made application for ground space on which to erect them. Such tents will be wired and the ground rent, including light, will be $4.00. In the case of tents of an excessive size an additional charge will be made.

The comfort of the campers is of paramount importance and every effort will be made for better sanitation, removal of garbage and rubbish, and the location of tents.

There is every indication that the up-to-date dairy and hog barns erected on Grange park this year will be filled with live-stock of a superior quality, all coming from breeders in Centre county. The old barn on the north side of the grounds will be fitted for special exhibits, such as coming from schools and Granges of Centre county, and as never before has there been space for proper display of exhibits in this division, something very fine may be expected.

The music feature for the week should appeal to camper and visitor alike, as it will come from bands in Centre county—a band for each day, beginning Saturday, August 25th, Sunday included; and these bands have achieved a reputation for excellent work and assure the public plenty of good music, a great aid in giving pleasure to a group of people in the great outdoors.

The plays in the contest, presented each evening in the auditorium, will be up to the standard of past years; and an entertainment is planned for Sunday evening which will surpass anything attempted in that line. We bespeak for it an appreciative audience.

Some unusual features in connection with the base ball games which have been arranged for the week will be certain to arouse exciting interest.

William B. Lyons Adorns Front Page of Warner-American News.

The front page cover of the Warner-American News, for July, has as a special adornment an unusually good picture of William B. Lyons, who has charge of the steel drum operations at the Bellefonte plant. Mr. Lyons is one of the oldest and most reliable employees of the American Lime and Stone company and has won his present position through his own earnest and diligent efforts.

As a further pictorial contribution to "Bellefonte Blasts" is a group picture of seven of the employees at the local plant, namely: Paul Gentzel, Willis Neff, Wilbur Gordon, Ambrose Smead, Lynn Fromm, Francis Rine and Jesse Confer.

Included in the "Blasts" is one item that has our whole-hearted commendation. It is:

"The world's champion pest is the guy who gets up at 6 a. m. and warns his motor long enough to get the whole neighborhood wide awake and cussing."

Col. Walter B. McCaskey and wife arrived at State College, the latter part of the week, where the Colonel has been assigned as commandant of cadets. Just thirty-two years ago he graduated at State when the college was just beginning to attract notice in the educational world, and now to come back as commandant with the remembrance that he at one time was a cadet there must be a unique experience.

Bad Auto Wreck on Bald Eagle Road Monday Morning.

One of the most destructive automobile smash-ups that has taken place in Centre county this year happened at the Plum Grove school house, on the Bald Eagle Valley concrete state highway, about eleven o'clock on Monday morning, and although there were nine people in the two machines, and all were cut and bruised, not one of them sustained really serious injuries.

E. E. Rider, who with his wife and two daughters have been visiting Mrs. Rider's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Brover and family, in Union township, was the driver of a truck, which figured in the accident. He had with him the members of his family and a young brother of Mrs. Rider. They were headed for Bellefonte and just as they came out of the side road at Plum Grove onto the state highway a touring car driven by Salvatore Yosua, of Osceola Mills, and containing four men, crashed into them.

The truck was overturned and Mrs. Rider and one of her daughters were thrown out but fortunately fell free of the truck. The entire left side of the truck was smashed in by the impact, the top badly broken and the machine wrecked generally. The touring car fared little better, as it, also, was practically reduced to junk. A field of corn just east of the Plum Grove road prevented the driver of the touring car from seeing the truck until it came out onto the highway right in front of him, but instead of turning to the right in an effort to pass the truck in safety he turned to the left hoping to beat around it, but by so doing hit it head on right back of the front wheel.

Mrs. Rider sustained quite a good sized cut on her right leg below the knee and a number of slight cuts and bruises on the head and body. One of her daughters had a cut on the head and a number of contusions. Mr. Rider suffered a back injury while both of the others in the truck sustained slight cuts and bruises.

All of the men in the touring car looked as if they had been in a free-for-all fight, though none of them were seriously hurt. Passing motorists brought all of them to Bellefonte and after a physician had looked after their injuries a hearing was held before Squire Woodring, at which it developed that no one really was to blame and an amicable settlement was made.

Bellefonter's Get Fine Reception of Fight Returns.

"We made no mistake" when we said that the Tunney-Heeny fight returns would be received on the Bremer-Tully counterphase radio installed in the Bush House cigar store, by Gray's radio service, "neither will you," when you have one put into your own home.

It was estimated that several hundred people occupied all the available space on the street in front of the Bush House Thursday night, and many others living within two blocks could hear the return very distinctly without moving from their favorite chair in their homes. Clearly every announcement made in the Yankee Stadium came in, listeners getting the fight as accurately as if being an eye witness.

