COL. JAMES A. MCCLAIN DIED

AT HOME IN SPANGLER.

Col. James A. McClain, a native of Bellefonte but for the past thirty years one of the most progressive and energetic business men of northern Cambria county, passed away at his home in Spangler at 7:45 o'clock last Thursday evening.

Col. McClain was a good example of what a man with the right kind of determination can accomplish during his life. From a driver of mules in the ore mines of Centre county he rose to be a leader in financial and industrial circles in Cambria county.

A son of Bernard and Cora Brew McClain he was born in Bellefonte on September 30th, 1849, hence was close to seventy-nine years of age. When seven years of age the family moved to State College and two years later his father died.

When seven years of age the family moved to State College and two years later his father died. James was but nine years old at the time, and had had but three years of schooling, but in order to help his mother he secured work as a mule driver in the ore mines near Bellefonte.

An ardent Democrat he had always taken an interest in local politics and at the solicitation of friends he became a candidate for Register in 1881. He was nominated and elected, and in 1884 was re-elected for a second term.

Mr. McClain's term of office expired in 1888 and shortly thereafter he purchased the store down at the old nail works which he conducted quite successfully until the works became financially involved and closed with a crash some five years later, which brought to him complete financial ruin.

The same year Col. J. L. Spangler, the late D. H. Hastings and a number of others became interested in the development of the coal lands in northern Cambria county and Col. McClain decided to try his luck there.

He was one of the organizers and the secretary-treasurer of the Spangler Improvement company, took a leading part in the organization of the Spangler Water company which later became the Northern Water company and of which he was president up until his death.

In 1904 he was largely instrumental in organizing and establishing the First National bank of Spangler and from its opening until January 1st, 1925, served as cashier.

He became the secretary-treasurer of the hospital organization and gave both time and money to make it the high-class institution it is today. Col. McClain's humane spirit was exemplified in Bellefonte four years ago when the big drive was put on to remodel and enlarge the Bellefonte hospital.

KREBS—Friends of Lee Krebs, of State College, were much shocked to learn of his death in the Centre County hospital, at six o'clock on Tuesday morning.

He was taken to the hospital, on Saturday, and underwent an operation Sunday morning. On Monday he was reported as collapsing along reasonably well but a collapse on Monday night resulted in his death.

A son of D. Clyde and Ella Confer Krebs he was born at Pine Grove Mills on May 29th, 1897, hence was in his thirty-second year. When but a boy his parents moved to State College where he attended the public schools and took the short course in creamery work at the College.

He later was employed at the College creamery and was an industrious and reliable young man. He was a member of the Lutheran church and Sunday school from boyhood.

It might be interesting to note here that the Krebs family is one of the oldest in west Ferguson township, dating back one hundred and fifty years. Rachel Krebs, great grandmother of the deceased, was the first person to be buried in the old cemetery at Pine Grove Mills.

BOY SCOUTS REPORT GREAT TIME IN CAMP.

The twenty-four Boy Scouts of Troop No. 1, Bellefonte, in charge of scoutmaster C. E. Williams, returned home, last Friday, from their ten days outing spent at the W. P. Seig camp, on Fishing creek, and all of them were jubilant over the good time they had.

The boys went to camp on August first, being transported to Fishing creek in the cars of E. E. Widdowson, L. C. Heineman, W. Harrison Walker and Dr. Morrow, while the camp equipment was sent down in the F. W. West & Co. truck. LeRoy (Micky) Adams was taken along as cook and the first day was taken up in laying the camp and getting firmly established for the outing.

On the second day Lieut. E. H. Miller visited the camp and gave the Scouts demonstrations in code signaling, in which they displayed considerable interest. On Friday, the third day in camp, the boys took an all-day hike and returning late in the afternoon found themselves on the wrong side of Fishing creek, with the nearest bridge a mile and a half away.

On Saturday Commander Danforth, of State College, was the camp guest. He is a retired naval officer and he taught the boys how to tie sailor knots, plot and lay out a map and various other useful things. In the evening he gave an interesting talk on astronomy.

Sunday was guest day and the boys were kept busy entertaining friends from home, but not too busy to devote an hour to outdoor religious services conducted by secretary L. C. Heineman. The secretary had with him his daughter, Miss Betty Heineman, who played the piano during the musical portion of the services.

On Monday morning, August 6th, Nelson E. Robb, of the Bellefonte Trust company, visited the camp and gave the boys a talk on thrift. In the afternoon the entertainment consisted of a hare and hound race. Roy Wilkinson Jr., Ambrose Callahan and Dick Baney were the hares. Given fifteen minutes start the hares trekked off through the woods blazing their trail with torn bits of paper.

Game protector Thomas G. Mosier was booked for a visit to the camp on Tuesday but in his stead the Game Commission sent a man from Harrisburg by the name of Gilford. He had with him an army pup tent which he offered as a prize to the patrol who would put it up in the shortest time and most accurately.

On Wednesday morning Don Cochran, of State College, gave the boys instructions in tracking and finding their way about the woods. In the afternoon Dr. Asa Hickok, of Rockview, outlined the necessity of personal hygiene. On Thursday morning J. H. Caum, of the Bell Telephone company, gave a demonstration in first aid methods, and in the afternoon the Scouts entertained members of the Bellefonte Kiwanis club.

On Friday morning, the last day of camp, the boys were given the various tests and the afternoon was spent in packing up and policing camp. After the final supper cars and trucks from Bellefonte arrived and the troop was brought back.

Only one accident happened during the camp. Dick Robb cut his leg with a camp axe and the wound was given proper attention by Dr. Morrow, of Centre Hall. Strange as it may seem, when the troop returned home they had a balance of forty dollars in their treasury.

The boys and the scoutmaster express their appreciation to everybody who in any way contributed to the success of their summer camp, and will look forward to another such pleasant outing next year.

He, with three companions, had been wading in the shallow portion of the dam and finally decided to try a sail on an old raft over the deeper water.

Climbing onto the float they started paddling toward the breast of the dam. In some way the Barry boy fell off the raft into the water, and as none of the boys were able to swim they were unable to rescue him.
