

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

Wetzler's Junior band, of Milesburg, furnished the music for the annual home-coming gathering at Alexandria, last Saturday.

Mrs. Millard Hartwick was taken home from the Centre County hospital, last Friday, where she had been under treatment for almost two weeks.

The grand jury will meet in session next week to consider the various bills of indictment to be presented to them by district attorney John G. Love.

The Jewish New Year will begin at six o'clock this evening and because of that fact all the stores of Hebrew merchants of Bellefonte will be closed until six o'clock tomorrow (Saturday) evening.

Carl Lingle, a nineteen year old youth, of Gregg township, is in the Centre county jail in default of one thousand dollars bail on the charge of passing a forged check on the Spring Mills bank.

Final award of the contract for the grading of the new section of the Bellefonte Central railroad will likely be made this evening to contractors James & Nicholson, of Johnstown, who were the low bidders.

Billy Kerk, who was hurt in an auto accident, near Axe Mann on Tuesday of last week, has been discharged from the Centre County hospital and is at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hurley, on Howard street.

White potato wart is prevalent in the State but so far the boroughs of Snow Shoe, Clarence, the east precinct of Snow Shoe township and Rush township are the only areas in the county in which the State has ordered a quarantine.

Kiwanis members of the Bellefonte Kiwanis club motored up to the Sycamore club, last Thursday evening, and enjoyed a corn roast. Of course they had ham, bread and butter, pickles, etc., but the corn is what tickled the palates of all of them.

Holy Communion services will be held in the Evangelical church on Sunday. Rev. W. B. Cox, of Williamsport, presiding elder, will preach in the morning at 10:30 o'clock. Quarterly conference will be held tomorrow (Saturday) evening, at 7:45 o'clock.

Ninety-eight excursionists, a great many of them old Bellefonters, came to Bellefonte on the excursion from Philadelphia, on Sunday morning, arriving here about 8:50 o'clock. The special train left on the return trip home about four o'clock in the afternoon.

The Watchman apologizes to Miss Verna Chambers for an item stating that she drove her car into that of George Sunday, tearing off a fender and bumper. The young lady who drove the car was Miss Martha Chambers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Chambers.

A little son born to Mr. and Mrs. John P. Eckel, on Sunday morning, weighed 8 1/2 pounds. Both mother and babe are getting along splendidly. The advent of the little stranger is rather a unique event in the Eckel household, as both Mr. and Mrs. Eckel are already grandfathers.

About seventy-five Republican women held a pow-wow at the home of the Hon. Laird Holmes, at State College, last Friday evening, and pledged themselves to boost everything from the Honorable's third term candidacy to the eight million dollar bond issue for State College.

According to statistics for the year 1927 the gross volume of retail mercantile business done by Centre county establishments was $11,574,380. The wholesale mercantile business amounted to $3,436,660. On the basis of census tabulations for the county retail purchases were at the rate of $257.79 per person.

Mrs. Earl Kline is making preparations to move from Bellefonte to Chicago about the first of October, where her husband expects to be located permanently with the National Air Transport company. Several months ago Mr. Kline was transferred from the Bellefonte aviation field to Hadley field, N. J., but is to be transferred to Chicago next week for permanent location at the field there.

A special service convention, under the auspices of the West Susquehanna Classis, will be held in the Reformed church, at Laurelton on Friday, September 21st. Quite a number of prominent speakers will be present, among them William V. Dennis, professor of rural sociology at State College. Pastors and leaders in the Reformed churches of Centre county are urged to attend this convention.

Miss Jean Knox will be hostess to-night at a dinner of twenty-five covers, to be given at the Nittany Country Club, in celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of her father and mother, the Rev. and Mrs. Homer C. Knox. The guests will all be from out of town and will include, John Knox, Miss Blanche Filson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mountain and their son Thomas Jr., of Harrisburg, and Mr. Knox's sisters and brothers and their families, of State College.

THE STORY OF GAS, A BELLEFONTE MOVIE.

Through the courtesy of the officials of the Central Pennsylvania Gas Company representatives of the local newspapers were shown a run-off of a film that the company has had made of its operations in Bellefonte and State College. It was screened at the Richelieu theatre Wednesday morning and, will be shown on the regular program of that theatre at a matinee this afternoon and this evening, also.

