Alaskan Reindeer Meat Rich in Protein.

To determine the value of Alaskan reindeer meat for food, samples have been officially tested recently for chemical composition and nutritive value.

Two departments of the Government are cooperating in the study, and the analyses and experiments followed a meeting in Washington between representatives of several bureaus of the Department of Agriculture and a representative of the Department of the Interior, Bureau of Education, the governmental agency charged with the promotion of the reindeer industry in connection with the educational work among Alaskan natives.

35,006 Graduated from State Schools.

Thirty-five thousand and six young men and women were graduated in the June classes of the 800 four-year, junior and junior-senior public high schools in Pennsylvania, according to statistics just compiled by the department of public instruction.

Approximately 5000 graduates received diplomas at the February commencement, making a total of 40,000 from public high schools for the school year 1927-28.

There has been a decided change in the past few years in the type of commencement exercises given in the high school, department officials point out.

Where the commencement program previously consisted of many orations and essays, there is now a definite trend toward the development of a program which aims to inform the people of the community regarding the service performed by the public schools.

Game Commission Makes Changes in Doe Season—Special Season Voted.

At a meeting of the State game commission last week the rulings on the coming deer season were clarified and some changes made to conform with interpretations handed down by the State's attorney general.

The license fee for the special license will cost $2, the regular hunting license costing the same.

In order to meet objections from counties in which deer are said to be not overabundant, the commission also ruled that counties may only issue eight special licenses for each buck killed in the respective counties the past season.

Hunters can, however, secure licenses in as many counties as they wish, providing the quota has not been exhausted.

The rabbit season has been changed to open November 1, instead of October 15.

The Dog Law.

The word "owner" when applied to the proprietorship of a dog, shall include every person having a right of property in such dog, and every person who keeps or harbors such dog or has it in his care, and every person who permits such dog to remain on or about any premises occupied by him.

It is unlawful for any person to own or keep any dog six months old or over unless such dog is licensed, and unless such dog at all times wear the collar and tag.

Police officers mean any local police or constable.

Any person violating or failing or refusing to comply with any of the provisions of the Dog Law is liable to a fine of not less than $5.00 nor more than $100.00 or 30 days in jail, or both.

3000 Girls Finish Economics Course.

More than 3000 girls in the vocational home economics classes in day schools completed home projects this year, according to reports made to the department of public instruction.

Each project was a normal unit of home work requiring from thirty to sixty hours of time spent under the combined guidance and direction of the mother and the teacher of home economics.

Reports of the projects indicate that the activities centered around meal planning—preparation and service; child care and training, keeping household accounts, family baking, planning and making garments, house care and home management.

School Merger is Gaining Impetus.

Records compiled in the Department of Public Instruction show that the consolidation of rural schools in Pennsylvania continues to make rapid progress.

During the school year, for which figures are available, 286 consolidated schools increased their general equipment and 16,177 books were added to the libraries of the consolidated schools of the State.

The curricula in many consolidated schools have been enriched by the addition of music and art supervision and the organizing of orchestras and bands.

The report further shows that approximately 1500 one-teacher schools have been closed and the children are now being transported to consolidated schools.

From July 1, 1927, to July 1, 1928, forty-seven sites were approved by the State Council of Education for new consolidated schools.

The following factors were cited by officials as having done much to accelerate the consolidation of rural schools in Pennsylvania: Reimbursement for transportation by the State; bonus of $200 per year for each closing school; the State's assistance in maintenance of transportation vehicles owned by the school districts; the state road building program and modern means of transportation by motor vehicles.

Plan for Payments to School Districts.

The department of public instruction announced today that the annual allotment of State appropriation for the school year 1927-28 to school districts with a population of less than 5000 amounts to $11,712,782.82.

One-half of this amount, less deductions, is due these districts next month.

The amount due next month for teachers' salaries is $5,587,991.41, and for closed schools $268,400.

For the blind or deaf $51,676.23, for tuition of pupils in orphanages attending school in other districts $3285.35, for retirement fund $129,570.75, and for overpayments for previous years $5,287.50.
