

Sports Are Great Help to Right Citizenship.

Games and sports were advocated before the National Education association by James Edward Rogers, director of the National Physical Education service as means of "teaching those traits of character that are essential to good citizenship."

Asserting that the world needs sportsmanship in its international and business relationships, he declared that physical education "teaches sport not for sport's sake, but for the sake of sportsmanship."

"There is a close correlation between physical fitness and personal efficiency in business, success in human relationships and happiness at home and abroad," he said.

"A physically fit person is more likely to be efficient, happy and useful. A physically fit nation is better prepared to meet any emergencies either from within or without. Industrial waste from inefficiency and illness can be substantially reduced through better physical fitness programs."

Buler Explains Live Bait Rule; 50 Limit.

Queries reaching the offices of the Board of Fish Commissioners indicate that many fishermen do not yet understand the provisions of the live bait act passed in 1925. N. R. Buller, commissioner of fisheries, said today.

The law, Buller said, provides that no person, including a dealer in live bait, may have more than fifty in his possession at one time. The only exception is when the bait has been furnished by a commercial grower. Such growers must be licensed and they furnish the buyer with a certificate which will protect him for six days after he has purchased bait in excess of the legal limit.

The adoption of the bait limit provision followed requests made by sportsmen's organizations to prevent the practice followed by those who made a business of catching bait for market. The board also objected to the practice because it distributes more than a million bait fish each year in waters in which the public is allowed to fish.

United States May Have to Import Beef Within Next Two or Three Years.

The United States, long the world's greatest producer of meat, may be forced soon to import its beef, said Lord Kyslant, of London, transportation magnet and president of the Federation of Chambers of Commerce, at the Pembrokeshire Agricultural Fair. Argentina meat will have to be exported to the United States within two or three years "unless American farmers produce considerably more cattle," he said.

"Higher prices also may result because of the growing United States population and consequent greater demand for meat," he added. "If the United States imports Argentine meats, consumers of Britain will suddenly realize that not enough meat is produced in either Argentine or British dominions to meet both American and British requirements."

One Eyed' Cars Menace Travel.

A new drive is in prospect on autoists who are neglecting their lights by the State highway patrol. At present the patrol is concentrating all its efforts to enforce the new regulation of the State that all cars must be brought to a complete stop before entering main highways from side roads.

At the same time it is evident that there is a general disregard of the orders to have lights focussed, as some are so brilliant now as to completely blind drivers approaching in the opposite direction.

The State was rigorous in enforcing the light regulation in the spring and at that time there was a general observance of the law. Light bulbs will play out if used long enough, and unless replaced will give a car at night a "one eyed" appearance.

$159,735,290 Fees Paid in 22 Years.

Motorists of Pennsylvania have paid $159,735,290.56 to the State since the motor vehicle license act became effective in 1906.

In the first year of the license Pennsylvania had 10,954 passenger and commercial cars and the license receipts amounted to $42,460.42, considered large at the time. There was a flat license then for all types of motor vehicles. Last year there were 1,365,926 passenger and 217,937 commercial cars in Pennsylvania and their owners paid $25,916,220.45 to the State Highway Department in license fees.

Singers and Their Tonsils.

Removal of the tonsils rarely affects the singing voice, if the operation is performed by an experienced surgeon, says Hygeia Magazine. In many cases improvement has resulted. If frequent attacks of tonsillitis occur, the tonsils should be removed, even in a professional singer. Specialists in diseases of nose and throat who have had a large experience and have removed tonsils from many professional singers state that they have never had anything but favorable results.

2509 Schools Have Been Discontinued.

Compilation of county allotments for closed schools today revealed there are 2509 of them in the State. The allotment for each school permanently closed or discontinued is $200.

Bradford with 203 has the largest number of closed schools. Crawford is next with 169 and Tioga third with 139.

MAJ. GEN. ALLEN LEADS VETERANS

Accepts Post at Head of ex-Soldiers' Bureau in State Campaign.

Major General Henry T. Allen, commanding General of the American Army of Occupation in Germany and a popular national military figure, is directing the activities of the Veterans' Bureau of the Democratic National Committee. Major General Allen agreed to head the bureau following a talk with Chairman John J. Raskob.

"I know the soldiers would have a very good friend in Governor Smith," said General Allen. "Moreover, I think Governor Smith appeals to them in a very striking manner by reason of his personality and record. I feel that the soldiers haven't had a very large say in the affairs of the country as compared with what they ordinarily have had after every great war, but, of course, it would be impossible to keep down all the husky men who were organized during the great war and they will be heard from during the coming years."

"The Veteran's Bureau is a division of the campaign which is of very great importance," Chairman Raskob said in announcing the appointment. "The veterans are entitled to know all about the candidate, what he stands for, and the policies of the party, and we are keenly anxious to have an opportunity of telling the veterans what we know about Governor Smith's record and character."

Major General Allen served as Commanding General of the Army of Occupation in Germany for three and one-half years. He was later advisor to the American Ambassador to Great Britain at the conference of Ambassadors in Paris during the Harding administration.

After a distinguished military career, General Allen was promoted to Major General just before the United States entered the World War and organized the Ninetieth Division, which he led in the major offensives at St. Mihiel and the Argonne-Meuse. As Commander of the Army of Occupation he was a member of the Inter-Allied Rhine High Commission.