It is an exceedingly interesting one reeler made by the Bubb Film Co., of Williamsport; photographed by Glenn Crossley, with titles by Herbert Beezer.

Aside from the natural interest people of this community would have in it because of the local scenario it has a number of moments when those who know or care nothing about Bellefonte, or whether we have the advantages of an unlimited supply of pure gas, would be charmed and, probably, edified. The picturization of the "Big Spring" and the "Boiling Spring" at Edgefonte have brought to the screen two scenes that for sheer beauty might add to any feature film that is being produced in Hollywood. From a purely scientific standpoint this, the first successful photographing of the trout moving about in Spring creek is very interesting. Crossley has caught the fish so well that it was hard for us to believe that it was an aquarium photograph had not been "faked" into his film. We know it was not, however, because we recognized one of the "big fellows" upon whom we have been casting a covetous eye for two years or more.

Scenes of trenching and pipe laying on many streets of Bellefonte, along the route to State College and at the latter place are not only beautiful but illuminative of what modern methods accomplish.

The trenching machine in operation is something to marvel at. A comparatively small and inefficient looking bit of mechanism it has done the major part of the trench digging throughout Bellefonte and State College and the thirteen miles between the two points in a little over two months. To have done the same work by the old pick and shovel method we opine that it would have taken several hundred men near about a year.

The "Story of Gas" has continuity. First it creates atmosphere with a lot of lovely and interesting scenes, then it portrays the efforts of a public utility corporation to provide a commodity that will make the lives of those who live amidst these scenes less irksome, then it goes to the plant where the commodity is to be manufactured.

At the big plant that is gradually creeping skyward near Axe Mann the work of construction is filmed in a manner that reveals the operations quite as well as if one were to motor out there to see what is going on. As we have said before in the Watchman the Central Pennsylvania Gas Company has certainly done everything humanly possible to court the good-will of the communities it expects to serve. It has about completed an installation that might have occasioned a maximum of annoyance and inconvenience. It seems to us to have done it with even less than a reasonable minimum. Possibly this has been so because the men in charge have been on the job. They were there the day the film of plant construction was made, for mixed up with the army of structural steel workers, brick layers, concrete mixers, plumbers, fitters and whonot were F. L. Murphy, the chief engineer; Kert Mahnke his assistant; Robert Hunter, vice president of the company; P. J. Lynch, manager in charge of distribution, Auditor Peters and Ray Murphy, in charge of plant construction. We recognized them all and their appearance confirms our conviction that the work has moved with such dispatch only because they have been on the job.

Every one of them appears to have been too busy with the project to even think of getting a shave before he "had his picture took." Especially is this so with regard to the vice president, the gentleman who, alone, must be given credit for having interested capitalists to the extent that they have brought to our doors a commodity we didn't realize the value of until the old Bellefonte Gas Co., pulled its fires in 1915.

As we have said above "The Story of Gas" will be shown at the Richelieu at a matinee this afternoon and also this evening.

Go and see it. We know you will be interested.

Mahlon Robb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson E. Robb, has been doing considerable strutting the past week, and with just cause, as he achieved a record on the Nittany Country club golf course, last Wednesday never before made, and that was to make the sixth hole in one stroke. Mahlon was making the rounds of the course with several other young men and was playing a very fair game, but even at that he never thought when he hit the ball for the sixth hole, a distance of 146 yds., that he would make it in one. In fact he was about as much surprised as his companions.

John Fidora, of Munson, was committed to the Centre county jail, last week, on the charge of manufacturing and possession of moonshine liquor.

Preparing for Annual Y. M. C. A. Membership Drive.

The directors of the Bellefonte Y. M. C. A. have designated September 26th, 27th and 28th for the annual fall drive for membership. The closing year has been one of outstanding achievement, not only by the reconditioning of the swimming pool, but increased activity in all branches of "Y" work. During the past year the total attendance has been more than 50,000 in all activities.

