

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTRY.

Twins sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Alters, on Wednesday night of last week.

Miss Catherine A. Hartle, stenographer in the office of Arthur C. Dale Esq., was appointed a notary public by Governor Fisher, on Wednesday of last week.

All the business places and offices were closed on Monday, Labor day, and many people went motoring or spent the day with the Odd Fellows, at Hecla park.

According to statistics just completed the average yield of farm crops in Centre county last year were: Corn, 31.2 bushels per acre; wheat, 17.4 bushels; oats 36.1 bushels; potatoes 97 bushels.

Several bids have been received by the Bellefonte Central Railroad company from contractors anxious to build the five miles of new road from Struble station to Fairbrook, but the contract has not yet been awarded.

Labor day was too much for Bellefonte councilmen, as the only one who showed up for the regular meeting on Monday evening was John Mignot, of the South ward. The consequence was there was no meeting.

Just as George Sunday was in the act of backing his car out into the street from in front of Crider's Exchange, last Friday evening, Miss Verna Chambers came along in her car and failing to see the Sunday car struck it, tearing off one fender and the bumper. Her car was also somewhat damaged.

Last Friday was the day for the approval, by the federal court, of the purchase of the Gamble mill property by the borough. Although no formal announcement of the approval has been received in Bellefonte, it is known that there were no objections filed to the confirmation of the sale and it's a foregone conclusion that the borough now owns the property.

Next week, 11th to 14th, the Clearfield fair will be the attraction in this section of the State. Always a fine exhibition, the fair this year has been planned to exceed any of its former successes. Among the new features to be introduced are a State and county school exhibit and a magnificent pageant to be staged by the John B. Rogers Producing Co., in which four hundred people will appear.

On Wednesday night of last week county detective Leo Boden and chief of police A. E. Yougel, of State College, raided the house on the Thompson farm, on the road leading from State College to Waddle, and arrested Mrs. Lerie Gill for violation of the Volstead law. A quantity of liquid refreshment was confiscated. Mrs. Gill was held in one thousand dollars bail for trial at court and unable to give bond was sent to the Centre county jail.

The Warner-American News, for August, devotes considerable space to the Bellefonte plant of the American Lime and Stone company. The front cover attraction is a picture of the mine head frame, hoist house and trestle leading to the crushers. Inside appears the regular "Bellefonte Blast," a good description of the company picnic held at Hecla park on August 10th, with eleven pictures illustrating the good time had by all, and an article depicting a day in the engineering department.

William Harold Richards, a twenty-one year old youth, of Curwensville, is now in the Centre county jail awaiting trial at the next term of court on the charge of forgery. Two weeks or more ago Richards passed a forged check in Philipsburg and about the same time gave the Philipsburg Ledger company a check without funds in the bank to meet it. He was arrested and at a hearing before Squire Byron, in Philipsburg, was held under twelve hundred dollars bail. Being unable to give bond he was brought to jail.

Bellefonters will be interested in knowing that the new $125,000 church which the Evangelical people of Milton have just erected will be dedicated on Sunday, September 9. While the formal dedicatory services will occur Sunday evening, celebration of the event will continue with special services each following evening for a week. This is the church that Rev. Reed O. Stealy was transferred from Bellefonte to complete the financing of. It is said to be a very handsome edifice, interior design of dignified simplicity, but equipped for every need of modern church work.

Last Friday water commissioner J. D. Seibert opened up a service pipe leading into a double house on north Spring street and found a good-sized leak. In fact there was a hole in the pipe as large as a lead pencil. There was nothing on the surface to indicate the leak as the water had been flowing away along the pipe on the street. For several years the water department has been pumping more water than should be required to serve a town the size of Bellefonte and it might be possible that there are many other underground leaks on old service pipes throughout the town, which would account, in part, for the waste in water.

Billy Kerk Hurt in Automobile Accident Tuesday Afternoon.

Billy Kerk, eleven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kerk, of Philadelphia, was painfully injured, on Tuesday afternoon, and his mother and brother cut and bruised in an auto accident at the foot of Rishel's hill, on the road to Pleasant Gap. Mrs. Kerk and two sons had come to Bellefonte to see her mother, Mrs. W. E. Hurley, who is ill at her home on Howard street.

With Mrs. Kerk driving the car they started on the return trip to Philadelphia shortly after one o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. At the Rishel hill Earl Kuykendall, driving one of the Rich Bros. trucks, and coming in from Pleasant Gap, attempted to cut across ahead of the Kerk car onto the Rishel hill road with the result that the car and truck met in a head-on collision right at the junction of the roads.