FARM HEAD DEFENDS BOLT TO GOV. SMITH

Peek Tells Gov. Hamill Democratic Party's Pledge is Ample.

The Democratic party endorsed the equalization fee in principle in the Houston platform, George N. Peek, of Moline, Ill., the chairman of the Committee of Twenty-two of the North Central States Agricultural Conference, declared in a letter to Governor John Hamill of Iowa.

Mr. Peek challenged Governor Hamill to call another conference of Governors of the states represented in the North Central States Agricultural Conference to sit in judgment upon his action in declaring his support of Governor Smith. The letter was in reply to one from Governor Hamill to Mr. Peek in which the Iowa Governor accused him of having gone beyond the power vested in the Committee of Twenty-two in bolting the Republican party.

Governor Hamill in his letter to Mr. Peek said farm relief legislation had been blocked by "politics." Mr. Peek in his letter to Governor Hamill asserted the legislation was blocked by an "unsympathetic" President, with the approval of Mr. Hoover and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

"You say that the Democratic party failed to endorse the equalization fee," wrote Mr. Peek. "To be sure, it did not by name endorse the equalization fee or the McNary-Haugen bill, but it very definitely endorsed the principle of the equalization fee when it said: 'We pledge the party to an earnest endeavor to solve this problem of the distribution of the cost of dealing with crop surpluses over the marketed units of the crop whose producers are benefited by such assistance. The solution of this problem would avoid government subsidy to which the Democratic party always has been opposed and will be a prime and immediate concern of a Democratic administration.'"

"These principles have formed the basis of farm relief that twice passed Congress in legislation, that would have furnished the opportunity for the farmers to get the benefit from tariffs on crops of which we export a surplus—legislation that was passed only to meet twice with the veto of an unsympathetic President who never advanced a constructive proposal himself addressing the problem. And this in the face of the platform pledges of his party upon which he was elected to take whatever steps are necessary to bring about a balanced condition between agriculture, industry and labor."

HEADS WOMEN IN INDUSTRY

Agnes Hart Wilson of Blossburg, Pennsylvania, running for Congress in the sixteenth Pennsylvania District asserted her support of Governor Smith by saying that she believes he will aggressively enforce the Prohibition law until it is repealed or modified.

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this puzzle will spell words both vertically and horizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below the puzzle. The No. 1 under the column headed "horizontal" defines a word which will fill the white spaces up to the first black square to the right, and a number under "vertical" defines a word which will fill the white squares to the next black one below. No letters go in the black spaces. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.

Herd of Horses Ready to Start Death Journey.

Wild horses on the plains of the southwest are in a great death march as a result of the increase in beef prices.

Range grass is not plentiful enough to feed both the cattle herds and the thousands of unproductive wild horses that roam the plains. Ranchers have declared that the wild horse must die probably in reduction plants.

By a curious irony of fate, the only route by which many of the doomed animals can be driven to the plant at El Paso is over the desolate 100-mile highway from Hillsboro, N. M., that thirst-tortured Spaniards three centuries ago named "Jornado del Muerto"—the Journey of Death.

For the broomtail ponies and the wild burros, the barren trail is truly a journey of death. Water is scarce on the trail and lockjaw breaks out in some of the herds. For the animals who escape death on the trail, there are the bullets of the slaughter house executioner.

There have been wild horses in west Texas and New Mexico ever since animals escaped from the camps of Cortez and De Soto in the 16th century. Like a pestilence by man, and in recent years constantly augmented by strays from ranches, and cavalry posts, immense herds formed. Once in a while cattlemen round up a few and break them for ranch purposes. In 1918 several thousand were corralled and sent to France to drag artillery pieces for the Allies. Only recently have the herds been considered a menace.

The doom of the wild horse was sealed with the record price of beef in 1927. As a result of the barring of animals from Argentina on account of foot and mouth disease, American beef commanded the highest prices since the World War. For the first time in years there was an incentive for the cattlemen to raise maximum herds. He is doing that this year and the wild horse must make room.

Reduction plants pay from $2 to $10 for the horses, depending upon the condition of the hide, which is the most profitable item.

Did You Ever Stop to Think.

That the lack of interest on the part of many business men holds back the development of business for many cities.

That whether or not this lack of interest is to continue is up to them.

That where a portion of the business men show a lack of aggressiveness, a tendency to stay in the old rut, and get an idea in their head that business will be good without any effort on his part, that just helps to kill all business.

That when they do it they will find many of their fellow citizens getting the habit of going to some other city to trade.

The most of this out-of-town trading is done because of the lack of push and advertising on the part of the home merchants.

That the merchants who sit tight and take only what business is coming to them usually haven't much coming to them and don't get much.

That the business men that succeed

The Zion Cemetery Association

SOME time ago it was suggested in this space that certain action be taken looking to the perpetual care of graves that otherwise might, in time, be neglected.

Recently a visit to the Zion Cemetery filled us with admiration. Here is a small community whose people are of one mind as to the proper care and surroundings of a cemetery and who work together to realize their ideals.

The Zion Cemetery may well serve as a model for larger communities.