Mr. L. C. Heineman, secretary of the local branch, through his understanding and willingness to serve others, has made a tremendous impression upon the community life of Bellefonte. It is the general opinion that the local institution is serving the interests of all Centre county to a greater extent than at any time in its long history, and it is the aim of all those interested in this work to constantly increase the club in order that the ideals of the Christian association may to a greater extent be woven into the lives of the youth of our community.

It is hoped that during the coming drive the people of Centre county will show their confidence in the Y. M. C. A. by supporting it to the limit of their ability. This can be done in part by turning out for the parade and concert to be given by Wetzler's Junior band, to be held on the court house lawn on September 21st, at 7:00 p. m. A prominent speaker will address this gathering.

As a preliminary to the drive the committee which will be in charge will be entertained at dinner at the Brockerhoff house this (Friday) evening, to perfect plans for the work. From twenty to twenty-five business men of Bellefonte will constitute the committee.

Bellefonte Ministerium Reports on the Vacation Bible School.

The Bellefonte Ministerium met at the Y. M. C. A., on Monday, and after disposing of routine business the chairmen of the various committees in charge of the daily vacation Bible school during the summer, submitted complete reports. For the benefit of the public and in order that church congregations may be informed as to what is required to take care of this work, it can be stated that the expenses of the school included supplies, $36.39; teaching staff, $129.00, and janitor service, $20.00 or a total of $185.39. The bills have all been paid and the Ministerium hereby wishes to thank all those who helped to make the school a success.

Rev. Thena spoke of the program of the Y. M. C. A., and after the matter was thoroughly discussed, it was agreed that, as ministers of the town, the Ministerium heartily supports the program, because under the new management the Y fills a need in the community which the churches are not equipped to meet.

Passenger Train on Lewisburg Road to be Discontinued.

Announcement has again been made that the afternoon passenger train on the Lewisburg and Tyrone railroad will be discontinued on September 30th, but the morning train operated on its present schedule.

In consequence thereof the Postoffice Department is asking for bids for carrying the mail from Bellefonte to Millheim and return by auto truck. The proposed schedule is to leave Bellefonte at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and returning arrive here at 6:40 p. m. Stops will be made at Pleasant Gap, Centre Hall, Spring Mills, Penn Hall and Millheim.

The taking off of the afternoon train will practically cut the South Side off from all railroad accommodations to and from Bellefonte, as it would take two days to make the trip and have any time to transact business.

Gilbert Morgan is the New Proprietor of Bon Mot.

A deal was closed on Tuesday whereby Gilbert Morgan has become the new proprietor of the "Bon Mot," in the McClain block, next door to the Watchman office. The place had been conducted for some time past by John F. Marks who retired from the management on Monday.

The new proprietor is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Morgan and for some years past has been in the employ of the West Penn Power company. He is active and quite popular among the younger set of the town which ought to bring him good support in his new venture.

Visitors in Bellefonte as well as strangers passing through the town cannot fail to be attracted by the four very ornamental signs which headmaster James R. Hughes has had erected at important street intersections pointing the way to the Bellefonte Academy. The signs are enameled in the Academy colors, blue and gold. They are located at the intersection of Spring and Linn streets, Allegheny and Bishop, Spring and Bishop and Logan and Spring.

Rev. G. A. Sparks, a retired minister of the United Brethren church, and who during his active career had filled appointments at Port Matilda and Runville, died on Monday at his home in Mt. Ranier, Maryland. The remains were taken to Mapleton, Huntingdon county, where burial was made yesterday.

Another Blacksmith Shop in Bellefonte Goes Into the Discard.

Forrest L. Bullock sold his blacksmith shop, on south Water street, to Walter Eberhart, last Friday, and the sale means another shop gone into the discard. Mr. Eberhart will move his plumbing shop from his present location, on Bishop street, into the lower portion of the south Water street building and will convert the second story into a very comfortable living apartment.

Mr. Bullock sold his stand because he is suffering with an injury which prevents him from doing any work, and as he has decided to leave Bellefonte for good he naturally had no further use for his building.

But the sale of this shop may prove a greater detriment to Bellefonte and the community at large than is at present realized. It leaves but one blacksmith shop now in operation in Bellefonte, that of Luther Smith, on Penn street, and practically all his time is taken up in shoeing horses and making minor repairs on farming implements.