The universal commendation for the down town reception of the fight was due to Carl Gray, through his machine. The B. T. has little interference, that being controlled by its exclusive rejector stage. It is a single dial set with a patented indicator and the new out-put idea makes it possible for the user to choose the tone characteristic he prefers. The radio is cheap because it is so good. Carl will tell you of its superior quality.

Bellefonte and Centre county got a touch of the Arctic wave which swept over the northwestern portion of the United States and Canada last week. Cooler weather was apparent on Saturday and continued until the middle of this week. In fact the nights were unseasonably cold. Monday morning the temperature was down to 54 above zero and on Tuesday morning thermometers registered 48, which was just ten degrees above the frost line. While such low temperature is unusual it is not without precedent, as back in 1880 there was a frost on the 4th of July which practically ruined the corn crop in Centre county.

According to statistics published in the National Underwriter, for July, life insurance death claims paid in Bellefonte last year totaled $116,800, a greater amount than was paid to legatees in many towns much larger than Bellefonte. The most insurance paid on any individual in Bellefonte was $23,800 on the late A. C. Mingle.

Rev. G. F. Gass, who for eight years was pastor on the Reformed charge at Howard, died on Wednesday, at a hospital in Bedford, as the result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident last Friday. He was 75 years old, and is survived by his wife, one daughter and a step-daughter.

The Department of Public Instruction announces that Centre county ranks eleventh of all the counties in the State in the number of male school teachers employed. The percentage is 32 males to 68 females.

Ferguson Township Man Drowned in Old Ore Mine.

Jacob Confer Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Confer, of Pennsylvania Furnace, was drowned in an old ore mine filled with water near Marengo, in Ferguson township, on Sunday, July 22nd, and his body was not recovered until Monday of this week. Confer worked on the farm for Elmer Fisher and on the day he disappeared he had gone out to repair a fence that the cattle had broken down. When he failed to return at meal time members of the Fisher family were not alarmed as they thought he had gone to his home at Pennsylvania Furnace.

But when he failed to return to work the next day inquiry was made and it was then learned that he had not gone home. A search was instituted and continued all week and it was not until Sunday that the young man's clothing was found on the banks of the old ore mine, in one of the back fields of the Fisher farm. County detective Leo Boden, of Phillipsburg, was notified and with others dragged the mine without results. The dragging was resumed on Monday and the body finally located in about thirty feet of water. Confer was a fair swimmer and it is believed he had been seized with cramps or became ill while in the water, which caused him to sink and drown.

Coroner W. H. Heaton held an inquest on Tuesday morning and the jury returned a verdict of accidental death by drowning. In addition to his parents the young man is survived by two sisters. Burial was made in the Ross cemetery on Wednesday afternoon.

Bellefonte Skewer Factory Wiped Out by Fire.

The Bellefonte skewer factory, located in buildings on south Potter street, opposite the Atlantic Refining company station, was completely destroyed by fire, between one and two o'clock yesterday morning. The factory was located in two buildings owned by W. R. Shope and the fire started in a small passageway between the buildings, according to the best evidence obtainable. Both buildings were of frame construction and the flames made rapid progress; in fact had made such a start by the time the firemen arrived upon the scene that it was impossible to save the plant, and the efforts of the firemen were directed to keeping the fire from spreading to adjoining buildings.

While Mr. Shope owned the buildings the machinery was owned by Lowe & Coryell, of Williamsport, and operation of the plant was in charge of Clarence Rine, of Bellefonte. A draft of railroad cars were standing on the siding close to the plant but fortunately all of them were steel cars and the only damage done was to the running board of a tank car, which was considerably charred.

At the time of going to press it was impossible to get any figures on the loss sustained by the several owners, but it was all insured. The burning of the plant will probably put an end to the skewer factory in Bellefonte.

Centre Hall Young Man Held for Death at Lewistown.

Paul Wenrich, of Centre Hall, is being held at Lewistown for the death of Christian Speicher, fifteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Abram Speicher, which occurred last Saturday. Wenrich was the driver of a truck owned by Ray Aumiller, of Mifflin county. Speicher was riding a horse when Wenrich drove along the road with a load of lumber. The horse frightened at the truck and Speicher was thrown off sustaining a fracture of the skull which resulted in his death.

Both Ray Aumiller, the owner of the truck, and Wenrich were arrested, on Sunday, but the former was discharged when it was definitely determined that he had not been near the truck at the time of the accident. Wenrich, however, has been held for further investigation.