Billy Kerk, sitting on the front seat with his mother, was thrown head first about half way through the windshield of the car, sustaining a bad cut on the left side of his head. Mrs. Kerk and her other son sustaining slight cuts and bruises but no serious injuries. Billy was rushed to the Centre County hospital, as it was feared he might have sustained a fracture of the skull, but an X-ray revealed the fact that the skull was not injured and he will probably be able to leave the hospital in a few days.

Autoist Knocks Off Electric Light Pole on Thomas St.

Shortly after eight o'clock on Sunday evening Edward Hull, of Buffalo Run valley, drove head-on into an electric light pole in front of the W. H. Crissman home, on north Thomas street, breaking off the pole and badly wrecking his machine. Hull was thrown through the windshield and was taken to the Centre County hospital but left that institution as soon as a physician had looked him over carefully and found no serious injuries. But the breaking down of the pole disrupted the electric service through the western section of Bellefonte and necessitated calling out almost the entire force of West Penn repairmen. It was almost midnight when they had things in shape to turn on the service and then it was discovered that one broken wire had been missed and it hung down in the street spitting fire. Some of the current had to be turned off a second time while the live wire was spliced and it was almost four o'clock Sunday morning when the crew completed their work.

Big Barn Struck by Lightning and Burned.

While Joseph Williams and family were at the Granger's picnic last Thursday afternoon, the barn on their farm, near Martha, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. Four horses, six calves a blooded bull, all the season's crops and a quantity of farm machinery were burned. Mr. Williams had the banner crop of wheat grown in Bald Eagle valley this year and it was all destroyed. His total loss is estimated at $7,000, on which there was an insurance of $3,000.

The barn was struck about four o'clock and by the time neighbors reached the Williams home the building was so enveloped in flames that it was impossible to save the stock or anything else.

MISS AMELIA EARHART STOPS IN BELLEFONTE.

Then Cracks Ship in Making a Landing in Pittsburgh. Escapes Injury.

Miss Amelia Earhart, the Boston social worker and the only woman in the world to make a flight across the Atlantic Ocean by airplane, spent an hour at the Bellefonte aviation field, last Friday afternoon, and not a dozen people were there to see her. This was wholly because her visit was unheralded and unannounced and very few people knew she was here until she had sailed away for Pittsburgh where she narrowly escaped death in landing on Rogers field when her plane struck a rut, smashing the landing gear, one wing and a propeller. Fortunately neither she nor her companion, George P. Putnam, the well known New York publisher, were injured.

The two people were traveling in Miss Earhart's ship, the Avian, manufactured in England by the Avro Airplane company. It is the same ship in which Lady Heath, of England, flew from England to Africa and back to England, and was then later purchased by Miss Earhart. It is little more than half as big as the planes used on the trans-continental airmail route but contains a powerful motor and carries two people with ease.

Miss Earhart and Mr. Putnam came to Bellefonte from Rye, N. Y., arriving at the Bellefonte field about 1:45. They went at once to a nearby farm house to get something to eat and later had the gas tanks on their ships refilled with gas. It was almost three o'clock when they took to the air and sailed away for Pittsburgh.

Miss Earhart is under the normal height and quite slender but gave the appearance of being full of pep and energy. She was dressed in a sports suit of white cloth, skirt and coat, and the only thing in her attire that indicated her traveling in the air was a white cloth helmet over her head and a pair of goggles. She was in charge of the ship and operated the controls.

When asked by a Watchman reporter as to the object of her trip she pleasantly stated that it was merely one of pleasure and recreation. For several weeks both she and Mr. Putnam have been working overtime in the publication of her forthcoming book and having reached that point where they could afford to relax she suggested a little flight in her ship and the only plans they had made were to fly to Pittsburgh and back. Her stay in Pittsburgh, however, will probably depend on the length of time it will take to secure repairs for her ship.

Escaped Prisoner Recaptured Last Week, at Carlisle.

George Windemaker, who escaped from Rockview penitentiary on April 20th, 1927, was recaptured at Carlisle, last week, and was brought to Bellefonte on Saturday evening and placed in the Centre county jail to await sentence.

Windemaker, who was only twenty years old at the time of his escape, was sent up from York county. At the penitentiary he was employed as a farm hand and on the day in question he made a getaway while at work in one of the fields. Making his way to the McFarlane farm, near Boalsburg, he stole a car belonging to Mrs. Leah Smith. The car was found following Sunday near Liverpool, Dauphin county, where it had been abandoned because of lack of gas. That was the last trace of Windemaker until he was arrested in Carlisle last week.