Time was when there were four or five shops in Bellefonte, and they could be found in every small town and at every cross roads throughout the county. But the advent of the automobile resulted in the conversion of most of the shops into garages and auto repair shops, until now a real, honest-to-goodness blacksmith shop is a rarity in Centre county. And experienced blacksmiths are about as scarce as millionaires in Centre county. No young men, nowadays, are learning the trade. They are turning to auto mechanics, which is really not a trade at all.

Mr. Bullock was a blacksmith of the old school. He could not only do all kinds of repair work but if he didn't have a necessary part to fit he could take an iron bar and make it. He could weld iron and steel and temper the latter to the nth degree. Only a week or two ago a man near Bellefonte broke an auto spring and wanted to get it welded. Mr. Bullock, because of his injury, was unable to do the job and the man had to take the spring to the Wieland shop, at Boalsburg, to get it repaired. The nearest shop to Bellefonte where such work is regularly done is at Snow Shoe intersection. So it can be easily seen that the passing of the Bullock shop may result in a great inconvenience to many people in this section.

Many Visitors at Kiwanis Luncheon on Tuesday.

Visitors at the Kiwanis luncheon, at the Brockerhoff house on Tuesday, included Sylvester Rich, of Bradford; Philip Young, of Boston; Frank Murphy, of Williamsport; Robert Winslow, of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Bent L. Weaver and F. T. Kearns, of Harrisburg; H. Bailey, of New York; Arthur C. Dale, of Bellefonte; Dr. J. V. Foster, of State College; P. E. Womelsdorf, Jack Thompson, H. E. Hewitt, Dr. and Mrs. Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Boggs, A. R. Sullivan and Mrs. Bair, all of Phillipsburg. Mrs. Bair and Jack Thompson favored the Kiwanians with a sample of Phillipsburg vocal music, to the delight of all present.

Next week will be Constitution day when Judge Fleming will make a talk on the constitution. The following week L. C. Heineman will be in charge and will have with him that famous Y. M. C. A. entertainer, William C. Montigana, who is said to be a second Harry Lauder.

The June to October birthday members will be in charge at the ladies night meeting in October when former Lieutenant Governor E. E. Beidleman, of Harrisburg, will be the speaker.

Following Tuesday's luncheon president W. Harrison Walker gave another installment of his trip to the national convention at Seattle. Several crippled children are still under treatment at the Centre-Clearfield clinic, in Phillipsburg, but according to reports all are doing fine.

"Dip-Dust Evidently Made Good.

Last spring we advised gardeners and farmers to try Dip-dust on their seed potatoes. We knew nothing of the merits of "Dip-dust," but when it's manufacturers offered to return the purchase price if it didn't produce results we became interested and personally urged a number of friends to try it.

Potatoes are being raised in Centre county now. As yet we have heard from only three of those whom we persuaded to try the "Dip-dust" treatment. Strange as it may seem not one of the three even mentioned "Dip-dust" as the possible reason for their having had what they boasted of as being the nicest yield of smooth skinned, sizeable potatoes that they have ever grown. They have forgotten what "Dip-dust" did for them. We haven't. Because we have been growing several acres of potatoes, annually, for seventeen years and each year they have been growing smaller and scabbier. We treated the scabby seed last spring with "Dip-dust" and if anybody's potatoes are smoother in the skin or more regular in size this fall than those we have thus far raised we'd like to see them.

At the annual convention of the State Millers' association, held at York, Pa., last week, C. Y. Wagner, of Bellefonte, was elected first vice president.

Tyrone Division Employees Make Record in Purchase of Stock.

Several months ago when the Pennsylvania Railroad company decided to sell a certain allotment of stock to employees at par a campaign was inaugurated on the various divisions to see which could make the best record. The time limit expired ten days or more ago and the allotment was considerably over-subscribed. A recapitulation by company officials shows that the Tyrone division led all other divisions on the entire system, not in the value of shares taken, but in the number of employees who purchased stock, a little over ninety-one per cent. of the total.
